KELLOGG GETS DELEGATION BY GOOD MAJORITY

Supporters Are Well Organized While Hallam Forces Lack Leadership and Votes.

Steenerson Endorsed and Name of No Other Congress Candidate is Mentioned.

F. F. Haynes Elected Chairman of County Committee—Two Delegates Are Women.

The Republican county convention for the election of delegates to the state and districte conventions developed into a lovely, harmonious gathering in spite of predictions to the contrary. Senator F. B. Kellogg and Congressman Halvor Steenerson received endorsements as candidates for re-election, although there was a decided Hallam contingent on hand to dispute the right of the former to carry off the delegation.

Wilhelm Michelet came up from St. Paul to call the meeting to order and was elected one of the delegates to the state gathering. Theo. Quale was chosen chairman of the convention and Mrs. Julia Lacy secretary. The committee on credentials awarded seats to all delegates properly accredited and there were no contests.

City Saves Kellogg.

A proposition to appoint a nominating committee was voted down and nominations were made directly from the floor. Wm. J. Brown assumed the floor leadership of the Kellogg forces and made the only speech of the convention. No attempt was made to secure an instructed delegation but each nominee was asked as to his or her position and all stated they were for Kellogg. The opposition forces lacked leadership but stubbornly voted against the majority choice when it came to the test. The majority for the junior senator was sufficient, however, and the six representatives of Pennington county Republicanism will vote for him at the state convention. The delegates are: W. J. Brown, Mrs. Edith Bottelson and J. S. Arneson, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Estella Josephson, Goodridge; Wilhelm Michelet, St. Paul, and John Funnesdahl, township of Norden.

Easy For Steenerson.

No opposition to the return of Congressman Steenerson developed. If other candidates had any friends among the delegates the fact did not show on the surface. The same plan of selection as in the case of senator was followed, each delegate upon being nominated declaring that Steenerson was his choice for congressional representative. The following were elected to attend the convention at Moorhead on March 30: Olaf Ramstad and Daniel Shaw, Thief River Falls, and Jorgen Eide of the town of North.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. Shaw and adopted unanimously:

"We commend the wise, able and statesmanlike administration of President Harding and congratulate him and the people of the world upon the successful outcome of the peace conference as the most important step yet taken to secure permanent peace among the people and nations of the world.

"We approve the work of our representative in congress, the Honorable Halvor Steenerson, and hereby instruct our delegates to the congressional convention to vote for his endorsement as the Republican candidate for congress at the coming primary election. His able, long and faithful public service has been characterized by fidelity to duty and a desire to advance the interest of the common people. His efforts in the interest of the farmer has been diligent and constant, and especially do we commend his fight to secure improvement in the present system of federal grain grades."

Haynes is Chairman.

F. F. Haynes of Thief River Falls was elected chairman of the Republican county committee; Mrs. Estella Josephson, Goodridge, vice chairman; A. S. Wilson, St. Hilaire, secretary; John Funnesdahl, town of Norden, treasurer. As additional members of the executive committee were chosen W. H. Wilde of Mayfield township, Mr. Shaw and Mrs. Andrew Bottelson of Thief River Falls. The county committee will be composed of the delegates from each precinct in which only one such delegate was chosen, the following being named from the precincts having a larger number in the convention: North township, Christian Stene; Rocksbury township, Dr. M. Geo. Milan; village of Goodridge, Mrs. Estella Josephson; village of St. Hilaire, A. S. Wilson. The city of Thief River Falls will be represented on the committee by the following: First ward, Olaf Ramstad; Second ward, F. F. Haynes; Third ward, O. L. Ihle; Fourth ward, Daniel Shaw.

Permanent Headquarters Secured By Legion Post

Elmer J. Eklund Post, American Legion, has rented the spacious basement under the First and Peoples State bank and will fit the place up as a club and reading room. The contract for remodeling and refurnishing the quarters has been let and it is hoped the work can be completed so as to permit of a housewarming about April 10.

The room will be open to all service men, whether members of the Legion or not, from 10 o'clock in the forenoon until 10:30 at night. There will be opportunities for card playing, reading and other diversions, and it is the intention at a later date to add a refreshment stand.

This room has been provided particularly in the hope that it will be made use of by visiting service men and by the boys formerly in the army, navy or marines residing in the country and who may have no other place at which to make their headquarters while in town. Everything possible will be done to make them feel at home and the place is to be considered a regular rendezvous for any who may be in Thief River Falls during the hours it is open.

FEDERAL O. K. FOR RED LAKE LEVELS AND CONTROL PLAN

Hearing on Viewers' and Engineers' Reports For Clearwater Project April 18.

According to information received by C. G. Selvig from Chas. H. Burke, Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Washington, the Secretary of the Interior on March 9 approved the Red lake levels and control plan with reference to the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy project. In view of this action the drainage board is now in a position to proceed with the work in accordance with the plans. Viewers have already been appointed. The final plans are being rushed and will doubtless be completed within 60 days. The final court hearing will follow the adoption of the plans by the board.

Hearings on petitions and report of the engineers and viewers for the Clearwater river project will be held before Judge William Watts at the court house in Red Lake Falls beginning at 10 o'clock on Tuesday, April 18. Official notice of this hearing, including the names of owners and general descriptions of the sections affected, will be found in another place in The Times this week. At this hearing all persons interested will be expected to present ny arguments they may have for or against the carrying out of the project.

Lands affected are located in Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater, Polk and Beltrami counties and there are more than 1,200 owners to whom the notice applies.

The Clearwater is the first project in the conservancy district for which engineers and viewers will make a report, but reports on the Grand Marais project, affecting western Polk county principally, may soon come up for hearing.

Fourth Warders Ask For East Side Voting Place

A petition circulated by Frank Cernoucek and signed by every voter in the Fourth ward to whom it was presented, requests that a voting place be designated on the east side of the river. At the present time all voters in the city, no matter in what ward they reside must go to the auditorium to cast their ballots and this is proving a decided inconvenience to many. People residing in the extreme northeast and southeast corners of the city now have to travel about two miles in order to exercise their right of franchise and this is keeping many from the polls, particularly now that women are voting.

The same situation holds good in both the First and Second wards. In both instances people have to walk ten or twelve blocks to get to the polls and this should not be necessary. In case the petition of the Fourth warders is granted it is likely the council will change the present plans for voting entirely.

Red Lake County Spends $117,000 on Road Work

The Red Lake county board of commissioners has called for bids for $177,000 road and bridge bonds in order to construct 17 miles of Trunk Highway No. 65 from Terrebonne east to the Polk county line and to build the remaining four miles of Trunk Highway No. 32 between the Polk county line and the state road running south to Dugdale. The contracts for the road work will be awarded April 5 if the bids are favorable. The state will pay off the bonds in accordance with the provisions of the state trunk highway reimbursement act.

Gobler Family Leaves to Make Home in Wisconsin

F. A. Gobler, for 17 years a resident of Thief River Falls and employed for 15 years in the local postoffice, during 13 of which he has been assistant postmaster, left with his family this morning for Rice Lake, Wis., having purchased a farm about two and a half miles from that city. Mr. Gobler began in the government service during the incumbency of Frank Kratka as postmaster and has remained ever since, being first assistant to all the succeeding postmasters, to each of whom he accorded the most loyal service. He has at all times and under all circumstances been a most faithful and obliging servant of the people, at the same time being scrupulously insistent upon the observance of every postal regulation. His associates in the office, from Postmaster Morgan down to the newest substitute, speak of him in the highest terms, and this is the most difficult kind of a standing to attain.

With the family goes Mrs. Gobler's mother, Mrs. Alice Kratka, who has resided in Thief River Falls longer than any other woman now living. She came here 37 years ago when the city was little more than a hamlet and has seen it grow from practically nothing to its present proportions. She will be greatly missed by all the old-timers and a large circle of the younger people, by whom she was always most highly regarded.

The best wishes of a host of friends will go with this estimable family.

Thumb Crushed in Wringer.

Stanley, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Perkins, met with a painful accident the first of the week. He somehow managed to throw into gear the wringer attached to a power washing machine, at the same time getting the thumb of his right hand caught between the rollers. The soft bones were crushed to a pulp but the skin was not broken. Doctors are certain the fractures will knit and that amputation will not be necessary.

FIRST CARLOAD OF HIGH GRADE COWS RECEIVED BY BANK

Twenty-One Head of Holsteins For Local Farmers—Six Calves Added to Herd.

High grade Holstein cows begin making money for their owners even before the latter are aware of the ownership. This proved to be the case with the 21 head shipped here for patrons of the First and Peoples State bank. The cows arrived Friday night from Northfield, where they were purchased for the bank by Math Barzen and Hans Anton. Instead of the 21 head originally loaded onto the car there were 23 when the shipment arrived, two calves having been born enroute. The number was further increased by four shortly after the cows had been placed in the Remmem barn in this city.

The cows attracted a good deal of attention upon their arrival as they constituted the first shipment secured through the efforts of the bank to assist those who desire to improve their dairy stock, by offering to loan the necessary money for a year at six per cent. Every cow in the lot is strictly high grade, being designated at fifteen-sixteenths, and the price at which they were offered made them particularly desirable property. The cost of selection and shipping was very low and added but little to the cost of each animal.

Following is a list of those who have made their selections and taken their cattle to their farms: John Carlson, Mayfield township, three cows; R. F. Hays, North township, three cows; Flo Sanders, Highlanding township, one cow and two heifers; Joe Kilen, Highlanding, two heifers; T. M. Thorson, Highlanding, two heifers; Iva Solheim, Kratka, three cows. The remainder have been spoken for and it is expected the buyers will be in to take them away within a day or two. The price paid ranged from $85 to $116.

The next lot received will probably be Guernseys as there are a number of applications on file with the bank for this kind of stock. Not enough orders have as yet been received to make up a carload, however, and until this can be done it will not pay to send men to make selections.

The bank officials are highly pleased with the success of the plan and announce that only about one-third of the $10,000 set aside to be loaned out for this purpose has been applied for. They stand ready and willing to assist anyone who has the barn room and sufficient fodder to make engaging in the dairying business a probable success.

Marshall County Voters Turn Down Farm Bureau

At the township elections held in Marshall county last week the proposition of extending aid to the farm bureau through an appropriation was submitted to a vote and was lost by a majority of nearly two to one. Only seven precincts outside the city of Warren voted in favor of continuing the bureau, these being Augsburg, Boxville, Cedar, Donnelly, Sinnott, Whiteford and the village of Oslo. In Warren the vote stood 263 for the bureau and 193 against. The total vote was 694 to 1214.

Red Lake Indians Will Receive $50 Per Capita

A payment of $50 per capita to the 1,522 Red Lake Indians is authorized in a bill passed by the house on Monday. The bill was introduced by Representative Harold Knutson. It now goes to the senate for action. Money for this payment is to be taken from the fund derived from the sale of timber on the Red Lake reservation and does not come from the general Chippewa fund.

UNITED ACTION FOR SECURING NEW SETTLERS

City Business Men Form Association For Purpose of Aiding Land Settlement.

Aim Will Be to Assist Those Who Come in Making Good at Once as Farmers.

H. W. Protzeller is President and J. J. McCann Secretary. Board of Ten Directors.

New settlers, how to get them here and how to keep them in the country and assure their success, was the key-note of a large and enthusiastic meeting of business and professional men held in the council rooms of the auditorium last night, and it is safe to say that if the plans of this meeting can be put into effect Thief River Falls and the surrounding country will benefit to a very large extent.

Everyone residing in this community realizes that in order to assure our future growth and prosperity the thousands upon thousands of vacant acres must be settled by actual producing farmers, and these men must be handled in such an intelligent manner that they themselves will be successful. As was pointed out last night, the real estate man or dealer who sells the land to a prospective settler probably benefits less by such a sale than any other business man in the city. He gets only the first profit on the sale while every other business man gets a continual profit as long as the settler remains in the country. And at the same time every farmer or landowner in the whole vicinity benefits directly from each new settler that comes in by the increased value of his lands. For these reasons it is the duty of everyone who makes his living in the country to get behind this movement and push it to a successful finish.

First Impression Important.

Probably the most important point discussed last night was how to create an atmosphere of optimism right at home. When a new settler arrives he judges the country largely by first impressions of the people he meets. If they make him feel welcome and tell him what a good country he is coming to he decides that it is a good country to live in and the chances are that he will remain here. On the other hand, if he hears only knocks he rightly believes that this is no place for him. The whole idea is summed up in the little slogan, "I make my living in this country; if you knock it you knock me."

Needs Intelligent Handling.

Among the plans which were submitted last night were many to assure the success of the new settler and to make him feel the warm friendship we boast about. Many of the most successful cities and towns in the Northwest have perfected such plans and have had them in operation for several years, with the result that new settlers are pouring into their communities in ever increasing numbers. All know that this is one of the best countries that lies out of doors. All it needs is intelligent handling, and the purpose of this meeting was to be sure that the new settler coming here would know what kind of farming to do and to see that he secured lands suitable for the class of farming that he proposed doing.

Protzeller is President.

A permanent organization was formed last night, whose object is to be solely that of bringing new settlers into the country and keeping them here. The name of the organization was left to a committee whose duty it shall also be to draw up by-laws for it. The following officers were elected: President, H. W. Protzeller; vice president, W. B. Fuller; secretary and treasurer, J. J. McCann.

Board of directors: C. E. Hansen, T. P. Anderson, Olaf Ramstad, Rev. J. B. Smith, I. T. Simley, Rasmus Oen, Rev. T. E. Sweger, H. S. Dahlen, Albert Lonson, A. J. Anderson, Grygla.

The next meeting of the organization will be held in the auditorium on Wednesday evening, March 29, at 8 o'clock, at which time the organization will be perfected. Every farmer, business and professional man in the whole county is urged to attend this meeting.

Leaves For Des Moines.

Mrs. T. A. Way, who has been in the city the past two weeks, expects to leave tomorrow evening for Des Moines, Iowa, where she and Mr. Way will make their home in the future.

Agricultural Survey of Grygla Section is Begun

The people of Grygla and surrounding country are making an agricultural survey of the district for the purpose of ascertaining to a certainty the amount of products of different kinds shipped out of the section every year. When the survey is completed it will be presented to the officials of the Soo railroad as an argument for the extension of the road from the present terminus of the Minnesota Northwestern at Goodridge to Grygla. The number of acres now under cultivation, the kind of products and the number of carloads shipped annually by the farmers of that region will be accurately figured and an estimate made of what can be expected in the way of business for the road in case of its extension. A census of the cattle, hogs and sheep in the territory to be traversed by the road in case of extension will form an important part of the report as will also the tonnage in creamery products.

N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture, and J. H. Hay, assistant commissioner, have assured the people residing to the northeast of Thief River Falls that they will do everything in their power to assist in getting the matter properly before the railway officials. A vast section of fertile country only awaits railroad facilities to insure its rapid development.

Mussey Village President.

H. E. Mussey, publisher of the Grygla Eagle, was elected village president at the election last week. Other officers are: H. A. Bush, clerk; J. T. Peterson, treasurer; A. O. Sheldrew, trustee three years; A. W. Clay, trustee one year; John Harris, justice two years; G. A. Sandberg, justice one year; H. I. Johnson, constable two years; H. M. Hoppe, constable one year. A. Anderson was chosen as delegate to the county convention at Warren.

GUMMER TAKEN TO PRISON; MAINTAINS BROWN INNOCENT

Convicted Slayer of Marie Wick of Grygla Says He and Pal Are Not Guilty.

Still protesting his innocence, William Gummer, Fargo hotel clerk, entered the state penitentiary at Bismarck on Monday to begin serving a life sentence fo rthe murder of Marie Wick, 18 years old, of Grygla, in the Prescott hotel at Fargo on June 7, 1921.

Gummer was taken to Bismarck from Valley City by a transportation officer. The iron nerve which he displayed in his long trial never failed him. He talked almost continually about the case on his way from Valley City to Bismarck, and, declaring that "murder will out," expressed the conviction that he will be freed sooner or later. He also maintained that his pal, Andy Brown, against whom a charge of murder has been placed, is innocent.

Gummer arrived just in time to eat dinner with the other convicts. He entered the Lifers row, where 19 other prisoners are serving life terms.

The crime for which Gummer was convicted was one of the most brutal in the history of the state. Marie Wick was strangled, beaten and attacked on the night of June 7 last in the Prescott hotel, where Gummer was a clerk. Following Gummer's conviction at Valley City, a stay was granted to give his attorney time to perfect an appeal.

Five Farm School Grads From Pennington County

Richard B. Aakre and Louis G. Kasa of Goodridge; James Towler and John Homme, Highlanding; Gerald H. Stephens, St. Hilaire, and Osmond Jensen, Rhoda, are Pennington county students who complete their school work at Crookston on March 30 when the 14th annual graduating exercises of the Northwest School of Agriculture will be held. Supt. G. H. Sanberg, Crookston, will give the commencement address. Diplomas will be awarded by Superintendent Selvig to 45 seniors—30 young men and 15 young women. The school has had a large enrollment during the present year in spite of the unsatisfactory farm financial conditions.

Certified Seed Potatoes in Demand at Fair Price

A considerable quantity of seed potatoes is being shipped by Pennington county growers at the present time. One carload was sent out Saturday and four or five more are expected to leave in a few days. The price has varied between $1.50 and $1.85 per hundred pounds for certified stock during the week, common stock selling at about $1.20 per hundred at the same time. There is very little demand for the latter but it is expected the market for the seed varieties will stay steady and perhaps improve to a slight extent.

Free Movie Showing Work of Reforestation Service

A free lecture of unusual interest will be given at the Princess theatre on Monday evening, the speaker being H. M. Wheeler, a representative of the state and national forestry service. The work of reforestation to which both state and national governments are giving so much attention will be explained and shown by means of lantern slides and motion photography, the idea being to give the people a better understanding of this important undertaking. Mr. Wheeler is an authority on the subject of forests, existing and prospective, and his speech will be both instructive and entertaining.

The use of the Princess is being offered free for this lecture by Manager H. A. Brumund and the lecture was arranged for by Daniel Shaw, a member of the state forestry board. The general public is invited and it is certain anyone attending will find the time well spent.

Will Count the Pigs.

Minnesota is one of the states to be included in a pig census to be taken early in May. The enumerating will be done by rural mail carriers. The plan is to secure reports on simple card questionnaires from not less than twelve farms on each rural route. This information will be collected by the carriers in the regular course of delivering mail and returned to the postmaster for forwarding to the department of agriculture at Washington for tabulation. A card can be filled out in less than two minutes. The information on the cards will be strictly confidential and is wanted only for its value to hog raisers throughout the country generally.

BIG CHECK LIST AT CREAMERY IS INCREASING FAST

Every Month Shows Substantial Gain and Capacity of Plant Will Soon Be Tested.

Nine additional patrons climbed into the $50 or better class at the Thief River Falls creamery during the month of February, according to the report of Secretary Peter Engelstad, while the total receipts of those in the high check class increased $1,000. There are 43 names in the list below and their average for the month was over $86. James Klerk retains his position at the top of the list, closely followed by Hans Anton. Seven dairymen received more than $100 for the product of their herds.

With the advance of spring the list will grow rapidly. Every month since winter set in has shown a heavy increase in receipts over last year and if the ratio continues the creamery will not be able to handle anywhere near all the butterfat offered by the time cattle are turned out to pasture. It is because of this fact that those who are most directly interested in the development of the dairying industry in this section are urging that a larger plant be provided.

Following is a list of the patrons receiving over $50 for the month of February:

Jens Klerk, $247.14; Hans Anton, $241.73; M. T. McFarland, $190.50; P. Engelstad, $180.19; S. E. Hunt, $141.19; Waldie Christensen, $123.89; H. T. Waale, $117.08; C. H. Swanson, $99.74; L. O. Stenseth, $97.58; Albert Hanson, $96.92; S. Sorenson, $88.63; August Koglin, $86.01; C. Liden, $85.89; Mrs. J. J. Berg, $85.85; Ole J. Dahl, $84.99; John Bloom, $80.93; R. M. Johnson, $77.49; Henry Pope, $76.12; Henry Koop, $73.08; Will Smith, $71.04; A. C. Simonson, $68.80; John N. Swanson, $68.47; H. C. Woolson, $67.85; Gust Wilkin, $67.81; Fred Dols, $65.39; Elling Ramsey, $65.20; Stuart McLeod, $64.40; J. H. Hardesty, $64.40; W. P. Willadson, $63.55; M. G. Shumway, $62.60; L. O. Williams, $62.43; Christ Nelson, $60.22; C. Wiener, $59.04; Paul Engelstad, $57.80; Hans Fjeld, $54.98; K. Ystesund, $54.92; James Wilson, $54.60; E. Edman, $53.76; C. Odegaard, $52.63; Voldness Bros., $52.50; Paul Stock, $51.33; Mellom Bros., $51.02; John Sjolsvold, $50.43.

County's Beet Quota is Taken and More Offered

The 200 acres allotted as Pennington county's sugar beet quota this year has practically all been contracted. One or two tracts are being held in the expectation that parties who have heretofore raised beets but are not at present in the city will wish to be again included in the list. County Agent J. J. McCann states that a much larger acreage could have been provided had the Minnesota Sugar company been able to take more beets from this section.

According to the contracts all the sugar beets produced in Thief River Falls territory are to be loaded on cars here but an attempt is being made to have this agreement modified so as to permit of loading a small amount at Steiner. This would save the raisers in that neighborhood considerable expense and inconvenience in getting their product to the railroad.

Postoffice Force Moves Up One Notch in Ratings

The resignation of Fred A. Gobler as assistant postmaster will mean the promotion of the force all along the line, according to Postmaster Morgan. T. S. Brokke, chief clerk at the present time, will step into the position made vacant by Mr. Gobler; T. H. Chittick will move up a notch into the present place of Mr. Brokke; H. R. Pope becomes directory clerk and Gunder Legvold dispatching clerk. Edwin Stebbins will be taken from the substitute list and made mailing clerk, while James Helle will be added to the force as substitute.

Wilhelm Michelet, head of the state land department in the auditor's office, St. Paul, was a visitor here on Saturday, coming here to take part in the Republican county convention. This was his first visit to the city since his removal to St. Paul several months ago.

FIRST PREMIUM FOR ENGELSTAD IN BIG CONTEST

Miss Agnes Oftedahl Finishes Second and Wins Ford Touring Car.

Hundreds of New Names Added to Subscription List of The Times.

Newspaper Continues to Have Largest List of Any Weekly Newspaper in State.

The big subscription campaign of The Times, which had been in progress for ten weeks, came to a close last Saturday night. W. H. Akre, C. W. Vorachek and H. O. Loken served as judges for the final count, with the following result:

Paul Engelstad	274,437
Agnes Oftedahl	192,875
J. C. Liden	86,737
Helmer Ostrom	82,600
Hannah Peterson	54,675

The prizes awarded are as follows: Paul Engelstad, Buick touring car; Agnes Oftedahl, Ford touring car; J. C. Liden, Victrola; Helmer Ostrom, diamond ring; Hannah Peterson, gold watch.

The campaign was a decided success in every way, hundreds of new names being added to the already large subscription list of The Times. This paper has for some years enjoyed the distinction of having the largest subscription list of any weekly newspaper in the state of Minnesota and the result of this campaign places it in a position in the matter of circulation which is unapproachable by any other weekly publication.

The candidates in the campaign worked hard and covered the city of Thief River Falls and all of the surrounding territory in a thoroughly satisfactory manner, making certain that very few families within the trade territory of Thief River Falls were left without becoming Times subscribers.

With the increased family of readers for The Times to serve, it will be the aim of the publishers to maintain the high standard of the paper that has made it the dominant publication in this section of the state, and thus provide the advertisers with a medium which fills their wants in every particular.

Want More Hay But None Available For Shipment

Six carloads of hay, in addition to the 20 carloads contracted to be shipped from Goodridge, were requested through the county farm bureau office this week. The order cannot be filled as the Goodridge shipment will pretty well clean up all the surplus hay in the eastern end of the county. Farmers last year cut little more than enough to supply their own needs because of the low prices prevailing early in the season and the usual surplus is therefore not to be had. County Agent McCann is certain that 50 carloads could have been sold to western parties if that amount were available.

State Prison Official to Make Address in County

Mr. Gillespie of the Stillwater prison will be in Pennington county on March 23, 24 and 25. He will talk to the commercial club at the noon day luncheon on Thursday and at the farmers' club in Rocksbury township on Thursday evening. He will speak at Goodridge Friday evening, March 24, and in Silverton town hall Saturday evening. Mr. Gillespie will have some very interesting things to tell about the state institution at Stillwater.

The Rocksbury township unit officers request that each one attending meeting bring eatables along and coffee will be served by the club.

Cost of Running County Lower Than State Average

Very few counties in Minnesota are run at a lower cost than Pennington, according to the Minnesota Extension Service News, which gives the figures covering the 1921 levy for county purposes. Only one county, Roseau, in the northern part of the state is run at a lower cost than Pennington, which is a remarkable record for our neighbor to the northeast when its size is considered. Only two counties in the state have a lower cost of operating than Roseau, one being Cook with a population of about 1,000, and the other Grant with a population of 6,000.

According to the periodical of the extension service, the following figures show the levy for the general fund in the lowest of the northern counties, this being the fund from which money to pay the running expenses of the counties is taken:

Roseau	$19,998.68
Pennington	28,454.01
Koochiching	33,505.67
Kittson	60,032.25
Marshall	64,898.36
Beltrami	70,035.66

Pioneer Residents Honored.

About one hundred old-time friends of Mr. and Mrs. Rasmus Oen, pioneer resident of this city, met at the Trinity Lutheran church Sunday afternoon and proceeded to the home of the family on Main avenue north, tendering them a complete surprise. Mr. Oen has been in business in this city for the past 32 years. He is at present principal owner of the Oen Mercantile company, has extensive farming interests, and is vice president of the First National bank. He has in many ways been instrumental in promoting the growth of a number of large enterprises here.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in a social manner, reviewing the many happy events in the past when the city was a mere hamlet. Rev. T. E. Sweger, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, in behalf of the guests, presented Mr. and Mrs. Oen with a handsome floor lamp and a centeneria plant as a token of their esteem and regard. Attorney H. O. Chommie, C. L. Hanson, president of the First National bank, Bernhard Knudsen, pioneer resident; Olaf Winger, former employe of the Oen Mercantile company, and Mrs. Bernhard Knudsen gave interesting toasts to the estimable couple. Mr. Oen responded in a very fitting manner. Before the departure of the guests a fine lunch was served.

PRODUCER EXPLAINS REASONS FOR TITLE OF BIG PHOTOPLAY

Thos. H. Ince Describes Significance of "Lying Lips" as Applied to Economic World—A Great Picture.

What are "Lying Lips?"

One might just as well ask: "What wrecks shimmering dream castles?" "What destroys fondest hopes?" "What turns men and women into spiteful, cynical persons?" For the answer in plain—"Lying Lips."

That is why Thomas H. Ince chose this title for his second big picture to be released through Associated Producers. It is the story of a beautifully polished, fragilely lovely woman; a woman who is an ultra product of wealth and the best society, brought up by conventional standards and well calculated to stir the hearts of men.

She was different. She completely captured the heart of a stalwart, rugged man's man, a man unused to the caprices and guiles of women. She whispered the tender words: "I love you" and transported him into heaven. Then, in a crucial moment, her courage deserted her. She was not strong enough to proclaim her love to the world and in her lovely face he saw only the hateful spectacle of deceit—of "Lying Lips."

There is a lesson for all humanity in "Lying Lips."

Vapors reach deep colds
When the cold "goes down" get after it by the rubbing and vapor method.

Obstinate colds that go down into the chest can be reached by the combination rubbing and vapor-inhaling method with Vicks VapoRub.

Apply Vicks over throat and chest. Rub well in, spread on thickly and cover with two thicknesses of flannel. At night arrange bedclothes loosely, like a funnel, so the arising vapors will be breathed all night, right into the lungs.

Quick relief should be had from the tightness, soreness and cough with rapid loosening of the phlegm, abating danger of pneumonia or influenza.

Vicks contains the antiseptic, healing vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Oil of Turpentine and is the standby in millions of homes for congestions of nose, throat, and chest; skin hurts and itchings, and various bodily pains.

Once tried, Vicks becomes a stand-by in the medicine cabinet.

Just rub it on and breathe in the vapors

Walkout of 600,000 Mine Workers Expected April 1

Six hundred thousand union miners in the anthracite and bituminous and bituminous fields will quit work April 1 unless some unforeseen solution of the present wage controversy is offered in the meantime, John L. Lewis, president of the international organization of the United Mine Workers, has announced.

Working agreements between the operators and mine workers expire on April 1 and all efforts of the union, aided by the department of labor at Washington, have not resulted in bringing about a conference with mine owners for the purpose of formulating new working agreements to take the place of the contracts about to expire.

Plans for evacuation of the mines already are under way, Mr. Lewis said. In the event of a walkout, crews of pump men, engineers, firemen, watchmen and helpers will remain at their posts to prevent flooding of the mines and maintain the properties, he said. He estimated that 1,000 men would remain on duty in the anthracite and 3,000 in the bituminous mines for such purposes.

FILM COMPANY GOES INTO NORTH FOR BIG SCENES

Rarely does a production company travel as many thousands of miles from its base of operations to film outdoor scenes as was done in photographing "The Heart of the North," which is to be shown at the Lyceum theatre on Friday and Saturday. At great expense beautiful exterior scenes were photographed in Canada, the locale of the story.

As part of the romance develops around an Indian village, special guides were sent out to find a band of Indians to appear in the picture. Fortunately a tribe chanced to be encamped not far from the settlement where the photoplayers had made camp.

Not only are the scenic splendor and quaint natural settings a feature of this intense drama of the Canadian country, but there are many other equally interesting scenes. Among them are several teams of real Eskimo dogs drawing heavy-laden sleighs across the snow and ice, an actual chase of a silver fox that eventually meets its doom in a trap, and the awe-inspiring spectacle of a terrific forest fire.

Federal Officers Swoop Down on Red Lake Falls

A group of federal prohibition officers descended upon Red Lake Falls last week and, armed with search warrants, made a raid on the hotels and soft drink bazaars and some private residences but found little of what they were after.

A quarter of a bottle of moonshine was discovered in a corridor at the Paul hotel, where it had been left by a transient. The officers also found moonshine at a farm of Domino Amiot, west of town, but no evidence of a still. These two finds were the only ones made by the booze sleuths.

HOW the cost of building quality tires has been brought down to the lowest level in history was explained by H. S. Firestone, President of the Company, to the stockholders at the annual meeting on December 15, 1921.

1. All inventories and commitments at or below the market.
2. Increased manufacturing efficiency and volume production reduced factory overhead 58%.
3. Selling costs reduced 38%.

Mr. Firestone stated, "This reduction in prices is made possible by our unusually advantageous buying facilities, and the enthusiasm, loyalty and determination of our 100% stockholding organization.

"Due credit must be given to Firestone dealers who are selling Firestone tires on a smaller margin of profit. This brings every Firestone saving direct to the car owner."

The saving through first cost plus the saving through high mileage doubles Firestone economy and is daily adding new fame to the Firestone principle of service—

A COSTLY FARCE.

It cost the taxpayers in the city of Thief River Falls about two dollars for every vote cast in the primary delegate election held last week and the only reason the expense was not as great in the country was that it so happened township elections were held on the same day. Any way one looks at it the result fails to justify the expense.

If this election served any good good purpose it has not yet become known. A number of delegates were elected to attend state and district conventions at their own expense for the purpose of placing in nomination certain candidates to be voted on at the primaries in June. Only one candidate for each office will be so placed in nomination and the primary will consequently serve only to ratify the action of state and district conventions. Any action taken by these conventions will be binding so far as the party organization is concerned and anyone wishing to run in the primaries will be effectively barred. If this is not the case, of what value was the original convention?

There are almost as many election days in Minnesota this year as holidays in Mexico. Most people were satisfied there were enough with only the direct primary and the general election without adding this early spring farce to the list. Nothing was settled by it and but few knew exactly what it meant. The taxpayer simply foots another bill of expense without being in the least benefited. The understanding ones may have been mildly amused over the whole thing, but that is the extent of its value.

It is safe to say that not ten per cent of those who voted for a delegate at the caucuses preceding the convention had any idea of what that delegate would do or for whom he would vote when the time came for him to express the preference of the voters in the precinct he represented. He had no mandate from them to stand by any certain man or measure and was left to suit his own sweet inclination in this respect, there being nothing to prevent his going diametrically opposite to the wishes of the majority of his neighbors in case he so saw fit. Only by hearsay or direct questioning could his opinions be ascertained before his vote was cast in the convention, and as neither policy nor principle were involved in his selection in the first place there was no check of any kind upon his action. The whole thing is a joke.

It would seem as if legislators should have learned something from the presidential primary fiasco and steer as far as possible away from anything which needlessly complicates the selection of candidates or the election of officials. The simpler the proceeding is made the more likely it is to be free from objectionable features. The legislature should improve this primary delegate election law by repealing it entirely.

Testing Seed Corn.

All corn growers should be vitally interested in a new method of testing corn for germination. By the new method, say farm crops men of the University of Minnesota, corn can be tested for germination just as rapidly as by the ordinary ragdoll test and, in additon, all ears affected by disease can be detected and discarded along with the ones that are weak and dead. The method is simple and is fully explained and illustrated in Farmers Bulletin No. 1176. This bulletin may be secured by writing the Bureau of Publications, Washington, D. C.

Motor Lubricants for 30 Million People

REFINING crude petroleum to produce a multiplicity of useful products is a highly specialized branch of industry.

The refining of gasoline and the manufacture of lubricating oils each require special treatment. Motor lubricants are made from specially selected crude and the portions of such crude best adapted for high quality motor oils are extracted during the first operations of refining.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of its achievements; proud of its enviable record as a manufacturer of gasoline, and equally proud of its record as a manufacturer of lubricants for all types and classes of machinery.

During 1921 nearly 25 million gallons of Polarine, the perfect motor oil, were manufactured and sold.

This enormous gallonage went to the consumer with the unqualified guarantee of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) that no better lubricant for an internal combustion engine could be made.

Lubricating oil is the most vital factor in conserving your car investment. In making definite recommendations for lubricating your car this Company realizes the importance to you, and to itself, of knowing exactly what each machine requires.

The responsibility of the Standard Oil Company, (Indiana) is emphasized when you consider that in the territory served there are more than 3 million automotive vehicles under registration. These machines represent a total investment of more than 2 billion dollars.

Every drop of motor oil manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is made to meet definite requirements worked out in the Company's laboratories by skilled chemists, refiners and lubricating engineers who have given careful study to the technical problems and their practical application under working conditions, which the oil must meet.

It is because they have given such painstaking attention to every detail of manufacture and application that the Company has been able to produce Polarine, the perfect motor oil.

It is this painstaking attention to every detail, in every branch of its business, that has made this Company a leader in the industry.

It is by such sustained, conscientious, enthusiastic effort, to keep faith with its patrons, that this Company has won the confidence, esteem and respect of the public it serves.

What a Goal Will Do.

When we have a definite goal in view, we are likely to surmount many obstacles that would otherwise seem to stand in our way. There is no question but what people who have a definite goal always do better work than those who go about their work in a haphazard way. Some of our high school students decide upon an objective which they aim to reach during their high school career, while others drift.

During the last six weeks period there was considerable sickness and no doubt many of the absences were due to good reasons, but on the other hand there are many cases of absence which could be avoided with a little effort on the part of the student.

The Normal Training girls were subject to the same conditions as the other high school students, but there were very few absences in that department. Those girls have a very definite goal which they have made up their minds to reach. They do not come tardy or stay away from school on slight pretense as some of the other students are likely to do. With 29 girls enrolled in the normal training department, the total absences to date amount to only eight and a half days, giving them an attendance of 99.1 per cent. There were no cases of tardiness. In the high school as a whole the attendance was 92.9 per cent. The scholarship record is also high compared with the high school as a whole. No doubt the low percentage of failure was due chiefly to the regular attendance, for many of the failures in other departments are traceable to poor attendance.

Honor Roll.

The following students are on the honor roll for the fourth period:

Freshmen: Olive Aaland, Katherine Barzen, Maxine Johnson, Sarah Martinson, Bernice Moen, Mildred Remmem, Evangeline Umland, Bernice Erickson.

Sophomores: Ruby Conklin, Joseph Gavin, Alice Gobler, Ella Johnson, Esther Lunsetter, Margaret Melgaard, Harriet Morgan, Mildred Peterson, Albert Stengelson, Lillie Stenseth, Reva Kimbrough.

Juniors: Lorrayne Crandall, Lucille Curtis, Lydia Dahlen, Nella Knutson, Esther Larson, Clara Olen, Evelyn Peterson, Allison Stitt, Bert Umland, Pearl Weeks.

Seniors and Normal Training: Bessie Elofson, Nora Lindquist, Celia Morrissey, Clara Orzechowski, Pearl Shetler, Lois Strubble, Johanna Wedul, Alpha Bishop, Alice Bredeson, Bertha Hastad.

Here It Is Again!

Did you think the debating team was dead? Well, it isn't! It takes more than one knockout to kill a lively animal like that. Here it is again, up on all fours, pawing the air and ready for another fight. When does the big event come off? Friday evening, March 24. Here? No, but not very far away. Red Lake Falls is the place. And, say, if the roads are good we should have a big crowd of rooters over there. Got a Ford? Pile in, and take your friends along. See the team in action and inspire it by the sight of your "dear familiar faces" in the audience.

But that's only half of the news. After the team has recovered from whatever happens to it, it's going to try it again. On the home field this time! East Grand Forks is coming. Sounds good, doesn't it? So plan to be in the high school assembly room on Friday evening, April 7, and hear some hot stuff.

You know we've a dandy team—or didn't you know it? Of course Red Lake Falls and East Grand Forks have good teams, too. This will make it all the more interesting.

Here are some of the promised features of the entertainment: Lloyd Alnes slowly and sadly asking his opponent's pardon for being forced to differ from him; Ole Helle striding across the stage, tearing his hair and flourishing his arguments; Albert Stengelson ascending the stage with fear and trembling, winning the sympathy of all by his gentle, unsophisticated manner. Can't you just see it?

Now, don't forget the dates—Mar. 24 and April 7.

Club Leader Here.

A. J. Kittelson of Crookston visited here between trains on Friday. He is the club leader for the Red River Valley and came to assist in the organizing of teams for the garment, cake and bread clubs.

Inter-Class Basketball.

The inter-class games opened on Monday, March 13, with the Sophomore-Freshmen game. A fair turnout of the two classes rooted for their teams. The Freshmen were the favorites. The game opened with a rush and for a while it looked doubtful as to who would be the victor. But the size and experience of the Sophomores soon began to tell and although the Freshmen deserve credit for a wonderful game, they came out on the short end of a 28 to 13 score. The work of Schutt and Keene for the Sophomores was especially good and the individual attempts of Zeh for the Freshmen were spectacular.

On Tuesday the Juniors met the Seniors. It was a good game between two perfect working machines. At the end of the first half the score was 11-1 in favor of the Seniors. But the tables turned in the second half and after a series of perfect baskets by Parenteau, the Junior forward, the game ended 31-23 in their favor. Parenteau starred for the Juniors, while Werstlein took first honors for the Seniors.

The Juniors were in action again Wednesday but this time against the Freshmen. Many fouls were called on the Juniors because of their size. Zeh again proved himself to be the great standby of the Freshmen and although playing a losing game his work was marvelous, to say the least, in the face of such over-size. The final whistle sounded with the Juniors again victorious, 25-15.

On Thursday the Sophomores met the Senior team, winning from them, 19-10. The Seniors played a good game in the absence of their stellar center, Werstlein, and certainly the machine was not working well without him. Keene played a star game for the Sophomores while Langseth's work at guard for the Seniors was good.

The week ended with the Seniors having two defeats to their record and the Freshmen mixing to clear up the "two extremes" mystery. The Freshmen played a remarkable game. The Seniors for the second time in the series lost DeParcq and Paulson on personals. The first half ended 11-8 in favor of the Freshmen, and the end of the game found the Freshmen still in the lead by five points—17-12.

To date five games in the series have been played, seven still remaining. Each class meets every other class twice and places will be awarded on percentages.

Coach Stenhoff is acting as referee, William Alexander timekeeper, and Stanley Sorenson, scorekeeper. To help defray expenses a ten cent admission fee is being asked at all the games.—W. J. A. '22.

Talks on Science.

Mr. Harner, when he spoke to us last Wednesday, chose science as his topic. He said that science was one of the most important subjects to be studied in school; that it taught us how to read, and it developed us in that which is. If it were not for science, industries could not be carried on. For instance, the making of dyes depends on science. Formerly our wood dyes were imported from Germany but now are made to a large extent in our country. The making of paper depends on science. Bacteriology is a comparatively new science, but an interesting subject in connection with farming. Most farmers, though good workers, are soil-robbers because they do not understand the action of bacteria in the soil. A large part of the production goes to waste. Mr. Harner's talk was appreciated by the student body.

Normal Girls' Rural Practice.

The two weeks of practice teaching in the rural schools, beginning Feb. 27 and ending March 10, were greatly enjoyed by all of us. Miss Perry, the supervisor of the teacher training department, is given much credit for the wise management in selection of practice schools and in the accommodations provided for us.

The schools in which we were situated were located in various parts of the county. With two or three exceptions, two of us girls went to each school.

The first few days of rural life were cold, and a number of the girls had to drive a long distance into the country, which certainly was not enjoyable. Some of us wished that our noses, fingers and toes had been a trifle nearer to our hearts as there was a lack of circulation.

The first Monday of our stay in the country was quite exciting to the pupils as well as the teachers. The pupils gazed upon us with much curiosity as though we might have escaped from some "zoo" or other institution; and the first impressions we received of them were no less ridiculous.

There was the problem of adjusting ourselves to the new conditions, which we were not accustomed to.

After the first day had rolled by, things seemed to change considerably. The work moved along more smoothly, and the pupils' curiosity had been satisfied the previous day, which left their minds settled upon their work as usual.

One of our chief amusements in the country was making use of the natural resources. Snow balling, skiing, and coasting were popular among the girls as well as other members of the communities. We surely did get acquainted and well acquainted with the snow, sometimes rolling over while coasting or freezing our finger tips in snow balling.

The people of the communities treated us very cordially, making us feel contented and right at home. Social entertainments were held in our honor, which helped greatly in acquainting us with the surroundings.

After being in a school two weeks we began to get results from our teaching or the permanent instructors' teaching.

A fifth grade boy who was asked to locate Puget Sound could not answer. The teacher asked him what a "sound" was and he spoke up brilliantly, "It's a noise." Such incidents were trying on our self-control, as when one teacher was discussing nouns and proper nouns, she stated that a proper noun was the name of a particular person, place or thing. Then turning to the class, asked for a definition of a noun. The reply was abrupt, "They're not so particular."

Experiences like these relieved the monotony of the school work and kept us wide awake and humorous during our rural school life. We are now looking forward with satisfaction to our new occupation next year. —J. W. & C. O. '22.

Central Notes.

The pupils of the seventh grade have taken the Otis tests this week.

The pupils of the seventh English class are busy with their essays on "Alcohol and Cigarettes."

Because of sickness, the percentage of attendance is the lowest in the Central that it has been this year.

Miss Weeks has been absent all week because of sickness. Miss Tharaldson is substituting for her.

There were no manual training classes Wednesday and Thursday of this week in the seventh and eighth grades as Mr. Jardine was ill.

The Central school teachers and pupils missed Miss Maude Johnson last Tuesday in music.

The seventh and eighth grades enjoyed an assembly period last Wednesday, the 15th, when Mrs. R. Arnold gave several readings, which the pupils enjoyed very much. A piano solo by Dorothy Shirley was also highly applauded.

How Times Do Change.

Forty years ago people went West to live down a bad reputation. Now the movie folks are talking about coming East to do the same thing.

Mothers—Important.

Mothers should see that the whole family take a thorough, purifying system cleaning laxative this Spring. NOW IS THE TIME. The family will be healthier, happier, and get along better if the blood is given a thorough purifying, the stomach and bowels cleaned out, and the germs of winter accumulated in the system, driven away. HOLLISTER'S GOLDEN NUGET TABLETS is one of the very best and surest spring medicines to take. Get them and see the difference in the whole family. Their color will be better, they'll eat better, sleep better, and be well and happy. Lambert's drug store.—Advertisement. Mar.

American Troops Ordered Sent Home From Germany

President Harding has directed the return of all American troops from Germany. The American forces will be gradually withdrawn at the present rate until they are returned to this country and it is the plan that the last soldiers will be brought back to this country by the end of the fiscal year or before July 1.

County Auditor T. P. Anderson, who knows more about the Pennington county soldier boys than any other person in the community, says there are at present no men from this locality with the forces of occupation in Europe. A son of Deputy Sheriff Paul M'dderigh was the last of our men on the job over there and he returned to this country a short time ago.

DEER PARK

Ole Gisselquist.

Ole Gisselquist, a pioneer resident of the town of Deer Park, passed away on March 10 at his home, after suffering for some time with foot troubles. He had one or two amputation operations made quite recently but failed to get any relief. Mr. Gisselquist was not only a good neighbor, but he was a good loyal citizen, a man with a heart and feeling for his fellowmen. He was one of those who believed in extending the glad hand of good fellowship to those less fortunate in life than himself. His many acts of kindness will long be remembered.

Mr. Gisselquist was born in Skane, Sweden, on Aug. 20, 1852, and was 69 years old at the time of his death. He immigrated to this country in 1881 and landed at La Crosse, Wis., but later removed to Norman county, in this state, where he lived for 30 years. In 1906 he moved with his family to Pennington county, where he resided up to the time of his death. Mr. Gisselquist leaves a loving wife and nine children to mourn his death, together with a host of friends. They are Mrs. Alfred Rauss, Superior, Wis., Mrs. Olaf Pierson, Hinckley, John, of Elmore, Minn., Olof of Argyle, Ernest, Plymouth, Eddie and Melvin, at home.

Deceased was laid at rest in the Highlanding cemetery on Thursday the 16th. Many friends came to pay their last tribute to the dead. His casket was nicely decorated with a profusion of flowers.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"What Shall I Do With Jesus?"
(Matt. 27:22)

That is the perplexing question which faces Pontius Pilate, a question which will not down. Jesus had been haled into his court by the chief priests and the elders of Jerusalem. The accusation preferred against Him was: "We found this fellow perverting the nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Caesar, saying that He, Himself is Christ, a King." (Luke 23:2.) Rebellion, treason against the Roman emperor is charged against Him. Pilate questions Jesus carefully and finds no fault in Him. But the multitude, led by the priests and the elders, demand His crucifixion; His death alone will satisfy them. Pilate hesitates; he is averse to condemning an innocent man. But how can he escape this crime and, at the same time, be agreeable to the excited Jews?

He hits upon a way out of the dilemma: It was customary for him to release unto them a prisoner at the feast of the Passover. They will perhaps choose Jesus. He reminds them of this custom and gives them the choice of Jesus or Barrabbas, "who for sedition and murder was cast into prison." They surely would prefer the innocent Christ to the convicted murderer. No, they demand the release of Barrabbas. Pilate's scheme has failed him. Already he had sent Jesus to King Herod, hoping thus to rid himself of a perplexing and dangerous decision. Herod, however, had mocked Jesus and sent Him back to Pilate. The question is still before him: "What shall I then do with Jesus?" Pilate had tried his utmost to evade its answer, he had employed every scheme his clever wit could devise; he had even scourged Jesus, the Innocent, to rouse the sympathy and satisfy the anger of the Jews. Of no avail. The question is still there: "What shall I do with Jesus?" Pilate must answer it.

That same question faces every man. It is the question of the ages; you cannot side-step it; it demands your answer. Simeon had prophesied of Him: "He is set for the fall and rising again of many in Israel; and for a sign which shall be spoken against, that the thoughts of many hearers may be revealed." Luk. 2:34. Jesus is the touchstone of men. Coming into contact with Him, their true nature is revealed. Judas proves himself a miser, willing to sell anything and everything for gold; Peter shows himself a conceited weakling, strong only when there is no danger; Pilate manifests himself a selfish coward, ready to sacrifice right and justice for personal interests; the priests and elders appear in their true light, hypocrites, waiting not for the Messiah of the Lord, but for one of their own imagination.

In the Gospel Jesus comes to you; you heart is a judgment-hall in which Jesus stands on trial. "What will you do with Him?" That question confronts you in all your life. Jesus is there in your religion, the thorn-crowned King of Salvation, the crucified ransom from sin and death. What will you do with Him? Accept or reject Him? He is there in your business, the guiding principle of your actions. Will you make business a confession of your faith in Him, or count it simply as a matter of gain? He is there in your affections, your sorrows, your loves, your hopes, your disappointments. Will you find in Him the patience to bear the one and the consecration to hallow the other? Or will you wear away yourself in fretting and selfishness? He is there in your amusements; will you choose them so He may go with you, or that you must order Him to stay at home? "What will you do with Jesus?" Every day, yes, in every act you must answer that question. You cannot evade it; you cannot put it off.

And, oh, the fateful importance of that question and of the answer you give. Pilate decided to crucify Him. And that answer marked the beginning of his end. Fallen into disgrace with Caesar, deprived of his office, banished to the wilds of Gaul, tortured to despair by an accusing conscience, he ends in a suicide's grave.

The Jews decided to crucify Him, and therewith sealed the fate of their city and nation.

Man today rejects Jesus, crucifies Him anew and thereby seals his eternal doom. He who cries: "Crucify Him!" erects the cross of his own agony, from which in the darkness of eternal banishment his cries will sound unanswered: "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?"

The church today is asking: "What shall I do with Jesus?" And, alas, the answer which prevails is similar to Pilate's: "Crucify Him." The modern church discards the thorn-crowned and crucified Christ; He does not suit them; He is the relic of an out-lived age. Knowing not what to do with Him in the church, they have cast Him out, nailed Him to the cross of Modernism, Selfrighteousness and Unbelief.

"What shall I do with Jesus?" What is your answer to this ever-present, unavoidable, fateful question? Read those familiar lines of Charles Wesley, "Jesus, lover of my soul," and you have the answer you should give; the answer which will crown you with blessings here on earth and hereafter in heaven.

Plan Big Spring Opening at Oen Mercantile Store

The Oen Mercantile company's store has been undergoing quite a renovation in preparation for the big spring opening, announcement of which will be made in The Times next week. The window floors and backgrounds have all been repainted and present a decidedly inviting appearance, while the display arrangements, particularly as they apply to womens' wear, have been greatly improved.

Roy Protz, the new manager of this department of the business, has just returned from the eastern fashion centers, where he personally made the selections to be placed on display at the big spring opening. His long experience in catering to the wants of the people in this section of the state has taught him to gauge their requirements better than could any man not having the advantage of this training and he is certain that the stock to be presented by Oen's will be superior to anything shown in this section. A formal invitation will be extended to all ladies in the neighborhood to visit the store during the opening if only for the purpose of inspection and comparison.

Other departments of the big store will also have many features to interest the spring buyer and a visit will be found well worth the time and effort.

Express Companies Look For Big Business Revival

The express business is a good barometer of trade, according to O. C. Paulson, agent in charge of the local office, who declares it is significant that the American Railway Express company is preparing for a heavy movement of express traffic during the remainder of this month and April.

Fluctuation in the express business usually precedes like change in the general business by several weeks. The express people are confident that business resumption is near at hand. At their New York office it is stated that an unusual number of buyers have visited New York city recently and that many concerns have a full corps of traveling salesmen on the road.

The express company is getting ready for a return of the small package business and the first two months of the year showed a noticeable increase in this traffic. They have purchased 1,000 packing trunks, which are used for the protection of small packages and also to save extra handling. These also facilitate direct routing of traffic between specific points.

The company has a force of 125,000 employes and offices in 28,000 cities and towns. It operates over practically all the principal railroads of the United States, with a total mileage of 276,000 miles.

Deal Fell Through and Public is the Gainer

L. L. Cohn of the Palace Clothing House finds himself compelled to reduce his fine stock in a hurry. He had a deal on for selling the business and as the prospective buyer did not wish to take over the goods ordered for spring Mr. Cohn had the shipments held up. His deal fell through and he has sent a hurry-up call for the goods originally ordered and these will begin arriving in a few days. In order to make room for the new arrivals he is offering the present stock at a great reduction in price. He assures the public that this is a genuine bargain occasion and asks for a chance to prove it. A glance at his announcement in another column will prove convincing.

NEW MOVEMENT AIMS FIRST AT AIDING SETTLER

Selling of Land Not Principal Consideration in Program of T. R. V. Association.

Publicity Campaign Aims at Educating Home Folks Before Others Are Tackled.

Intention is to be Prepared When Back-to-Land Movement Starts in Earnest.

"A Contented Family on Every Farm."

That is the slogan adopted by the recently formed New Settlers' Association of the Thief River Valley. It expresses exactly the aim and purpose of the organization.

The campaign is going to be different from most such movements in that special stress is to be laid upon the "contented" feature of the slogan. The ambition in too many instances where similar organizations have entered the field to advertise the sections they represent has been to secure the settlers by any method at hand and then to forget all about them or at best manifest but a slight interest in their welfare. The selling of land has been the chief object, the contentment of the settler afterward being a secondary consideration. That is the reason why so many of these enterprises have failed. The New Settlers' association is going to reverse this order. The intention will be to prove that this is the best section of the country in which to make a home and then furnish all the advice possible concerning ways in which success may be achieved. The neighborhood wants permanent settlers. A section of abandoned farms is but little better than a section in which settlement has never been made.

Campaign Has Sarted.

The association has already launched its campaign of publicity, starting at home, the most logical place, as the entire success of the movement depends upon the attitude of the home people. The association is simply the active agent of every man, woman and child residing in the community. It aims to make this country a better and more prosperous place in which to live and naturally the people already here will be the greatest benefactors. Boost the country you make your living in to your neighbors and friends and see that they do the same to theirs, and in a very short time this boosting spirit will spread to the outside homeseeker and then we will begin to reap the harvest of results. Watch for the membership card that should appear in every place of business in the city. It is a badge of honor signifying that the owner of the business is alive to the needs of the day and doing his bit to bring in that sorely needed element in this country—New and Contented Settlers.

Prepare For Movement.

In a few short years there will be one of the greatest "Back to the Land" movements that the United States has ever known. The people who flocked to the cities by the lure of quick wealth will eventually discover that land is the basis of everything. A man may make a fortune in industry or speculation on the market, but he turns to land for permanence and stability. All that is sterling in our modern civilization has its foundation in the soil.

Depends on Ourselves.

President H. W. Protzeller of the association is enthusiastic over the manner in which the project is being received. Business men of all classes seem glad to get behind a movement that has nothing to do with speculation or individual profit and simply aims to benefit the community and those who may be induced to come here for the purpose of making a home. He is also in a position to know something about the possibilities for success and says:

"Now is the time to bring our country to the attention of the very people who will head the back-to-the-land movement. We have everything that a successful agricultural country needs and without a doubt we have the cheapest good land anywhere in the United States. Let's get this movement, which is bound to come, started in our direction and then, and not until then, can we relax and watch the country fill up with the right kind of settlers who will make a success for themselves and at the same time for ourselves."

Carlos Avery to Address Local Sportsman's Club

At a meeting of the recently organized Pennington County Sportsmen's club on Tuesday evening, William Munch of Crookston, state game warden for this district, was present and delivered a very interesting address. He approved the stand the club members have taken for the conservation of the wild life in the neighborhood and promised his hearty co-operation and assistance. As a proof of his interest he offered to at once try and secure 50 ring necked pheasants to be placed on the state game reserve just outside the city where they will be looked after by Fred Beefbower. The association has been promised a large supply of fish fry to be placed in the Red Lake river at this point this spring and an additional lot in the fall.

State Game and Fish Commissioner Carlos Avery will be present at a meeting to be held here on April 27, at which time there will be a big gathering and banquet.

The new association starts out with every promise of success.

Attends Father's Funeral.

C. B. Bradley left last Friday for North Vernon, Ind., in response to a telegram announcing the death of his father, Asa Bradley, near that city on Thursday. Deceased was 70 years of age and death was due to a paralytic stroke. He was born at Walton, Ind., and the body was taken to that place for burial on Sunday. A wife and three children survive.

CITY SADDENED BY SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. H. A. BRUMUND

Seemingly on Road to Recovery From Recent Operation, Summons is Unexpected.

Mrs. Louise Agnes Brumund, wife of H. A. Brumund, president of the Thief River Falls city council, died at Physicians' hospital at 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Death was caused by a heart attack.

Mrs. Brumund about a month ago underwent an operation for gall stones from which she seemed to be recovering in a very satisfactory way and the announcement of her death therefore came as a shock to the community. Reports coming from the hospital just a few days before her death were to the effect that she would soon be permitted to return to her home. Because of the weakness of the patient's heart the previous operation was undertaken with hesitation by the doctors, but her condition became such as to make delay longer impossible. Her fine rally after the ordeal gave the physicians every hope that the danger was passed. The sudden turn on Tuesday morning was therefor entirely unlooked for. So unexpected was the attack with which she was carried away that a daughter, Mrs. A. L. E. Wallgren of Minneapolis, could not get here in time to see her mother alive although notified as soon as the latter's condition became grave. Other relatives were at the bedside when the end came.

Mrs. Brumund, whose maiden name was Louise Agnes Mearow, was born in Ottawa, Canada, 42 years ago on the 10th of March. With her parents she moved to Aitkin, this state, when a little child. Later she became matron at the city hospital at Walker, where she was married to Mr. Brumund 16 years ago. Her daughter, Mrs. Wallgren, is by a former marriage. Besides her husband and daughter, she is survived by her aged mother, who has been making her home in this city for some time; four sisters and one brother. They are Mrs. Albert Lonson of this city; Mrs. Gibbs of Spokane, Mrs. Carrigan of Wenatche, Mrs. Allison of Aberdeen and John Mearow of Spokane, all in the state of Washington. A stepson, John Brumund, for whom she had devotedly filled the place of a mother, resides in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Brumund came to Thief River Falls 11 years ago and have since that time made the city their home. Mrs. Brumund was of a helpful and cheerful disposition and it is doubtful if any person in the city had a wider circle of friends and acquaintances. She was conscious almost to the end and while realizing that hope for her recovery had been abandoned by those about her, faced the fact without a murmur of complaint.

The funeral will be held this morning from St. Bernard's Catholic church with Rev. J. M. Noesen officiating.

In New Quarters.

Attorney G. Howard Smith is this week moving his office to the First National bank building from the McGinn block.

RIVER CHANNEL IS SHORTENED NEARLY A HUNDRED MILES

Clearwater Reduced in Length By Two-Thirds in Plan of Conservancy Board.

In response to many inquiries regarding the Clearwater river deepening and straightening project, C. E. Boughton, Sr., Red Lake Falls, attorney for the drainage commission, has prepared the following statement, which sets forth the facts clearly:

The channel is shortened nearly 100 miles, being reduced from 143 to 47 miles in length. It is deepened and widened to provide an adequate outlet to a vast territory of rich, fertile land, the owners of which have suffered heavy losses during flood years. The viewers estimated the benefits for the 193,115 acres included at $1,074,622.84 and the cost at $537,411.42. The cost may actually be less. In fact, the engineer's estimate is $513,191.23.

It should be clearly borne in mind that the amount assessed per acre is not the viewers' estimate of benefits, as many have incorrectly stated, but is the actual cost of the project, which is less than half of the benefits. The viewers estimated the benefits to run from 32 cents to $8.94 per acre. The cost is estimated from 16 cents to $4.47 per acre, the average being $3.67 per acre. When the nature of the improvement, which is the construction of a deep and straight permanent channel giving an outlet to this territory, is considered, the above average is much less than anyone expected.

Another matter is that cost charges can be spread over 20 years with the interest (probably 5 per cent rate) only to be paid the first five years. After that one-fifteenth is payable each year. If anyone wishes to stop interest he can pay the full amount of his share of the cost at any time.

The Indian lands, amounting to 49,278 acres, are about one-fourth of the area, and included in the assessments. This is made possible through the federal law and will materially help in paying for this work. The Clearwater report, including a full statement of facts regarding the Indian lands assessed, has been forwarded to the secretary of interior. That department will be represented at the final hearing to be held at Red Lake Falls on April 18.

KEEP ON CROSSING AND PARK NO CARS AGAINST SIDEWALK

Autoists and Pedestrians Have the Law Laid Down Properly in New Ordinance.

When the now traffic ordinance now under consideration by the city council goes into effect the autoists particularly will have to watch their behavior or get into difficulties with the authorities. Even the ordinary pedestrian will find there are certain things he must do.

Cars must all be parked in the middle of the street instead of against the sidewalk as is at present the custom; persons on foot will not be permitted to cut diagonally across the street at any point but are compelled to follow the intersections; the use of cutouts on automobiles is prohibited within the city limits; auto lamps must throw a beam not more than 42 inches higher than their own level; all turns must be made at intersections and all autos must face in the direction in the direction in which traffic is moving. These are only a few of the provisions of the new ordinance.

No car or other vehicle will be allowed to stand within 20 feet of a hydrant nor must such conveyance under any circumstances be left with the engine running unless there is someone in the car. Hitching posts are abolished and there is a penalty for tying horses up to light or telephone poles. No horse is to be left standing unattended without having the prescribed weight attached to his head. Rules are laid down for loading and unloading of drays and trucks and a speed limit of 10 miles per hour fixed for the business section and 15 miles for the residence section of the city. All lugs must be removed from tractors traversing the city streets unless planking is used to protect the paving.

The ordinance is lengthy and goes into details with regard to regulating traffic of all kinds. The probabilities are that many of its sections will be inadvertently violated at the outset but every provision is for the purpose of protecting the citizen and the latter should be willing and anxious to comply with the requrements.

Fix Salaries of Highway Patrolmen on State Roads

The county commissioners at a meeting held last week rejected all bids for the repairing of county ditch No. 1, as being too high. County Auditor T. P. Anderson was instructed to readvertise the job. Two bids were for 20 cents per yard for the excavation and one for 19 and nine-tenths cents.

Salaries of highway patrolmen were fixed at $125 per month for one man with a three-horse outfit and 75 cents per mile for dragging.

The county auditor was instructed to advertise for bids for the construction of one bridge and one concrete culvert on State Road No. 4 west of St. Hilaire.

260 Pounds of Motorcycle Cop to Capture Speeders

Ed. Johnson, 260 pounds of ex-service man, has been named night patrolman by Mayor John Bratrud and a motorcycle has been ordered for him. The new police officer has all the earmarks of a good man and his selection will meet with general approval. He rode a motorcycle during a part of the 18 months he was in France and consequently knows something about the contraption.

Speeding is going to be unpopular in Thief River Falls this coming summer. The temptation to "step on 'er" along the fine pavements will be well nigh irresistable but unless the motorist wants to hold a personal and costly confab with Municipal Judge Tarrant the inclination had better be curbed.

BEET GROWERS QUICK TO GRAB ACREAGE QUOTA

Total Thus Far Signed Up in Thief River Falls Territory is 201 Acres.

Two or Three Times This Amount Could Easily Have Been Secured if Wanted.

Permission to Load on Tracks of Electric Line Will Be Asked Next Season.

The entire sugar beet acreage alloted to Pennington county by the Minnesota Sugar company of Chaska, has been taken up by those who agree to grow beets under contract with that company during the coming year. Only 200 acres could be contracted for this spring because the factory is unable to care for a larger quantity from this section. Twice or three times as much land could easily have been secured for beet growing had the company been willing to take the product and make the same arrangements as with those who come in under the present agreement.

A number of farmers in the eastern end of the county would like to try the sugar beet experiment but ask that they be permitted to load on the line of the Northwestern Electric road instead of hauling to Thief River Falls. This matter has been taken up with the company and if there is no extra freight charge it is possible that the eastern section may be included in the Thief River Falls allotment another year as it is doubtful if the company will be willing to increase the acreage for the coming season.

Labor will this year cost the grower $19 per acre as against $24 a year ago. The price of seed has also been reduced 5 cents per pound from last year. Because of these reductions the producer will in all probability net an amount fully as large as in 1921 in spite of the fact that the tonnage return may not seem as great. The minimum price to be paid for beets is $5 per ton, f. o. b. Thief River Falls. Freight is paid by the company from this cty as are also all handling charges at the factory.

Those who have signed up to grow beets under the company's agreement and the acreage contracted in each case are as follows: Waldie Christensen, 35; C. J. Barrett, 35; G. F. Slack, 30; Dan Dowacter, 20; McFarland & Paulson, 15; J. B. Reller, 15; Peter Anderson, 10; Barzen & Kraemer, 6; Alfred Flattum, 5; John Bratrud, 25; Jens Kierk, 15; total 201.

Government Forestry Man Gives Interesting Talk

H. M. Wheeler, representing the state and national forest services, spoke to a large audience at the Princess theatre Monday evening on the subject of reforestration. His address was illustrated by lantern slides and motion pictures and proved most interesting and instructive.

There are 13,000,000 acres of unoccupied lands in the state of Minnesota absolutely unfit for agricultural purposes, said Mr. Wheeler, and this vast area should be devoted to the propagation of trees. One of the first things to learn concerning this reforestration subject, said the speaker, is that the growing of many valuable varieties of trees is not a matter of centuries. There are many fast-growing varieties, notably poplar, spruce and jack pine, which mature rapidly and for which there is an excellent market at all times. Intelligent care in thinning out and a program of replanting will insure a vast amount of wealth for the people of the state within a very short time, said Mr. Wheeler.

Attention was called to the fact that the sand dunes of central Nebraska are being planted to jack pine from northern Minnesota and the experiment shows every indication of being a success. Six thousand acres have been thus planted.

Mr. Wheeler also spoke to the high school students in the afternoon.

COUNTY RECEIVES $22,000 ROAD AID, BREAKING RECORD

Biggest Sum Ever Apportioned By State as General Highway Appropriation.

Pennington county's share of the largest road aid fund in state annals is $22,000, and Marshall county's is the same, it was announced this week. The money is for the more important roads in the county, other than so-called Babcock roads on which only trunk highway funds can be used.

R. P. Chase, state auditor, Henry Rines, state treasurer, and Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, make up the board which apportioned the big fund. Auditor Chase said the division furnished another striking example of the well known fact that the average county receives more from the state than it pays in direct taxes. The county minimum is increased more than 32 per cent over last year, he said, without increase in taxes, and the counties receive hundreds of thousands of dollars more aid for road improvements.

This is one of 83 out of the 86 counties given allotments of $22,000 or more, each receiving an amount exceeding that which it paid under the 1-mill tax levy. The three other counties, Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis, for the first time received maximums of $60,000 each, but considerably less than their respective 1-mill tax totals. Ramsey county commissioners transferred $10,000 to Dakota county. Last year the three counties listed got $40,000 each and many as little as $16,578 each compared to the $22,000 minimum under the new department.

The balance from the three "richest" counties swelled allowances to the 83 others under the state aid principle that counties of low assessed valuations should be helped with road improvements and upkeep. This principle was adopted in the so-called Bob Dunn constitutional amendment to the constitution and the state levy was increased from one-twentieth mill to one-fourth mill and later to one mill, the rate now of the state highway aid fund.

FIRST CANDIDATE IN 1922 CAMPAIGN OUT FOR SHERIFF

A. W. Crown Announces His Intention of Trying Conclusions With W. J. LaBree.

The first candidate for county office in the 1922 campaign this week shied his hat into the ring by filing for sheriff. A. W. Crown of this city, an ex-service man, born and raised in the county, has decided to enter the contest against W. J. LaBree, present incumbent, who has served as sheriff since the organization of the county in 1910. The latter is a veteran of many election battles in the county and while he has at times been pitted against men of wide acquaintance and strong backing, he has always come out of the fray with colors flying.

As concerns the other offices to be filled this fall, nothing definite is as yet known. There are rumors to the effect that practically every man now holding forth in the court house will have opposition, but no aspirants except Mr. Crown have as yet reached the filing stage. All county officers with the exception of judge of probate and clerk of court are to be elected this fall and it is known that the present officials will all be candidates for re-election. Three county commissioner places are also to be filled, the terms of A. W. Hanson, First district; Gust Naplin, Third district and O. J. Peterson, Fifth district, expiring the first of next January. Rumor has it that the two first-named will be candidates to succeed themselves, while Mr. Peterson may decide to go before the voters as candidate for another office.

N. D. NONPARTISANS NOMINATE FRAZIER FOR U. S. SENATOR

Place Complete Ticket in Field Headed by B. F. Baker, Glenburn, For Governor.

The North Dakota Nonpartisan League convention at Fargo last week elected an entirely new executive committee and placed a complete state ticket in the field. A. C. Townley, founder and recognized head of the league since its organization, offered to resign in the interest of harmony but no action was taken on the matter. Former Governor Lynn J. Frazier was nominated for United States senator and B. F. Baker of Glenburn for governor. Other nominations were as follows:

Congressmen—First district, P. Moeler, Enderlin; Second district, John Sherman, Steele; Third district, J. H. Sinclair, Kenmare. Lieutenant governor, E. A. Bowhan, Kulm; attorney general, Peter Garberg, Hettinger; commissioner of agriculture and labor, W. J. Church, York; secretary of state, H. N. Aaker, Grand Forks; treasurer, Obert Olson, Bismarck; auditor, D. C. Poindexter, Jamestown; railway commissioners, Frank Milholland and C. W. McDonald, Bismarck, and Fay Harding, Braddock; superintendent of public instruction, Miss Fannie Amidon, Valley City; supreme court justices, R. H. Grace, Mohall; M. J. Egbert, Valley City; E. G. Wallace, Wahpeton.

Says Unfair Methods Are Used Against Prison Plant

J. E. Gillespie, industrial publicity director for the Minnesota state prison, delivered a number of addresses in the county last week, beginning with a talk to the Thief River Falls business men at the noon luncheon on Thursday. He also spoke at Goodridge and in Rocksbury township.

The speaker claimed that unfair methods are being used by certain manufacturers of agricultural machinery to injure if not destroy the prison machinery and twine plant and stated that unless the farmers came to realize that the state-owned products are responsible to a large extent in the holding down of prices on this class of articles it might be necessary to discontinue the manufacture and turn the labor available at the prison into other channels.

Mr. Gillespie gave an interesting description of the state prison and the class of work turned out by the inmates. He said that the institution was everywhere recognized as a model of its kind and had been among the most successful in the country in the reformation of criminals. The opportunities afforded the men in prison for learning trades, acquiring an education and the incentive given them for making a living by honest means has resulted in the saving of a large number to useful citizenship.

A building permit was granted to Mrs. Joseph Johnson for the construction of a one and a half story dwelling house on lot 3 of block 36, original townsite, by the council on Tuesday evening. The building will have five rooms and full basement.

Waldal Enters Race For Representative in 65th

Marius Waldal of Plummer has filed as a candidate for the house of representatives to succeed A. J. Hemstad, who will not be a candidate this year. Mr. Waldal is at the present time clerk of the town of Emardville, president of the Farmers Co-operative grain company, manager of the Plummer co-operative creamery and president of the Cloverland Farm club. He is a graduate of the agricultural college of the university of Minnesota. The only other filing for the lower house in this district thus far is that of Nels Fore, also of Plummer.

Geske Heirs in Lawsuit Over Estate of Mother

The hearing in the Geske heir case which was set for Tuesday, has been postponed until Friday because of the illness of H. O. Chommie, attorney for Gust Geske, who is defendant in the suit brought by other heirs. He claims the property on which he now lives and which has been in his possession since the death of his mother in 1915 was left to him by oral will and that he has continued in possession for more than 15 years, thus establishing ownership. Other relatives, represented by Theo. Quale as attorney, contest this claim and ask that the property be apportioned among all the heirs.

INTERESTING TOPICS TO FEATURE MEETING OF PARENT-TEACHERS

Socialized Recitation and Visual Education to Be Explained, Also the Value of Motion Pictures For Instruction Purposes.

The next meeting of the Parent-Teacher association will be held in the high school auditorium at eight o'clock Tuesday evening, April 4. The High School Boys' Glee club will furnish music for the occasion. The sixth grade of the Washington building, Mrs. E. C. Karwand, teacher, will give a demonstration of the socialized recitation. Mrs. Karwand has had unusual success with this form of school work and all who are interested in education will appreciate an opportunity to see the children at work. Miss Josie Weeks, principal of the Washington school, will discuss visual education. This is one of the topics that is being given a great deal of consideration throughout the United States today. In connection with this there will also be a demonstration of motion pictures for instruction purposes in the schools. Appropriate films have been secured for the occasion from the extension department of the University, and the Oakland Park sanitorium is kindly loaning its machine. The Parent-Teacher association at its last meeting discussed the feasibility of getting a small portable machine for school use. It is to inform the members just what this means that this demonstration has been provided for.

All who come are assured a pleasant and profitable time. The meetings so far have provided excellent opportunity for both parents and teachers to become better acquainted with each other—and themselves.

NEW DIRECTORS WILL BE NAMED BY MERCHANTS

Annual Meeting and Banquet of Association to be Held at Club Room Friday Night.

Twelve Names Presented by Nomination Committee From Which to Make Selections.

Reports of Activities of Past Year to be Presented and New Plans Discussed.

The annual meeting and election of directors of the Thief River Falls Merchants' association will be held at the commercial club rooms on Friday evening. The proceedings will open with a banquet at 6:30 o'clock. There are nine directors to be chosen at this time from a list of 12 names submitted by the committee on nominations and these will at a later date select the officers for the ensuing year. The nominees are: W. W. Prichard, Jr., Lars H. Larson, A. M. Langseth, Carl Christofferson, E. O. Mogensen, Carl B. Larson, C. H. Jung, C. A. Voelz, Louis DeCremer, W. A. Hall, Jr., Alfred Bredeson and Cyril Sapero.

Final reports on the outcome of the market day and special Wednesday night opening experiments will be submitted by the committee in charge and plans for the future discussed. There is a strong feeling among a large number of the merchants that some plan of a nature similar to those found successful last year should again be followed, but it is likely that whatever is agreed upon will be somewhat different from anything yet attempted. President W. W. Prichard, Jr., and Secretary G. Howard Smith have been making investigations to ascertain systems for carrying on trade campaigns in other communities and it is likely they will have something in the way of a concrete proposition to present.

Closes Eventful Year.

The year just closing has undoubtedly been the most strenuous in the history of retail merchandising all over the country, and Thief River Falls has not escaped. Early action on the part of the association in taking steps to keep things moving as nearly normally as possible, however, resulted in a volume of business being transacted in this city which proved the envy of surrounding communities. Market days were launched on a scale more extensive and varied than attempted in any other place in the state and the result more than justified the trouble and expense. Price reductions were so widely advertised that the trading territory of the city was expanded by hundreds of miles and the good effect of this campaign has been felt even after the series of special bargain-giving days came to a close. That some idea of a similar nature will again be tried is probable. The meatter will be largely up to the new board of directors.

A Representative List.

The list from which the nine directors are to be chosen could not be better. Practically every kind of business in the city is represented and the members cannot go wrong no matter who is selected to run the affairs of the association during the coming year. The organization is one in which every citizen should take a just pride as its activities help in boosting every legitimate business enterprise in the city, no matter what its nature may be or whether or not he owner is a member of the association.

Augustana Synod Meeting To be Held Here in June

The city council on Tuesday evening granted free use of the auditorium for the conference meetings of the Lutheran Augustana Synod of the Red River Valley district which will be held in this city on May 11 to 14 inclusive. Rev. A. A. Larson and Senator O. A. Naplin, representing the local church, were present and stated that there would in all probability be between five and six hundred persons in attendance.

Crookston Closes Season With Fine Basket Record

The Crookston basketball team closed a very successful season on Saturday evening by defeating the 151st Field Artillery quintet by a score of 31 to 24. This leaves the neighboring city with a very strong claim to the state championship, having 26 victories to its credit and only four defeats. The Thief River Falls team has the honor of holding Crookston to the smallest score of the season in a game played in that city which resulted 18 to 14 in their favor. Altogether Crookston scored 1,082 points during the season while opponents were only able to garner a total of 512. Haaven had the best record as a basket shooter, having 148 floor scores to his credit, followed by Houser with an even hundred. In the free throw list the latter lead, having 78 to 22 for Haaven.

Pome.

'Twas midnight and the setting sun
Was rising in the west;
The bullfrogs were drinking buttermilk,
And the cow was in her nest.

The guy that wrote that pome ranked—as a poet—among the rankest.

"Say, why don't you shave?"

"I'm going to tomorrow."

"You should have shaved a week ago."

"I did."

That Covers a Lot.

The man who spends his time sitting on a nail-keg at the grocery store ranks as a producer along with the hen that sits on a door knob, except that she is honest in her intentions.

Having a man call you all the words in his cuss word vocabulary doesn't hurt half as much as having a woman tell you that you are "no gentleman."

Grocer: "We have some very fine string beans today."

Mrs. Newbride: "How much are they a string?"

Ever Happen to You?

My dad was never good to me,
Was never nice and kind;
The coward would lay me on his knee
And strike me from behind.

A United States court has just handed down an important ruling to the effect that a jewsharp is not a musical instrument. It sometimes takes a court a long time to find a thing out. Now if we can only have a decision on the ukelele our doubts will all be set at rest.

Judge: "And why haven't you a horn on your automobile?"

Italian: "Please, Mister Joodge, I don't needa da horn. It says on de front, 'Dodge Brothers.'"

Joe the Plodder says that factions speak louder than words to the politician.

Tuff.

I've tried to stem the tide of fate,
My efforts have been in vain,
I'm either too early or too late,
To climb the hill of fame.

No, Dorothy, dear, people are not necessarily subject to boils just because they find themselves in hot water.

Daughter: "Everett kissed me last night."

Mother: (indignantly) "Did you sit on him for it?"

Daughter: "I did."

Identified.

The bank teller in a snippy way said: "But I don't know you, madam!"

The woman was red-headed, and she got "red-headed" in a minute. She said: "Oh, yes, you do. I don't need anyone to identify me. I'm the 'red-headed hen' next to you whose 'imps of boys' are always running across your garden. When you started to town this morning your wife said: 'Now, Henry, if you want a dinner fit to eat this evening, you'll have to leave me a little money. I can't keep this house on Christian Science.'"

"Here is your money," interrupted the paying teller very faintly.

Physiological Lore.

"Say, old top," chirped the cheerful chump, as he trickled into the club, "do you chaps know why the steering wheel of an auto ought to make the chauffeur sick? You can't guess? Well, then, I'll tell you. It's because it goes against his stomach."

One of the strangest things in this world is how cheap a box of candy seems to a young man before he marries and how high an ice cream cone seems afterward.

While there is life there is hope for everybody but the undertaker.

The Grocer's Love.

The grocer loved a charming girl,
As lovely as the day;
He wondered if she'd marry him,
She said, "Let SOAP she may."
Straightway to her house he went,
Her lovely face to see,
Exclaiming, "Ah, I know full well,
That CHEESE the girl for me."
The girl was very kind and said
That she was very glad
To see him there, and then remarked
What a bad COFFEE had.
And they got most intimate,
And she let him kiss her brow;
But when he spoke of marriage said,
"Oh, do not TEAS me now."

A man may be wise and never know it; a fool will soon find it out.

More and Better Light

FOR more than 30 years the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been a big refiner of kerosene oil.

During all this time there has been a steady improvement in the quality of its product. This improvement has been more marked in the past ten or fifteen years during which time the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has developed methods of manufacturing to eliminate the danger of lamp explosions.

While the kerosene has been improved the devices for using it have remained unchanged.

Recognizing the fact that the users of Perfection Kerosene were unable to get a maximum service from the oil they burned, and realizing that the failure was due not to the oil but to the devices, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) set its experts to work to find a better burner and a more efficient chimney.

These men, working with the manufacturers of burners and chimneys, have succeeded in developing devices which increased largely the efficiency of the oil.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) does not sell lamps. But it believes that the users of lamps should be informed as to how to get the best results from the kerosene they use.

To accomplish this result this Company is distributing sixty thousand of the new burners and chimneys to dealers handling kerosene that they may demonstrate to their patrons how to get the most light from Perfection Kerosene by using appliances correctly designed.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has arranged with leading chimney manufacturers to stamp chimneys made in accordance with the design and specifications with the following trade mark: Ⓢ APPROVED

This is but one of the many ways in which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) seeks to increase the efficiency of the service it is rendering the people of the territory it serves.

GOING AT IT DIFFERENT.

The Thief River Valley is capable of sustaining ten times the population now inhabiting the district thus roughly designated. Perhaps twenty or thirty times as many persons as now gain their living in that region could easily be accommodated without crowding. It makes no difference anyway. The outstanding fact is that some of the most fertile land left unoccupied in the North American continent is here awaiting the man with the willingness and intelligence to make available its potential wealth. Why is not this fact more generally recognized?

That is the problem the recently organized Thief River Valley New Settlers' association is setting out to solve. The members of this organization know what this section has to offer and are going to let the world share their knowledge. This is to be accomplished in no haphazard manner but through the medium of plans well considered and carefully formed. The motto of the organization is: "A Contented Settler on Every Farm."

This slogan would seem sufficiently comprehensive to include the farmers already in the territory and while this may not primarily have been the intention, yet it will do no harm to let it stand. Keeping what we have is as important as securing what we have not. This does not mean there is any danger of an exodus but is simply a hint that many times a discouraged or dissatisfied man can be brought to see things in a different light if someone seems to take a slight interest in his peculiar situation.

There is one thing about this new organization that will appeal to many. It is not primarily a land selling agency and is not particularly concerned in the sale of lands except as this means more settlers. In fact the intention is to in a measure exercise supervision over land deals in order that the purchaser may be protected. While the association as such is not interested in the sale of land, it is vitally interested in the retention of the settler. It is with the latter all its dealings will be held, the land agent being recognized only as serving a purpose. This does not mean agents will not be made welcome as members or that their work will in any way be interefered with while conducted along legitimate lines, but it does mean that no underhanded dealing or misrepresentation will be tolerated in transactions with prospective settlers. The latter are regarded as too valuable an asset to the entire community to permit of exploitation by any one man or class. It is perhaps only justice to state right here that the real estate men in the city were themselves the first to subscribe to this section of the bylaws. Experience has taught them that the only worth-while settler is the satisfied settler and they would only be injuring their own business by misrepresentation, even though this should mean a temporary profit. They are more interested in securing "satisfied" settlers than any other class and may be depended on to do everything in their power to make good on the association slogan.

The plan will work wonders if backed with judgment and energy. There is going to be a tremendous turning back to the land within the next few years and the section that has established for itself the reputation of placing the welfare of the newcomer above any possible immediate profit is going to be well and favorably considered by those seeking locations. It is a position worth striving for.

CONGRESSMEN ALL SAFE.

It is now certain that the present congressional delegation from Minnesota will be returned without much opposition. Theodore Christianson of Dawson, who was regarded as a formidable aspirant for the seat of Andrew J. Volstead in the Seventh, has withdrawn his name from consideration after making a tour of the district. He fond that the Volstead ophibition enforcemeit act and as Mr. Christianson himself is a more proposition centered largely upon his activities in connection with the pronounced "dry" than the present member ever claimed to be, the former admits his inability to see just why the change should be made.

Steenerson has the Ninth tucked away safely and the same seems to be true of Davis in the Third. These were the only instances in which any serious opposition to the re-election of the present congressmen developed. There is, of course, always a contest on in the Eighth but Larson will undoubtedly be the convention choice.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE

If you are a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend? Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Peter Eberhardt, 211 Atlantic Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "I suffered with my back and kidneys. My back was weak and lame and ached badly. When I would wash or do any heavy work I suffered the worst. My kidneys were weak and annoyed me. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and it wasn't long before they rid me of all the trouble."

Mrs. Eberhardt gave the above statement Jan. 16, 1914, and on Aug. 6, 1921, she said: "I think Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy for kidney trouble. I recommend Doan's for the cure I received years ago and I gladly confirm that statement."

A Sensible Plan.

Mahnomen Pioneer: The Thief River Falls Commercial club, which maintain a paid secretary, has engaged J. J. McCann, county agent of Pennington county, to serve in that capacity. He will continue to act as agent of the farm bureau. This brings the city and country closer together and enables the county to still retain the county agent.

Editor Files For House.

E. R. Umpleby, editor of the Greenbush Tribune, has filed as a candidate for the house from Roseau county, and Paul Marschalk for the senate from the district composed of Roseau and Marshall.

Winter Pastime.

Paint up the old creek. The old saw says, "Beauty is only skin deep," but the paint manufacturer says, "Save the surface and save all."

Exchange Notes

CULTIVATE CHARITABLE SPIRIT.

Princeton Union: Most of us have a strong sense of loyalty to our home community and we desire greatly to see it develop and prosper. Probably nothing is so important a factor in determining the future of any village as the temper of the people residing within it. Then let us cultivate the spirit of charity. Let us remember that in this world we have to both give and take. If differences arise, let us scrap them out, giving our opponents credit for fighting for honest convictions, and then let us forget our differences and work together for the good of our community. No man has much sporting blood who refuses to play because all the cards do not come his way. It is the weakling who persists in nursing a grudge and whose only comments are criticisms. Dame Fortune does not smile on any of us continually but the strong men learn to face the favorable and unfavorable winds with the same equanimity and they are never found blaming anyone else for their failures.

WOULD OBJECT ANYWAY.

Oakis Review: Senator Knute Nelson naturally hasn't much patience with his colleagues who are attempting to put reservations on the four-party treaty to make sure it is not an alliance. Uncle Knute tells them that they are so extremely careful that before they would endorse the Lords' prayer they would want some reservations. "Suppose," he said, "America and Great Britain were to enter into a treaty to circulate the Bible in China and Japan and nothing more. Would that be an alliance? Would it not be an alliance to circulate the Bible in Japan and China?" The purpose of the "alliance" rather than the mere fact of "alliance" is the thing to take into consideration, Senator Nelson believes.

TWO BLASTS FROM OLA.

Lovang's Weekly: Perhaps some day an automobile will knock a locomotive off the track at a grade crossing. But none ever has. * * * Cutting off advertising may reduce expenses, but so does cutting your windpipe reduce the cost of living.

DOING GREAT WORK.

Winnebago City Enterprise: There is no denying the fact that the farm bureau is doing a great and good work for the agricultural interests of the nation. In spite of the fact that strenuous endeavors are being made to belittle the work of the farm bureau, and to cause dissatisfaction among its members, the bureau continues blithely along the even tenor of its way. And if the farmers will only stick to the farm bureau, and not be swayed by soft-tongued and glib-spoken schemers who have a sinister purpose in view, the bureau will indeed work wonders for them. But if the farmers do not stick to it, they will only be working against their own interests and playing into the hands of men who wish them no good.

ONE WAY OUT.

Olivia Times: A Missouri editor has suggested a new way to pay the bonus —he gets the idea from a recent action of the senate in voting to seat Newberry. He said it should be easy. If a seat in the senate is worth $200,000, why not sell them all to the highest bidder and use the money to pay the soldiers?

SAME EXPERIENCE HERE.

Murray County Herald: The Herald ventures to predict that the newly tried primary for the endorsement of delegates to the state convention will not outlive another session of the legislature. The primary was a farce because it failed to create the interest and because it did not in any way manifest the opinion of the people. For an example of this one can choose Murray county. The great majority of the delegates elected were in favor of Hallam for senator. The Hallam delegates had a majority in the county convention, but by a better knowledge of parliamentary law and by a broad experience in conventions, the Kellogg faction was able to elect four delegates, or one-half the number allowed the county in the state convention.

LET'S HOPE SO.

Mahnomen Pioneer: The present preprimary convention system has had a try-out. It is a safe bet that the coming legislature will make some change in the law that authorizes such a convention.

THE INEVITABLE RESULT.

Browns Valley Tribune: In front of the great churches in New York city for weeks past there has been a bread line every night, fifteen hundred strong. Many in that bread line, toward the end of the war, were selecting $12 silk shirts and asking the man in the shoe store if he didn't have something better that the $18 shoes. This newspaper, along with others, urged workers to remember that high pay would not last and to keep some of it. Sooner or later, good times will come back. Then again this and other newspapers will say, "keep some of it." But always there will be a rapid jump from silk shirts to the bread line. That is why a few people have money and the great majority have none.

A WORD TO PARENTS.

Redwood Falls Gazette: Mrs. M. Edwards, police woman at Rochester, in an interview with the Post and Record of that city, discussed conditions there and the morals of the young people.

"It reverts back to the parents," said the police woman a little sorrowfully. "Without their co-operation I can do nothing. Don't blame your public dance halls too much. Most of them are being conducted on a good scale, but when the dance is over and the girls disappear until two or three or even four o'clock in the morning, the devils knows where and the rest of us can guess why. Then, my dear friend, it is time to blame the parents and protest against the laxness of the home. When in all the history of my work in Rochester, I have only had one call from one mother in the city to ask me where her girl was, and then when it was too late, why it's time to quit damning your public institutions, your automobiles, your dance halls, your card parties, and your picnics, and point the finger of scorn at the parents."

BLAMES McCONNELL.

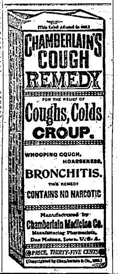
Le Sueur Herald: In other words this man McConnell thinks he can "run a bluff" on the school boards and taxpayers of the state. Board and room cost less than a year ago, shoes, hosiery, coats, dresses, etcetera, cost less than they did a few months ago. Teaching is like any other profession; there are cases where the salary should be increased and some that should be decreased. The school boards are, as a rule, perfectly competent to handle this matter without any interference from the state superintendent. The state putting a price on labor or service smacks too strongly of bolshevism, and no American will stand for that.

SUBSCRIBER PAYS LITTLE.

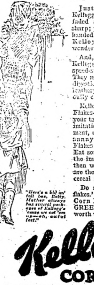
Glenwood Herald: The editor of the Northfield News, a weekly paper whose subscription price is $2.00 per year, has figured it out that if the subscribers were to pay an amount needed to meet the cost of production, the subscription rate in 1921 of the ordinary county paper would have been $7.65.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING.

Wheaton Gazette-Reporter: Politics is a funny little game played periodically by people who do not know any better. By filing for office one learns occasionally that he is as popular with the voters as a toad in an old maids' bed. One of the members of the force in an unguarded moment filed for county delegate recently and was about as successful as Bryan running for president. Anyhow, spring is coming and the grass will soon be green so other green things will not be so noticeable.



You don't have to coax big and little folks to eat Kellogg's Corn Flakes



"Here's a big an' full box, Betty. Mother always has several packages of Kellogg's 'cause we eat 'em up—oh, awful fast."

Just as soon as you serve Kellogg's you'll note fussy and faded appetites getting mighty sharp; you'll find big bowls being handed back for "just a few more Kellogg's, mother—they're wonderful!"

And, that'll make you glad, for Kellogg's Corn Flakes are a great speed-start for the day's doings! They make for health and happy digestions! Kellogg's are never leathery or tough, but always joyously crisp!

Kellogg's—the original Corn Flakes—will be a revelation to your taste if you have been eating imitations! For your own enjoyment, do this:—compare the big, sunny-brown Kellogg's Corn Flakes with other "corn flakes." Eat some of Kellogg's—then try the imitations! You'll realize then why Kellogg's Corn Flakes are the largest and fastest selling cereal in the whole world!

Do more than ask for "corn flakes." Insist upon KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package! My, but it's worth while!

Historical Notes

Naming a Minnesota County.

The rise and fall in popularity of national leaders between 1858 and 1868 is reflected in the successive names given to one county in Minnesota. Within this period of ten years, which included the Civil War, the present county of Wilkin had three names.

When this county was established in 1858 it was named Toombs county in honor of Robert Toombs of Georgia, a prominent United States senator at that time. The Honorable Mr. Toombs became a leading disloyalist, later acting as secretary of state for the Confederate States. Naturally his popularity in the North went to zero and in 1862 the Minnesota legislature received a petition asking an immediate change in the name of Toombs county.

The legislature rose to the occasion, and relieved the embarrassing situation by the substitution of the name of Andy Johnson, thus honoring the loyal native of Tennessee who had become nationally famous at this time. But once again a popular idol fell, for the political actions of Andrew Johnson upon succeeding Lincoln as president placed him in great disfavor with the people of Minnesota. Once again the legislature was called upon to rid the map of the state of an unpopular name.

In 1868 the law was once more amended and the name of the county was changed from Andy Johnson to Wilkin. This name commemorates Alexander Wilkin, colonel of the Ninth Minnesota regiment, who was killed in the battle of Tupelo, Mississippi, on July 14, 1864.

On the March in 1863.

A description of troops on the march in 1863 will remind any veteran of the A. E. F. of his experiences in "seeing France on foot." A letter written by Henry Carver to his mother while with General Sibley's expedition against the Sioux in that year has been given to the Minnesota Historical Society by Miss Helen Carver of Tryon, North Carolina.

"We left 'Camp Hays' on the Chayenne river last Saturday," he wrote on July 15, 1863, from Dakota Territory, "and have been daily, Sundays excepted, wending our way hitherward and northward at the rate of about 15 miles per day. Starting in the morning about 4 o'clock A. M., with a get up to breakfast at 2½—rather early for me—and make our camp from 10 to 12 A. M., that is do our tramping in the cool of the morning. Our wagon train, when doubled four abreast, extends two miles and sometimes more.

"The order of march is, first, the scouts, half breed and Indians, 60 in number; second, three companies of cavalry; third, Headquarters, General Sibley, etc.; fourth, section of artillery; fifth, quartermaster's train, left coming, of about 60 or 70 wagons (six-mule teams, all our wagons are of that kind); sixth, general advance guard of three companies of infantry; seventh, 100 commissary wagons; eighth, a regiment of infantry with their train consisting of about 15 wagons; ninth, 700 commissary wagons; tenth, regiment of infantry with train, and then more wagons, cattle, etc.; then another regiment of infantry with train, and lastly, a rear guard composed of three companies of cavalry and then at the sides at a distance of about one-fourth mile on each side, we are flanked by two companies more of cavalry."

Finally definite news was received of the presence of Indians. "There is an encampment of 600 lodges of the Pagans about 60 miles to the westward of here," he wrote in the last part of the letter, "and tomorrow morning bright and early 2,200 men of ou expedition start after them." On the following afternoon Sibley's troops met the Sioux in a battle which started the Indians in their flight to the region beyond the Missouri river.

Crumbs of Minnesota History.

The memory of Benjamin Franklin has been perpetuated in the name of a county in each of 24 states in the Union. Minnesota is not one of the number, although the legislature in 1872 passed an act authorizing the establishment of a Franklin county out of parts of Stearns and Todd counties. The people in the counties affected voted down the proposition, presumably not, however, because of any objection to the name proposed; and no further attempt has been made to name a Minnesota county in honor of the great phollisopher.

Steamboating on the Minnesota river developed very rapidly after the valley was opened to settlers in 1852. In 1859 there were 131 steamboat arrivals at Mankato and 200 at St. Paul from the Minnesota river. How many were there in 1921?

A girl with cotton stockings never sees a mouse.

A Mother's Love.

(Liberty, Kan., Advance.)

John Warren of Nashua says an old black hen at his home has taken upon herself the task of mothering a litter of ten pigs, clucking and scratching away for them, and when they lie down she makes a strenuous effort to spread her wings over them.

Now, isn't that just like a hen? Here all the world is hollering for fried and boiled eggs for breakfast and she's raising pigs!

Spring

Nature, traveling along the same old path and following her usual schedule, has at last presented us with spring. The struggle between cold, gray, blustery days and warm, sunny ones, will, it is hoped, have come to an end when this goes to print, so that soon the magic of sunshine will bring forth green grass and flowers; deck the trees with leaves; entice the robins from the South; and, which is perhaps most appreciated, make comfortable "hovering" possible.

But spring has its draw-backs too, which few of us will admit—for any student will testify that books and lessons become more and more distasteful as disagreeable Winter gives way to sunny Spring; perhaps any student, preferably male, can tell you further that the poet stated one of the great truths of the Universe when he wrote, "In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

Another usual effect of Spring is that our daily grades show a sad decline; but do not censure us too severely, for we are but human, and the long, lazy days appeal to us just as they appeal to the bird happily twittering on a branch; to the brook gayly chattering on its way to the ocean; or to the modest violet peeping forth from behind some stone or bush.

Whatever the effects, we're all willing to welcome Spring!

The Senior Honor Students.

On Wednesday, March 22, Mr. Rapacz announced the names of the Senior honor students. He explained that the valedictorian was the student who had the highest scholarship during the three and a half years of high school, and the salutatorian was the one who was second in standing. The students on the honor roll are the highest twenty-five per cent of the class. He said that there was close competition for the highest places. The following is the list:

Bertha Hastad, Valedictorian; Johanna Wedul, Salutatorian; Bertha Anseby, Alice Bredeson, Clara Orzechowski, Gladys Maland, Inga Hjelle, Myrtle Myrin, Mabel Bjorness, Pearl Shotler, Olga Johnson, Bessie Elofson, Boletta Sanden, Clarence Rice, Tillie Johnson, Mildred Loftness, Thea Gutterud, Amanda Skomedal, Helen Langseth, Julia Langaas.

Bertha Hastad is a Thief River Falls girl and has worked hard to be in school. Johanna Wedul is from Hazel and is a graduate of the country school. Both girls well deserve the honor.

Erma Gunderson '24.

The Two Winners.

Our high school career may be likened to a cruise. We are in the harbor during our Freshman year and smoothly sailing during the Sophomore year. The Junior year has its ups and downs by way of rocks and reefs and lastly the Senior year anchors us and we are home again.

During this cruise it takes thought and concentrated study to have the highest average. Thus this year Lincoln high school is more than proud when it can add to its roll of alumni the names of Bertha Hastad and Johanna Wedul as valedictorian and salutatorian of the class of 1922 respectively.

Bertha is a native of Thief River Falls and a product of her schools. Her record has always been of the best. Her school career has not been easy sailing, for Bertha has been forced to put herself through school. This makes the honor the more deserving and all the more appreciated by Bertha herself and her friends.

Johanna found her way to this metropolis four years ago from the neighborhood of Hazel. She was not acquainted here but it did not take her long either to know or be known. In due time her merits were discovered and ever since she has been holding important offices in her class, culminating in the presidency in her Senior year. Johanna too, has worked her way through school and has been a close rival of Bertha. Their records were very close and it was extremely difficult to foretell to whom the honor would go.

The record of these girls is well worth remembering by other students.

Debate at Red Lake Falls.

The Thief River Falls debate team returned from Red Lake Falls Saturday after having lost by a two to one decision in a very interesting debate there Friday evening.

This debate, on the state question of government regulation of coal prices, was held solely for practice as both teams had been eliminated from the championship race by previous defeats. Thief River Falls upheld the negative side, and was represented by Lloyd Alnes, Ole Helle and Albert Stengelson. The Red Lake Falls debaters were Fount Paul, Donovan Sally and George Puschinsky. The judges were Mr. Goise and Mr. McCall of Crookston and Mr. Aas of Fartile.

All who heard the debate pronounced the teams unusually well matched. Both had practically the same issues and met each other squarely. The Red Lake Falls boys are very good speakers and on the average their delivery was better than that of our debaters. However, our boys had the advantage in that they used no notes, either in argument or rebuttal.

After the debate the Thief River Falls debaters and coach, as well as the judges, were entertained royally in the Domestic Science rooms. The visitors have the highest praise for the treatment they received at Red Lake Falls.

Sensational Landslide

Overwhelming Majority Oppose Proposed Legislation.

Six strokes of the clock told Mr. Rapacz that his day of work was at an end. Having wound the clock, counted the erasers, turned out the light, and locked the door, he turned his weary footsteps homeward. Weary? Ah yes, for a great issue was at stake! The morrow must bring either a radical revolution from the old order of things or a continuation of the time-worn-policies. And destiny reposed in Mr. Rapacz alone.

"It wouldn't be fair to Tom, Dick and Harry to be deprived of the opportunity of exchanging their respective morsels of gossip before nine in the morning and one-fifteen at noon. On the other hand, what an injustice it would be to Maggie, John and Jane and the others, who are striving so diligently to be on the honor roll, not to adopt a system whereby the serious-minded and therefore the most desirable elements of the school might profit. Oh, it's a proposition!"—thus inwardly debated our worthy principal.

Way into the wee small hours Mr. Rapacz, bent on meting out justice to all, sat pondering—pondering. "Oh, it's a proposition!" he wailed. Then suddenly—"I have it! I'll ask 'em, they'll vote on it, and we'll abide by their decision!"

And he did, and we did, and they did. But that's getting ahead of the story.

"Shall it be a social or study hour?" asks Mr. Rapacz next morning in chapel.

Up go three hundred and seventy hands.

"Which?" roars Mr. Rapacz.

"Social," we roar.

"How many prefer studying?"

Up go the other eight hands, belonging, by-the-way, to the Maggies, Johns and Janes of the serious trend of mind.

"The ayes have it," says Mr. Rapacz.

And that settles it.

The Gateway Anthology.

Macalester College has just published the March number of "The Gateway" in the form of a Minnesota High School Anthology, containing examples of some of the best literary work done in the high schools of the state during the past year. It also contains an honor roll of the names of the best writers from each school.

The quality of the material found in this publication is surprisingly excellent. Here are stories, poems and sketches which rival those found in our leading magazines. They have, in many cases, a maturity of thought and a delicacy of expression which one would not expect to find in the writings of the high school pupils. Many of the lyric poems are rarely beautiful and the stories show both force and originality.

Based upon the quality of the material examined for this magazine, Macalester College has selected six writers for special distinction, and one writer to whom they give highest honors. The six writers named are Leona Train of Chisholm; Winifred Lynskey, Lolite Stout, Agnes Turner, Marca Turner, of Minneapolis West High; and Louva Crane, of Windom. The fortunate winner of first place is Kenneth Dickenson of Minneapolis North High. The anthology publishes a story and a poem by him both of which are of exceptionally fine quality.

Thief River Falls is represented on the honor roll by Bessie Elofson, a Senior.

Macalester College is to be congratulated upon its industry and discrimination in looking over and selecting from the large quantity of material sent in. Such contests as this do a great deal toward encouraging and developing high school literary talent.

Talk on Forestry.

On Monday, Mr. Wheeler of the State Forestry Board made an address on forestry.

The work in national forestry began in 1905 when Gifford Pinchot and President Roosevelt saw the need for preserving the forests. Our State Forestry Board was started in 1911 with only two or three rangers while now there are fifteen rangers and one hundred patrolmen. There are now only 137,000,000 acres of virgin timber, and as it is being cut four times as fast as it is growing it will not last many years. Only one-fifth of the timber lands are under government control, while there should be one half in order to insure proper treatment of the forests. The period of growth of a tree is too long to be handled properly by private owners.

The forests serve for other purposes besides raising lumber. A country prospers only as long as its forest supply holds out. China is a good example of the results of the extinction of the forests. The rivers carry away the silt, which is the most valuable part of the soil. This makes the land barren. A de-forested country is subject to floods because there is nothing to hold back the melting snow.

Fire is a terrible menace to the forests, and there have been some very destructive ones in Minnesota. One occurred in 1918 that destroyed part of Cloquet and other towns; much property was burned and about 400 lives lost. There were no fires last year because of the increased number of rangers. They watch the forests and put out the fires that start.

More use could be made of the maple trees that we already have, and more trees could be planted and cultivated. Maple syrup and sugar are very valuable and they could be obtained with little trouble. The cities should make more use of the forests near them for camping grounds, for the tourists know the city by its camping ground. It is a commercial advantage to a city to provide a convenient well-equipped camping ground. A forest protects the wild life and gives opportunity for hunting and for study of the wild animals. This wild life is very attractive to many people who enjoy the State Game Preserves, because there the animals are protected and become less wild.

There are some things that every one can do. On Arbor day trees can be planted according to a plan. Get interested in the plan and then you will protect the trees. If you go camping, burn your papers and garbage. Be as neat as you would be at home. Do not mar the trees or deface the signs.

Mr. Wheeler closed his interesting address by reciting one stanza of Joyce Kilmar's poem, "The Tree."

To the Seniors.

Now listen, dear Seniors, and you shall hear
Of the famous Freshman class this year.
Mere infants we may seem to you,
But you do not know all the things we do.

There's Emmett so wise but small;
Rose Dostal, the prettiest of all;
And Bernice, our studious one,
Makes the rest feel they haven't begun.

Of wise Katherine you do not know,
Or of Lloyd's marks in English so low;
Allen, who is in Latin so bright,
Keith, who is making a desperate fight.

There's Maxine Johnson so big and stout;
Thelma, who is always in a pout;
Gail, the frivolous; Pinks, the great;
Liv Vistaunet, who is always late.

And Miss Webster we must not forget.
(Wouldn't you like to be a Freshie pet?)
Lylian Arnold from Monte came,
In work or fun she's always game.

And now dear Seniors that carry six subjects,
And with work are almost insane;
Would you think it a very bad project
To be that green little Freshie again?

Mr. Gillespie's Address.

Friday morning Mr. Gillespie of Stillwater told us many interesting facts about the penitentiary.

The Stillwater penitentiary has about one thousand inmates, but for every criminal in the prison there are three that are at liberty. There are several causes for this condition, the most powerful one being the automobile. The present prison system provides for the men to work to pay back part of the expense they have caused the state. The industries provided are the making of binding twine and of farm implements. These were selected because they do not conflict with manufacturers in the state.

There are two distinct classes of men in the prison; one is the born criminal, and the other is the accidental one. The latter are the same kind of people as we are, only they did not control their temper, or maybe they were too ambitious or too hasty to get rich, or too jealous. Some quality in them was not corrected and led them into evil.

Years ago, the prisons were not what they should be; they lacked cleanliness and were poorly ventilated. When a man was discharged from the prison he was broken down in health; people sneered at him; policemen drove him from place to place; nobody wanted to hire him, and he fell back into crime. Mr. Wolfer, a former warden, saw this dreadful state of things and established a new prison. The cells are healthful and modern, with plenty of fresh air and sunlight. There is spring water everywhere. The prison now has its own dairy farm, creamery and hospital. Here was cured a bad case of consumption; in another case the dentist found that bad teeth were the cause of a crime. The inmates have night schools and many who have had no chance to get an education have obtained it in prison.

Men have been found with some special talent, such as music or painting. Any such ability they are encouraged to have developed. The great object is t inmates away from of thought. They als shows, orchestras and au Those who have their mar standard get Saturday afte off. The men try to be good as they want to get out of prison; they are put in the second class when they enter and they try to work into the first. They may earn money, part of which they must send home; eighty per cent of those paroled have made good.

The penitentiary is not a good place to go to even though one may be well taken care of and have a position given to him when he comes out. The inmate feels the strain of the lack of freedom, and realizes that the best time to correct mistakes is in youth and in his own home.

Senior Play Selected.

"Stop Thief," is the thrilling title of the play which will be presented by the Class of 1922 in the near future.

The drama is a comedy in three acts with a cast of about twenty characters; most of the parts have already been given out, and practice will start in a few days.

Miss Chamberlain, who has directed several successful plays this winter, and has had considerable experience in this line of work, will have charge of the coaching of the cast.

The class play, which is presented every year by the seniors, has for many years been recognized and looked forward to as the very best which is offered in this line of entertainment, and we can assure you, without a shadow of doubt, that the Class of Twenty-two will uphold the old standard.

Inter Class Basketball.

The first series of inter-class basketball played in this school was in the year 1916; this has been an annual event ever since and will continue to be so in the future if all realize the benefit derived from such a meet. After the regular basketball season is over, the four classes organize teams and compete against each other in a series of twelve games. The team winning the most games is declared the champion. No men having earned a letter in basketball is permitted to play on a class game.

The benefits of these inter-class games are great. They give the other men, who are not on the regular team a chance to exhibit their skill. They give the school an idea of what kind of a team will represent them in the future. It also arouses class spirit and enthusiasm.

Latin Club Program.

The Latin clubs of the high school are planning a program to be given at the high school auditorium on the evening of April 3. The program will consist of a Latin play, readings and music. The play represents a Roman school in the days of Caesar, where Caesar, Cicero, Catiline, Brutus and others of historical fame are all assembled under one teacher. This program is given under the direction of Miss Stebbins and the public is cordially invited. A full house is the only reward asked by the play cast for its efforts. Come and hear the orations of Caesar and Cicero in their original language. Come and see the progress of education since Caesar was a boy. A charge of 5c will be made to cover a few expenses.

Faculty Take-offs.

Mr. Powley told the sociology students that if they didn't study harder he'd—well—that is—er—at any rate they wouldn't get high marks. Oh, now, Mr. Powley, you really couldn't do anything that rash, could you now?

Some days the algebra lesson is uncommonly long and hard, so much so that no matter how you tear your hair and hem and haw you simply cannot get it. You're nearly exasperated, and if the teacher that wished such a job on you were any other person—"Oh woe betide her," you'd mutter between clenched teeth. But Mrs. Korstad's the teacher, so you just naturally don't.

Don't you just thrill when you hear that big, manly voice of Mr. Stenhoff's talking about pep and enthusiasm and good sportsmanship? We do. Speaking of Mr. Stenhoff, someone told us t'other day that she (Yes sir, Mr. Stenhoff, it was a female of the species) simply adored him. She's a bright kid, too, and has been on the honor roll 'most every time.

Miss Soule's advisor to that famed organization of bright girls and boys known as the Junior class. That speaks well for Miss Soule.

Miss Maude Johnson is one of the most efficient women we've ever had the pleasure of knowing. Sometimes she's a trifle cross to be sure, but we'd be, too, if we were expected to produce harmony from such a discord as four hundred boys and girls that wiggle and squirm like jellyfish. She's a man after our own heart. "Treat 'em rough"—that's our motto. We were glad last Friday to learn those new songs. May we suggest singing "Home Sweet Home" just before dismissing Fridays? It's our favorite song—next to "When Francis Dances With Me."

Did it ever occur to you that out of four hundred persons, Mr. Rapacz is the principal? We guess that's sufficient endorsement for any man's efficiency.

Miss Chamberlain is a highly accomplished young lady. She can sing, act, play the piano, debate, de- e can make spur of the mo- as much effort as rtals require to on the spur of the as an English teach- hundinger—take it from o knows.

Miss Webster is Miss Soule's room-mate and also Freshman advisor. (She teaches Freshman English as a side line.) You know, that class of '25 isn't as green as it's cracked up to be.

Fourth Grader Writes Story.

James Wendell Sether of Miss Tandberg's fourth grade department of the Northrup school is the writer of the story herewith submitted. The composition is reproduced just as it was written and handed in by Wendell.

A Daring Rescue.

One day Mrs. Jones went down to her husband's office in the Woolworth building. While Mrs. Jones was away, Bob Jones, her small son, ran away from the cook, and wandered over the tenement house in which they lived. At last Bob got down to the boiler room and somehow started a fire. Slowly the fire crept upstairs. Bob was frightened and hid in the attic. When the firemen came, they thought that everyone had been saved.

All at once Bob appeared at the attic window. He called for his mother and she heard him.

Everyone looked up. "Oh!" murmured the crowd.

Then slowly an extension ladder was raised. John Daniels, a fireman, mounted the ladder, but was driven back by smoke.

It was here that Mrs. Jones did the bravest thing in her life. She ran into the burning building. Everyone cried out that she was lost. Mr. Jones, who had arrived upon the scene, by taxi, was in tears.

At last, Mrs. Jones came out, carrying Bobby, who was unconscious. Bob soon gained consciousness by the means of a pulmotor brought by Rescue Company No. 25. Whenever a traveler comes to rest at the hotel where Mr. and Mrs. Jones now stay, he is told the story of the heroic deed of Mrs. Jones.

Northrup Notes.

George Joyce from Randolph, Neb., has entered the first grade at the Northrup.

John Gobler has withdrawn to move to Rice Lake, Wis.

We have a new pupil, Clifford Joyce from Nebraska.

Miss O'Neill's class had a spell-down with Miss Berg's class. Miss O'Neill's class won.

Jokes and Personals.

Mrs. Korstad (to Freshie): "Please sit in your own desk, or I will mark you absent."

Mr. Harner: "How are electric currents generated?"

Alice Z.: "By telephone poles."

Freshman: "The leper is a kind of a animal."

Tweed suits seem to bring on cold weather. They were worn Friday morning and in the afternoon we had a snow storm.

Russell Anderson returned from Steiner where he was attending to Chicken Industry.

Mr. Powley: "Miss Torkelson, define feeble-mindedness."

Miss Torkelson: "Oh, that's where the mind isn't made in proportion to the body."

Stephen Arneson says that if he was the only boy on the Honor Roll he would stay out of school for a whole month to get over the shock. No danger, Stephen, the only vacation you'll get will be the regular ones.

Times Do Change!

Lucille Curtis says that she always thought a "Van Dyke" was a silk hat. 'S too bad, Lucille, you have our sympathy.

Ruth Knutson returned Friday morning from the cities where she had been called by the death of a relative.

At That She Wasn't So Far Off.

Mr. Powley: "Miss Antonson, how are the numbers of the insane distributed between the sexes?"

Miss Antonson: "Well, the majority of the men are insane—no—er, I don't mean that—! Some in poorhouses, some in asylums, some in jail, and——"

Mr. Powley: "Some wandering about at large."

Milford LaBree left last evening for his farm in Northern Minnesota. Mr. LaBree states that the wild oats are getting the best of him. He states that he shall sow oats and raise hogs to keep him company during his stay.

American Legion Corner

Big Gopher Rally May 5-6.

Minneapolis is the place, May 5 and 6 the time, when Minnesota's one thousand Legion post commanders and adjutants will meet in a big state rally to rub shoulders, learn each others' ideas and condense their ideas into plans for the future. This was decided at a meeting of the 20 district commanders and adjutants held in St. Paul on March 12. National Commander MacNider, the originator and a strong believer in the plan of getting together the men who actually do the Legion's work, hopes to be present.

Look Out Gophers, Say Badgers.

Minnesota is gaining steadily in membership—at the rate of 1,000 each week—but Iowa is gaining faster and Wisconsin is creeping closer. Already the Hawkeyes are shouting "So long, Gophers!" and the Badger State commander writes: "Look out, Gophers, the Badgers are stepping on your tail!" But with the near approach of spring the Gopher is drawing out of his hole and when warm weather comes he will be head and shoulders above Ioway Huskers and Wisconsin Badgers, who think they can defeat the Gopher Gang in the race for national Legion membership honors. Get out the Gopher Gang! Let's Go!

Fine, Clean and American.

To the 11,00 Legion posts and 1,000,000 Legionaires who chose him as their leader for 1922, National Commander MacNider says: "Build big, fine and strong. Keep clean, straight and American."

Gopher Legion Newslets.

Prior Lake, Grygla, Big Falls and Northome are the four new Gopher Legion posts.

With the proceeds of their recent entertainment, Renier Legionaires have purchased a player piano for their clubrooms.

During the winter, the American Legion Auxiliary of Winona served hot lunch at the skating rink warming house on Sundays, Tuesdays and Fridays.

"If you want to dance with my girl, bring a girl to dance with me," was the slogan of Legionaires of the Proctor post in connection with their carnival.

A memorial park in honor of Ralph Gracie, after whom their post is named, is planned by Bemidji Legionaires in co-operation with the city park board.

Glencoe Legionaires realized $200 from their circus. This has been placed in a fund to help any service man who needs assistance.

Three performances instead of one were necessary to satisfy Tracy citizens once they got a taste of the Legion's home talent play, "A Tailor Made Man."

A real birthday cake with candles in rosebuds awaits each disabled buddy in a Crookston hospital on his birthday. The Auxiliary is responsible.

Mothers—Important.

Mothers should see that the whole family take a thorough, purifying system cleaning laxative this Spring. NOW IS THE TIME. The family will be healthier, happier, and get along better if the blood is given a thorough purifying, the stomach and bowels cleaned out, and the germs of winter accumulated in the system, driven away. HOLLISTER'S GOLDEN NUGET TABLETS is one of the very best and surest spring medicines to take. Get them and see the difference in the whole family. Their color will be better, they'll eat better, sleep better, and be well and happy. Lambert's drug store.—Advertisement. Mar.

Don't dose children's colds
External, vaporizing treatment is better and saves upsetting their little stomachs.

There's a new way to treat spasmodic croup, sore throat, sore tonsils and other cold troubles. It's a salve that sends its healing vapors right into the nose, throat and lungs, and is absorbed thru the skin, too.

Not only does this treatment—Vicks VapoRub—save upsetting the children's stomachs with strong drugs, but you can let them have the needful fresh air day and night.

Mothers who have tried Vicks certainly seem to prefer this new method. Over 35 million jars have been used since January, 1919. Once tried, Vicks becomes a standby in the family medicine cabinet.

Vicks is used almost daily in homes where there are children—for colds, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, bites and itching skin troubles. Just as good for grown-ups, too.

Just rub it on and breathe in the vapors

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"WEEP NOT FOR ME."

(Luke 23:28.)

The scene is the 'Way of Sorrows,' the speaker is Jesus, the ones spoken to are the daughters of Jerusalem. After a sleepless night, led from the palace of Caiphas to the Judgement Hall of Pilate, thence to the court of King Herod, back again to the Praetorium, torn with the merciless scourge, crowned with piercing thorns, mocked and buffeted by the heartless soldiery, condemned to die, and now bearing the instrument of His death—a heavy cross—to Calvary, the Man of Sorrows presented a sight capable of touching a heart of stone.

What wonder that the women who followed "bewailed and lamented Him." Sterner and stronger hearts than theirs have melted in tears at sight of the suffering Christ. Jesus takes note of their tears and lamentations. Is He pleased with their evidence of sympathy? "Weep not for Me, but weep for yourselves and for your children."

Why this seeming lack of appreciation on the part of Jesus? It is not their tears and their sympathy which he chides, but their failure to understand the awful import of this pilgrimage to Calvary for them and for their city. Because of His crucifixion, because Jerusalem has rejected Him, she shall be destroyed, until not one stone remains upon another. Their prayer shall be answered in terrible truth: "His blood come upon us and upon our children." The wanton murder of the Son of God shall not remain unavenged. He had warned them of that before; He had pleaded with them to acknowledge the day of their visitation; with tears He had sought to "gather them as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and they would not." They had turned a deaf ear and a hard heart to his pleas for their salvation. Instead they crucified Him.

Could a few sentimental tears and a brief burst of sympathy undo what Jerusalem had done and was doing? No, never! Something more was required than superficial sorrow for Him. "If ye believe not that I am He, ye shall die in your sins." (John 8:24.) Faith in Him as the promised and manifested Savior of the world, that is what Jesus would have appreciated, and that is what they lacked. Because of their unbelieving hearts they were wending their way to temporal and eternal destruction, whereas Jesus was treading the path of painful duty which would lead to the heights of heavenly glory. Which of the two deserved the tears and the lamentations? Surely not He.

What is the effect of Jesus' suffering on you? Does it move you to tears and sympathy for Him? Do you deplore the fact that he was so shamefully rejected and so cruelly crucified? Is that the best you can gain from the study of Jesus' Passion? Then Jesus would class you with the daughters of Jerusalem and say: "Weep not for me, but weep for yourself!"

Jesus does not want your tears and sympathy, if they are all you have to offer. He wants your faith and trust. He wants your acknowledgement that you are a sinner, deserving the punishment falling upon Him. He wants you to believe "that He has borne your griefs and carried your sorrows, that through his stripes you might be healed."

Weep for your sins which made such atonement necessary, but glory and rejoice in the love of the Christ, which moved Him to render the atonement. Appreciation of Jesus' Passion, better than that, cannot be found.

Make these words of the poet the speech of your heart:

My burden is Thy Passion,
Lord, Thou hast borne for me,
For it was my transgression,
Which brought this woe on Thee.
I cast me down before Thee,
Wrath were my rightful lot,
Have mercy, I implore Thee,
Redeemer, spurn me not!
Thanks from my heart I offer
Thee, Jesus, dearest Friend,
For all that Thou didst suffer;
My good didst Thou intend.
Ah! grant that I may ever
To Thy truth faithful be;
When soul and body sever,
May I be found in Thee!

St. Olaf Choir Donates $10,000 For Music Hall

Proceeds of the recent eastern tour of the St. Olaf choir amounting to $10,000 have been set aside as the nucleus of a fund for the erection of a new music hall on Manitou Heights, Northfield. The St. Olaf music board, a central body representing all musical organizations at the college, transferred this amount to the treasurer of the college. Musical organizations at St. Olaf are a financial as well as a cultural asset to the college. The department of music is at present housed in an old frame structure, the first building owned by the college, and erected in 1874.

FARMERS NOT OPPOSED TO THE FARM BUREAU

Editor Times:

Permit me to say a few words in reply to the "Dirt Farmer" that covered up his tracks under the title of "Keen Observer" in your last week's issue, after trying to give the Farm Bureau a boost.

This dirt farmer evidently doesn't wear a No. 9 cowhide boot. If he did he would know that the farmers are not against the so-called farm bureau co-operative extension work—indeed not. But what the farmers are opposed to is to have the farm bureau federations make a tool of the farmers to kill their own interests in the way it was done with regard to the revival of the government guarantee, etc. If is a well known fact how the farm bureau federation stood upon this matter. At their last convention they went on record as "strictly opposed" to the revival of the government guarantee. Not only that, but they have been opposed to any price fixing on farm products ever since the farm bureau federations became a power and a reality, which is "strictly out of harmony" with the sentiment of the people in regard to agricultural problems throughout the entire country at this time, and for some time past.

If the farm bureau federations want to be of real service to the farmers let them get behind the government guarantee price fixing adjustment and show their good will. That would help put the farmers on their feet again and it would mean to them a return ten times greater than all the little freight rate reductions and co-operative extension work "hand outs" that are now passed on to the farmers through the farm bureau lineup.

Below is a letter just received from Hon. Halvor Steenerson in regard to the revival of the government guarantee, etc., which reads as follows:

My dear Mr. Swanson: I am in receipt of your favor, and in reply would say that I have not introduced a bill for the guaranteeing of the price of wheat because Mr. Sinclair, a representative from North Dakota, introduced a bill at the opening of congress for this purpose. It undertakes to continue the grain corporation and guarantees a minimum price on wheat of $1.50 a bushel at Chicago; 85 cents for corn; 18 cents for cotton, and 55 cents for unwashed wool at Boston. I appeared before the agricultural committee when this was under consideration and have been active in its support. Yours very truly, Halvor Steenerson."

We must say that we appreciate the fact that Mr. Steenerson has taken such a stand.

W. A. SWANSON.

That Delegate Election.

Editor Times:

Your editorial, "A Costly Farce," in the last issue of The Times, is a true and timely exposition of the foolish means our "great politicians" will resort to to clinch continuous control of the political machinery of our boasted progressive state.

Co-operation, and democracy have been preached from the housetops by the politicians, but what do they practice? Autocracy in its worst form, namely to corral the peoples' voice in government. This delegate election law is designated to be more far-reaching than most people realize, besides costing the taxpayers an enormous sum of money. If the Thief River Falls expense rate of $2 per vote is the average, and there are 400,000 voters, what is the result? Add the expense for blanks, election supplies, printing, postage, etc., which the editor probably did not include. We realize if all the voters would have voted the delegate ballot the expense per capita would be less than $2. But again, if a majority voted and knew what they voted for, the most credulous might kid themselves to believe the election of some value. As it was, only a small minority voted and most of them did not and could not know what they voted for. In most townships, if not all, there was no choice, as there was only one candidate, who had in most cases been induced to file by some interested office-seeker.

Consequently a vote at the delegate election was not worth one red cent to the people, and we really paid more than two hundred times what it was worth!

We fully agree with The Times that the only way to improve the "thing" is to kill it.

Mid-week Lenten Services Attract Much Attention

The mid-week lenten services conducted under the direction of St. John's Lutheran congregation in Trinity church every Tuesday evening have been very well attended and are growing in interest with each succeeding meeting. The first service, held on March 14, was conducted by Rev. Martin Hauser of Warren, whose subject was: "The Bible, God's Message." On March 21st Rev. Otto C. Fedcke of Plummer, spoke on the subject, "Whence is Man?" Last Tuesday evening Rev. Otto H. Brauer of Mahnomen, had for his subject, "What Must I Do to be Saved?" Rev. E. H. Kreidt of St. John's church in this city, will be the speaker next Tuesday evening, and the subject, "Death—Then?" The last service of the series will be held on April 11, when Rev. George P. Propp of Mahnomen, will have as his theme, "And They Crucified Him."

All seats are free and the public is most cordially invited to attend.

Citizens Asked to Take Steps to Prevent Fires

An appeal to all citizens to join in a cleanup campaign from May 1 to 8 was sent broadcast over Minnesota by George Nettleton, state fire marshal.

Mr. Nettleton emphasizes the need for cleanup work by a table showing that in the five years ending with 1920 the property damage in Minnesota from fires totaled $41,874,976. His appeal also said $8,753,200 of this loss was the result of fires classed as strictly preventable.

The fire marshall urges all city and village officials to enlist the cooperation of citizens in the work. Merchants and housewives are urged to make thorough inspection of places of business and homes for the purpose of removing all rubbish and inflammable materials that have accumulated in the winter.

Sweet Clover For Pasture.

The Northwest experiment station, Crookston, strongly recommends sweet clover as a sure pasture crop for this section of the state. Feeding trials show that it is a heavier yielder than any other pasture crop that can be grown. With sweet clover pasture and alfalfa, medium red clover and timothy grown for hay, economical feeds for live stock will be provided. Sweet clover seed is sown with small grain in the spring, at the rate of 12 to 15 pounds of scarified seed per acre. Use grain drill with seeder attachment or sow broadcast before or after drill. The Northwest station will give detailed information regarding this crop, sources of seed, etc., upon application.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

A lad who didn't believe in insurance died recently and left everything he had to his home town. All he had was a wife and seven children.

A Baudette lad who saw two robins Monday says that spring is here, but we won't believe it until the liquor agents investigate.

The election is over. Now forget it and love one another again.

There are many expensive ways of being foolish, but paying good money for bad liquor is the prize winner of them all.

A St. Paul lad, full of moonshine, lost a decision in a collision with a freight train. Moonshine is poor stuff to monkey with.

If the soldiers get the bonus the profiteers will probably try to start another war to take it away from them.

Bemidji says we may have county division if we want it, which may be either a promise or a threat.

Navigation has opened on Baudette's back streets. It's a sure sign of spring.

They'll pass a lot of new laws at the next legislature in spite of the fact that we aren't using many of the ones we now have.

Woman is the weaker sex, but there is nothing weak about a staff of girl teachers when they swing on the board for a raise.

SAVE BIG SUM FOR FARMERS OF STATE IN RAIL RATE CASE

Butter Shippers in Pennington County Saved Nearly $2,000 By Farm Bureau Action.

Prompt action by two farm organizations has saved the farmers of Pennington county $1,992, by forestalling an increase in freight rates on dairy products.

Railroads serving in this territory proposed to make shippers of perishable products pay the cost of icing, when shipments were in less than carload lots, according to information from the state farm bureau offices. It is estimated that this extra expense would have increased the cost of marketing the county's dairy products by approximately 12 per cent.

This county produces 830,195 pounds of butter every year. It is estimated that 80 per cent of the butter produced in Minnesota is marketed on the big terminal markets of the east, and that the average freight rate is 2½ cents a pound on less than carlots. On this basis the freight bill paid by Pennington county on butter every year amounts to $19,924. An increase of 12 per cent on less than carlot shipments would have added $1,992 to this amount. In the case of the four co-operative creameries in the county it would have meant a direct reduction in net income and a direct loss to their patrons.

A hearing was held in Chicago before a committee of railroad executives early this month. Representatives of two of the biggest farm organizations in Minnesota were there to defend the interests of the dairy farmers. H. B. Nickerson, president of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, Inc., spoke on behalf of the 300 creameries which have organized the new state marketing agency, and E. B. Heaton, director of dairy marketing, and O. W. Sandberg, traffic expert, of the American Farm Bureau federation, represented the bureau. They bitterly opposed any increase in transportation costs, declaring that an increase now is absolutely unjust and unwarranted.

Throwing the cost of refrigeration charges on the shippers, they said, would force the co-operative creameries of Minnesota to pay $204,000 a year more to ship their butter to market.

The practical value of farm organizations was demonstrated this week, when the Minnesota Farm bureau federation received a telegram from its national organization, stating that the railroads' committee had decided to abandon the proposed increase, at least for the present.

"Even if this proposed increase is revived and put into effect in 1923, the fact that it has been blocked at the present time means $200,000 to Minnesota dairy farmers this year," A. J. McGuire, manager of the creameries association, said. "That one case saved more money for the farmers of the state than the total cost of operating both the creameries association and the farm bureau the entire year."

STATE ROAD FORCES START 1922 UPKEEP

Highway Department Authorizes Spring Work on Roads and Resumes Patroling.

Orders toward early resumption of daily dragging, mending and other work on trunk highways—the so-called Babcock roads—went out this week from St. Paul offices of the St. Paul highway department to maintenance superintendents in all districts.

Special spring break-up operations were authorized. Instructions were given to open ditches and otherwise provide free drainage; also to remove slow melting snow and ice from shaded cuts. Efforts must be made, highway officials said, to dry roads in the shortest possible time.

Preliminary work well advanced, the big army of trunk route patrolmen—one for each 5-mile section—will go back on jobs. Equipped with teams, graders, drags and other necessary equipment, the patrolmen will put in their entire time again this season mending and smoothing their sections.

Patrol and maintenance operations on the trunk system last year not only spread early benefits under the Babcock plan to every part of the state but were generally credited with a big share of the noticeable improvement. The organization of this force of more than 1,000 men, nearly all living on or near their road sections, in less than 60 days last season was rated one of the remarkable accomplishments under the new plan. Some changes have been effected in the maintenance personnel, according to highway officials, and greater efficiecy is expected this year.

Patrolmen have orders to serve all highway users as if they were direct employes. People meeting mishaps or trouble on the trunk routes may call on the patrolman for reasonable aid, which must be given without charge, according to the highway bulletin.

FOUR BILLION DOLLAR SOLDIER BONUS BILL PASSED BY CONGRESS

Received 64 Votes More Than the Necessary Two-Thirds Majority. Fate of Measure in Senate is Uncertain.

The four billion dollars soldiers' bonus bill was passed last Thursday by the house by an overwhelming majority. It now goes to the senate, where its fate is regarded as uncertain.

The vote was 333 to 70, or 64 more than the two-thirds majority necessary for passage of the measure under the parliamentary procedure selected by Republican leaders for the expressed purpose of preventing the Democrats from offering a motion to recommit.

Party lines disappeared both in the general debate and on the final roll call, 242 Republicans, 90 Democrats and one Socialist supporting the bill, and 42 Republicans and 28 Democrats voting against it.

As passed by the house, the bonus bill would provide for immediate cash payments to veterans whose adjusted service pay would not exceed $50, and would give to other veterans the option of these four plans:

Adjusted service certificates, with provisions authorizing loans by banks in the first three years after Oct. 1 and by the government thereafter; the certificates to run for 30 years and to have a face value at maturity of the amount of adjusted service credit at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for foreign service, increased by 25 per cent, plus interest at the rate of 4½ per cent, compounded annually.

Vocational training after Jan. 1, 1923, at the rate of $1.75 a day, the total payments not to exceed, however, 140 per cent of the adjusted service credit.

Farm and home aid under which veterans purchase or improve farms or homes would be paid after July 1, 1923, a sum equal to their adjusted service credit, increased by 25 per cent.

Land settlement under which lands could be reclaimed under the supervision of a special board and farm units established for sale to veterans at a price fixed by the board less the amount of the adjusted service credit due the purchasers. In only two important particulars does this measure differ from the one passed by the house two years ago and shelved in the senate last July. The original cash bonus option was eliminated and the bank loan provision of the adjusted service certificate title substituted.

Middle River Votes Bonds For Electric Light Plant

At the special election held at Middle River recently on the proposition of bonding the village in the sum of $11,000 for the installation of a municipal electric lighting system, the proposition carried by a vote of 91 to 42.

The payment of principal and interest on the bonds is not to be met by general taxation as is ordinarily the case in village bonds. The village council has entered into a contract with the Minnesota Electric Distributing company whereby the company sells the electric current to the village at a very low wholesale rate and the village in turn sells to consumers at an advance sufficient to produce a revenue that will meet all obligations on the bonds.

Work on the installation of the system is to be pushed and it is expected that the village will have a 24-hour service in operation within three months.

STATE WOOL POOL FOR 1922 PLANNED

Marketing Committee Urges Permanent Organization to Make Cash Advances.

Minnesota wool men should market their 1922 clip through a state pool to get the best prices, in the opinion of committeemen who met at the call of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation to work out plans for a state wool growers' association. The committee was organized following a conference of wool producers early this month.

County wool growers associations should select the agency which they desire to market their wool, the committee declared in formal recommendations, to be presented to the executive board of the federation here on March 29. The recommendations urge the organization of county wool producers associations in all wool producing counties, and the strengthening of all existing county wool associations.

Any selling agency selected to market Minnesota wool, the committee recommended, must be required to provide bonded warehouses, operate on a co-operative commission basis, arrange for substantial cash advances on wool as soon as it enters the pool, and furnish the individual grower complete information as to grade, quantity and condition as soon as his wool is graded, and then keep him in touch with the activities of the pool. Organization of a permanent statewide wool growers association in the fall of 1922, and eventual establishment of one big national pool also was recommended.

Elks to Install Officers; Closing Successful Year

Thief River Falls lodge of Elks will hold its annual installation of officers on Friday evening, April 7 and the outgoing exalted ruler, H. W. Protzeller, is arranging an appropriate program for the occasion. Reports of the business for the past year will be submitted by all officers and the new committees announced by the incoming exalted ruler, L. G. Larsen.

The Elks will close a very successful year in spite of the fact that conditions have been such that any great increase in membership cannot be reported. The lodge has made a record in the amount of work of a charitable nature undertaken and has been complimented on this branch of its activities by both national and state exalted rulers.

An interesting feature of this meeting will be the report of the house committee on the success of the club room which will close its first year of operation at this time. The club has proven a popular rendezvous for the members and the rooms have been the scene of many popular social functions.

Snow Storm Hits Valley But Does Little Damage

The Red River valley is covered with a blanket of most unwelcome snow and the arrival of spring has thereby been retarded for a few days. Snow began falling in this neighborhood on Saturday, following a freakish electrical storm on Friday night, and never quit until the entire section had acquired a regular winter aspect. According to reports the storm did not extend below Mahnomen and became worse as it traveled northward. Train schedules were not disrupted and outside of being a nuisance the snow will do no damage. In fact it will prove a good thing for winter grains.

The sun got into action on Tuesday morning and while the day was colder than usual for this time of year good inroads were made on the snow piles. In a day or two these will have entirely disappeared and it is to be hoped they will not be seen again until next Christmas.

$13,000 SECURED FROM FUND FOR ROAD TO LAKES

Highway Commission Appropriates This Amount For Building of Highway.

Would be 10½ Miles in Length, Extending From Ridge to Shores of Lake.

Travel at Present Must be by Way of Thorhult and South Over Famous Trail.

The state highway department has appropriated $13,000 out of the general road fund for the construction of 10½ miles of highway extending from the ridge running south from Thorhult to the Red Lakes. The sum is granted at the request of the commissioners of Beltrami county but the proposed road is of even greater importance to the people of the Red river and Thief river valleys than to those residing farther to the east.

This culmination is the direct result of the agitation started in 1920 by residents of Thief River Falls, Warren, Argyle, Stephen and other places in the valley asking that a thoroughfare be built to provide access to the famous lakes. This was heartily seconded by the Indians on the Red Lake reservation who for years had been trying to get an outlet for their products westward. A meeting was held at Warren when the propositton first assumed the form of a general demand, at which time the Red Lakes Highway association was formed with the following officers: Daniel Shaw, Thief River Falls, president; Julius Olson, Warren; D. B. Brett and C. R. Gillespie, Stephen, and Dan Robertson, Argyle, vice presidents; Scott Laird, Thief River Falls, secretary.

The officers at once set out to interest Congressmen Steenerson and Knutson in the project and the latter have given the matter their entuhsiastic support. Another man entitled to much credit in connection with the movement is George W. Cross, Indian agent at the Red Lake agency. His endorsement was necessary and was given without hesitation. A committee from the Thief River Falls Commercial club, composed of Mayor John Bratrud, Daniel Shaw and J. S. Arneson later laid the proposition before C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, who promised an appropriation.

Need Long Recognizted.

The necessity for an outlet from the reservation toward the west has long been recognized both by the Indians and people residing in neighboring towns. In 1916 N. J. Head, Indian forest ranger, made a preliminary survey of several routes for a road and decided that the line now accepted would be the most feasible. Eventually the new road will be continued westward in a straight line to connect with the Elwell highway in Pennington county, but for the present the route by way of Thorhult will have to answer. This makes something of a detour necessary but the "going" will be good all the way.

Look After Improvements.

Before anything in the way of accommodations for tourists can be had a considerable amount of improvement at the lake will be necessary. The plan most likely to be followed is the formation of a holding or supervising company whose duty it will be to see that all government regulations are complied with, otherwise it would be an easy matter to have even the privilege of visiting the reservation revoked. The company might lease a strip along the shore for building and camping purposes, this being permitted under the rules covering Indian lands, and in turn re-lease it to private parties. This, however, is a matter that will have to be worked out at a later date. It is understood Mr. Cross favors this plan.

Persons acquainted with the territory to be traversed by the new highway say the country presentes no serious difficulties to rapid progress in building and believe the road can be put in shape for traffic by the middle of July if work is commenced as soon as weather conditions permit.

Will Sell Matthees Herd Of High Grade Holsteins

An auction sale of more than usual interest will take place when H. A. Matthees of Rocksbury township offers his fine herd of 15-16th Holsteins to the highest bidder on Wednesday, April 12. Sickness in his family compels Mr. Matthees to give up farming and all personal property on his model place will be offered at the same time as the cattle. This includes eight work horses ranging in age from 3 to 12 years.

There are ten cows in the lot, 10 heifers and four calves. As regards the quality of this stock County Agent J. J. McCann has made the following announcement:

"H. A. Matthees' dairy herd are all high grade Holstein, tested for tuberculosis, three years without any reactors, accredited in 1920 and 1921. These are very good individuals, from high producing cows, well bred and well marked. Five of the two-year-old heifers are out of the Holstein sire, King Ormsby Korndyke Benn No. 185697, owned by Hans Anton and sold to McNeely, McIntosh, Minn., for $1500.00 three years ago.

"Six yearling heifers are out of the Holstein sire, Ormsby Beaut Clothilde No. 160825, bred by N. P. Hanson, Detroit, Minn.

"Eight of these cows and heifers are now bred to General Segis Fayne Lyon, owned by Hans Anton of Thief River Falls."

In the livestock list are also two Duroc Jersey brood sows due to farrow May 12; 150 Rhode Island Red chickens, one White Holland turkey gobbler and two hens. A large quantity of machinery in excellent condition and the household goods will be included. The sale will be clerked by the First and Peoples State bank and W. J. LaBree will officiate as auctioneer.

TRIES TO END LIFE BY PLUNGING INTO ICE-STREWN RIVER

Despondent Man Makes Two Attempts at Suicide by Drowning on Monday.

A. B. Remmem, a resident of Thief River Falls for many years, made two attempts at suicide by jumping into the Red Lake river near the power plant on Monday. He is at his home in a serious condition as the result of his immersion in the icy water but physicians are of the opinion that he will pull through. Remmem has for some time been acting strangely and on a number of occasions stated that it was his intention to take his own life.

Gust Anderson, day man at the power plant, was an eye witness to the proceedings. He saw Remmem rush down the bank at the rear of the power house and jump into the stream at a point where there is a considerable eddy caused by the discharge from the turbines. The swift current bobbed the man around as if he had been a cork and threw him against the rocks near shore. He scrambled out and started along the river bank while Mr. Anderson notified Chief of Police E. O. Erickson. He then started after Remmem and found the latter had again jumped into the stream in the rear of the Hanson-Barzen flour mill, where the water is only about three feet deep. While Mr. Anderson was hurrying to reach the spot, Remmem tried to force himself under the ice but was unsuccessful.

Chief Erickson took the would-be suicide to the office of Sheriff W. J. LaBree, where his soaked clothing was removed and dry garments given him, after which he was taken to his home and medical attendance summoned.

Remmem has been acting queer for some time, according to reports. At the last term of the district court he was on trial charged with selling intoxicating liquors. The jury disagreed and the case was continued until next term. The man seems to think that it is the desire of someone to put him in prison and to kill his family. He told Chief Erickson that it was originally his intention to tie a rope to a tree, fasten the other end around his leg and then jump into the river so that there would be no difficulty in recovering his body, but somehow this detail was overlooked.

As soon as his condition will permit he will be examined as to his sanity.

Implement Men Coming To Hold Convention Here

C. D. Gustafson, district secretary of the State Implement Dealers association, announces that the annual meeting for members residing in this part of the state will be held in Thief River Falls on July 25. There will be at least 50 accredited delegates present and a much larger number of visitors interested in the work of the association. A number of speakers prominent in the automotive and implement trade will be here to deliver addresses. Two meetings will be held, a business session in the afternoon for members and a meeting in the evening at the auditorium to which the public is invited. A banquet will be tendered the visitors before the evening meeting. G. C. Streeter is chairman of the arrangements committee.

Dr. Cyrus Northrup Dead; U. of M. Head for 27 Years

Dr. Cyrus R. Northrop, president emeritus of the University of Minnesota, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Minneapolis on Tuesday. He was 88 years of age, having been born in Ridgefield, Conn., on Sept. 30, 1834. He was elected president of the Minnesota university in 1884 and continued in that position until 1911, when he was made president emeritus. At the time of his retirement he became eligible to the maximum pension of $4,000 annually, provided by Andrew Carnegie for retired educators. He was one of the best known men in the United States, having taken an active part in national affairs in late years.

CITY MEN AND FARMERS BACK SETTLER PLAN

Organization Formed to Advertise Thief River Valley Meets Encouragement.

Thousand Dollars Raised in Short Time With Which to Get Program Under Way.

Every Person Coming Here Assured of All Assistance Possible From Members.

One may have an article of exceptional value to sell but if the fact is not made known through proper advertising it may never be disposed of. On the other hand almost anything can be advertised in such manner as to create a temporary demand, only to fall flat later on for lack of merit.

The above facts explain the reasons for the organization of the Thief River Falls New Settlers association, a body of business men and farmers having for its purpose the dissemination of a better understanding of the nature of agricultural lands in the Thief River valley and the opportunities held out to the settler who may be induced to make his home there.

No movement of a development nature ever started in this section has met with such instantaneous and unanimous success. There is never any trouble in finding men to do the shouting, but when it comes to digging up hard cash to prove their own faith in the project under consideration it is often discovered they would greatly prefer this part of the program be left to someone else. For this reason the response to a request for funds with which to get the work started is most gratifying to those who have long known that some such step must be taken if the Thief River valley is to receive its share of new settlers when the "back to the farm" movement starts in earnest.

Very Good Start Made.

A committee started out on Tuesday morning to see the business and professional men of the city, place the matter before them and ask their financial assistance in carrying out the plan. Only the principal business district was canvassed but inside of a very short time more than $1,000 had been pledged with the promise of more to come if the association gave indication of accomplishing anything of value. The plan of campaign seems to meet the approval of everyone and making the enterprise a sort of community undertaking gives each person the feeling that he has a direct interest in the outcome.

Purpose Fully Stated.

President H. W. Protzeller has drafted a sort of prospectus setting forth the purposes of the organization, in which he says:

"Our sole desire is to see our country filled with happy, contented and prosperous neighbors and to this end are so organized as to efficiently lend a hand of mutual assistance to all who wish to settle in our midst, and above all to render at all times such aid and advice as will insure their remaining permanently among us.

"We are not a land-selling agency nor are we particularly interested in the transfer of lands except in so far as new settlers are concerned, in which case we propose to exercise a supervision over such deals in order that the purchaser may be assured of conditions being honestly represented and of receiving full value.

To Permit No Exploitation.

"We realize that the real estate agent is a necessary factor in many land deals, serving a purpose as vital as the family grocer, and we do not propose to interfere in any manner with his work while conducted along legitimate lines, but we consider that the new settler is too valuable an asset to the community to be exploited by any one man and that the welfare of the newcomer is of far more importance than the thought of any immediate profit.

"We also recognize the fact that the fair name of our Thief River valley has been slandered by the sale of so-called Volstead lands, which in most cases have been situated at least a hundred miles from our section of the country but have nevertheless been sold as Thief River lands. One of the main purposes of this association is to ascertain that all lands offered prospective homesteaders can qualify as being worthy of the Thief River valley brand, representing the very finest land that lies out doors."

To Help the Beginner.

This organization is not going to help get a man settled on a piece of land and then lose all interest in him. Being satisfied after he gets here is of more importance than his getting here in the first place. It was for this reason the association adopted as its slogan: "A Contented Family on Every Farm," with the accent on the "Contented."

The new organization starts out with every prospect of success. It is different in plan and purpose from most undertakings of a similar nature heretofore launched, and it is to be hoped that it will be different from most in results.

Red Cross Committee to Meet Tomorrow Afternoon

The executive committee of the Pennington County Red Cross will hold a meeting at the Commercial club rooms on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. There are a number of matters of decided importance to be discussed and the officers request a full attendance. This will be the first meeting for some time and final action on a number of pending propositions must be taken.

Are Cleaning the Streets.

Efforts on the part of the street cleaning department to clear away the winter's accumulations were yesterday supplemented by very effective work on the part of a hose crew from the fire department. The streets were given a thorough flushing and the piles of accumulated filth loaded onto wagons and carted to the dump. As a result the city looks better than at any time since being covered with snow last fall.

GREAT SIRE ADDED TO HOLSTEIN HERD BY LOCAL BREEDER

Registered Bull of Highest Breeding Secured From Grand Forks.

M. T. McFarland last week purchased one of the finest three-year-old registered Holstein bulls in the country from J. D. Bacon of Grand Forks. The animal is Lilac Hedge Zuebrod Segis (261469), a grandson of King Segis Pontiac Count and son of King Watson Segis Star, one of the greatest show bulls of the breed. The two nearest dams of this animal averaged over 31 pounds of butterfat each in seven days and each has a record of more than 1100 pounds of butter in one year. King Segis Pontiac Count has sired more record breakers than any other bull in the Holstein class. The grandson is a full brother to the state champion at the North Dakota state fair and his dam is the 32-pound granddaughter of the famous 34-pound century sire, Colanthe Johanna Lad. The term "century sire" means that this last-named bull has over 100 A. R. O. daughters, which is the highest rating possible, King Segis himself being the only other individual of the breed with this record among his daughters. The most sought-after blood strains in dairy cattle are therefore present in this new addition to the McFarland herd. Competent cattle judges say that the animal is easily worth $5,000 but the new owner refuses to state the price paid.

The bull will make an important addition to the already notable list possessed by Pennington county Holstein breeders and will add interest to the statement that it is their intention to aid anyone willing to make an effort to improve their stock by selling purebred bulls from their own herds on terms that can be met by anyone.

NINE POTATO MEN DIVIDE $20,000 AS RETURN FROM CROP

Association Handles 102 Carloads for Which Total of $55,083 is Received.

During the potato shipping season, which opened about Sept. 10 and continued to Feb. 1, a total of 102 carloads were marketed through the Pennington County Potato association. The total net return to the growers was $55,080 or an average of 90 cents per bushel. The high average for the first part of the season was greatly reduced by the low price received during the strike period, when the market was flooded from all sections with potatoes of high quality. The highest price received on any shipment from Pennington county was $2.48 net per cwt. on a carload shipped by F. T. Satre of St. Hilaire. The lowest received was 45 cents per cwt. for a car containing stock grading No. 2 and contining 23 per cent defects. This car was shipped from Holt when the potato market was crowded and a very poor price given even for No. 1 stock. The income of a number of the potato growers receiving over $1,000 for their crop is given below. Some of these growers are still holding potatoes and will have a good deal left for seed:

F. T. Satre, St. Hilaire	$3,867.34
Ben Rosendahl, T. R. Falls	3,456.62

MERCHANTS GET UNDER WAY FOR NEW CAMPAIGN

L. H. Larson Elected President and G. Howard Smith Again Named Secretary.

Will Keep Open House Every Wednesday Evening for Out-of-Town Customers.

Get-Together Meeting to be Held at Club Rooms on Monday Evening, April 10.

L. H. Larson of The Thief River Music company, was on Monday elected president of the Merchants' association for the ensuing year. Frank Voelz and Carl Christofferson were elected first and second vice president respectively and W. A. Hall, Jr., treasurer, G. Howard Smith, secretary of the association since its organization, was re-elected. These officers were selected by the board of directors chosen at a previous meeting, these being W. W. Prichard, Jr., L. H. Larson, A. M. Langseth, Carl Christofferson, E. O. Mogensen, C. H. Jung, Frank Voelz, W. A. Hall, Jr., and Alfred Bredeson.

The directors also named the committee to have charge of the 1922 season sales day events and the arranging of Wednesday evening programs as follows: H. O. Loken, chairman; E. O. Mogensen, Charles Lieberman, Cyril Sapero, Gynther Tessum, C. L. Hansen, H. C. Johnson, Frank Voelz and W. A. Hall, Jr. It was decided to give a "Better Business Banquet" at the commercial club rooms on the evening of Monday, April 10, special invitations to attend having been issued to officers of the Commercial club, Woman's club, Community Girls, American Legion and Auxiliary, United Commercial Travelers and the City Council. At this time the date for the first Wednesday opening night will be set and the plan of entertainment decided. While the stores will be open for business every Wednesday night the main object will be the providing of something in the way of amusement to draw people to the city. There will be band concerts, dancing on the pavement, games and sports at different times during the season as well as contests for prizes among the children. These latter will in all likelihood be in the nature of awards for young folks from the farms and cover such subjects as are generally included in boys' and girls' club work. Details of this plan are still to be perfected but it is felt that the feature will add interest to the evening's entertainment.

While the association's efforts in the past have been largely devoted to furthering of the retail business of the city, the scope will be expanded under the new plan and enterprises of all kinds included. Products manufactured in Thief River Falls will be advertised so as to create a greater demand and every activity in the city receive its share of attention.

The new officers and board of directors are an energetic lot of business men and it is certain they will find means of furthering the excellent work begun by their predecessors in office a year ago. They have learned that the way to get business is to go after it and are now chiefly concerned as to the best policy to pursue. The city last year was recognized as one of the busiest trading centers in the state and this reputation will be added to if plans now contemplated are carried out.

City is Headquarters of Creamery Field Manager

N. C. Lindberg, formerly of Perley, field manager for District No. 14 of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, will make Thief River Falls his headquarters. This city is the most central point in his territory and all parts of the district can most conveniently be reached from here. The district comprises, besides Pennington, the counties of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Red Lake, Clearwater, Polk, Norman, Mahnomen and Clay. Mr. Lindberg will move his family here as soon as suitable living quarters can be secured for their accommodation.

The Fourteenth district is one of the largest in the state in point of territory covered. It is also one of the most important as far as concerns output of creamery products. Mr. Lindberg, who has had long experience in the business, says the success of the state-wide organization is now assured, a majority of the co-operative creameries being members with the rest coming in rapidly. Carload shipments of butter from this district have already begun, which means a big saving to the producer.

Last of Mid-Week Lenten Services Tuesday Night

The last of the mid-week lenten services will be held at Trinity Lutheran church next Tuesday evening, Rev. George Propp of Ogahmah, being the speaker. His topic will be: "And They Crucified Him." It will be the story of the events of Holy Week, winding up with the greatest tragedy in the history of the world, which was enacted on Calvary two thousand years ago. Rev. Propp, while a young man, has the reputation of being a forceful pulpit orator and as his address will close one of the most interesting experiments ever attempted by a church in this section it is certain he will be at his best.

The lenten services have been very well attended, the number of hearers increasing with each meeting. The idea originated with Rev. E. H. Kreidt of St. John's church in this city, the plan being to conduct services every Tuesday evening with pastors from nearby towns as the speakers. Similar services have been held every Wednesday evening at Mahnomen, the same pastors officiating. Persons of practically every nationality and creed have attended these services and all have found them both interesting and instructive.

OBJECTION RAISED BY AUTO CLUB TO NEW REGULATIONS

Members Do Not Want Cars Parked in Middle of Street. Merchants Approve Plan.

Members of the Pennington County Automobile association are not very enthusiastic over the city council's new traffic ordinance, and will try to have certain features changed.

In the first place the association is opposed to parking in the center of the street, claiming that the practice has been abandoned in practically every city of any size in which it was tried. The plan makes it necessary to back out and this is always liable to result in collisions. Walking from the sidewalk to the car is also necessary under this plan, subjecting the pedestrian to the possibility of being struck by a passing auto or truck. These are among the more weighty reasons given by auto club members for their objections.

The Merchants association, on the other hand, favors center parking. Members of this body say that as matters now stand cars belonging to the merchants themselves or other townspeople often take up all the available room along the sidewalks, forcing people from the country to the side streets. This, they maintain, leaves a bad impression and hurts the town and business generally. If everyone were compelled to park in the middle of the street it would leave both sides open to traffic, they maintain.

The matter came up at a special meeting of the city council Tuesday evening at which time a number of citizens were present to urge that changes in the ordinance be made. All favored the 45-degree head-on parking plan, claiming this had proved the most satisfactory in other places. F. J. Stebbins, H. D. Keene, Alfred Borry, Math Barzen, Geo. C. Streeter, Nels Christianson, V. C. Noper and L. H. Lawrence spoke in favor of making the change. The council will give due consideration to the matter and promised final action at the next regular meeting when the ordinance comes up for its final reading.

"Deception" is Described As Most Dazzling Pageant

Filled with scenes of great beauty from start to finish—views that visualize the England of King Henry VIII's time, "Deception," a magnificent Paramount picture which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre for two days beginning Wednesday next, is a gorgeous historical pageant, supplemented by a love story whose appeal no modern picture audience can ignore.

Anne Boleyn, the central figure of this remarkable love drama, won a throne through her beauty, but the victim of deception, slander and treachery, she falls into an abyss, filled with terrors which only her mother love enables her to endure with fortitude.

The massive scenes unfolded in the picture amaze spectators by their massiveness and fidelity to the most minute historical detail. They constitute a dazzling pageant of rare value to the student of history as represented in the motion picture art, second to none hitherto presented to the American public. Henny Porton and Emil Jannings, famous screen artists of Europe, play the leading roles.

Will Start Auto Busses.

A bulletin has been posted by the Great Northern railway to the effect that on or about May 1 it will put on a line of railway busses to operate between Crookston and Fargo and Crookston and Grand Forks. Eight of these busses, it is said, are now being completed in the car shops at St. Paul. They are to be propelled by gasoline motors and will accommodate about 40 passengers, with a compartment for express and light baggage. They will run, according to report, upon a two-hour schedule each way during the day and into the evening. It is further stated that if this innovation proves successful from a financial standpoint, bus service will be installed on all branch lines and for the accommodation of local traffic on main line tracks.

TO DOT COUNTY WITH HOLSTEIN CATTLE IS AIM

Breeders' Association Adopts Popular Plan for Supplying Registered Sires.

Will Sell Young Stock at $50 and Up, Accepting Scrubs As First Payment.

Offer Assistance in Forming Sire Associations Among Those Having Small Herds.

If farmers in this neighborhood continue to lose money throwing good feed into poor cattle it will not be the fault of the Pennington County Holstein Breeders' association. At a meeting of this organization last Saturday it was decided to launch a campaign for better sires covering the entire county and to make it easy for every man interested in dairying to get a start on the right track. If the man who is trying to get a foothold in the dairying business but who has not the means or foresight to secure a registered sire for his herd will meet the association members half way the entire county will within a very short time be dotted with the black and white money-makers.

Sires on Easy Terms.

There is at the present time a larger number of registered Holsteins in the county than all other varieties of cattle put together, but there are still too many who are trying to make a success of dairying with scrub stock. Very often these men would improve their herds but have not the money to put into a registered bull. It is for the purpose of helping such farmers that the Holstein men have agreed to try a plan they believe will work.

They offer to sell bulls from their own registered herds and will take the animal now being used by the purchaser—very often a scrub of no particular value—in part payment and will ship the scrub to the stockyards to be turned into bologna, thus taking it out of the section for good and all. A list of the registered animals available will be left with the banks in the city where the farmer may go and make his selection. Certain of the banks have already offered particularly favorable terms in financing such purchasers, and it is expected the others will willingly fall in line. In this way the purchaser will be getting the use of the animal at once and can begin the improvement of his herd with practically no outlay of cash. President Hans Anton of the Holstein Breeders' association, says there are a large number of highly desirable animals now available, some with top-notch breeding, and it is his hope that these may remain right here to improve the milch stock of the county instead of being shipped to some other section. Young bulls may be purchased from $60 and up, depending on breeding, which means a very slight cash outlay for the man who has an animal to turn back in exchange.

Form Sire Associations.

Another suggestion made by those heading this movement is that farmers in a given section form sire associations whereby one of these high grade animals may be made to serve a community. There are many such neighborhoods in the county in which there is at the present time perhaps half a dozen bulls of no particular breeding or record and all these could be turned in against the purchase price of a registered animal. If this plan is followed the increase in the value of herds in Pennington county will be remarkable within a very short time. Everything possible will be done by the more experienced dairymen to assist those who are just making a start or who wish to place their business on a better footing.

Officers Are Elected.

Officers of the association for the ensuing year were elected at this meeting, the following being chosen: Hans Anton, president; M. T. McFarland, secretary-treasurer; Fred Beerbower, V. C. Noper, Knute Ystesund, S. E. Hunt and Frank Hardesty, directors.

Getting Ready to Erect Chippewa Trail Markers

Local officers of the Chippewa Trail association have received the stencils for making road markers and the work of getting these ready for erection will be undertaken at once. As soon as the weather becomes settled a committee will start out to mark the trail through the county. The highway follows the Jefferson from the southern end of the county, passing through St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls, thence westward to Warren, and north through Hallock, Argyle, across the Red River of the North and west to Grafton, N. D. The southern terminus of the highway is at Detroit.

Membership in the association is increasing at a highly satisfactory rate and all moneys collected here will be spent on the road in Pennington county.

A Complete Cycle of Service

IN directing the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) the 7 men responsible for its management and success keep constantly before them the ideals of service which have animated the organization in its development.

They are ever mindful of the fact that the service rendered by this Company bears a close and intimate relation to the progress, success and prosperity of practically every other industry. And that it has a major bearing on many professional and highly specialized branches of business.

They recognize the grave responsibility of supplying petroleum products to those who use the internal combustion engine as a source of power, and to those who depend upon this Company to lubricate their equipment in such manner as to conserve the power and the machinery which it operates.

These are the major and more obvious services rendered, but equal attention is given to problems affecting an individual or a small group.

This service may take the form of expert advice as to the best method of lubricating a single machine, it may be something to reduce the labor of the housewife, or to assist the medical profession in serving humanity. It may be a new kind of pavement or a method to increase or conserve the food supply.

These are but a few of the hundreds of ways in which Standard Oil service, positive and clearly defined, is helping and adding to the efficiency and economy of business generally.

As an example of how far this service is carried, we may mention the recently developed burning oil, Neolite, which supplies a growing demand for an oil used primarily in incubators and brooders, where a steady, unvarying heat must be maintained over a considerable period of time. To those who use incubators and brooders, Neolite is of great value.

While it is probable that the sales of this product will never attain a large volume, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) adds it to its long list of useful products that it may further discharge its obligation in rendering a complete cycle of service to 25 million people of 11 Middle Western States.

COMPLETE SETS OF TICKETS BY THREE PARTIES

Republicans Re-nominate Kellogg and Entire State Ticket With One Exception.

Mrs. Peter Olesen Named For Senate by Democrats; Ed. Indrehus For Governor.

Nonpartisans Place Magnus Johnson in Field for Governor; Shipstead for Senate.

The Republicans, Democrats and Nonpartisans met at St. Paul last week and placed state tickets in the field. The nomination of Frank B. Kellogg for United States senator was unanimous in the Republican gathering and the present state administration, with one exception, was endorsed.

A plan proposing a fusion of the Nonpartisans with the Democrats, the former endorsing Edward Indre*hus of Foley, for governor* and the latter accepting Henrik Shipstead as the party choice for senator, was given a lot of prominence for a day or two, but the labor element in the Nonpartisan ranks refused to stand for any such proposition and insisted on a straight ticket being put in the field. According to reports the farmers were favorably disposed toward a coalition with the Democrats, but the threatened defection of the laboring men in case such deal was put through served to effectively block the scheme.

Only One Dropped.

Herman Mueller of St. Cloud, nonpartisan, elected clerk of the supreme court two years ago after defeating the regular Republican candidate in the primaries, is left off the slate this year. He will file as a candidate in the primaries. The convention candidates of the party are as follows:

United States Senator, Frank B. Kellogg.

Governor, J. A. O. Preus.

Lieutenant Governor, Louis L. Collins.

Secretary of State, Mike Holm.

State Treasurer, Henry Rines.

Attorney General, Clifford L. Hilton.

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner, Ivan Bowen.

Clerk of Supreme Court, Miss Grace F. Kaercher.

Woman For U. S. Senate.

The Democrats upset all pre-convention dope in selecting their candidates for state office. Mrs. Peter Olesen of Cloquet, who had been slated as candidate for lieutenant governor, received the nomination for United States senator, while Miss Emily Kneubuhl, prominent as a worker in the League of Women Voters, was selected to make the run against Lieutenant Governor Collins. The remainder of the ticket is as follows:

Governor, Edward Indrehus, Foley.

Secretary of State, Claude Swanson, Fairmont.

Treasurer, Walter S. Brown, Waseca.

Auditor, John E. Casey, Jordan.

Attorney General, John Foley, Austin.

Clerk of Supreme Court, Frank Hebl, St. Paul.

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner, Joseph P. Kilbride, Albert Lea.

Shipstead for Senator.

The Nonpartisan League's "straight ticket," endorsed by the farmer-labor party, is as follows:

United States Senator, Henrik Shipstead, Minneapolis.

Governor, Magnus Johnson, Kimball.

Lieutenant Governor, G. T. Lindsten, Minneapolis.

Auditor, Mrs. Eliza Evans Denning, Minneapolis.

Treasurer, Mrs. Susie Stageberg, Red Wing.

Attorney General, Benjamin Drake Minneapolis.

Clerk of the Supreme Court, Miss Victoria McAlman, Minneapolis.

Seconded Nomination.

The nomination of Senator Kellogg was seconded by W. J. Brown of Pennington county, in an address which received much approval from the delegates and press. The Nonpartisans of the county were represented at the convention of that party by Senator O. A. Naplin and O. J. Peterson. The Democrats did not send delegates.

BLACK FALLOW IS ONLY REMEDY FOR SOW THISTLE PEST

Fight Must be Carried on Relentlessly and Continuously to Kill Root Stocks.

No half-way measures will succeed in the fight against the sow thistle, according to R. S. Dunham, agronomist at the Northwest School and Station, Crookston. The battle must be relentless and continuous for sow thistle does not succumb to intermittent attacks. It has as many lives as there are new plants from its root-stocks. Ten have been found on a single running root.

The important facts about this plant to be recognized in waging a fight to death are, first, that it is propagated both by seed and by underground root stocks; second, that it is in its weakest condition when preparing to blossom, and, third, that it cannot live without leaves.

Of equal importance are the two necessary campaign plans. These consist of, first, complete eradication and second, control. As in all troubles of life, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Preventive measures are necessary. The plant should not be allowed to produce seed and only crop seed free from this weed should be planted. Sow thistle should be cut as near to blossoming time as can be done without danger of allowing some plants to mature seed. Since the blossoms may mature seed after they are cut at this stage, all plants should be burned immediately after cutting.

Further eradication of the weed depends upon killing its root-stocks. These can only be killed by preventing them from producing leaves. The leaves of the plant are necessary to convert the plant food taken up by the roots into a form that nourishes the plant. Without leaves the plant must die. For that reason, fallowing is essential to complete eradication.

There are three kinds of fallow as practiced by the farmer. The one consists of plowing with no cultivation, the second consists of plowing and occasional cultivation in which new plants are allowed to produce their first leaves, and the third consists of plowing and sufficient cultivation to keep all leaves from forming—the black fallow. Only the latter kind is worth while.

Plowing shallow in the fall or discing will aid the seeds scattered in the fall to germinate and frost will kill them. The following spring the land should be plowed at the normal depth and a black fallow maintained by cultivation until freeze-up. The plowing should be well done. All land should be cut by the share and loosened by the mouldboard including the dead furrow. The first two furrows should be plowed shallow and thrown out. Later they should be plowed back at the normal depth. Leave no unplowed strips in the field or at the headlands. Cover all weeds.

The make of the cultivator is not as important as the type. It should have shares that overlap, have sharp cutting edges, and run level. The duckfoot type is satisfactory. The disc-harrow is very unsatisfactory and the spike-tooth harrow is fairly satisfactory if precaution is taken not to drag the roots over the field.

There are several agencies of seed distribution that cannot be prevented. Wind, water and railroads scatter seeds. For this reason control measures must be used by the farmer after his eradication of the weed. Chief of these are crop rotation and good cultivation. The rotation should include a cultivated crop, a grass or legume crop, and a grain crop. Corn is an excellent cultivated crop and sweet clover heads the list of legumes. Winter rye is one of the best weed control crops that can be grown because it ripens before the thistle blossoms.

Appoints New Members For R. R. V. Development Assn.

President R. C. Mathwig, Warren, of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, has announced the appointment of William H. Johnson, a prominent farmer of Kennedy, as director for Kittson county in the association to succeed T. M. George on account of the latter moving from the county, and the appointment of Harry H. Phillips, editor of the Mahnomen Pioneer and past president of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, as director for Mahnomen county to succeed A. L. Thompson, who was killed recently in a gravel pit mishap.

Both are men who have for some time taken a prominent part in all agricultural affairs and will add much to the effectiveness of the association.

AT THE THEATRES

Facts About "Deception."

Presenting a historical figure which for nearly four hundred years has been the subject of diverse discussion and which is familiar to every student of English annals, "Deception" deals in a powerful and compelling manner with the pathetic love romance of Anne Boleyn, second wife of King Henry VIII, and the mother of Queen Elizabeth. Independent of its historical associations, the story concerns a woman who loved and who fell victim to the loves behind the throne in which Bluff King Hal, the Falstaff of British royalty, was the central figure. "Deception" is at once the story of the tender woman which all alike can understand, and a magnificent pageant illuminating one of the darkest pages of English history. It is exquisitely artistic, intensely appealing, superbly executed and as a gigantic spectacle excels any picture thus far shown to the world.

A Correction.

The Times last week was in error in stating that Gust Geske is the defendant in a suit involving the estate of his mother. The title of the action should read "Gust Geske, plaintiff, vs. Mrs. Anna Rondorf, Mrs. Minnie Gust, Mrs. Mathilda Becker and Otto Geske, defendants.

Obituary

Mrs. Anna Wilson.

On Saturday, March 25th, at her home in Wyandotte township, occurred the death of Anna Wilson, wife of I. E. Wilson. A week ago Mrs. Wilson contracted influenza, which later developed into bronchial pneumonia, from which she failed to rally, though attended by two doctors and a nurse. The funeral took place Tuesday, Rev. Dale of Mahnomen conducting and interment was made in Clearwater cemetery. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, a silent testimony of love and esteem. Anna Dorothy Gergan was born in Dickie county, N. D., on August 28, 1884. On March 21, 1908 she was married to Isaac Wilson and since then has made her home in this community. To this union was born six children: Chester, Anthony, Viola, Woodrow, Stanley and an infant son, all of whom survive, together with her mother, Mrs. C. Bergan of Thief River Falls; two sisters and three brothers, Dagny, Eugene and Otto of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Minnie Arbuckle of Paine, N. D., and Christ of Altoona, Wis.

The heartfelt sympathy of a saddened community goes out to the husband and children, who mourn for the loss of one who was always cheerful, true and unfaltering. Those who enjoyed the privilege of her friendship will cherish always the memory of her splendid personality.

Mrs. Siri Nordhagen.

Mrs. Siri Nordhagen of New Solem Township, died April 3, at 11:45 a. m., at the ripe age of 80 years. Influenza was the cause of her death. Funeral services were held on April 5 and interment made in Lanstad cemetery.

Mothers' Sense.

Every woman knows that her House has to be cleaned thoroughly every Spring. During winter, dust, dirt and germs accumulate in the corners, under the rugs, in the curtains and every place. Just so with your system—it should be given a thorough cleaning, purifying this Spring. HOLLISTER'S GOLDEN NUGGET TABLETS will do the job slick and quick. They will clean your system, freshen and purify you all over—you'll enjoy living, eat better, sleep better—feel better. Lambert's drug store.—Advertisement. A

John Aase.

John Aase died in this city March 26, from pneumonia. The deceased, who was a retired farmer and had lived in this city for the past nine years was 74 years old at the time of his death. The body was shipped to his former home at Gatzke for interment, where he has a son, Amos J., and a daughter, Mrs. Christ Haroldson, residing. The funeral services were held on Saturday, April 1.

Baby Iola Ardith Matson.

Baby Iola Ardith, one week old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Matson, 237 Kendall Ave. N., passed away at the family home Saturday morning. Funeral services were held at the Larson chapel yesterday afternoon with Rev. T. E. Sweger officiating, and interment made in Greenwood cemetery.

Eugenia A. Dahlman.

Vapors vs. Bronchitis
Old-fashioned remedies are absorbed and inhaled by effective new method.

You get immediate action two ways by applying Vicks VapoRub to the chest for bronchial congestions. Rub Vicks well in and a warm glow follows. Not only are the ingredients absorbed, but their healing vapors, released by the body heat, are taken with each breath right into the inflamed passages.

Thus, externally and internally, you get the beneficial effect of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus Thyme, Cedar Leaf and Pine.

Vicks is a truly remarkable remedy for congestions of nose, throat or chest. Its worth is well appreciated. Over 17 million jars are used yearly for all kinds of colds, for skin hurts and itchings, for neuralgic pains.

Once tried, Vicks becomes a standby in the family medicine cabinet.

THE PARKING PROBLEM.

The city council and Merchants' association have one notion as to how cars should be parked in the business section of the city and the Automobile association has another. Both plans have their advantages and both their defects.

Parking in the center of the street has been tried out in many places and found unsatisfactory. It necessitates backing out for one thing and is more or less dangerous for another. If passengers are discharged against the curb and the car then parked in the center of the street the plan works out fairly well, but this is generally considered too much trouble by drivers, who shoot into parking position at once and let the passengers hoof it to the sidewalk. The danger in this proceeding is obvious.

On the other hand parking on both sides of the street leaves a very narrow maneuvering space for traffic while the same objection as concerns backing up holds good.

A much better solution is the permission to park against the sidewalks at an angle of about 45 degrees on the less frequented streets. In Thief River Falls it would be necessary to include only four, or at most five, blocks in the prohibited area. Third street from Main to Horace, Main avenue from Third to Second, and LaBree avenue between Second and Third constitute the principal business section of the city. Why would it not be a good idea to prohibit parking of cars in these blocks entirely? This would leave First, Second and Fourth streets open for parking and there would be neither danger nor inconvenience in running the cars against the sidewalk on both sides. Traffic on these thoroughfares is not heavy, particularly in the evening when most of the cars are in from the country and it would only mean walking a block or two, no matter from what section of the business district one might start. Other cities find this much the more satisfactory method of handling the proposition. Permission would have to be granted for autoists to drive up in front of business houses for the purpose of loading bundles, perhaps, but this need only take a few moments and would not hold up traffic to any noticeable extent.

Parking in the center of the street has been found a nuisance and lining the sides of the thoroughfares with autos is dangerous. The other plan is by far the best.

FEEDING LESSONS NEEDED.

Along with the several efforts now being made to provide a better grade of cattle for the farmers of Pennington county should go instructions in methods of feeding. The farmer who intends going into dairying must learn that cows of this kind will not show a profit if expected to pick their living out of a strawstack. Their milk manufacturing mechanism is of a highly specialized nature and will only function efficiently for the man who understands how to handle it properly. It may be taken for granted, however, that anyone who has ambition and intelligence enough to work toward a better grade of cattle will in some measure at least understand the value of proper feeding.

An equally important subject is providing the feed. Too many farmers who are getting a start in the dairying industry are forced to buy feed during the winter months. Very often a large share of the cream check goes toward paying for hay and grain feeds when these should have been provided in abundance on the farm. There is absolutely no excuse for the Pennington county farmer who does not raise sufficient hay and feed to supply his own needs and he will never make a success of dairying. He must learn that his first and greatest requisite is seeing that he has a sufficiency of these necessities to carry him over the barn-feeding season. If even a small part of his income must go toward buying grain feeds or hay his profits will disappear.

This means that the dairyman cannot afford to devote any large amount of his acreage to wheat or other grain not especially suitable for cattle feed. He will have to turn to potatoes as his ready-money crop, this having proven by far the best plan.

Banks are doing everything in their power to aid the man who wants to go into the dairy business but the first condition for those asking favors is that there must be a sufficiency of feed raised on the farm. It will be well to bear this in mind as success or failure will depend upon it to a very large extent.

The Cities and the Country.

(From the Duluth Herald)

The St. Cloud Journal-Press points out that while it is "quite the habit for the communities to rail against the hoggishness of the big cities," in Minnesota the cities are contributing millions of dollars directly to the country counties.

And the Journal-Press adds: "Of the millions raised by the one mill road tax, Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties, contributing about fifty per cent of the whole tax, get altogether nine per cent of it back. Of the millions they contribute in motor vehicle licenses, they get back nothing." This is because the constitutional amendment authorizing the state road program forbids spending any of the money in the three large cities.

This is the truth, and when rural discontent tends to take the form of railing at the cities, it would be wholesome if the country would remember these figures.

The Journal-Press is right, too, when it says that this is a good investment for the three large cities, "because the prosperity of Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul, three splendid cities, depends upon the welfare of the rest of the state, and good roads is the big contributing factor to agricultural and industrial success." It is a good investment for the three cities to spend money building up country roads and we hear no complaint from them because they have to.

But it would be well also for the country to remember that while the cities must rest their prosperity upon the well-being of the country, the country, on the other hand, would be vastly less prosperous if it did not have the cities to buy its products.

There is nothing more wasteful than strife between city and country. As well might a man's hands and feet quarrel, for both are members of one body, and so are the city and country. There is no point of real division between them, and there are a thousand points of common interest.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

"What is prohibition coming to?" asks an exchange. "Where has it gone to?" would be more to the point.

Several Baudette lads are suffering from a strange illness. Can't eat, can't sleep, won't work, will drink.

We made one unique record as Mayor anyway. We went in without opposition and are going out the same way.

Over in Ontario a lad named Guernsey is running for office. From this distance he looks like the cream of the lot.

Moonshine in Baudette has dropped to $2.75 a quart, we hear. We give you this information in case you insist on dying young.

The world may be getting worse, but we note that two Hibbing girls walked six miles home from an auto ride.

We hear two Baudette lads quit a poker game to play chess the other night. That's like eating a ham sandwich after a banquet.

No mercy should be shown that St. Paul man who has thirteen wives. Compel him to buy Easter outfits for all of them.

We often wonder how some of the gossips who talk so much get time to listen.

"The American robin," says a birdologist, "is not a robin at all." But that doesn't make any difference to the worm.

The highway department has asked Warroad to spend $3500 on a temporary bridge, and Warroad has a temporary fit.

Exchange Notes

THE BIGGEST COWARD.

Warren Register: Congress is a queer animal—it can appropriate millions, even billions, without batting an eye, but it is sometimes strong on economy when a few paltry dollars are at stake. We can't subscribe in toto to Sam Blythe's criticisms of congress, but it must be admitted—with shame—that many of them are merited. Congress is the biggest coward in the country—if you don't believe that, just say "Boo!" to it and see it jump.

ITS ONLY VALUE.

Anoka Union: The flood of propaganda for this, that and the other thing continues unabated but we have a paper baler in the back room that will give it all the attention it deserves.

Introducing Gentle Spring.

The gentle spring will soon be with us,
There is evidence galore,
'Tis now kites and tops and marbles,
Skates and sleds no more.
Wild geese are flying northward,
The baseball season's near,
But an erstwhile sign is missing—
'Tis one that read "Bock Beer."

Topeka, Kan., merchants announce a "Ford Day" when all Ford cars will be invited to make themselves at home on the streets. We always supposed that was what Fords did every day.

Profitable Lifts.

"I notice you frequently pick up people and take them to town in your car."

"Yes," said the enterprising citizen. "I've sold quite a number of life insurance policies in that way. A man can't very well refuse to hear what you have to say when he's getting a free ride."

True to Type.

"Say, this blasted car you stuck me with I should think was meant to stall, judging by the way it acts."

"Well, what are you kicking about? Didn't you buy it on the installment plan?"

Out in Omaha a gas meter reader turned out to be a burglar. Sometimes it does seem rather hard to make the distinction.

No Offense.

Paul: "At the party I thought your costume was ripping."

Pauline: "Well, if you were a gentleman, you would have told me so."

Two postmasters in one office is the unusual plight of Pleasant Valley, N. Y. What chance has a post-card there, we ask you.

The Just and the Unjust.

Lavender stockings, speaking in generalities, are reminders that good and evil walk on equally comely legs.

On Her.

I went to a fountain with Mary,
And met with an awful mishap;
For I awkwardly emptied a bottle
Of soda all over her lap.
But Mary was gentle and gracious,
(For none is so tactful as she,)
And smiling with perfect composure,
Said sweetly, "The drinks are on me."

The Change.

Wife: "Before we were married you used to swear you would love me always—now you only swear."

Something Wrong.

Bobby's dog was limping along on three feet. "Look, Daddy, Tag's not hitting on all four cylinders."

Success often brings poise, but more often avoirdupois.

If they have many more killings in the movies, the industry itself will be among the fatalities.

Current Comment.

Hordes of autos now remind us
We should build our roads to stay,
And departing leave behind us
Kinds that rains don't wash away.
When our children pay the mortgage
Father made to haul the loads,
They'll not have to ask the question,
"Here's the bonds, but where's the roads?"

Elastic currency is the kind that will stretch from one pay day to the next.

Moo-Moo Mileage.

The Farmer: "Ain't that a fine cow?"

Motorist (absent-mindedly): "How many miles will she do on a gallon of milk?"

Remember when folks were more interested in dashboards than in windshields?

They used to buy a pair of stockings for $.35, but these days they move the decimal to the right one point, add a naught and get zero in stockings.

More earthquakes in California. They're awfully sensitive about mentioning them out there. It's said that newspapers now use the heading: "Latest Movements in Real Estate."

Blessings of Nature.

It was a good thing Monday night was not a night in the middle of summer, for if it had been a night in the middle of the summer, we would have had to sleep on the sleeping porch, and we surely'd have hated to sleep on the sleeping porch Monday night. — Clayton Center Times.

There was a time when the saxophone player was a very useful and respected citizen, but, like some kind of people they got to running around in pairs, trios and sextets and proved once more that two's company and three's bad company.

The Proper Use.

The time to buy a used car is just before you move, so people in the new neighborhood will think you are the one who used it.

X-Ray to a Chiropractor is what Telescope is to an astronomer. It enables one to see further. Many conditions cannot be found by superficial examination but can be readily seen by the use of an X-Ray.

I have had two years of experience with the use of an X-Ray and more than ten years in Chiropractic. It is true that in most cases results may be obtained without the use of an X-Ray insofar as Chiropractic is concerned, but there are some cases and in a very large per cent of cases, better results may be obtained with X-Ray photography of the spine. When one can see the exact condition, better work can be done and one is more sure of getting the very best results.

School in Spring.

School is all right in winter
And it's O. K. in the fall,
But when the spring-time comes around,
It "ain't no good" at all.

It's then the fish begin to bite,
And the ice comes off the brooks,
Then's when it's hard to learn what's in
A bunch of High School books.

It's then the birds come back again,
And sing the whole day long,
"It ain't no fun" to sit inside
And listen to their song.

Sometimes we wish there was no school,
And nothing like a quiz,
But when vacation comes around,
We're mighty glad there is.

(The writers don't pretend to be poets, but are just expressing their thoughts to the public. The authors of this fine poem request that their names should not be published, but if anyone wants to know who wrote it, ask Toby If and Ruth McG.)

"Time Lost is Never Found Again."

"Time lost is never found again" is an old proverb and a true one, which has often been repeated.

Time is a valuable thing and therefore everyone should try to accomplish the most possible in the shortest length of time. There is a time for play and a time for work, but especially guard your time for work, so that you can complete what you have started and obtain results from it. Don't put your work off until the next day as that is a waste of time, and your work becomes monotonous, and is never done so efficiently as it otherwise would have been done.

This old proverb is one that should be closely followed in our school work as so many students unconsciously waste their time and accomplish very little. It has become a habit and without effort is hard to break.

Make the best of your time and remember "Time lost is never found again."

Staff Meeting.

Truly is the world a hard and weary place for those devoted expounders of high school life—to-wit: the Progress staff. Upon us are thrust the manifold cares of a Solomon, for are not we the ones who are continually ferreting out some new phase of school life, and putting it into fine and flowery language for the benefit of our readers? Do not we dance attendance at every "affair" with a notebook in hand and a pencil behind each ear? In short, are not we the connecting link between you and Lincoln High?

Stop for a moment and follow our course through that solemn period when there is a "Progress Staff meeting." To be sure that full justice is done let us take the most recent (at this writing) one.

At 2:40 Mr. Rapacz announced for the benefit of all concerned, "There will be a meeting of the Progress Staff at once in Miss Soule's room." The effect was immediate. Milton produced a sheet of paper from some unknown place and marched out of the room like a true martyr; the three L's, Lorrayne, Lydia and Lucille, demurely followed the "big chief," while Angie trailed along behind; Ole who was deeply engrossed in trigonometry, closed his book and with Albert, who had just completed his daily fifteen minutes of study, proceeded to the designated place. Bill Alexander, an adoptee sport-writer, followed where the others led.

Once there, each found a comfortable stool and made ready for business.

"Well," said Milton, "what'll we have for next week?"

A conundrum, but Lucille piped up, "Ole write an editorial about something."

"And then," from ever-ready Bill, "I've got those class games to write up."

After noting these on his assignment paper, Milton turned to the others: "Albert, you see if you can't cook up something to write about, and Lorrayne, you get in a report of that ——— party. Angie can survey next year's basketball prospects."

"And you, Chief?" queried Ole indiscreetly. Again the effect was immediate.

"I'll have you know," roared Milton in his best form, "that I'm giving orders, not taking them. Isn't it enough that I rack my brains all week for something for you people to write about? What am I Editor-in-Chief for anyway?"

Meanwhile the three L's had entered into an engrossing discussion of the Junior-Senior banquet, into which, after peace had been partially restored, we all joined. From this topic the talk soon veered to other equally interesting ones, and thirty-five minutes later when the bell warned us that classes would soon pass, we rose to go, fully conscious that the time had been well spent; and we were secure in the belief that when we opened the Times next Thursday, the Progress would smile back at us from its usual commanding position. Each of us knew, too, that the week's issue would uphold the high standard set by those preceding. How could it be otherwise, with an earnest and painstaking staff using the best of their talents to build wisely and well upon the foundation laid by others who have had charge of the Progress in past years?

Hall of Fame.

More than one senior boy has won a place for himself in the Hall of Fame of Thief River High, but we're only going to write about the latest member. That member is Clarence Rice who won the distinction of being the only boy on the Honor Roll in the class of 1922. Of course there were many girls on the roll, but the fact that Rice is the only boy assures him lasting, undying fame.

Some of the under-classmen have made remarks about our hero that wouldn't look good in print and right here we wish to criticise those students who made the remarks. We wish to tell those knockers to watch their step or they never will be seniors.

How does it feel to be an honor student? And what must I do to get on the honor roll? These are questions many students are seeking the answers to. The only way to find the true answers to these questions is to ask someone who knows. Everyone agrees that it's no trick for a girl to get her report card filled with A's so we got our interview with our senior. He had a great number of friends before becoming famous and has added more to his list of friends since. So it was no easy task to get through this line of friends to get a few words with Clarence himself. The first thing that we noticed about him was his determined, honest face. After we were once "introduced," we felt as if we had known him all our life. His advice to students who would become famous was: "Always do your work before you play; don't skip school; know to whom you're talking before you talk." Any young fellow who follows these rules can't help but get a place in the "Hall of Fame."

Prizes are Offered For Best Work in Norse.

The Sons of Norway Snorre lodge No. 70 of Thief River Falls, Minn., has set aside a sum of $25 which is to be given away by way of prizes for the best work done by students in Norse in the local high school. Any prize of this kind will serve as an incentive to good work, and particularly those who are interested in the preservation of Norwegian culture and literature, and what is best in the Norwegian traditions, will appreciate the inducements that the Sons of Norway lodge is thus offering. Though a definite arrangement has not been made as to how the prizes are to be awarded, it is understood that the sum will be divided into four prizes to be awarded to the four students who do the best work. The Lodge is assured on the part of those who are taking Norse that this announcement was greeted with a great deal of appreciation and interest.

Track and Field Meet at Warren.

Warren High School is planning on staging an interscholastic track and field meet on May 20, 1922, providing a sufficient number of schools are interested enough to enter teams. This is a step in the right direction and we only hope that the interest in this branch of high school athletics manifesting itself at Warren will receive enough co-operation to make it possible.

The local high school is planning on entering a team and soon as the weather will permit a call will go out from the coach to all men interested in this sport. There is no doubt a considerable amount of material here and they should make a good showing in a meet of this kind.

The eligibility of the contestants in this meet will be governed by rules and regulations of the M. H. S. A. A. governing such meets. Prizes will be given as follows:

1. A silver loving cup will be awarded to the winning relay team.
2. A silver loving cup will be awarded to the team scoring the most points.
3. Gold medals to the men taking first place in individual events, silver and bronze medals to those taking second and third respectively.

Scoring will be regulated as follows:

In the contest for the large silver loving cup a first place will count five points, a second place three points, a third place two points and a fourth place one point. The relay race shall be included in the score.

Events:

1. 100-yard dash.
2. 220-yard dash.
3. 440-yard dash.
4. 880-yard dash.
5. One-mile run.
6. 120-yard hurdle (3 ft. 6 in.)
7. 220-yard hurdle (2 ft. 6 in.)
8. Running high jump.
9. Pole vault.
10. Running broad jump.
11. Throwing discus.
12. Shot-put (12 lbs.)
13. Relay race, four men to start. One-half mile race.

Seniors Organize for Spring.

With spring comes thoughts of spring football and as the Seniors are the accredited champions in all athletics in L. H. S., winning the booby prize in interclass basketball, they of course will organize a team with which they hope to have as much luck as they did with their basket pickers. After a great deal of thought and other hard work they have at last decided on their line-up, which they here publish for your kind approval:

Scenter—Bill DeParq.
Black Guard—Rudy Rice.
Mud Guard—Clarence Rice.
Receptacle—August Langseth.
Spectackle—Wm. Alexander.
Near End—Paul Helseth.
Weak End—Herschal Hanson.
Half Bakes—Fat Evenson, Wm. McGinnity.
Quarter-snatch—Lloyd Alnes.
Throw-back — Rusty Anderson.
(He's not a senior, neither am I.)

Discovered at Last.

For some time before the time of writing, rumors had been current that the faculty had a team—a basketball team—and were prepared to show the regulars that there was more to the game than running up and down the gym floor bouncing a ball. As a modest cub on the Progress staff I was assigned the task of substantiating or disproving these rumors and I herewith submit the following as results of my week's work:

Monday: I observed some sort of secret conference in the library with Messrs. Simley, Pope, Stenhoff, Rapacz and Harner present. They were sitting around the big table and talking confidentially—a sure sign that something was going to happen.

Tuesday: Unnoticed, I saw one of the gentlemen previously mentioned toss a harmless text-book through the transom, and it occurred to me that he was taking this method of improving his 'shooting eye.'

Wednesday: At seven o'clock, while I was hidden in the entry, five men, presumably [illegible] R., H., cautiously entered Lincoln High, evidently for some purpose which they did not wish known. This aroused my suspicions.

Thursday: I was safely ensconced in a fresh air duct in the gym and soon saw that which I had expected to see. The Faculty team, consisting of the above named gentlemen, put in two solid hours of practice. They showed the most marvelous form and exhibited the most wonderful teamwork I have ever seen, barring neither the Yale nor Harvard quints.

My few days sleuthing had netted me much, but not enough. "There must" I argued to myself, "be some reason for all this." But though I pondered long after the men had gone, I could reach no satisfactory conclusion. A bright idea, however, popped into my head—and stuck.

Friday: I sat straining every nerve to catch the slightest sound from the office with the apparatus I had rigged up and connected. My efforts were richly rewarded, for I heard a voice say, "——— and we ought to be able to schedule the game for Tuesday." "I hope so," replied another anxiously. "I'll talk to the Senior captain today."

At last! Solved! The truth burst forth upon me like a charge of N. T. The faculty team was challenging the seniors to a game of basketball—and I rushed to my trusty old typewriter and pounded out the copy you are perusing today, thus upholding the Progress' reputation for getting the latest and spicest news before its competitors.

(Editor's note: The senior team has a record as yet unequalled by any of its predecessors—six games lost out of six played, so we anticipate a hotly contested game if the challenge is accepted.)

The Senior Team.

The lowly senior team
May rise to heights sublime,
And realize their pennant dream,
But now is not the time.

We Should Like to Know.

Where Mr. Stenhoff purchased his new hat.

Why Margaret M. cultivates the Seniors.

Where Miss M. Johnson got her wrist watch.

Where some seniors get their credits.

Where "Rusty" got his new sweater.

Who Mr. Harner's latest seamstress is.

Where all our books and pencils go.

From whom Mr. Stenhoff received the pongee handkerchief which he cherishes so highly.

How Eileen would look without Math.

What pleasure the upper classmen get from teasing the freshmen.

Why Steve Arneson is so bashful and retiring.

What attraction Mr. Stenhoff finds in the cooking rooms.

Where Myrtle Helgeland gets all her gum.

Where Mr. Rapacz gets all his announcements.

Why Mr. Harner makes such terrible faces.

Central Notes.

Miss Weeks' eighth grade English class has been studying advertising. Many bright ideas were brought out which showed the children took an interest in the work. The best work has been saved to be exhibited at the county fair.

Many of the pupils who have been ill have returned to school.

The teachers and pupils enjoyed a musical program last Wednesday during assembly period:

Vocal solo, "Smiling Through"—Meta Kiland.

Vocal solo, "Song of the Witches"—Meta Kiland.

Piano duets, "Witches Flight," "Shower of Stars"—Mrs. C. O. Erickson and Frances Wengeler.

Piano solos, "Butterfly," "By the Waters of Minnetonka"—Mrs. C. O. Erickson.

Aunt Mary's Visit.

"Good-by, children, take good care of Aunt Mary!" shouted Mrs. James Brown as she and her husband drove away. The children, who were left standing on the porch gazed after the car as long as it was in sight and then turned gloomily toward the house, which seemed somewhat deserted.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane had been called away suddenly that morning to the sick bed of Mrs. Brown's mother. Daisy, Jack, Phyllis and Joe were left to welcome Aunt Mary, who was expected that afternoon. Their Aunt Mary had been abroad for many years, so the children had never seen her but they had delightful anticipations of her coming. This thought dispelled the gloom when later in the day they all prepared to go to the depot to meet her.

"I wonder what she's like," said little Joe, the youngest of them all.

"I wonder if she'll bring me a nice doll," exclaimed Phyllis, who was a little older than Joe.

"Oh, I just know she'll be delightful," added Daisy, the oldest of the children.

"Do you think she'll play ball with me or soldier," queried Jack.

"Why, Jack, of course she won't do any such thing!" replied Daisy vehemently. Daisy, who was fourteen considered herself quite a dignified young lady.

Such remarks and questions were kept up all the way to the depot. They were all very impatient and Joe in his excitement jumped up and down on the station platform, attracting much attention. At last the train came puffing into the station. How eagerly the children scanned the faces of those who alighted! There were not many passengers for Hilton, for it was a rather small town. There were three or four men first; then numerous bags and bundles, of all sizes and descriptions were handed out, after which came an ugly old lady.

"Why don't Aunt Mary come?" whispered little Joe.

"I-I don't know," answered Phyllis dejectedly. As for Daisy and Jack, they stared first at the last arrival then at the train. The lady exclaimed in a high-pitched rasping voice, "My goodness gracious, is there no one here to meet me!" Then she caught sight of Daisy and Jack. "Are you the Brown children?" she asked sharply.

"Yes, we are. Are you our Aunt Mary?" inquired Daisy.

"Well of all the impudent children. My name is not Mary but Marilla. Your silly frivolous mother must have called me Mary!" The children all stared breathlessly at her. Daisy managed to say politely, "Mamma and Papa were called away so we were left to meet you. We will help you carry your things."

"Why yes, indeed, but be very, very careful and what is your name child?"

"My name is Daisy," replied Daisy who objected to being called "child" but did not show it.

"Daisy? Daisy? why who ever heard of such a foolish, silly, name—oh, well, I suppose I shall have to adjust myself to many peculiar and half-civilized conditions," said Aunt Mary. Daisy flushed hotly but kept back the angry words she would have liked to utter. Phyllis and the boys were so disappointed that they had not said a word. Just then they reached the house and as Aunt Mary glanced at it she exclaimed, "Dear me! I never thought that your father and mother were so well-to-do and extravagant."

"Come right in, you must be real tired Aunt Mary," invited Daisy as she opened the door.

"Please, child, do not call me Aunt Mary; if you are so persistent in calling me Aunt, you may call me Aunt Marilla." Daisy could hardly keep back the hot tears as she answered, "Pardon me, Aunty."

As they entered the house, Daisy glanced back and saw Joe and Jack lagging behind, looking longingly for a bush or corner where they might slink away. She gave them a reproving look but nevertheless Joe made a dive for one corner of the house while Jack dived for the other and they were gone. The situation was indeed embarrassing for the girls. Aunt Marilla immediately established herself in the parlor and began to criticize everything.

"Gracious, why doesn't your mother make you wear a longer dress? Why that dress you have on is a scandal." Daisy with a supreme effort controlled herself and replied, "I I-why mother always makes my dresses so that I shall like them."

"Then it is certainly time for you to see your folly in wearing such scandalous dresses. Where are your brothers? Why don't they stay to welcome me? They certainly shall not have the presents I brought."

Phyllis, sitting in the corner very prim and trying to please her Aunt, could not suppress a giggle which she turned into a cough. Immediately a fierce pair of eyes were turned on her, whereupon she became very red and confused.

"Have you no respect for your Aunt, child? Perhaps you can tell me where your naughty brothers are?"

"I-I don't know, Aunty, where they are."

"I realize that none of you have been brought up properly, but I shall try to teach you, young lady, and those scamps a few things before I leave."

Then as Aunt Mary's eyes were again turned on Daisy, Phyllis softly glided to the door and was gone. Outside she found the boys behind some bushes discussing their Aunt in no gentle tones.

"She's just a hateful old maid," sputtered Jack.

"I bet she brought us some old present like a handkerchief," was Joe's comment. At first Phyllis was prompted by her better self to say something nice about Aunt Mary, but then Aunt Mary's words came back to her and she angrily announced, "I shan't go back into that house before Aunt Mary goes to bed! I hate her!"

You may well imagine how angry Aunt Mary was when she noticed that Phyllis had also disappeared. Daisy on the other hand was left to bear all of her ridicule and scolding. She wished heartily that her mother was at home. At last a brilliant idea struck her.

"Aunty, don't you want to go to your room?"

"Well, perhaps, I hope you have prepared a suitable room for me. I cannot stand any light or the least cold. When are your mother and father coming back?"

"I don't know but maybe tonight or tomorrow morning."

"I do not see how I will live through tonight with just a few silly children to tend the house," said Aunt Mary. Daisy did not reply but having brought Aunt Mary to her room she flung herself on the parlor couch and cried. Then at last summoning her self control she got up and went to find the children. There they were, Joe fast asleep, while Phyllis and Jack were half dozing with ugly frowns on their faces which showed that they were thinking of Aunt Mary. Daisy awakened them and scolded them for their behavior.

"Do you like her really and truly, Daisy?" they all asked in one breath.

"She is an old lady and because she is our Aunt we must treat her respectfully."

Daisy had a fine sense of duty and she remembered her mother's admonitions. At this moment a voice was heard screaming, "Daise-e-e, where are you anyway?"

"Here Aunt," replied Daisy as she came up to the porch with the other children.

"So here you are, you naughty, naughty children. Neither of you shall have the presents I brought for you."

Phyllis soberly hung her head while the boys turned and gazed in opposite directions as if to say, "We don't care."

Her fault-finding and scolding continued through the supper. After the meal Aunt Mary announced to her stunned listeners that Joe and Phyllis, the youngest, must go to bed at seven o'clock, while Daisy and Jack were permitted to stay up till eight. They knew that protests would not avail, so they were silent. Promptly at seven Phyllis and Joe left the parlor and at the door Joe turned and making a horrible face at Aunt Mary's back, hurriedly left the room. Daisy buried herself in a rocker to read one of her beloved Campfire stories while Jack seated himself before the fire with a Buffalo Bill book. Aunt Mary took out a book from her bag entitled, "How to Stay Young," and settled herself to read but suddenly she glanced over at the children and exclaimed in a shrill voice, "What are you children reading?"

They both started.

"I am reading the Campfire Girls," answered Daisy.

"I am reading Buffalo Bill's Ambush," said Jack.

"Why, horrible, you shock me!" cried Aunt Mary, "I never in all my life heard of such dreadful books, give them to me immediately."

Jack was on the point of blurting out an angry reply, but catching the look in Daisy's eyes he quietly gave Aunt Mary his beloved book. The rest of the evening Daisy spent in sewing but Jack, determined on revenge, went upstairs where he engaged in a pillow-fight with Joe. Luckily for them Aunt Mary did not hear this.

In the morning Daisy rose early, determined to try to please her Aunt. As she was arranging her hair she heard a car coming down the road. Quickly running to the front porch she saw her father and mother and a beautiful young lady alight from the car. In a moment she was in her mother's arms sobbing from relief.

"Why Daisy, what is the matter? I have never seen my happy girl cry on such a beautiful morning as this. Here is your Aunt Mary who was delayed yesterday. It is too bad you children were disappointed."

Daisy looked bewildered from her mother to that beaming young lady who advanced to her and smiling pleasantly, said, "Good-morning, dear Daisy. I am so sorry that I was delayed and could not come yesterday and so this is my oldest niece that I have never seen."

Daisy was so stunned that for a moment she could not say a word but just stare, then she broke out, "Why I-you-oh-you can't be my Aunt Mary for she's in the house in bed. She came yesterday on the train."

"What do you mean, Daisy?" inquired Mrs. Brown in a surprised voice.

"Why, mamma, you know we went to the train to meet Aunt Mary in the afternoon and she really came—she's in the house this very minute, unless I'm dreaming."

"It must all be a dreadful mistake for your real Aunt Mary was delayed so we brought her with us and here she is."

"Oh-oh, I'm so glad you are my real Aunt Mary. I just knew you were nice and beautiful," exclaimed Daisy joyfully.

Just then Aunt Mary the second came out on the porch and screamed, "Daisy, who is that you are speaking to so early in the morning and without your hair combed?"

Mrs. Brown with a slight frown on her face walked up to the porch and asked cooly, "Pardon me, madam, but who are you?"

"I am Miss Marilla Brown, come to visit my brother's family and who are you, I must inquire?" replied Miss Brown in a rasping voice.

"I am Mrs. Brown and this is our Aunt Mary (indicating Aunt Mary). There must have been some mistake for Daisy here is my daughter and this is our home."

Miss Brown stood amazed, scarcely knowing what to say or do. At last she said indignantly, "Yes, indeed, there surely has been a dreadful mistake and you will kindly pardon me for my intrusion and direct me to the home of Mr. Theophilus Brown. It is very peculiar indeed that they did not meet me at the depot." With that she turned her back and flounced into the house from which she emerged presently with her bags and bundles. By way of explanation she said, "I have not visited my brother for twenty years and consequently I know nothing of the family."

Mrs. Brown kindly offered to send the car to her brother's, as it was too far to walk with all the bundles. When they arrived Mrs. Theophilus Brown apologized for not meeting Aunt Marilla; saying that she had been mistaken as to the time the train was due.

Daisy was very happy over the change of aunts. She flew into the house after Miss Marilla's exit and ran up to awaken the children.

"Joe, oh Joe and Jack, wake up quick, our own real Aunt Mary is here!"

Joe sat up and stared at Daisy vacantly, "I don't care for no real Aunt Mary," he murmured.

"Yes, but this one is so nice," and finally after much explanation and coaxing, she convinced the children that there was a new Aunt Mary and then there was a rush to get into their clothes and down the stairs. They danced around Aunt Mary, kissing and hugging her. Everyone was very happy. The evening was spent in explanations on Aunt Mary's part while the children told of the proceedings of the day.

American Legion Corner

THY BROTHER'S KEEPER

By Stafford King
Minnesota Legion Adjutant.

(Recently The American Legion in St. Paul provided a military funeral for a former soldier who was killed while attempting robbery. The following was written on that occasion in answer to those who adversely criticised the Legion's action.)

Nothing to tell who the dead might be;
But in his lapel was a tiny button
Of silver and bronze and blue
Bearing upon its face these words
AMERICAN LEGION.
None there who knew his name,
Nor whence he came,
But the emblem said he was a Legionaire.
Dust to dust as the bugle lulled his sleep
His body went back to the sod that bore it,
While o'er his grave his buddies
Paid him honor.

Some there were who wondered
But few there were who wept.
WHO ARE WE TO JUDGE?
Who knows what sorrow and what care
Drove him to his death?
Who knows the struggle he had made,
The hardships he had known?
Perhaps he knew not what he did
Who knows?
He paid with his life
For the crime which he attempted,
THE AMERICAN LEGION DOES NOT CONDONE,
NEITHER DOES IT CONDEMN.
It cares for its flock,
The black sheep with the white.

The little silvered button was ample evidence
That the dead had served his country;
That he had suffered; had given of his blood
That Our Flag might still be free.
IT WAS ENOUGH.
We too had served and service made us kin,
Blood of his blood and blood of ours had mingled;
And tho society cast him out
We did for him that which,
But for the grace of God,
He might have done for us.

No mother's tears were shed for him;
No father's hand bade him farewell;
But he went forth into the Great Unknown
As a soldier should,
With the volleys of his comrades over him.

Because for a moment he had gone astray,
Because he was weakened and afraid,
He was especially ours,
We sorrow that we did not find him sooner;
We grieve in that we were so late,
He was our brother, shamed and dead,
But was our brother still.

Boost! Boost! Boost! What for? Why for Fertile, Minnesota," is the slogan of Fertile Legionnires, who have many plans for carrying out their idea, including the placing of a "Fertile" name-plate on every automobile.

"On to Virginia," is in the minds of 5,000 Gophers for the State Convention in August. Virginia citizens are no pikers. They have just voted $2,500 to the Burt Pratt Post to entertain the Gophers.

"Hitting on all six" is the word from Montevideo Stall, Minnesota Horse and Buggy club. Forty-five members are paying into the Stall enough money to make the New Orleans trip next October.

"Boost for Bagley" is the watchword of Bagley Legionaires. To begin with, they are boosting for a Bagley Commercial club and are securing a box factory for their home town.

Teachers of rural schools surrounding Wadena, are reporting the names of all great war veterans to the Wadena Legion Census Drive committee so that they may be interviewed and their government claims looked into.

By the light of fourteen red, white and blue candles fourteen Gold Star mothers of Monticello, sat down to a party in their honor on the anniversary of the formation of the local Legion Auxiliary Unit.

Camp Fire Girls will help Rushford Legionaires sell poppies for Memorial Day. Hundreds of thousands of poppies made by disabled and unemployed veterans are being offered by Minnesota posts and units from Mrs. Sandy-Hamilton, 900 Plymouth Bldg. Minneapolis.

With a whoop of joy, one Minnesota congressional district has gone over the top by surpassing its total of paid-up Legionaires for 1921. Last year the First District had 3,279 Legionaires. Already, it has 3255 paid up for 1922.

The Legion Athletic club of Hancock has made such a hit that it has been made available to any citizen who wishes to join. A full line of sporting goods and equipment, games etc., has been purchased.

Six snare drums, two bass drums and half a dozen fifes and trumpets make up the Lake City Legion drum corps which will go to Virginia to boost for the city on Lake Pepin.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"IT IS FINISHED."

(John 19:30)

No greater shout of triumph ever rose to the listening skies than this victory-announcing cry of the dying Christ. Though bleeding from innumerable wounds and exhausted unto death by the raging conflict, the mighty Captain of our salvation has routed the enemy and forever redeemed our immortal souls from the bondage of sin and death and hell. The first prophecy is fulfilled: "I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel." (Gen. 3:15). The woman's seed, Christ, and the Old Serpent, Satan had met in mortal combat to battle for the souls of men; the Christ is wounded but He triumphs: "It is finished! I have won!"

Love's redeeming work is done,
Fought the fight, the battle won.

The Savior rejoices and exults that peace is again established between God and man, that the fiery wrath of God is quenched, His exacting law fulfilled, forgiveness of sin secured, lost paradise regained, and the kingdom of God, the kingdom of righteousness, of joy and peace, founded on the earth.

No greater word—for it is only one word in the original language—was ever uttered in heaven or on earth, since no greater deed was ever accomplished by God or man. It fills heaven with joy, earth with salvation, hell with fear and despair. It is the joyous shout of our victorious King, mighty in battle. It is the exulting cry of our merciful High Priest, who can now enter into the holy of holies with His sacrificed blood and obtain eternal redemption for all mankind. It is the glorious announcement of our Prophet, whose messengers can now go out into all the world with the sweet invitation: "Come, for all things are now ready. God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself; therefore be ye reconciled unto God!"

Through all eternity will this blessed cry of victory resound before the throne of the Lamb, where saved sinners from every tribe and nation will sing: "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength and honor, and glory, and blessing." (Rev. 5:12).

Will you be one of that great throng? Will your voice join with theirs to celebrate this victory of the Christ? The place is there for you; the cry, "It is finished," is spoken of your redemption; the Christ suffered and conquered over Satan and Death for you. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." You are included in the world; you are to share the benefits of this love of God. Will you?

Then hear with joy this triumphal cry of the Savior; make it the rock on which you build your hopes for future bliss and glory; make it your payment for the guilt of your sins, your defense against the accusations of the evil one, your entrance-fee to the gates of heaven. Look to the Cross on Golgatha, hear the victorious shout of Christ, your Savior, and say:

Not all the blood of beasts
On Jewish altars slain,
Could give the guilty conscience peace,
Or wash away the stain.

But Christ, the heavenly Lamb,
Takes all my sins away;
A sacrifice of nobler name,
And richer blood than they.

My soul looks back to see
The burden Thou didst bear,
When hanging on the cursed tree,
And knows her guilt was there.

Believing I rejoice
To see the curse removed;
I bless the Lamb with cheerful voice,
And sing His bleeding love.

$13,000 SECURED FROM FUND FOR ROAD TO LAKES

Highway Commission Appropriates This Amount For Building of Highway.

Would be 10½ Miles in Length, Extending From Ridge to Shores of Lake.

Travel at Present Must be by Way of Thorhult and South Over Famous Trail.

The state highway department has appropriated $13,000 out of the general road fund for the construction of 10½ miles of highway extending from the ridge running south from Thorhult to the Red Lakes. The sum is granted at the request of the commissioners of Beltrami county but the proposed road is of even greater importance to the people of the Red river and Thief river valleys than to those residing farther to the east.

This culmination is the direct result of the agitation started in 1920 by residents of Thief River Falls, Warren, Argyle, Stephen and other places in the valley asking that a thoroughfare be built to provide access to the famous lakes. This was heartily seconded by the Indians on the Red Lake reservation who for years had been trying to get an outlet for their products westward. A meeting was held at Warren when the proposition first assumed the form of a general demand, at which time the Red Lakes Highway association was formed with the following officers: Daniel Shaw, Thief River Falls, president; Julius Olson, Warren; D. B. Brett and C. R. Gillespie, Stephen, and Dan Robertson, Argyle, vice presidents; Scott Laird, Thief River Falls, secretary.

The officers at once set out to interest Congressmen Steenerson and Knutson in the project and the latter have given the matter their entuhsiastic support. Another man entitled to much credit in connection with the movement is George W. Cross, Indian agent at the Red Lake agency. His endorsement was necessary and was given without hesitation. A committee from the Thief River Falls Commercial club, composed of Mayor John Bratrud, Daniel Shaw and J. S. Arneson later laid the proposition before C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, who promised an appropriation.

Need Long Recognized.

The necessity for an outlet from the reservation toward the west has long been recognized both by the Indians and people residing in neighboring towns. In 1916 N. J. Head, Indian forest ranger, made a preliminary survey of several routes for a road and decided that the line now accepted would be the most feasible. Eventually the new road will be continued westward in a straight line to connect with the Elwell highway in Pennington county, but for the present the route by way of Thorhult will have to answer. This makes something of a detour necessary but the "going" will be good all the way.

Look After Improvements.

Before anything in the way of accommodations for tourists can be had a considerable amount of improvement at the lake will be necessary. The plan most likely to be followed is the formation of a holding or supervising company whose duty it will be to see that all government regulations are complied with, otherwise it would be an easy matter to have even the privilege of visiting the reservation revoked. The company might lease a strip along the shore for building and camping purposes, this being permitted under the rules covering Indian lands, and in turn re-lease it to private parties. This, however, is a matter that will have to be worked out at a later date. It is understood Mr. Cross favors this plan.

Persons acquainted with the territory to be traversed by the new highway say the country presentes no serious difficulties to rapid progress in building and believe the road can be put in shape for traffic by the middle of July if work is commenced as soon as weather conditions permit.

Will Sell Matthees Herd Of High Grade Holsteins

An auction sale of more than usual interest will take place when H. A. Matthees of Rocksbury township offers his fine herd of 15-16th Holsteins to the highest bidder on Wednesday, April 12. Sickness in his family compels Mr. Matthees to give up farming and all personal property on his model place will be offered at the same time as the cattle. This includes eight work horses ranging in age from 3 to 12 years.

There are ten cows in the lot, 10 heifers and four calves. As regards the quality of this stock County Agent J. J. McCann has made the following announcement:

"H. A. Matthees' dairy herd are all high grade Holstein, tested for tuberculosis, three years without any reactors, accredited in 1920 and 1921. These are very good individuals, from high producing cows, well bred and well marked. Five of the two-year-old heifers art out of the Holstein sire, King Ormsby Korndyke Benn No. 185697, owned by Hans Anton and sold to McNeely, McIntosh, Minn., for $1500.00 three years ago.

"Six yearling heifers are out of the Holstein sire, Ormsby Beaut Clothilde No. 160825, bred by N. P. Hanson, Detroit, Minn.

"Eight of these cows and heifers are now bred to General Segis Fayne Lyon, owned by Hans Anton of Thief River Falls."

In the livestock list are also two Duroc Jersey brood sows due to farrow May 12; 150 Rhode Island Red chickens, one White Holland turkey gobbler and two hens. A large quantity of machinery in excellent condition and the household goods will be included. The sale will be clerked by the First and Peoples State bank and W. J. LaBree will officiate as auctioneer.

TRIES TO END LIFE BY PLUNGING INTO ICE-STREWN RIVER

Despondent Man Makes Two Attempts at Suicide by Drowning on Monday.

A. B. Remmem, a resident of Thief River Falls for many years, made two attempts at suicide by jumping into the Red Lake river near the power plant on Monday. He is at his home in a serious condition as the result of his immersion in the icy water but physicians are of the opinion that he will pull through. Remmem has for some time been acting strangely and on a number of occasions stated that it was his intention to take his own life.

Gust Anderson, day man at the power plant, was an eye witness to the proceedings. He saw Remmem rush down the bank at the rear of the power house and jump into the stream at a point where there is a considerable eddy caused by the discharge from the turbines. The swift current bobbed the man around as if he had been a cork and threw him against the rocks near shore. He scrambled out and started along the river bank while Mr. Anderson notified Chief of Police E. O. Erickson. He then started after Remment and found the latter had again jumped into the stream in the rear of the Hanson-Barzen flour mill, where the water is only about three feet deep. While Mr. Anderson was hurrying to reach the spot, Remmem tried to force himself under the ice but was unsuccessful.

Chief Erickson took the would-be suicide to the office of Sheriff W. J. LaBree, where his soaked clothing was removed and dry garments given him, after which he was taken to his home and medical attendance summoned.

Remmam has been acting queer for some time, according to reports. At the last term of the district court he was on trial charged with selling intoxicating liquors. The jury disagreed and the case was continued until next term. The man seems to think that it is the desire of someone to put him in prison and to kill his family. He told Chief Erickson that it was originally his intention to tie a rope to a tree, fasten the other end around his leg and then jump into the river so that there would be no difficulty in recovering his body, but somehow this detail was overlooked.

As soon as his condition will permit he will be examined as to his sanity.

Implement Men Coming To Hold Convention Here

C. D. Gustafson, district secretary of the State Implement Dealers association, announces that the annual meeting for members residing in this part of the state will be held in Thief River Falls on July 25. There will be at least 50 accredited delegates present and a much larger number of visitors interested in the work of the association. A number of speakers prominent in the automotive and implement trade will be here to deliver addresses. Two meetings will be held, a business session in the afternoon for members and a meeting in the evening at the auditorium to which the public is invited. A banquet will be tendered the visitors before the evening meeting. G. C. Streeter is chairman of the arrangements committee.

Dr. Cyrus Northrup Dead; U. of M. Head for 27 Years

Dr. Cyrus R. Northrop, president emeritus of the University of Minnesota, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Minneapolis on Tuesday. He was 88 years of age, having been born in Ridgefield, Conn., on Sept. 30, 1834. He was elected president of the Minnesota university in 1884 and continued in that position until 1911, when he was made president emeritus. At the time of his retirement he became eligible to the maximum pension of $1,000 annually, provided by Andrew Carnegie for retired educators. He was one of the best known men in the United States, having taken an active part in national affairs in late years.

CITY MEN AND FARMERS BACK SETTLER PLAN

Organization Formed to Advertise Thief River Valley Meets Encouragement.

Thousand Dollars Raised in Short Time With Which to Get Program Under Way.

Every Person Coming Here Assured of All Assistance Possible From Members.

One may have an article of exceptional value to sell but if the fact is not made known through proper advertising it may never be disposed of. On the other hand almost anything can be advertised in such manner as to create a temporary demand, only to fall flat later on for lack of merit.

The above facts explain the reasons for the organization of the Thief River Falls New Settlers association, a body of business men and farmers having for its purpose the dissemination of a better understanding of the nature of agricultural lands in the Thief River valley and the opportunities held out to the settler who may be induced to make his home there.

No movement of a development nature ever started in this section has met with such instantaneous and unanimous success. There is never any trouble in finding men to do the shouting, but when it comes to digging up hard cash to prove their own faith in the project under consideration it is often discovered they would greatly prefer this part of the program be left to someone else. For this reason the response to a request for funds with which to get the work started is most gratifying to those who have long known that some such step must be taken if the Thief River valley is to receive its share of new settlers when the "back to the farm" movement starts in earnest.

Very Good Start Made.

A committee started out on Tuesday morning to see the business and professional men of the city, place the matter before them and ask their financial assistance in carrying out the plan. Only the principal business district was canvassed but inside of a very short time more than $1,000 had been pledged with the promise of more to come if the association gave indication of accomplishing anything of value. The plan of campaign seems to meet the approval of everyone and making the enterprise a sort of community undertaking gives each person the feeling that he has a direct interest in the outcome.

Purpose Fully Stated.

President H. W. Protzeller has drafted a sort of prospectus setting forth the purposes of the organization, in which he says:

"Our sole desire is to see our country filled with happy, contented and prosperous neighbors and to this end are so organized as to efficiently lend a hand of mutual assistance to all who wish to settle in our midst, and above all to render at all times such aid and advice as will insure their remaining permanently among us.

"We are not a land-selling agency nor are we particularly interested in the transfer of lands except in so far as new settlers are concerned, in which case we propose to exercise a supervision over such deals in order that the purchaser may be assured of conditions being honestly represented and of receiving full value.

To Permit No Exploitation.

"We realize that the real estate agent is a necessary factor in many land deals, serving a purpose as vital as the family grocer, and we do not propose to interfere in any manner with his work while conducted along legitimate lines, but we consider that the new settler is too valuable an asset to the community to be exploited by any one man and that the welfare of the newcomer is of far more importance than the thought of any immediate profit.

"We also recognize the fact that the fair name of our Thief River valley has been slandered by the sale of so-called Volstead lands, which in most cases have been situated at least a hundred miles from our section of the country but have nevertheless been sold as Thief River lands. One of the main purposes of this association is to ascertain that all lands offered prospective homesteaders can qualify as being worthy of the Thief River valley brand, representing the very finest land that lies out doors."

To Help the Beginner.

This organization is not going to help get a man settled on a piece of land and then lose all interest in him. [illegible] after he gets here is of more importance than his getting here in the first place. It was for this reason the association adopted [illegible] "A Contented [illegible]" with the [illegible] This new organization starts out [illegible] It is different [illegible] and purposes from most undertakings of a similar nature heretofore [illegible] it is to be hoped that it will be different from most in results.

Red Cross Committee to Meet Tomorrow Afternoon

The executive committee of the Pennington County Red Cross will hold a meeting at the Commercial club rooms on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. There are a number of matters of decided importance to be discussed and the officers request a full attendance. This will be the first meeting for some time and final action on a number of pending propositions must be taken.

Are Cleaning the Streets.

Efforts on the part of the street cleaning department to clear away the winter's accumulations were yesterday supplemented by very effective work on the part of a hose crew from the fire department. The streets were given a thorough flushing and the piles of accumulated filth loaded onto wagons and carted to the dump. As a result the city looks better than at any time since being covered with snow last fall.

GREAT SIRE ADDED TO HOLSTEIN HERD BY LOCAL BREEDER

Registered Bull of Highest Breeding Secured From Grand Forks.

M. T. McFarland last week purchased one of the finest three-year-old registered Holstein bulls in the country from J. D. Bacon of Grand Forks. The animal is Lilac Hedge Zuebrod Segis (261469), a grandson of King Segis Pontiac Count and son of King Watson Segis Star, one of the greatest show bulls of the breed. The two nearest dams of this animal averaged over 31 pounds of butterfat each in seven days and each has a record of more than 1100 pounds of butter in one year. King Segis Pontiac Count has sired more record breakers than any other bull in the Holstein class. The grandson is a full brother to the state champion at the North Dakota state fair and his dam is the 32-pound granddaughter of the famous 34-pound century sire, Colanthe Johanna Lad. The term "century sire" means that this last-named bull has over 100 A. R. O. daughters, which is the highest rating possible, King Segis himself being the only other individual of the breed with this record among his daughters. The most sought-after blood strains in milch cattle are therefore present in this new addition to the McFarland herd. Competent cattle judges say that the animal is easily worth $5,000 but the new owner refuses to state the price paid.

The bull will make an important addition to the already notable list possessed by Pennington county Holstein breeders and will add interest to the statement that it is their intention to aid anyone willing to make an effort to improve their stock by selling purebred bulls from their own herds on terms that can be met by anyone.

NINE POTATO MEN DIVIDE $20,000 AS RETURN FROM CROP

Association Handles 102 Carloads for Which Total of $55,083 is Received.

During the potato shipping season, which opened about Sept. 10 and continued to Feb. 1, a total of 102 carloads were marketed through the Pennington County Potato association. The total net return to the growers was $55,080 or an average of 90 cents per bushel. The high average for the first part of the season was greatly reduced by the low price received during the strike period, when the market was flooded from all sections with potatoes of high quality. The highest price received on any shipment from Pennington county was $2.48 net per cwt. on a carload shipped by F. T. Satre of St. Hilaire. The lowest received was 45 cents per cwt. for a car containing stock grading No. 2 and continuing 23 per cent defects. This car was shipped from Holt when the potato market was crowded and a very poor price given even for No. 1 stock. The income of a number of the potato growers receiving over $1,000 for their crop is given below. Some of these growers are still holding potatoes and will have a good deal left for seed:

F. T. Satre, St. Hilaire	$3,867.34
Ben Rosendahl, T. R. Falls	3,456.62
Rynestad & Jensen, T. R. F.	2,702.62
Jens Letnes, T. R. Falls	2,251.58

Halvor Fodstad, T. R. Falls	1,527.60

MERCHANTS GET UNDER WAY FOR NEW CAMPAIGN

L. H. Larson Elected President and G. Howard Smith Again Named Secretary.

Will Keep Open House Every Wednesday Evening for Out-of-Town Customers.

Get-Together Meeting to be Held at Club Rooms on Monday Evening, April 10.

L. H. Larson of The Thief River Music company, was on Monday elected president of the Merchants' association for the ensuing year. Frank Voelz and Carl Christofferson were elected first and second vice president respectively and W. A. Hall, Jr., treasurer. G. Howard Smith, secretary of the association since its organization, was re-elected. These officers were selected by the board of directors chosen at a previous meeting, these being W. W. Prichard, Jr., L. H. Larson, A. M. Langseth, Carl Christofferson, E. O. Mogensen, C. H. Jung, Frank Voelz, W. A. Hall, Jr., and Alfred Bredeson.

The directors also named the committee to have charge of the 1922 season sales day events and the arranging of Wednesday evening programs—as follows: H. O. Loken, chairman; E. O. Mogensen, Charles Lieberman, Cyril Sapero, Gynther Tessum, C. L. Hansen, H. C. Johnson, Frank Voelz and W. A. Hall, Jr. It was decided to give a "Better Business Banquet" at the commercial club rooms on the evening of Monday, April 10, special invitations to attend having been issued to officers of the Commercial club, Woman's club, Community Girls, American Legion and Auxiliary, United Commercial Travelers and the City Council. At this time the date for the first Wednesday opening night will be set and the plan of entertainment decided. While the stores will be open for business every Wednesday night the main object will be the providing of something in the way of amusement to draw people to the city. There will be band concerts, dancing on the pavement, games and sports at different times during the season as well as contests for prizes among the children. These latter will in all likelihood be in the nature of awards for young folks from the farms and cover such subjects as are generally included in boys' and girls' club work. Details of this plan are still to be perfected but it s felt that the feature will add interest to the evening's entertainment.

While the association's efforts in the past have been largely devoted to furthering of the retail business of the city, the scope will be expanded under the new plan and enterprises of all kinds included. Products manufactured in Thief River Falls will be advertised so as to create a greater demand and every activity in the city receive its share of attention.

The new officers and board of directors are an energetic lot of business men and it is certain they will find means of furthering the excellent work begun by their predecessors in office a year ago. They have learned that the way to get business is to go after it and are now chiefly concerned as to the best policy to pursue. The city last year was recognized as one of the busiest trading centers in the state and this reputation will be added to if plans now contemplated are carried out.

City is Headquarters of Creamery Field Manager

N. C. Lindberg, formerly of Perley, field manager for District No. 14 of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, will make Thief River Falls his headquarters. This city is the most central point in his territory and all parts of the district can most conveniently be reached from here. The district comprises, besides Pennington, the counties of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Red Lake, Clearwater, Polk, Norman, Mahnomen and Clay. Mr. Lindberg will move his family here as soon as suitable living quarters can be secured for their accommodation.

The Fourteenth district is one of the largest in the state in point of territory covered. It is also one of the most important as far as concerns output of creamery products. Mr. Lindberg, who has had long experience in the business, says the success of the state-wide organization is now assured, a majority of the co-operative creameries being members with the rest coming in rapidly. Carload shipments of butter from this district have already begun, which means a big saving to the producer.

Last of Mid-Week Lenten Services Tuesday Night

The last of the mid-week lenten services will be held at Trinity Lutheran church next Tuesday evening, Rev. George Propp of Ogahmah, being the speaker. His topic will be: "And They Crucified Him." It will be the story of the events of Holy Week, winding up with the greatest tragedy in the history of the world, which was enacted on Calvary two thousand years ago. Rev. Propp, while a young man, has the reputation of being a forceful pulpit orator and as his address will close one of the most interesting experiments ever attempted by a church in this section it is certain he will be at his best.

The lenten services have been very well attended, the number of hearers increasing with each meeting. The idea originated with Rev. E. H. Kreidt of St. John's church in this city, the plan being to conduct services every Tuesday evening with pastors from nearby towns as the speakers. Similar services have been held every Wednesday evening at Mahnomen, the same pastors officiating. Persons of practically every nationality and creed have attended these services and all have found them both interesting and instructive.

OBJECTION RAISED BY AUTO CLUB TO NEW REGULATIONS

Members Do Not Want Cars Parked in Middle of Street. Merchants Approve Plan.

Members of the Pennington County Automobile association are not very enthusiastic over the city council's new traffic ordinance, and will try to have certain features changed.

In the first place the association is opposed to parking in the center of the street, claiming that the practice has been abandoned in practically every city of any size in which it was tried. The plan makes it necessary to back out and this is always liable to result in collisions. Walking from the sidewalk to the car is also necessary under this plan, subjecting the pedestrian to the possibility of being struck by a passing auto or truck. These are among the more weighty reasons given by auto club members for their objections.

The Merchants association, on the other hand, favors center parking. Members of this body say that as matters now stand cars belonging to the merchants themselves or other townspeople often take up all the available room along the sidewalks, forcing people from the country to the side streets. This, they maintain, leaves a bad impression and hurts the town and business generally. If everyone were compelled to park in the middle of the street it would leave both sides open to traffic, they maintain.

The matter came up at a special meeting of the city council Tuesday evening at which time a number of citizens were present to urge that changes in the ordinance be made. All favored the 45-degree head-on parking plan, claiming this had proved the most satisfactory in other places. F. J. Stebbins, H. D. Keene, Alfred Berry, Math Barzen, Geo. C. Streeter, Nels Christianson, V. C. Noper and L. H. Lawrence spoke in favor of making the change. The council will give due consideration to the matter and promised final action at the next regular meeting when the ordinance comes up for its final reading.

"Deception" is Described As Most Dazzling Pageant

Filled with scenes of great beauty from start to finish—views that visualize the England of King Henry VIII's time, "Deception," a magnificent Paramount picture which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre for two days beginning Wednesday next, is a gorgeous historical pageant, supplemented by a love story whose appeal no modern picture audience can ignore.

Anne Boleyn, the central figure of this remarkable love drama, won a throne through her beauty, but the victim of deception, slander and treachery, she falls into an abyss, filled with terrors which only her mother love enables her to endure with fortitude.

The massive scenes unfolded in the picture amaze spectators by their massiveness and fidelity to the most minute historical detail. They constitute a dazzling pageant of rare value to the student of history as represented in the motion picture art, second to none hitherto presented to the American public. Henny Porton and Emil Jannings, famous screen artists of Europe, play the leading roles.

Will Start Auto Busses.

A bulletin has been posted by the Great Northern railway to the effect that on or about May 1 it will put on a line of railway busses to operate between Crookston and Fargo and Crookston and Grand Forks. Eight of these busses, it is said, are now being completed in the car shops at St. Paul. They are to be propelled by gasoline motors and will accommodate about 40 passengers, with a compartment for express and light baggage. They will run, according to report, upon a two-hour schedule each way during the day and into the evening. It is further stated that if this innovation proves successful from a financial standpoint, bus service will be installed on all branch lines and for the accommodation of local traffic on main line tracks.

TO DOT COUNTY WITH HOLSTEIN CATTLE IS AIM

Breeders' Association Adopts Popular Plan for Supplying Registered Sires.

Will Sell Young Stock at $50 and Up, Accepting Scrubs As First Payment.

Offer Assistance in Forming Sire Associations Among Those Having Small Herds.

If farmers in this neighborhood continue to lose money throwing good feed into poor cattle it will not be the fault of the Pennington County Holstein Breeders' association. At a meeting of this organization last Saturday it was decided to launch a campaign for better sires covering the entire county and to make it easy for every man interested in dairying to get a start on the right track. If the man who is trying to get a foothold in the dairying business but who has not the means or foresight to secure a registered sire for his herd will meet the association members half way the entire county will within a very short time be dotted with the black and white money-makers.

Sires on Easy Terms.

There is at the present time a larger number of registered Holsteins in the county than all other varieties of cattle put together, but there are still too many who are trying to make a success of dairying with scrub stock. Very often these men would improve their herds but have not the money to put into a registered bull. It is for the purpose of helping such farmers that the Holstein men have agreed to try a plan they believe will work.

They offer to sell bulls from their own registered herds and will take the animal now being used by the purchaser—very often a scrub of no particular value—in part payment and will ship the scrub to the stockyards to be turned into bologna, thus taking it out of the section for good and all. A list of the registered animals available will be left with the banks in the city where the farmer may go and make his selection. Certain of the banks have already offered particularly favorable terms in financing such purchasers and it is expected the others will willingly fall in line. In this way the purchaser will be getting the use of the animal at once and can begin the improvement of his herd with practically no outlay of cash. President Hans Anton of the Holstein Breeders' association, says there are a large number of highly desirable animals now available, some with top-notch breeding, and it is his hope that these may remain right here to improve the milch stock of the county instead of being shipped to some other section. Young bulls may be purchased from $50 and up, depending on breeding, which means a very slight cash outlay for the man who has an animal to turn back in exchange.

Form Sire Associations.

Another suggestion made by those heading this movement is that farmers in a given section form sire associations whereby one of these high grade animals may be made to serve a community. There are many such neighborhoods in the county in which there is at the present time perhaps half a dozen bulls of no particular breeding or record and all these could be turned in against the purchase price of a registered animal. If this plan is followed the increase in the value of herds in Pennington county will be remarkable within a very short time. Everything possible will be done by the more experienced dairymen to assist those who are just making a start or who wish to place their business on a better footing.

Officers Are Elected.

Officers of the association for the ensuing year were elected at this meeting, the following being chosen: Hans Anton, president; M. T. McFarland, secretary-treasurer; Fred Beerbower, V. C. Noper, Knute Ytesund, S. E. Hunt and Frank Hardesty, directors.

Getting Ready to Erect Chippewa Trail Markers

Local officers of the Chippewa Trail association have received the stencils for making road markers and the work of getting these ready for erection will be undertaken at once. As soon as the weather becomes settled a committee will start out to mark the trail through the county. The highway follows the Jefferson from the southern end of the county, passing through St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls, thence westward to Warren and north through Hallock, Argyle, across the Red River of the North and west to Grafton, N. D. The southern terminus of the highway is at Detroit.

Membership in the association is increasing at a highly satisfactory rate and all moneys collected here will be spent on the road in Pennington county.

BE RID OF THAT-ACHE

If you are a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend? Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Peter Eberhardt, 211 Atlantic Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "I suffered with my back and kidneys. My back was weak and lame and ached badly. When I would wash or do any heavy work I suffered the worst. My kidneys were weak and annoyed me. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and it wasn't long before they rid me of all the trouble."

Mrs. Eberhardt gave the above statement Jan. 16, 1914, and on Aug. 6, 1921, she said: "I think Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy for kidney trouble. I recommend Doan's for the cure I received years ago and I gladly confirm that statement."

A Complete Cycle of Service

IN directing the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) the 7 men responsible for its management and success keep constantly before them the ideals of service which have animated the organization in its development.

They are ever mindful of the fact that the service rendered by this Company bears a close and intimate relation to the progress, success and prosperity of practically every other industry. And that it has a major bearing on many professional and highly specialized branches of business.

They recognize the grave responsibility of supplying petroleum products to those who use the internal combustion engine as a source of power, and to those who depend upon this Company to lubricate their equipment in such manner as to conserve the power and the machinery which it operates.

These are the major and more obvious services rendered, but equal attention is given to problems affecting an individual or a small group.

This service may take the form of expert advice as to the best method of lubricating a single machine, it may be something to reduce the labor of the housewife, or to assist the medical profession in serving humanity. It may be a new kind of pavement or a method to increase or conserve the food supply.

These are but a few of the hundreds of ways in which Standard Oil service, positive and clearly defined, is helping and adding to the efficiency and economy of business generally.

As an example of how far this service is carried, we may mention the recently developed burning oil, Neolite, which supplies a growing demand for an oil used primarily in incubators and brooders, where a steady, unvarying heat must be maintained over a considerable period of time. To those who use incubators and brooders, Neolite is of great value.

While it is probable that the sales of this product will never attain a large volume, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) adds it to its long list of useful products that it may further discharge its obligation in rendering a complete cycle of service to 25 million people of 11 Middle Western States.

COMPLETE SETS OF TICKETS BY THREE PARTIES

Republicans Re-nominate Kellogg and Entire State Ticket With One Exception.

Mrs. Peter Olesen Named For Senate by Democrats; Ed. Indrehus For Governor.

Nonpartisans Place Magnus Johnson in Field for Governor; Shipstead for Senate.

The Republicans, Democrats and Nonpartisans met at St. Paul last week and placed state tickets in the field. The nomination of Frank B. Kellogg for United States senator was unanimous in the Republican gathering and the present state administration, with one exception, was endorsed.

A plan proposing a fusion of the Nonpartisans with the Democrats, the former endorsing Edward Indrehus of Foley, for governor and the latter accepting Henrik Shipstead as the party choice for senator, was given a lot of prominence for a day or two, but the labor element in the Nonpartisan ranks refused to stand for any such proposition and insisted on a straight ticket being put in the field. According to reports the farmers were favorably disposed toward a coalition with the Democrats, but the threatened defection of the laboring men in case such deal was put through served to effectively block the scheme.

Only One Dropped.

Herman Mueller of St. Cloud, nonpartisan, elected clerk of the supreme court two years ago after defeating the regular Republican candidate in the primaries, is left off the slate this year. He will file as a candidate in the primaries. The convention candidates of the party are as follows:

United States Senator, Frank B. Kellogg.

Governor, J. A. O. Preus.

Lieutenant Governor, Louis L. Collins.

Secretary of State, Mike Holm.

State Treasurer, Henry Rines.

Attorney General, Clifford L. Hilton.

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner, Ivan Bowen.

Clerk of Supreme Court, Miss Grace F. Kaercher.

Woman For U. S. Senate.

The Democrats upset all pre-convention dope in selecting their candidates for state office. Mrs. Peter Olesen of Cloquet, who had been slated as candidate for lieutenant governor, received the nomination for United States senator, while Miss Emily Kneubuhl, prominent as a worker in the League of Women Voters, was selected to make the run against Lieutenant Governor Collins. The remainder of the ticket is as follows:

Governor, Edward Indrehus, Foley.

Secretary of State, Claude Swanson, Fairmont.

Treasurer, Walter S. Brown, Waseca.

Auditor, John E. Casey, Jordan.

Attorney General, John Foley, Austin.

Clerk of Supreme Court, Frank Hebl, St. Paul.

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner, Joseph P. Kilbride, Albert Lea.

Shipstead for Senator.

The Nonpartisan League's "straight ticket," endorsed by the former-labor party, is as follows:

United States Senator, Henrik Shipstead, Minneapolis.

Governor, Magnus Johnson, Kimball.

Lieutenant Governor, G. T. Lindsten, Minneapolis.

Auditor, Mrs. Eliza Evans Denning, Minneapolis.

Treasurer, Mrs. Susie Stageberg, Red Wing.

Attorney General, Benjamin Drake Minneapolis.

Clerk of the Supreme Court, Miss Victoria McAlman, Minneapolis.

Seconded Nomination.

The nomination of Senator Kellogg was seconded by W. J. Brown of Pennington county, in an address which received much approval from the delegates and press. The Nonpartisans of the county were represented at the convention of that party by Senator O. A. Naplin and O. J. Peterson. The Democrats did not send delegates.

BLACK FALLOW IS ONLY REMEDY FOR SOW THISTLE PEST

Fight Must be Carried on Relentlessly and Continuously to Kill Root Stocks.

No half-way measures will succeed in the fight against the sow thistle, according to R. S. Dunham, agronomist at the Northwest School and Station, Crookston. The battle must be relentless and continuous for sow thistle does not succumb to intermittent attacks. It has as many lives as there are now plants from its root-stocks. Ten have been found on a single running root.

The important facts about this plant to be recognized in waging a fight to death are, first, that it is propagated both by seed and by underground root stocks; second, that it is in its weakest condition when preparing to blossom, and, third, that it cannot live without leaves.

Of equal importance are the two necessary campaign plans. These consist of, first, complete eradication and second, control. As in all troubles of life, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Preventive measures are necessary. The plant should not be allowed to produce seed and only crop seed free from this weed should be planted. Sow thistle should be cut as near to blossoming time as can be done without danger of allowing some plants to mature seed. Since the blossoms may mature seed after they are cut at this stage, all plants should be burned immediately after cutting.

Further eradication of the weed depends upon killing its root-stocks. These can only be killed by preventing them from producing leaves. The leaves of the plant are necessary to convert the plant food taken up by the roots into a form that nourishes the plant. Without leaves the plant must die. For that reason, fallowing is essential to complete eradication.

There are three kinds of fallow as practiced by the farmer. The one consists of plowing with no cultivation, the second consists of plowing and occasional cultivation in which new plants are allowed to produce their first leaves, and the third consists of plowing and sufficient cultivation to keep all leaves from forming—the black fallow. Only the latter kind is worth while.

Plowing shallow in the fall or discing will aid the seeds scattered in the fall to germinate and frost will kill them. The following spring the land should be plowed at the normal depth and a black fallow maintained by cultivation until freeze-up. The plowing should be well done. All land should be cut by the share and loosened by the mouldboard including the dead furrow. The first two furrows should be plowed shallow and thrown out. Later they should be plowed back at the normal depth. Leave no unplowed strips in the field or at the headlands. Cover all weeds.

The make of the cultivator is not as important as the type. It should have shares that overlap, have sharp cutting edges, and run level. The duckfoot type is satisfactory. The disc-harrow is very unsatisfactory and the spike-tooth harrow is fairly satisfactory if precaution is taken not to drag the roots over the field.

There are several agencies of seed distribution that cannot be prevented. Wind, water and railroads scatter seeds. For this reason control measures must be used by the farmer after his eradication of the weed. Chief of these are crop rotation and good cultivation. The rotation should include a cultivated crop, a grass or legume crop, and a grain crop. Corn is an excellent cultivated crop and sweet clover heads the list of legumes. Winter rye is one of the best weed control crops that can be grown because it ripens before the thistle blossoms.

Appoints New Members For R. R. V. Development Assn.

President R. C. Mathwig, Warren, of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, has announced the appointment of William H. Johnson, a prominent farmer of Kennedy, as director for Kittson county in the association to succeed T. M. George on account of the latter moving from the county, and the appointment of Harry H. Phillips, editor of the Mahnomen Pioneer and past president of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, as director for Mahnomen county to succeed A. L. Thompson, who was killed recently in a gravel pit mishap.

Both are men who have for some time taken a prominent part in all agricultural affairs and will add much to the effectiveness of the association.

AT THE THEATRES

Facts About "Deception."

Presenting a historical figure which for nearly four hundred years has been the subject of diverse discussion and which is familiar to every student of English annals, "Deception" deals in a powerful and compelling manner with the pathetic love romance of Anne Boleyn, second wife of King Henry VIII, and the mother of Queen Elizabeth. Independent of its historical associations, the story concerns a woman who loved and who fell victim to the loves behind the throne in which Bluff King Hal, the Fallstaff of British royalty, was the central figure. "Deception" is at once the story of the tender woman which all alike can understand, and a magnificent pageant illuminating one of the darkest pages of English history. It is exquisitely artistic, intensely appealing, superbly executed and as a gigantic spectacle excels any picture thus far shown to the world.

A Correction.

The Times last week was in error in stating that Gust Geske is the defendant in a suit involving the estate of his mother. The title of the action should read "Gust Geske, plaintiff, vs. Mrs. Anna Rondorf, Mrs. Minnie Gust, Mrs. Mathilda Becker and Otto Geske, defendants.

Obituary

Mrs. Anna Wilson.

On Saturday, March 25th, at her home in Wyandotte township, occurred the death of Anna Wilson, wife of I. E. Wilson. A week ago Mrs. Wilson contracted influenza, which later developed into bronchial pneumonia, from which she failed to rally, though attended by two doctors and a nurse. The funeral took place Tuesday, Rev. Dale of Mahnomen conducting and interment was made in Clearwater cemetery. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, a silent testimony of love and esteem. Anna Dorothy Gergan was born in Dickie county, N. D., on August 28, 1884. On March 21, 1908 she was married to Isaac Wilson and since then has made her home in this community. To this union was born six children: Chester, Anthony, Viola, Woodrow, Stanley and an infant son, all of whom survive, together with her mother, Mrs. C. Bergan of Thief River Falls; two sisters and three brothers, Dagny, Eugene and Otto of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Minnie Arbuckle of Paine, N. D., and Christ of Altoona, Wis.

The heartfelt sympathy of a saddened community goes out to the husband and children, who mourn for the loss of one who was always cheerful, true and unfaltering. Those who enjoyed the privilege of her friendship will cherish always the memory of her splendid personality.

Mrs. Siri Nordhagen.

Mrs. Siri Nordhagen of New Solem Township, died April 3, at 11:45 a. m., at the ripe age of 80 years. Influenza was the cause of her death. Funeral services were held on April 5 and interment made in Lanstad cemetery.

Mothers' Sense.

Every woman knows that her House has to be cleaned thoroughly every Spring. During winter, dust, dirt and germs accumulate in the corners, under the rugs, in the curtains and every place. They will clean your system, freshen and purify you all over—you'll enjoy living, eat better, sleep better—feel better. Lambert's drug store.—Advertisement. A

THE PARKING PROBLEM.

The city council and Merchants' association have one notion as to how cars should be parked in the business section of the city and the Automobile association has another. Both plans have their advantages and both their defects.

Parking in the center of the street has been tried out in many places and found unsatisfactory. It necessitates backing out for one thing and is more or less dangerous for another. If passengers are discharged against the curb and the car then parked in the center of the street the plan works out fairly well, but this is generally considered too much trouble by drivers, who shoot into parking position at once and let the passengers hoof it to the sidewalk. The danger in this proceeding is obvious.

On the other hand parking on both sides of the street leaves a very narrow maneuvering space for traffic while the same objection as concerns backing up holds good.

A much better solution is the permission to park against the sidewalks at an angle of about 45 degrees on the less frequented streets. In Thief River Falls it would be necessary to include only four, or at most five, blocks in the prohibited area. Third street from Main to Horace, Main avenue from Third to Second, and LaBree avenue between Second and Third constitute the principal business section of the city. Why would it not be a good idea to prohibit parking of cars in these blocks entirely? This would leave First, Second and Fourth streets open for parking and there would be neither danger nor inconvenience in running the cars against the sidewalk on both sides. Traffic on these thoroughfares is not heavy, particularly in the evening when most of the cars are in from the country and it would only mean walking a block or two, no matter from what section of the business district one might start. Other cities find this much the more satisfactory method of handling the proposition. Permission would have to be granted for autoists to drive up in front of business houses for the purpose of loading bundles, perhaps, but this need only take a few moments and would not hold up traffic to any noticeable extent.

Parking in the center of the street has been found a nuisance and lining the sides of the thoroughfares with autos is dangerous. The other plan is by far the best.

FEEDING LESSONS NEEDED.

Along with the several efforts now being made to provide a better grade of cattle for the farmers of Pennington county should go instructions in methods of feeding. The farmer who intends going into dairying must learn that cows of this kind will not show a profit if expected to pick their living out of a strawstack. Their milk manufacturing mechanism is of a highly specialized nature and will only function efficiently for the man who understands how to handle it properly. It may be taken for granted, however, that anyone who has ambition and intelligence enough to work toward a better grade of cattle will in some measure at least understand the value of proper feeding.

An equally important subject is providing the feed. Too many farmers who are getting a start in the dairying industry are forced to buy feed during the winter months. Very often a large share of the cream check goes toward paying for hay and grain feeds when these should have been provided in abundance on the farm. There is absolutely no excuse for the Pennington county farmer who does not raise sufficient hay and feed to supply his own needs and he will never make a success of dairying. He must learn that his first and greatest requisite is seeing that he has a sufficiency of these necessities to carry him over the barn-feeding season. If even a small part of his income must go toward buying grain feeds or hay his profits will disappear.

This means that the dairyman cannot afford to devote any large amount of his acreage to wheat or other grain not especially suitable for cattle feed. He will have to turn to potatoes as his ready-money crop, this having proven by far the best plan.

Banks are doing everything in their power to aid the man who wants to go into the dairy business but the first condition for those asking favors is that there must be a sufficiency of feed raised on the farm. It will be well to bear this in mind as success or failure will depend upon it to a very large extent.

The Cities and the Country.

(From the Duluth Herald)

The St. Cloud Journal-Press points out that while it is "quite the habit for the communities to rail against the hoggishness of the big cities," in Minnesota the cities are contributing millions of dollars directly to the country counties.

And the Journal-Press adds: "Of the millions raised by the one mill road tax, Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties, contributing about fifty per cent of the whole tax, get altogether nine per cent of it back. Of the millions they contribute in motor vehicle licenses, they get back nothing." This is because the constitutional amendment authorizing the state road program forbids spending any of the money in the three large cities.

This is the truth, and when rural discontent tends to take the form of railing at the cities, it would be wholesome if the country would remember these figures.

The Journal-Press is right, too, when it says that this is a good investment for the three large cities, "because the prosperity of Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul, three splendid cities, depends upon the welfare of the rest of the state, and good roads is the big contributing factor to agricultural and industrial success." It is a good investment for the three cities to spend money building up country roads and we hear no complaint from them because they have to.

But it would be well also for the country to remember that while the cities must rest their prosperity upon the well-being of the country, the country, on the other hand, would be vastly less prosperous if it did not have the cities to buy its products.

There is nothing more wasteful than strife between city and country. As well might a man's hands and feet quarrel, for both are members of one body, and so are the city and country. There is no point of real division between them, and there are a thousand points of common interest.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

"What is prohibition coming to?" asks an exchange. "Where has it gone to?" would be more 'to' the point.

Several Baudette lads are suffering from a strange illness. Can't eat, can't sleep, won't work, will drink.

We made one unique record as Mayor anyway. We went in without opposition and are going out the same way.

Over in Ontario a lad named Guernsey is running for office. From this distance he looks like the cream of the lot.

Moonshine in Baudette has dropped to $2.75 a quart, we hear. We give you this information in case you insist on dying young.

The world may be getting worse, but we note that two Hibbing girls walked six miles home from an auto ride.

We hear two Baudette lads quit a poker game to play chess the other night. That's like eating a ham sandwich after a banquet.

No mercy should be shown that St. Paul man who has thirteen wives. Compel him to buy Easter outfits for all of them.

We often wonder how some of the gossips who talk so much get time to listen.

"The American robin," says a birdologist, "is not a robin at all." But that doesn't make any difference to the worm.

The highway department has asked Warroad to spend $3500 on a temporary bridge, and Warroad has a temporary fit.

Exchange Notes

THE BIGGEST COWARD.

Warren Register: Congress is a queer animal—it can appropriate millions, even billions, without batting an eye, but it is sometimes strong on economy when a few paltry dollars are at stake. We can't subscribe in toto to Sam Blythe's criticisms of congress, but it must be admitted—with shame—that many of them are merited. Congress is the biggest coward in the country—if you don't believe that, just say "Boo!" to it and see it jump.

ITS ONLY VALUE.

Anoka Union: The flood of propaganda for this, that and the other thing continues unabated but we have a paper baler in the back room that will give it all the attention it deserves.

Introducing Gentle Spring.

The gentle spring will soon be with us,
There is evidence galore,
'Tis now kites and tops and marbles,
Skates and sleds no more.
Wild geese are flying northward,
The baseball season's near,
But an erstwhile sign is missing—
'Tis one that read "Bock Beer."

Topeka, Kan., merchants announce a "Ford Day" when all Ford cars will be invited to make themselves at home on the streets. We always supposed that was what Fords did every day.

Profitable Lifts.

"I notice you frequently pick up people and take them to town in your car."

"Yes," said the enterprising citizen. "I've sold quite a number of life insurance policies in that way. A man can't very well refuse to hear what you have to say when he's getting a free ride."

True to Type.

"Say, this blasted car you stuck me with I should think was meant to stall, judging by the way it acts."

"Well, what are you kicking about? Didn't you buy it on the installment plan?"

Out in Omaha a gas meter reader turned out to be a burglar. Sometimes it does seem rather hard to make the distinction.

No Offense.

Paul: "At the party I thought your costume was ripping."

Pauline: "Well, if you were a gentleman, you would have told me so."

Two postmasters in one office is the unusual plight of Pleasant Valley, N. Y. What chance has a postcard there, we ask you.

The Just and the Unjust.

Lavender stockings, speaking in generalities, are reminders that good and evil walk on equally comely legs.

On Her.

I went to a fountain with Mary,
And met with an awful mishap;
For I awkwardly emptied a bottle
Of soda all over her lap.
But Mary was gentle and gracious,
(For none is so tactful as she,)
And smiling with perfect composure,
Said sweetly, "The drinks are on me."

The Change.

Wife: "Before we were married you used to swear you would love me always—now you only swear.

Something Wrong.

Bobby's dog was limping along on three feet. "Look, Daddy, Tag's not hitting on all four cylinders."

Success often brings poise, but more often avoirdupois.

If they have many more killings in the movies, the industry itself will be among the fatalities.

Current Comment.

Hordes of autos now remind us
We should build our roads to stay,
And departing leave behind us
Kinds that rains don't wash away.
When our children pay the mortgage
Father made to haul the loads,
They'll not have to ask the question,
"Here's the bonds, but where's the roads?"

Elastic currency is the kind that will stretch from one pay day to the next.

Moo-Moo Mileage.

The Farmer: "Ain't that a fine cow?"

Motorist (absent-mindedly): "How many miles will she do on a gallon of milk?"

Remember when folks were more interested in dashboards than in windshields?

They used to buy a pair of stockings for $.35, but these days they move the decimal to the right one point, add a naught and get zero in stockings.

More earthquakes in California. They're awfully sensitive about mentioning them out there. It's said that newspapers now use the heading: "Latest Movements in Real Estate."

Blessings of Nature.

It was a good thing Monday night was not a night in the middle of summer, for if it had been a night in the middle of the summer, we would have had to sleep on the sleeping porch, and we surely'd have hated to sleep on the sleeping porch Monday night.—Clayton Center Times.

There was a time when the saxophone player was a very useful and respected citizen, but, like some kind of people they got to running around in pairs, trios and sextets and proved once more that two's company and three's bad company.

The Proper Use.

The time to buy a used car is just before you move, so people in the new neighborhood will think you are the one who used it.

X-Ray to a Chiropractor is what Telescope is to an astronomer. It enables one to see further. Many conditions cannot be found by superfaceal examination but can be readily seen by the use of an X-Ray.

I have had two years of experience with the use of an X-Ray and more than ten years in Chiropractic. It is true that in most cases results may be obtained without the use of an X-Ray insofar as Chiropractic is concerned, but there are some cases and in a very large per cent of cases, better results may be obtained with X-Ray photography of the spine. When one can see the exact condition, better work can be done and one is more sure of getting the very best results.

School in Spring.

School is all right in winter
And it's O. K. in the fall,
But when the spring-time comes around,
It "ain't no good" at all.

It's then the fish begin to bite,
And the ice comes off the brooks,
Then's when it's hard to learn what's in
A bunch of High School books.

It's then the birds come back again,
And sing the whole day long,
"It ain't no fun" to sit inside
And listen to their song.

Sometimes we wish there was no school,
And nothing like a quiz,
But when vacation comes around,
We're mighty glad there is.

(The writers don't pretend to be poets, but are just expressing their thoughts to the public. The authors of this fine poem request that their names should not be published, but if anyone wants to know who wrote it, ask Toby H. and Ruth McG.)

"Time Lost is Never Found Again."

"Time lost is never found again" is an old proverb and a true one, which has often been repeated.

Time is a valuable thing and therefore everyone should try to accomplish the most possible in the shortest length of time. There is a time for play and a time for work, but especially guard your time for work, so that you can complete what you have started and obtain results from it. Don't put your work off until the next day as that is a waste of time, and your work becomes monotonous, and is never done so efficiently as it otherwise would have been done.

This old proverb is one that should be closely followed in our school work as so many students unconsciously waste their time and accomplish very little. It has become a habit and without effort is hard to break.

Make the best of your time and remember "Time lost is never found again."

Staff Meeting.

Truly is the world a hard and weary place for those devoted expounders of high school life—to-wit: the Progress staff. Upon us are thrust the manifold cares of a Solomon,—for are not we the ones who are continually ferreting out some new phase of school life, and putting it into fine and flowery language for the benefit of our readers? Do not we dance attendance at every "affair" with a notebook in hand and a pencil behind each ear? In short, are not we the connecting link between you and Lincoln High?

Stop for a moment and follow our course through that solemn period when there is a "Progress Staff meeting." To be sure that full justice is done let us take the most recent (at this writing) one.

At 2:40 Mr. Rapacz announced for the benefit of all concerned, "There will be a meeting of the Progress Staff at once in Miss Soule's room." The effect was immediate. Milton produced a sheet of paper from some unknown place and marched out of the room like a true martyr; the three L's, Lorrayne, Lydia and Lucille, demurely followed the "big chief," while Angie trailed along behind; Ole who was deeply engrossed in trignometry, closed his book and with Albert, who had just completed his daily fifteen minutes of study, proceeded to the designated place. Bill Alexander, an adopted sport-writer, followed where the others led.

Once there, each found a comfortable stool and made ready for business.

"Well," said Milton, "what'll we have for next week?"

A conundrum, but Lucille piped up, "Ole write an editorial about something."

"And then," from ever-ready Bill, "I've got those class games to write up."

After noting these on his assignment paper, Milton turned to the others: "Albert, you see if you can't cook up something to write about, and Lorrayne, you get in a report of that———party. Angie can survey next year's basketball prospects."

"And you, Chief?" queried Ole indiscreetly. Again the effect was immediate.

"I'll have you know," roared Milton in his best form, "that I'm giving orders, not taking them. Isn't it enough that I rack my brains all week for something for you people to write about? What am I Editor-in-Chief for anyway?"

Meanwhile the three L's had entered into an engrossing discussion of the Junior-Senior banquet, into which, after peace had been partially restored, we all joined. From this topic the talk soon veered to other equally interesting ones, and thirty-five minutes later when the bell warned us that classes would soon pass, we rose to go, fully conscious that the time had been well spent; and we were secure in the belief that when we opened the Times next Thursday, the Progress would smile back at us from its usual commanding position. Each of us knew, too, that the week's issue would uphold the high standard set by those preceding. How could it be otherwise, with an earnest and painstaking staff using the best of their talents to build wisely and well upon the foundation laid by others who have had charge of the Progress in past years?

Hall of Fame.

More than one senior boy has won a place for himself in the Hall of Fame of Thief River High, but we're only going to write about the latest member. That member is Clarence Rice who won the distinction of being the only boy on the Honor Roll in the class of 1922. Of course there were many girls on the roll, but the fact that Rice is the only boy assures him lasting, undying fame.

Some of the under-classmen have made remarks about our hero that wouldn't look good in print and right here we wish to criticise those students who made the remarks. We wish to tell those knockers to watch their step or they never will be seniors.

How does it feel to be an honor student? And what must I do to get on the honor roll? These are questions many students are seeking the answers to. The only way to find the true answers to these questions is to ask someone who knows. Everyone agrees that it's no trick for a girl to get her report card filled with A's so we got our interview with our senior. He had a great number of friends before becoming famous and has added more to his list of friends since. So it was no easy task to get through this line of friends to get a few words with Clarence himself. The first thing that we noticed about him was his determined, honest face. After we were once "introduced," we felt as if we had known him all our life. His advice to students who would become famous was: "Always do your work before you play; don't skip school; know to whom you're talking before you talk." Any young fellow who follows these rules can't help but get a place in the "Hall of Fame."

Prizes are Offered For Best Work in Norse.

The Sons of Norway Snorre lodge No. 70 of Thief River Falls, Minn., has set aside a sum of $25 which is to be given away by way of prizes for the best work done by students in Norse in the local high school. Any prize of this kind will serve as an incentive to good work, and particularly those who are interested in the preservation of Norwegian culture and literature, and what is best in the Norwegian traditions, will appreciate the inducements that the Sons of Norway lodge is thus offering. Though a definite arrangement has not been made as to how the prizes are to be awarded, it is understood that the sum will be divided into four prizes to be awarded to the four students who do the best work. The Lodge is assured on the part of those who are taking Norse that this announcement was greeted with a great deal of appreciation and interest.

Track and Field Meet at Warren.

Warren High School is planning on staging an interscholastic track and field meet on May 20, 1922, providing a sufficient number of schools are interested enough to enter teams. This is a step in the right direction and we only hope that the interest in this branch of high school athletics manifesting itself at Warren will receive enough co-operation to make it possible.

The local high school is planning on entering a team and soon as the weather will permit a call will go out from the coach to all men interested in this sport. There is no doubt a considerable amount of material here and they should make a good showing in a meet of this kind.

The eligibility of the contestants in this meet will be governed by rules and regulations of the M. H. S. A. A. governing such meets. Prizes will be given as follows:

1. A silver loving cup will be awarded to the winning relay team.
2. A silver loving cup will be awarded to the team scoring the most points.
3. Gold medals to the men taking first place in individual events, silver and bronze medals to those taking second and third respectively.

Scoring will be regulated as follows:

In the contest for the large silver loving cup a first place will count five points, a second place three points, a third place two points and a fourth place one point. The relay race shall be included in the score.

Events:

1. 100-yard dash.
2. 220-yard dash.
3. 440-yard dash.
4. 880-yard dash.
5. One-mile run.
6. 120-yard hurdle (3 ft. 6 in.)
7. 220-yard hurdle (2 ft. 6 in.)
8. Running high jump.
9. Pole vault.
10. Running broad jump.
11. Throwing discus.
12. Shot-put (12 lbs.)
13. Relay race, four men to start. One-half mile race.

Seniors Organize for Spring.

With spring comes thoughts of spring football and as the Seniors are the accredited champions in all athletics in L. H. S., winning the booby prize in interclass basketball, they of course will organize a team with which they hope to have as much luck as they did with their basket pickers. After a great deal of thought and other hard work they have at last decided on their line-up, which they here publish for your kind approval:

Scenter—Bill DeParq.
Black Guard—Rudy Rice.
Mud Guard—Clarence Rice.
Receptacle—August Langseth.
Spectackle—Wm. Alexander.
Near End—Paul Helseth.
Weak End—Herschal Hanson.
Half Bakes—Fat Evenson, Wm. McGinnity.
Quarter-snatch—Lloyd Alnes.
Throw-back — Rusty Anderson.
(He's not a senior, neither am I.)

Discovered at Last.

For some time before the time of writing, rumors had been current that the faculty had a team,—a basketball team—and were prepared to show the regulars that there was more to the game than running up and down the gym floor bouncing a ball. As a modest cub on the Progress staff I was assigned the task of substantiating or disproving these rumors and I herewith submit the following as results of my week's work:

Monday: I observed some sort of secret conference in the library with Messrs. Simley, Pope, Stenhoff, Rapacz and Harner present. They were sitting around the big table and talking confidentially—a sure sign that something was going to happen.

Tuesday: Unnoticed, I saw one of the gentlemen previously mentioned toss a harmless text-book through the transom, and it occurred to me that he was taking this method of improving his 'shooting eye.'

Wednesday: At seven o'clock, while I was hidden in the entry, five men, [illegible] S., P., S., R., H., cautiously entered Lincoln High, evidently for some purpose which they did not wish known. This aroused my suspicions.

Thursday: I was safely ensconced in a fresh air duct in the gym and soon saw that which I had expected to see. The Faculty team, consisting of the above named gentlemen, put in two solid hours of practice. They showed the most marvelous form and exhibited the most wonderful teamwork I have ever seen, barring neither the Yale nor Harvard quints.

My few days sleuthing had netted me much, but not enough. "There must" I argued to myself, "be some reason for all this." But though I pondered long after the men had gone, I could reach no satisfactory conclusion. A bright idea, however, popped into my head—and stuck.

Friday: I sat straining every nerve to catch the slightest sound from the office with the apparatus I had rigged up and connected. My efforts were richly rewarded, for I heard a voice say, "———and we ought to be able to schedule the game for Tuesday." "I hope so," replied another anxiously. "I'll talk to the Senior captain today."

At last! Solved! The truth burst forth upon me like a charge of N. T. The faculty team was challenging the seniors to a game of basketball—and I rushed to my trusty old typewriter and pounded out the copy you are perusing today, thus upholding the Progress' reputation for getting the latest and spicest news before its competitors.

(Editor's note: The senior team has a record as yet unequalled by any of its predecessors—six games lost out of six played, so we anticipate a hotly contested game if the challenge is accepted.)

Aunt Mary's Visit.

"Good-by, children, take good care of Aunt Mary!" shouted Mrs. James Brown as she and her husband drove away. The children, who were left standing on the porch gazed after the car as long as it was in sight and then turned gloomily toward the house, which seemed somewhat deserted.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane had been called away suddenly that morning to the sick bed of Mrs. Brown's mother. Daisy, Jack, Phyllis and Joe were left to welcome Aunt Mary, who was expected that afternoon. Their Aunt Mary had been abroad for many years, so the children had never seen her but they had delightful anticipations of her coming. This thought dispelled the gloom when later in the day they all prepared to go to the depot to meet her.

"I wonder what she's like," said little Joe, the youngest of them all.

"I wonder if she'll bring me a nice doll," exclaimed Phyllis, who was a little older than Joe.

"Oh, I just know she'll be delightful," added Daisy, the oldest of the children.

"Do you think she'll play ball with me or soldier," queried Jack.

"Why, Jack, of course she won't do any such thing!" replied Daisy vehemently. Daisy, who was fourteen considered herself quite a dignified young lady.

Such remarks and questions were kept up all the way to the depot. They were all very impatient and Joe in his excitement jumped up and down on the station platform, attracting much attention. At last the train came puffing into the station. How eagerly the children scanned the faces of those who alighted! There were not many passengers for Hilton, for it was a rather small town. There were three or four men first; then numerous bags and bundles of all sizes and descriptions were handed out, after which came an ugly old lady.

"Why don't Aunt Mary come?" whispered little Joe.

"I-I don't know," answered Phyllis dejectedly. As for Daisy and Jack, they stared first at the last arrival then at the train. The lady exclaimed in a high-pitched rasping voice, "My goodness gracious, is there no one here to meet me!" Then she caught sight of Daisy and Jack. "Are you the Brown children?" she asked sharply.

"Yes, we are. Are you our Aunt Mary?" inquired Daisy.

"Well of all the impudent children. My name is not Mary but Marilla. Your silly-frivolous mother must have called me Mary!" The children all stared breathlessly at her. Daisy managed to say politely, "Mamma and Papa were called away so we were left to meet you. We will help you carry your things."

"Why yes, indeed, but be very, very careful and what is your name child?"

"My name is Daisy," replied Daisy who objected to being called "child" but did not show it.

"Daisy? Daisy? why who ever heard of such a foolish, silly, name—oh, well, I suppose I shall have to adjust myself to many peculiar and half-civilized conditions," said Aunt Mary. Daisy flushed hotly but kept back the angry words she would have liked to utter. Phyllis and the boys were so disappointed that they had not said a word. Just then they reached the house and as Aunt Mary glanced at it she exclaimed, "Dear me! I never thought that your father and mother were so well-to-do and extravagant."

"Come right in, you must be real tired Aunt Mary," invited Daisy as she opened the door.

"Please, child, do not call me Aunt Mary; if you are so persistent in calling me Aunt, you may call me Aunt Marilla." Daisy could hardly keep back the hot tears as she answered, "Pardon me, Aunty."

As they entered the house, Daisy glanced back and saw Joe and Jack lagging behind, looking longingly for a bush or corner where they might slink away. She gave them a reproving look but nevertheless Joe made a dive for one corner of the house while Jack dived for the other and they were gone. The situation was indeed embarrassing for the girls. Aunt Marilla immediately established herself in the parlor and began to criticize everything.

"Gracious, why doesn't your mother make you wear a longer dress? Why that dress you have on is a scandal." Daisy with a supreme effort controlled herself and replied, "I I-why mother always makes my dresses so that I shall like them."

"Then it is certainly time for you to see your folly in wearing such scandalous dresses. Where are your brothers? Why don't they stay to welcome me? They certainly shall not have the presents I brought."

Phyllis, sitting in the corner very prim and trying to please her Aunt, could not suppress a giggle which she turned into a cough. Immediately a fierce pair of eyes were turned on her, whereupon she became very red and confused.

"Have you no respect for your Aunt, child? Perhaps you can tell me where your naughty brothers are?"

"I-I don't know, Aunty, where they are."

"I realize that none of you have been brought up properly, but I shall try to teach you, young lady, and those scamps a few things before I leave."

Then as Aunt Mary's eyes were again turned on Daisy, Phyllis softly glided to the door and was gone. Outside she found the boys behind some bushes discussing their Aunt in no gentle tones.

"She's just a hateful old maid," sputtered Jack.

"I bet she brought us some old present like a handkerchief," was Joe's comment. At first Phyllis was prompted by her better self to say something nice about Aunt Mary, but then Aunt Mary's words came back to her and she angrily announced, "I shan't go back into that house before Aunt Mary goes to bed! I hate her!"

You may well imagine how angry Aunt Mary was when she noticed that Phyllis had also disappeared. Daisy on the other hand was left to bear all of her ridicule and scolding. She wished heartily that her mother was at home. At last a brilliant idea struck her.

"Aunty, don't you want to go to your room?"

"Well, perhaps. I hope you have prepared a suitable room for me. I cannot stand any light or the least cold. When are your mother and father coming back?"

"I don't know but maybe tonight or tomorrow morning."

"I do not see how I will live through tonight with just a few silly children to tend the house," said Aunt Mary. Daisy did not reply but having brought Aunt Mary to her room she flung herself on the parlor couch and cried. Then at last summoning her self control she got up and went to find the children. There they were, Joe fast asleep, while Phyllis and Jack were half dozing with ugly frowns on their faces which showed that they were thinking of Aunt Mary. Daisy awakened them and scolded them for their behavior.

"Do you like her really and truly, Daisy?" they all asked in one breath.

"She is an old lady and because she is our Aunt we must treat her respectfully."

Daisy had a fine sense of duty and she remembered her mother's admonitions. At this moment a voice was heard screaming, "Daise-e-e, where are you anyway?"

"Here Aunt," replied Daisy as she came up to the porch with the other children.

"So here you are, you naughty, naughty children. Neither of you shall have the presents I brought for you."

Phyllis soberly hung her head while the boys turned and gazed in opposite directions as if to say, "We don't care."

Her fault-finding and scolding continued through the supper. After the meal Aunt Mary announced to her stunned listeners that Joe and Phyllis, the youngest, must go to bed at seven o'clock, while Daisy and Jack were permitted to stay up till eight. They knew that protests would not avail, so they were silent. Promptly at seven Phyllis and Joe left the parlor and at the door Joe turned and making a horrible face at Aunt Mary's back, hurriedly left the room. Daisy buried herself in a rocker to read one of her beloved Campfire stories while Jack seated himself before the fire with a Buffalo Bill book.

Aunt Mary took out a book from her bag entitled, "How to Stay Young," and settled herself to read but suddenly she glanced over at the children and exclaimed in a shrill voice, "What are you children reading?"

They both started.

"I am reading the Campfire Girls," answered Daisy.

"I am reading Buffalo Bill's Ambush," said Jack.

"Why, horrible, you shock me!" cried Aunt Mary, "I never in all my life heard of such dreadful books, give them to me immediately."

Jack was on the point of blurting out an angry reply, but catching the look in Daisy's eyes he quietly gave Aunt Mary his beloved book. The rest of the evening Daisy spent in sewing but Jack, determined on revenge, went upstairs where he engaged in a pillow-fight with Joe. Luckily for them Aunt Mary did not hear this.

In the morning Daisy rose early, determined to try to please her Aunt. As she was arranging her hair she heard a car coming down the road. Quickly running to the front porch she saw her father and mother and a beautiful young lady alight from the car. In a moment she was in her mother's arms sobbing from relief.

"Why Daisy, what is the matter? I have never seen my happy girl cry on such a beautiful morning as this. Here is your Aunt Mary who was delayed yesterday. It is too bad you children were disappointed."

Daisy looked bewildered from her mother to that beaming young lady who advanced to her and smiling pleasantly, said, "Good-morning, dear Daisy. I am so sorry that I was delayed and could not come yesterday and so this is my oldest niece that I have never seen."

Daisy was so stunned that for a moment she could not say a word but just stare, then she broke out, "Why I-you-oh-you can't be my Aunt Mary for she's in the house in bed. She came yesterday on the train."

"What do you mean, Daisy?" inquired Mrs. Brown in a surprised voice.

"Why, mamma, you know we went to the train to meet Aunt Mary in the afternoon and she really came—she's in the house this very minute, unless I'm dreaming."

"It must all be a dreadful mistake for your real Aunt Mary was delayed so we brought her with us and here she is."

"Oh-oh, I'm so glad you are my real Aunt Mary. I just knew you were nice and beautiful," exclaimed Daisy joyfully.

Just then Aunt Mary the second came out on the porch and screamed, "Daisy, who is that you are speaking to so early in the morning and without your hair combed?"

Mrs. Brown with a slight frown on her face walked up to the porch and asked cooly, "Pardon me, madam, but who are you?"

"I am Miss Marilla Brown, come to visit my brother's family and who are you, I must inquire?" replied Miss Brown in a rasping voice.

"I am Mrs. Brown and this is our Aunt Mary (indicating Aunt Mary). There must have been some mistake for Daisy here is my daughter and this is our home."

Miss Brown stood amazed, scarcely knowing what to say or do. At last she said indignantly, "Yes, indeed, there surely has been a dreadful mistake and you will kindly pardon me for my intrusion and direct me to the home of Mr. Theophilus Brown. It is very peculiar indeed that they did not meet me at the depot." With that she turned her back and flounced into the house from which she emerged presently with her bags and bundles. By way of explanation she said, "I have not visited my brother for twenty years and consequently I know nothing of the family."

Mrs. Brown kindly offered to send the car to her brother's, as it was too far to walk with all the bundles. When they arrived Mrs. Theophilus Brown apologized for not meeting Aunt Marilla, saying that she had been mistaken as to the time the train was due.

Daisy was very happy over the change of aunts. She flew into the house after Miss Marilla's exit and ran up to awaken the children.

"Joe, oh Joe and Jack, wake up quick, our own real Aunt Mary is here!"

Joe sat up and stared at Daisy vacantly, "I don't care for no real Aunt Mary," he murmured.

"Yes, but this one is so nice," and finally after much explanation and coaxing, she convinced the children that there was a new Aunt Mary and then there was a rush to get into their clothes and down the stairs. They danced around Aunt Mary, kissing and hugging her. Everyone was very happy. The evening was spent in explanations on Aunt Mary's part while the children told of the proceedings of the day.

Hanson, the report of the engineer, and the report of the viewers in said project; and the Clerk having duly notified the Judges of said court of the filing of said petition and proceedings, the court did thereupon make and file this order setting the time and place of hearing upon said petition and reports as hereinafter stated; now pursuant to such order Notice is Hereby Given, That said proceedings for the straightening, deepening, widening and control of the Clearwater river and Clearwater lake and the improvement of the same as prayed for in said petitions are now pending in this court, and that the engineer's report thereon and the viewers' report showing the nature, location and plans of said proposed work, the lands, highways, persons, parties and corporations affected thereby, the estimated costs thereof, the estimated benefits to be derived and the estimated damages to be suffered by each and every tract of land and private or public corporation likely to be affected by said improvements, and the names of the owners thereof are on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the court house in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, subject to inspection by any and all persons or parties; that the nature of the proposed improvement is the straightening, deepening and widening of said Clearwater river by the construction of a ditch to form a channel therefore partly along the old channel and partly across bends in the river so as to shorten its course, and the construction of such other improvements in connection therewith as are necessary to properly control and facilitate the flow of the waters of said river, especially in all that part of its channel commencing in Section 27 of Township 150 North of Range 37, West in Clearwater County, State of Minnesota, and ending in Section 31 of Township 152 North of Range 42 West in Red Lake County, Minnesota, and also that part of Ruffy Brook, a tributary of said river, commencing in Section 4, of Township 149 North of Range 37 West in Clearwater County, Minnesota, and thence extending to its junction with the Clearwater river. That the route of the proposed ditch follows the general course of said Clearwater river except as more specifically described in the engineer's and viewers' reports now channels are cut through various points along said river across bends of the same constituting and making a new improved channel for said river with a forty foot wide bottom in its upper course, and a fifty foot wide bottom in its lower course, and a depth of approximately twelve feet.

That a general description of the lands, public roads and corporations affected by the said proposed improvements, and the lands reported by said viewers as damaged thereby or as assessable for the construction and maintenance of such improvement is as follows: Section 1, 2, 11, 12, 13, 24, of Township 151 North of Range 42 West in Red Lake County, Minnesota; Sections 25, 26, 31, 35, 36, of Township 152 North of Range 42 West in Red Lake County, Minnesota. Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 28, 29, 30, of Township 151 North of Range 41 West in Red Lake County, Minnesota; [illegible]

American Legion Corner

THY BROTHER'S KEEPER

By Stafford King
Minnesota Legion Adjutant.

(Recently The American Legion in St. Paul provided a military funeral for a former soldier who was killed while attempting robbery. The following was written on that occasion in answer to those who adversely criticised the Legion's action.)

Nothing to tell who the dead might be;
But in his lapel was a tiny button
Of silver and bronze and blue
Bearing upon its face these words
AMERICAN LEGION.
None there who know his name,
Nor whence he came,
But the emblem said he was a Legionaire.
Dust to dust as the bugle lulled his sleep—
His body went back to the sod that bore it,
While o'er his grave his buddies
Paid him honor.

Some there were who wondered
But few there were who wept.
WHO ARE WE TO JUDGE?
Who knows what sorrow and what care
Drove him to his death?
Who knows the struggle he had made,
The hardships he had known?
Perhaps he knew not what he did,
Who knows?
He paid with his life
For the crime which he attempted,
THE AMERICAN LEGION DOES NOT CONDONE,
NEITHER DOES IT CONDEMN.
It cares for its flock,
The black sheep with the white.

The little silvered button was mute evidence
That the dead had served his country;
That he had suffered; had given of his blood
That Our Flag might still be free.
IT WAS ENOUGH.
We too had served and service made us kin.
Blood of his blood and blood of ours had mingled;
And tho society cast him out
We did for him that which,
But for the grace of God,
He might have done for us.

No mother's tears were shed for him;
No father's hand bade him farewell;
But he went forth into the Great Unknown
As a soldier should,
With the volleys of his comrades over him.

Because for a moment he had gone astray,
Because he was weakened and afraid,
He was especially ours.
We sorrow that we did not find him sooner;
We grieve in that we were so late,
He was our brother, shamed and dead,
But was our brother still.

Boost! Boost! Boost! What for? Why for Fertile, Minnesota," is the slogan of Fertile Legionnaires, who have many plans for carrying out their idea, including the placing of a "Fertile" name-plate on every automobile.

"On to Virginia," is in the minds of 5,000 Gophers for the State Convention in August. Virginia citizens are no pikers. They have just voted $2,500 to the Burt Pratt Post to entertain the Gophers.

"Hitting on all six" is the word from Montevideo Stall, Minnesota Horse and Buggy club. Forty-five members are paying into the Stall enough money to make the New Orleans trip next October.

"Boost for Bagley" is the watchword of Bagley Legionaires. To begin with, they are boosting for a Bagley Commercial club and are securing a box factory for their home town.

Teachers of rural schools surrounding Wadena, are reporting the names of all great war veterans to the Wadena Legion Census Drive committee so that they may be interviewed and their government claims looked into.

By the light of fourteen red, white and blue candles fourteen Gold Star mothers of Monticello sat down to a party in their honor on the anniversary of the formation of the local Legion Auxiliary Unit.

Camp Fire Girls will help Rushford Legionaires sell poppies for Memorial Day. Hundreds of thousands of poppies made by disabled and unemployed veterans are being ordered by Minnesota posts and units from Mrs. Sandy Hamilton, 900 Plymouth Bldg. Minneapolis.

With a whoop of joy, one Minnesota congressional district has gone over the top by surpassing its total of paid-up Legionaires for 1921. Last year the First District had 3,279 Legionaires. Already it has 3285 paid up for 1922.

The Legion Athletic club of Hancock has made such a hit that it has been made available to any citizen who wishes to join. A full line of sporting goods and equipment, games etc., has been purchased.

Six snare drums, two bass drums and half a dozen fifes and trumpets make up the Lake City Legion drum corps which will go to Virginia to boost for the city on Lake Pepin.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"IT IS FINISHED."

(John 19:30)

No greater shout of triumph ever rose to the listening skies than this victory-announcing cry of the dying Christ. Though bleeding from innumerable wounds and exhausted unto death by the raging conflict, the mighty Captain of our salvation has routed the enemy and forever redeemed our immortal souls from the bondage of sin and death and hell. The first prophecy is fulfilled: "I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel." (Gen. 3:15). The woman's seed, Christ, and the Old Serpent, Satan had met in mortal combat to battle for the souls of men; the Christ is wounded but He triumphs: "It is finished! I have won!"

Love's redeeming work is done,
Fought the fight, the battle won.

The Savior rejoices and exults that peace is again established between God and man, that the fiery wrath of God is quenched, His exacting law fulfilled, forgiveness of sin secured, lost paradise regained, and the kingdom of God, the kingdom of righteousness, of joy and peace, founded on the earth.

No greater word—for it is only one word in the original language—was ever uttered in heaven or on earth, since no greater deed was ever accomplished by God or man. It fills heaven with joy, earth with salvation, hell with fear and despair. It is the joyous shout of our victorious King, mighty in battle. It is the exulting cry of our merciful High Priest, who can now enter into the holy of holies with His sacrificed blood and obtain eternal redemption for all mankind. It is the glorious announcement of our Prophet, whose messengers can now go out into all the world with the sweet invitation: "Come, for all things are now ready. God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself; therefore be ye reconciled unto God!"

Through all eternity will this blessed cry of victory resound before the throne of the Lamb, where saved sinners from every tribe and nation will sing: "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength and honor, and glory, and blessing." (Rev. 5:12).

Will you be one of that great throng? Will your voice join with theirs to celebrate this victory of the Christ? The place is there for you; the cry, "It is finished," is spoken of your redemption; the Christ suffered and conquered over Satan and Death for you. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." You are included in the world; you are to share the benefits of this love of God. Will you?

Then hear with joy this triumphal cry of the Savior; make it the rock on which you build your hopes for future bliss and glory; make it your payment for the guilt of your sins, your defense against the accusations of the evil one, your entrance-fee to the gates of heaven. Look to the Cross on Golgatha, hear the victorious shout of Christ, your Savior, and say:

Not all the blood of beasts
On Jewish altars slain,
Could give the guilty conscience
peace,
Or wash away the stain.

But Christ, the heavenly Lamb,
Takes all my sins away;
A sacrifice of nobler name,
And richer blood than they.

My soul looks back to see
The burden Thou didst bear,
When hanging on the cursed tree,
And knows her guilt was there.

Believing I rejoice
To see the curse removed;
I bless the Lamb with cheerful voice,
And sing His bleeding love.

GOOD EFFECT OF NEW MOVEMENT ALREADY NOTED

Inquiries Concerning Thief River Valley Lands Come in Gratifying Numbers.

Good Meeting of Business Men and Farmers Last Evening Boosts Project Along.

Speakers From Goodridge and Grygla Approve Plan and Promise Their Support.

The publicity given the program of the newly organized Thief River Valley New Settlers' association has already resulted in a surprising number of inquiries concerning the lands offered in this section and assurance that within a week at least a dozen parties will arrive from different points in North Dakota and southern Minnesota to make a personal inspection of what the region has to offer in the way of inducements to new settlers. This highly gratifying report was presented by Secretary J. J. McCann at a meeting of the association held last evening at the Commercial club rooms at which there was a fair attendance of townspeople and farmers.

Oscar Smith, state commissioner of immigration, who was scheduled to deliver an address at the meeting, found it impossible to be present and President H. W. Protzeller was forced to somewhat rearrange his program. This included addresses by local people and visitors from Goodridge and Grygla, all of which were very good and showed that people are deeply interested in the work of the association.

A Wrong Impression.

Olaf Ramstad was the first speaker called upon. He recently returned from a trip through certain districts in Wisconsin and Iowa where he had tried to interest a number of people in the lands offered in the Thief River Valley. He said one of the impressions this association should first set out to overcome is the idea prevailing in many quarters that this is a cut-over region. Even the state emigration department at St. Paul seems inclined to classify Thief River valley lands with those of the timbered sections to the east and this is proving a greater drawback to settlement than is generally supposed. He called attention to the fact that the state is at the present time expending $17,000 a year to secure new settlers as compared to $65,000 appropriated by Wisconsin for the same purpose. Mr. Ramstad said that he believed the association could accomplish a vast deal of good by having a place picked out to show the prospective settler when he arrives and then treating him right after he decides to settle here.

C. L. Hansen said he believed the association was in a position to accomplish a great deal of good and was the first attempt on the part of men representing both the city and country to work together for a common object. He said the land business had not heretofore been carried on in a manner that secured the best results even for the real estate dealer and he was of the opinion that the latter would be a gainer under the new plan. With merchants, farmers, bankers, preachers and the public generally setting out to see that the man who settles here receives a square deal and all the aid and encouragement possible, the latter is bound to be impressed and feel that he has cast his lot among people who appreciate him.

Wants More Neighbors.

Hans Anton, president of the Thief River Co-operative Creamery association and one of the best known dairy men in this section, gave an excellent talk. He said if all farmers in the county lived within half a mile of their nearest neighbor instead of two or three miles there would be less dissatisfaction expressed. The maintenance of schools would cease to be a burden, roads would be built, churches supported and a much greater interest taken in community life generally. The farmer is as a general thing a neighborly cuss, said the speaker, and likes to mingle with his kind.

"If there were ten cows on every quarter section in Pennington county," said Mr. Anton, "it would mean the addition of hundreds of thousands of dollars to the wealth of the community. It would mean the retention right here of the 40 per cent out of every dollar paid by the creamery which now finds its way to farmers living outside our own trading territory.

Shows Farming Growth.

J. S. Arneson, former immigration commissioner, spoke of the work of that office. He said statistics showed an increase of 70,000 in the number of farms in the United States during the past decade and of this number nearly one-third had been credited to Minnesota. He strongly urged support of the New Settlers' association, stating that during the time he was in office he did not remember of running across a single instance where Pennington county had been called to his attention as a desirable place of settlement. This was largely the fault of the people themselves as the information must come from them in the first place in order to be made use of by the commission. Mr. Arneson explained the method employed for securing settlers in Wisconsin and the safeguards thrown around the newcomer by the authorities in that state. Because of his wide knowledge of the subject the address of Mr. Arneson was listened to with particular interest.

Outside Visitors Speak.

A. J. Anderson of Grygla, said the Settlers' association was one of the best organizations ever launched. He said the region to the northeast of Thief River Falls is steadily gaining in population and prosperity and would make even more rapid progress if people living right here would show a greater amount of confidence in its future. The great trouble, said Mr. Anderson, is that everything we hear of located somewhere else seems to be better than what we have at home, when as a matter of fact we are better off than most other sections of the country. He said a great improvement has taken place during the eight years he has lived here and gave much of the credit to the work done by the farm bureau in assisting the farmer to get a foothold with stock and diversified crops, particularly potatoes.

J. P. Jensen of Goodridge, invited representatives of the association to be present at a community club meeting to be held in that village on April 21, and he was assured that a number of members would be present.

Carsten Christensen, who has farmed in Pennington county for 22 years, said he knew of no place where the opportunities were better. This new settler movement should have started years ago, he said, as it would have meant a larger and more prosperous population for Pennington county. He warned the newcomer against buying more land than he can properly and economically farm as this is one of the big mistakes. Any intelligent man who will go into dairying and diversified farming in Pennington county and can get along without buying everything he thinks may sometime come handy, will make the venture a success, said the speaker.

At the close of the meeting President Protzeller appointed A. J. Anderson, Grygla; J. P. Jensen, Goodridge; K. O. Gigstad, St. Hilaire and E. C. Karwand, Hazel, as representatives of the association in their respective neighborhoods.

The meeting wound up with a lunch served by Mrs. Alma Strupp.

AGENT'S DISTRICT TO INCLUDE PARTS OF TWO COUNTIES

Grygla Section and Southern Marshall Placed Under Pennington County Agent.

At a meeting of county agents held at Crookston on Saturday at which ten northwestern counties were represented, a large amount of important business was transacted. It was decided to add a number of the townships in Marshall and Beltrami counties to the territory covered by Agent J. J. McCann of Pennington county with headquarters at Thief River Falls. The district thus added comprises the townships of New Solum, Excell, Agdar, Grand Plain, Moylan, Esplee, Newfolden, Holt, East Valley, Mud Lake, Ekvoll and Valley in Marshall county and the territory around Grygla in Beltrami county. Mr. McCann will for the present spend two days each month at Grygla for the accomodation of farmers residing in that section.

F. W. Peck, of the agricultural extension department of the University of Minnesota, was present at the Crookston meeting. Other well-known men in attendance were N. H. Swanson, publicity director of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation; F. E. Balmer, county agent leader, and F. L. French, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation.

"The Immense Agricultural Problems," "How These Problems Are to be Met," "The Improvement That Can be Made," and "A Permanent and Balanced Program of Work," were the subjects considered.

SEES GREAT BENEFIT IN CONSTRUCTION OF ROAD TO RED LAKES

C. G. Selvig Congratulates Citizens of Thief River Falls on Successful Outcome of Agitation for Needed Highway.

Mayor John Bratrud has received from Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, a letter congratulating him on the progress made in the attempt to secure a road from Thief River Falls to the Red Lakes. Mr. Selvig, who is president of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy commission, sees in the construction of this road an important aid to the development of the region to the west of the lakes, a matter in which he is intensely interested. Mr. Selvig's letter is as follows:

"Hon. John Bratrud, Thief River Falls, Minn. Dear Mr. Bratrud: I read with great pleasure a recent statement that the projected roadway from Thief River Falls to Red Lake is assured and that the work on it will be started at an early date. The fine co-operation shown in this enterprise by the different groups involved is splendid. I wish to congratulate you and the City of Thief River Falls for the part you have taken in this project.

"It will be a matter of interest to you to learn that upon Mr. Meyer's return from the East on April 24 that the final plans for the Red Lake project will be presented to the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board. There will be a meeting held in Thief River Falls shortly after that date at which meeting these plans will be presented.

"The problems of flood control and road-making go hand in hand in the development of the territory east of Thief River Falls. Everything has been done to expedite the drainage project but on account of the many interests involved and the further necessity of securing the approval of the Department in Washington there have been some unavoidable delays. You will be pleased to know, however, that the viewers have been appointed and that the final hearing can be arranged for shortly.

"A few years hence when all of these projects have been completed and the beneficial results obtained begin to show, I should like to join you on a trip over the new roadway from Thief River Falls to the beautiful park region lying north of and between the Red lakes."

FIRST SEEDING OF WHEAT IN COUNTY STARTED MONDAY

If Good Weather Continues the Work Will Be Ten Days Ahead of Last Year.

Wheat seeding in Pennington county was started on Monday when G. C. Shannon of Sanders township began putting in his crop. This is the first report of seeding reaching the county agent's office. Last year the first report came in one day earlier, but only a very few got started at that time. A cold spell followed and farmers were unable to do much of anything further until the 21st. Should the present good weather continue it will mean that wheat seeding in general will be about a week ahead of a year ago.

It is estimated that there will be a reduction in the wheat acreage of the county this year of at least 15 per cent as compared with 1921. Many who were intending putting in a considerable acreage of this cereal have changed their minds and will seed oats or barley instead, fearing the effect on wheat of the late start.

Winter rye is coming along fine, the snow fall following the early break-up having seemingly benefitted the grain greatly.

No Mercy Shown Speeders In Judge Tarrant's Court

Patrolman E. S. Johnson has started gathering in the speeders and Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant is doing just what he promised to do with those found guilty of violating the ordinance. Milton Lund and Clarence Pawling, two young chauffeurs, are the first victims of the new order and they were each fined $12.50 on Saturday. Donald P. Gamble was up on a similar charge on Monday and he received the same dose.

Judge Tarrant in passing sentence on the first two said there was no excuse for their offense. "Don't you boys read the papers?" he asked. "For six months articles have appeared telling just what would happen in case the law were violated and yet you took a chance." One of the lads admitted having read the notices but said the same threats were made a year ago and he had driven his car pretty much as he pleased anyway without anything being done about it. In order to prove that this year the law means just what it says the court assessed the minimum.

Christofferson to Open New Store on East Side

The Prichard company, general contractors, on Monday began the excavation work for a building on Bridge street just east of Markley avenue for Carl Christofferson & Co., who will occupy same with a full line of groceries as soon as completed. The structure is to be 25x40 feet with full basement. The present business of the concern on East Third street is to be continued, thus providing two stores, one on the East and one on the West side.

Geo. W. Walker, engineer in charge of the work being carried on by the Red Lake Flood Control and Conservancy commission, arrived this week from Minneapolis and will look after matters pertaining to the big job at this end for the present. He left yesterday morning for Bemidji but will be in the city at frequent intervals during the progress of the work.

SEASON'S FIRST BOOSTER FEAST WELL ATTENDED

About 150 Persons Present at Merchants Association Banquet on Monday Night.

Plan of Campaign For Better Business Outlined By Many Enthusiastic Speakers.

Wednesday Night Opening Feature Expected to Draw Big Crowds to the City.

If approval of a certain plan and unbounded enthusiasm in carrying it out count for anything, the program just launched by the Thief River Falls Merchants association should go across with a bang. The members will not confine their efforts to the securing of a greater volume of business for the city alone, but will pay out good money and lots of it in order to provide amusement and entertainment fr those who may be visitors in the city.

The program was explained at a banquet held at the Brumund hotel on Monday evening when 150 men and women gathered to discuss the subject. Every industry and every civic organization in the city was represented and all present promised to give their best endeavors to extending the fame of Thief River Falls as a trading center. The banquet was given for the purpose of impressing on the people the necessity for working in concert toward this one end in order that the city as a whole and all industries, whether manufacturing, merchandising or laboring, might be benefited by the movement.

Open Wednesday Nights.

H. O. Loken acted as toastmaster and explained the plans of the association, particularly as these apply to the Wednesday night opening feature. He stated that the city has no extensive factories with large pay rolls from which to draw business and for that reason must make its appeal to the surrounding country. In order to do this it will be necessary to provide something besides bargains, said the speaker, and proceeded to outline the plan. Every Wednesday will be designated as out-of-town day. Stores will be kept open in the evening for the accommodation of visitors and a program of entertainment and amusement given for their benefit. This will take different forms—band concerts, pavement dances, contests for boys and girls from the farms, games, sports and such other diversions as the committee from time to time may decide upon. The co-operation of the Woman's club, Girls' Community club, Legion Auxiliary and other women's organizations will be asked in seeing that all these different entertainments are properly conducted.

E. O. Mogensen followed Mr. Loken, going more fully into details of the plan. He laid particular stress upon the necessity for providing something of an amusement nature to draw the people to the city on these nights and said that it might later be found advisable to change the program outlined in many respects. The main idea, according to the speaker, is to keep Thief River Falls constantly in the minds of the people residing in the neighborhood so that when they speak of "going to the city" for any purpose, the county seat of Pennington county will be the city referred to.

Helps Everybody.

G. Howard Smith's address was full of pep and very highly approved. He showed how everybody was helped when something is done to boost business generally. It is not alone the retailer who benefits when people make a city their trading center but the benefit extends to every activity. The one thing necessary in order to make Thief River Falls the largest and best city in the entire region is concerted boosting, according to Mr. Smith. If every man and woman now residing here will say something good for the town and country whenever they have an opportunity the result will in a very short time be astounding, he maintained.

Other speakers along the same line followed, among them being H. C. Johnson, of the Nortz Lumber company; H. W. Protzeller, president of the New Settlers association; Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president of the Commercial club; Mrs. Geo. Biddick, president of the Woman's club; Miss Ida Tandberg, of the Community Girls; Oscar Paulson, commander of the American Legion; Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg, president of the Legion Auxiliary, and W. W. Prichard, Sr.

Affair Well Handled.

Manager H. W. DeParcq of the Brumund has come in for a lot of praise for the manner in which the large crowd was handled. The banquet itself was excellent and all the appointments of a high order. Flowers for the tables were furnished by the Thief River Greenhouses, and the violin selections by Lawrence Ecklund, with Mrs. Holmberg as accompanist, were much appreciated.

Following is a list of those present: Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Christianson, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Loken, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Chommie, Mr. and Mrs. G. LIST 25 HOLSTEINS FOR SALE LOCALLY ON LIBERAL TERMS

Breeders' Offer Attracts Attention of Dairymen Anxious to Improve Herds.

The announcement made last week by the Pennington County Holstein Breeders' association of an intention to place a purebred sire on every farm in the county has attracted wide attention. There are at the present time 25 animals listed at the First and Peoples' State bank for the convenience of those who may wish to take advantage of the unusual offer made. This, in short, is that the breeder will sell a young registered sire at a low price to any man who is anxious to improve his herd, taking as a first payment such sire as is now being used by the purchaser and arranging for the additional payments on easy terms. The bank mentioned above will loan the required sum to the purchaser at six per cent interest for one year or arrangements may in some cases be made direct with the owner.

Those who have listed animals for disposal on these terms and the number owned by each are as follows: V. C. Noper, 5; Fred Beerbower, 1; S. E. Hunt, 8; Frank Hardesty, 2; Oscar Wilson, 5; Gus. Wilson, 4; Casper Weiner, 3; Fred Cuno, 1; Waldie Christensen, 1. These animals are all over 10 months old at the present time.

Gus. Hilliard this week purchased a young animal out of the McFarland herd which promises to become one of the big winners for the section. The bull is Lady's Echo DeKol, sired by Sir Inko DeKol Beets, owned at Winona and one of the very best individuals in the southern part of the state. Mr. Hilliard also bought four of the high grade cows brought here by the First and Peoples' bank, which will give him a good start. He is farming the P. W. Roark place southeast of town.

The Holstein men are much gratified at the interest displayed in their proposition. They say it will mean an unbelievable improvement in the quality of cattle owned by Pennington county farmers within a very short time. The terms on which the young stock is offered are such as can be met by almost any man who honestly tries to improve his condition and are not duplicated in any other community in the state. The present owners would greatly prefer that these purebred sires be kept in the county instead of being sold to outsiders and go to help build up the dairy stock in some other community.

Anderson Again Elected As Chairman of Red Cross

At a meeting of the Pennington County Chapter, American Red Cross, held in the Commercial club rooms last Friday afternoon, T. P. Anderson was elected president to fill the unexpired term of Dr. M. Geo. Milan, who resigned. The question of hiring a county nurse was laid over to be taken up at a later date, the season being so far advanced now that it was considered inadvisable to go further into the matter.

Elks Install Officers And Start After Members

At a meeting of Thief River Falls lodge No. 1308, B. P. O. E., held last Friday evening it was decided to launch a membership campaign which is to embrace every town to the north of this city and south to the boundary of the lodge's jurisdiction, which is the lower end of Mahnomen county. Andy Anderson is the new chairman of the membership committee and he has already mapped out his program. The intention is to hold a big initiation sometime during the latter part of May or first of June, when prepartions will be made for the admission of a large class.

The new officers were also installed on Friday night, the following taking their stations: L. G. Larsen, exalted ruler; G. W. Connell, esteemed leading knight; L. H. Bennes, chaplain; E. M. Korstad, inner guard; H. O. Chommie and R. M. Sheldon, organists.

Brown is Bound Over on Murder Charge at Fargo

Andy Brown, charged with murder in connection with the death of Marie Wick, Grygla, in a Fargo hotel last June, waived preliminary hearing Friday and was bound over to the Cass county district court. He was remanded to the jail without bail.

Many Inquiries Received Anent Thief River Lands

J. J. McCann, secretary of the Thief River Valley New Settlers association, has already received in the neighborhood of 20 inquiries concerning Pennington county lands, most of them from parties residing in southern Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois. He is giving his best endeavors towards furnishing them with the information wanted and is hopeful of securing at least a number as permanent settlers.

The spring land movement in this neighborhood is giving evidence of revival, according to real estate dealers. Among the recent arrivals are noted J. M. Ryerson, who comes from Irene, Ill., with his household goods, farming implements, six horses and one colt, and B. F. Lund, formerly of Estherville, Iowa, who has four horses with which to begin work. Both these men have settled near Mavie. John Duhaux comes from Raymond, Minn., and has settled on a farm near Goodridge, bringing five cows and four horses.

PENNINGTON WILL RETIRE FROM POST AS SOO PRESIDENT

Has Been in Service 35 Years and Filled Many Important Positions With Road.

Edmund Pennington, president of the Soo Line, in whose honor the County of Pennington was named, has announced that he intended to retire from his position soon. After 35 years of service on the Soo, and having reached, as he said, "the allotted three score and ten," Mr. Pennington will resign. "I have contemplated resigning for some time," Mr. Pennington said. "I will not say just when, but when the time comes I will make a statement."

Mr. Pennington acknowledged he has lived through the most interesting years possible in the railroad business.

"It is not the fun to run a railroad now that it used to be," he said. "We have the government body on the one hand telling us what to charge and another, on the other hand, telling us what to pay and railroading has become a much different business than it was some years ago. I doubt whether it will ever come back."

Since Mr. Pennington came to the road as assistant superintendent, the Soo has grown from 218 miles in length to 5,000. In 1888 Mr. Pennington became superintendent of the Soo, a year after he had come to it. In 1898 he was elected general superintendent and from 1899 until 1905 he served as general manager. He became vice-president in 1905.

Base Ball Enthusiasts Meeting at Crookston

Baseball enthusiasts held a meeting in the council rooms last evening at which steps were taken to put a team representing Thief River Flals in the field this year. The tentative plan is the formation of a five or six team league to be composed of Thief River Falls, Crookston, Ada, Red Lake Falls, Fertile, McIntosh and perhaps Warren and Gonvick. The details were left to a committee composed of Dr. G. A. Penney, P. J. Keating, Peter Morse, O. R. Smith and S. V. Arneson and a delegaton representing the city will be present at a meeting of fans from all the towns mentioned to be held at Crookston this evening.

Meeting Date Changed.

Secretary G. H. Husby announces that hereafter the regular meetings of the Local Federation of Union Men will be held on the third Sunday afternoon of each month at the I. O. O. F. hall instead of Monday evening. The sessions will open promptly at 2:30 p. m.

Another example of our luck is that every time the political pot boils we have to tote wood for it.

ENTERS CONTEST AS A CANDIDATE FOR JUDGESHIP

G. Halvorson of This City Will Go Before Electors as Opponent of Grindeland.

Two Already Seek Office of Superintendent of Schools. One is Ex-Service Man.

K. K. Austin of Kratka Out For County Commissioner Post in Fifth District.

Three candidate filings at the office of County Auditor T. P. Anderson during the past week indicate that there is some interest being taken in local politics even at this early date. This makes a total of four, A. W. Crown having entered his name as an aspirant for the office of sheriff last week.

The most interesting development is the filing of G. Halvorson of this city for the position of district judge now held by Andrew Grindeland of Warren. The latter's term expires on the first of next January and it is understood he will be a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Halvorson has practiced law in Thief River Falls for 15 years and is well acquainted throughout the district. He is a graduate of the law department of the university of Iowa with the class of 1897, and practiced at Hawley, Minn., for 10 years before coming to this city.

Two For Superintendent.

Ole R. Sande, whose home is on a farm two and a half miles west of the city, on Saturday filed as a candidate for county superintendent of schools. He is a young man 29 years of age and a graduate of the State Teachers college at Moorhead. He began his teaching career in 1914 and has followed that profession ever since, with the exception of the time he spent at college and in the army. He put in four months in active service in France and afterwards spent five months with the army of occupation in Germany. Returning after his discharge he again took up his teaching work.

E. A. Mostue, county superintendent of schools for eight years previous to 1919, is again a candidate for the position, having filed on Monday. He was in charge of the county's schools during the early years of its organization and offers his record to prove his fitness for the post.

Geo. M. Gunderson, present superintendent, has not yet filed but has signified his intention of doing so within a short time.

One For Commissioner.

K. K. Austin of Kratka this week filed for county commissioner from the Fifth district, now represented on the board by Oscar J. Peterson. Mr. Austin is one of the best known farmers in that section of the county and enjoys a wide acquaintance. His is the first name presented from any commissioner district, although there are three places to be filled at the election this fall.

J. M. Bishop Being Urged To Enter Judgship Race

J. M. Bishop, one of the best-known among the pioneer attorneys of northwestern Minnesota, has been urged by friends to make the run for district judge this fall. Requests that he become a candidate are not confined to old neighbors in Thief River Falls but come from all over the district. Judge Bishop has not decided upon his course as yet.

No objection to the Pennington county man is likely to be raised on the score of qualification. He attended the University of Iowa and graduated in the law course and classical course at the University of Valparaiso, and holds degrees as a bachelor of science, bachelor of arts and bachelor of law. He began practicing in Marshall county, Iowa, in 1890 and came to Thief River Falls in 1892. For 12 years he served as municipal judge of the city and has made the law his profession for more than 30 years.

Will Tell Boys and Girls How to Raise Dairy Stock

A short course in dairying for boys and girls who expect to join the dairy calf clubs in Pennington county this season will be conducted in the Commercial club rooms on Wednesday, April 26. L. V. Wilson of the university extension division will be the principal speaker. This will be an important meeting for those who intend entering the contests and it will be to their advantage to be present and hear what this expert has to offer.

Taken to Asylum.

A. B. Remmem, who last week attempted to commit suicide by jumping into Red Lake river, was on Friday adjudged insane by Judge of Probate Lars Backe and committed to the hospital at Fergus Falls. The examination was conducted by Drs. H. W. Froehlich and L. F. Fisher and the patient taken to the asylum by Sheriff LaBree the same evening.

Society and Club

Community Club Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Girls' Community club will be held Monday evening at their club rooms on Horace avenue north. The members of the club are very much pleased with the attendance at their entertainment Friday evening at the Lyceum. They are especially grateful to Manager Brumund for his hearty co-operation and for the use of the theatre at a very nominal figure. The club realized $83.50 after all expenses were paid. The short program given in conjunction with the picture, "The Ghost in the Garret" was well received. Misses Eileen Herron, Myrtle Krohn, Ann Leimers and Beatrice Sandum were the dancing dolls. Miss Esther Bennes and Miss Rose Flynn, students in the high school, gave the "sword dance." Miss Meta Kiland, in costume, sang "Love's Old Sweet song," while Misses Grace Wilson, Lois Wold, Lucile and Evangeline Burns, Josie Weeks and Florence Payne appeared in a minuet.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion will serve supper to the public from 4 to 6 Tuesday afternoon, April 18, at the Commercial club rooms. As this is their first attempt at anything of this nature it is to be hoped the public will attend and thereby encourage the ladies, who are using this method of raising money for the Auxiliary. All the proceeds or any amount in the treasury fund of this organization is used in helping ex-service men who are sick and disabled. A worthy cause such as this should bring a record-breaking crowd to the supper. There will be many good things to eat. The regular meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at 8 o'clock the same evening at the same place.

On the occasion of her birthday anniversary, Miss Esther Soards entertained a company of friends at her home, 307 Duluth Ave. S., Tuesday evening. Progressive whist was played at three tables. The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

Easter.

The past weeks we have been occupied with the sad story of Christ's suffering and death. Now comes Easter. Sorrow gives way to joy, and gloom to rejoicing, for now "is Christ risen from the dead and become the First-fruits of them that slept." The seal on the tomb of the crucified one is broken. The stone is rolled away. The guard is gone. Loving women in their perplexity are crying: "They have taken away the Lord, and we know not where they have laid Him." Timid disciples are running to and fro, but two men in shining garments suddenly stand by them and speak the Easter greeting: "Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen; behold the place where they laid Him." They saw and believed.

Easter morning, bringing us the news of the risen Lord, is the knell of tormenting cares and heartaches. Now that Christ is risen, there is but one cause for grief, sorrow and care, namely, unbelief and lack of faith. The soul that discredits the ressurection of Christ must be sad indeed. "For if Christ be not raised, ye are yet in your sins. Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the First-fruits of them that slept" (1 Cor. 15) He was delivered into death for our offences, and was raised again for our justification. He was the surety of fallen men, on whom all the debt and sins of all men were laid; He paid the debt, triumphed over death and hell, and rose from the grave. If you believe in Him, you are justified, and, being justified, your soul is at peace with God.

The objection is raised: How can one be at peace, joyful and happy in the midst of poverty, when one is barely able to give his family the necessities of life? Will faith in the resurrection of Christ relieve this pain and worry, this grief and sadness? Yes, if it be true faith. "For what shall we say of these things? If God be for us, who can be against us? He that spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?" Those are the words of faith. Though poor here, you are the heir of an everlasting kingdom. Though the Lord let you suffer, He will not forsake you. He, who clothes the lilies and feeds the sparrows, is pledged to support you. Want and poverty are not a ban to Easter joy. Rather does Easter joy alone bring a ray of hope and brightness, of joy and gladness into the dreary haunts of poverty.

Another says: How can I rejoice in the risen Savior when consumption is eating my lungs, rheumatism stiffening my joints, or cancer is gnawing my bowels; when my days are numbered and death is near? Ah, then above all you need the joy and gladness of Easter! See Him come forth from the tomb, glorious and strong in the body of His resurrection. See Him and believe, "He will soon deliver me from all evil and change my vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto His glorious body."

Still another complains: I could rejoice in Easter gladness if only I still had my loved ones with me; but they have gone before and left me sorrowing behind. Ah, sorrowing friend, is not the Easter message of joy just for such as you? Do not the words, "He is risen," contain a soothing balm for your sorrow? Indeed, if your loved ones have died in the Lord, they are not dead, but "they rest and shall stand in their lot at the end of the days." If you accept the message that Christ is risen from the dead, then can and must you believe that your dead will rise from the grave, for His prayer was: "Father I will that they also whom Thou hast given Me be with Me where I am, that they may behold My glory which Thou hast given me." Jesus rose from the dead and entered into glory. Is not that an earnest of His prayer's fulfillment? Ah yea, blessed are the dead that die in the Lord! They are not dead, but their soul is with Christ in Paradise, and their body rests in the cool earth until He shall call it forth and lead it into the glories of everlasting life. If you believe in the crucified and the risen one, He will do the same for you. Why then sorrow and mourn?

Nay, the Easter message conveys a joy and gladness to all, if only they will accept it in faith and trust. To him who struggles with want and poverty it brings the tidings of a victorious, all-powerful, considerate Savior, who has borne his sorrows and griefs; who has a heart for them that suffer. To the sick in body it brings the hope of final deliverance from all ills, of perfect health and happiness on the plains of everlasting peace. To those who mourn it brings the assurance of a future meeting in the beautiful mansions of heaven.

Then let us rejoice and be glad that the crucified one is risen. Let us look to the empty tomb and find in it the picture of our grave and that of our dear dead. Let us see the glorious body of the risen Man of Sorrows, who had been bruised and wounded, and see in it the image of our glorious bodies. Let us follow the risen one from the depths of humiliation to the heights of glory and enter into the Kingdom of Peace and Rest.

"He is risen!" Christ has triumphed over his foes. "He is risen!" By faith His triumph is ours.

OUR 20TH ANNIVERSARY
A Score of Years of Achievement!

THE success of the J. C. Penney Company constitutes an important chapter in the history of mercantile achievement in the United States. Founded in 1902, its one store did a gross business that year of $28,898.11. Twenty years later, in 1921, the number of stores had grown to 312, scattered thruout 27 States, and the gross business had attained the colossal figures of $46,641,928.20. This great expansion was not the result of luck—it did not just happen—but was the outcome of an earnest and conscientious effort in the interests of the public this Company has so faithfully served.

In commemoration of the Company's Twentieth Year in business, plans have been completed to open more than 50 new stores this Fall.

We naturally feel proud of this achievement of a score of years, but we fully appreciate that its accomplishment was made possible only by the hearty support accorded us by our legion of friends. For your part, we heartily thank you. In the future as in the past, we shall strive to merit your patronage.

GOING AFTER BUSINESS.

Thief River Falls merchants are wasting no time in bewailing the past. They have taken their medicine the same as business men in all other sections of the country and are not going to keep reminding themselves of the fact that conditions last year made hard sledding for the retailer nor increase the size of the bald spot on their heads through fear that the future holds nothing better in store.

Thief River Falls merchants are convinced that there is still business to be had and are going after their share. They refuse to think or talk of what is past and are only concerned with what is to be done in order to improve conditions in the time to come. This is certainly a wise viewpoint.

The experience of last year proved what can be done by a community which refuses to recognize any such condition as "a period of stagnation." When merchants in many other towns decided to cut down on their advertising, fold their arms and wait for "times" to change, those doing business in Thief River Falls launched a publicity campaign the like of which was never before seen in the state. The result was that people came from long distances to trade here, sales were kept as near normal as could reasonably have been expected and old stocks were cleaned out. The merchants took losses—heavy losses in some cases—but they squared themselves away and were prepared when things again managed to resume somewhere near an even keel.

They do not propose to let matters drift now that there is a let-up in the tension, but will continue to hammer away all along the lines which brought results before. They are determined not only to hold the advantage gained by their aggressive policy of last year, but will improve on their methods and widen their trading circle.

The plan of providing something for the entertainment and amusement of the public and not depending entirely upon bargain offerings is a good one. People ought to be able to come to Thief River Falls for other things besides spending their money. If the city can acquire a reputation of a civic and cultural center as well as a most desirable trading point it will be that much more gained. This program makes the aim of the merchants more than a business proposition and assures the assistance of all our people in helping establish the importance of the city.

A movement of this kind is a good thing all around. Its helpful effects cannot help but be noted within a very short time.

HARD WORK STILL COUNTS.

The salutatorian and valedictorian for the class of 1922 at the Thief River Falls high school are both girls. They are not city girls, both coming from homes where they have been forced to take their share of the hard work during all of their school years. One at least has practically worked her way through the high school.

Of the twenty-five honor students on the roll one is a boy and he resides in a small village in antoher county.

This is not a record of which the boys have reason to be proud. While it is nothing unusual for the girls to beat them to the places of highest honor in the class, it would seem as if a larger number might have managed to reach the "honorable mention" division. It probably also seems to some as if the girls living in town and at home should have been able to outdistance the two who were more or less handicapped by circumstances, but this may be a matter of opinion.

The lesson to be gained from the facts is that conscientious application and a determination to get ahead will overcome many discouraging drawbacks. Those who this year graduate with the highest honors will be found to have had a definite purpose in going through high school and did not merely regard the proceeding as a duty to be complied with because parents desired it. It is greatly to be feared that in too many cases the student fails to grasp the importance of getting the most there is to be had out of the four years spent in high school in spite of the fact that for more than 90 per cent these are the finishing-off years and should close with an educational equipment in possession of the student sufficient to enable him or her to take up a definite program of life work.

The probabilities are that the boys and girls of Lincoln high are coming out with as fine records as are students in any other school in the state and that the average of honor students is as high. No matter how charitable one may wish to be, however, the fact remains that there should have been a larger percentage of boys on the honor roll and that pupils living in the city should at least have kept pace with those coming in from a distance.

REV. KVALE AGAIN.

The congressional situation in the Seventh district holds considerable interest for the people of Thief River Falls inasmuch as it now looks as if Rev. O. J. Kvale, who was pastor of Trinity Lutheran church in this city for a short time previous to his entering the race against Congressman A. J. Volstead two years ago, seems to have a chance of defeating the latter this time. Vance Chapman, "The County Chairman," who is supposed to be close to the "powers that be" within the party councils at St. Paul, has the following to say in his latest letter to the press of the state:

"When A. J. Volstead of national dry fame faces the November contest—he will not be listed in the June primaries unless Republican opposition arises—it will be with the sanction of the delegates to the recent Seventh district Republican convention, who gave him their official endorsement. There was only one candidate so the delegates could not do otherwise. However, according to the talk heard down this way, it was grudgingly given. It is said that had Theodore Christianson, who withdrew from the contest, cared to make a fight he would have won hands down. Endorsement or no endorsement, Volstead has a fight on his hands and a bad one at that. Rev. O. J. Kvale of Benson, who sent him to the cleaner's in the last primary election only to be disqualified because of an alleged violation of the corrupt practices act, is again on his trail and this time has not only the official backing of the Nonpartisan League, but that of the Democrats. He will file as an independent. On the question of dry and wet he is just as strong a dry as Volstead. The Anti-Saloon league, both national and state, is expected to rally to the Volstead standard and the fight will undoubtedly be one of the warmest ever staged in the district."

A Rattling Good Car.

Squire Herman of Wapakoneta, Ohio, last August looked over his flivver to arrange its pedigree for registration under the new state law. This is the result:

Radiator leaks, body squeaks, hole in the top
Where the rain comes through.
The windshield's broke, wheel lost a spoke,
But it hangs together, 'twill have to do.
Tail-light is busted, foot-boards are rusted,
Fenders are loose and rattle like sin.
The back got smashed, the tires are gashed,
But it's a darn good car for the shape it's in.

There's a man at the kitchen door who wants to know if he can clean up the cellar.

There's a cordial letter from the painter who says now's the time to let him figure on painting the house.

There's a telephone from the gardener who says he had some talk with us last fall about resodding the yard and terrace.

There's an alluring advertisement by the house furnishings firm which says new curtains and draperies will freshen up wonderfully.

There's the furnace man (think of it!) who says why wait until next fall to overhaul the furnace. Do it now and be ready for winter. (The nerve of him!)

There's Susie who says there are two or three things to be done to her bicycle and she guesses she'll take it to the shop if we'll kindly lug it down from the attic.

There's mother who says, if she could get that old fence torn down she'd have a man come and do some spading in the back yard.

There's the seed catalog in the mail, bearing on its cover in the reddest hue known to pictorial art, the picture of a tomato.

There's the dog rolling on his back in the sun.

There's the window open.
There's no coal left.
There's a robin.
There's spring.

Poor Fish.

A California wildcat oil well is said to be spouting fish, according to a news item. Well, anyhow, this is different from the usual sort which spouts prospectuses and you are the fish.

Wanted—Would like to board a little girl between 2 and 5.—Advertisement in Chicago Tribune.

"Learn to play golf in a Ford," advises a special correspondent. "Do the driving yourself and the Ford will do the putting."

Well Equipped.

"What do you suppose Old Soak does for his drinks nowadays?"

"Why he had the largest size bumper put on his car, filled the radiator with alcohol and got the biggest horn he could find."

Hopeless Wish.

Backward, turn backward,
Oh, Time, in your flight,
And give us the girl who would Stay home at night.

Nose-diving in an airplane as a cure for deafness is to be tried out in California. Sounds like cutting off one's head to cure a headache.

The Mother—"Shame on you, Doris, for being so selfish! You know I'll be careful of your frock; besides don't forget the times you've worn my silk stockings."

This epidemic of comment on ankles won't last long. Airplanes were thrilling when people first saw 'em.

Elevated Thought.

See by the papers a fresh guy kissed his girl right under her chaperon's nose. It would have been better to have kissed her right under her own.

"Nearly all the knowledge in the world has been acquired at the expense of somebody's burnt fingers."

Can't Fool Him.

"Oh, Paul, isn't our pitcher grand? "Oh, Paul; isn't our pitcher grand? He hits their bats no matter where they hold them."

"The Ghost of Antigonish" would not make such a bad movie title at that. And with all the spirits out in Hollywood it wouldn't be hard to get a cast for the production, either.

Meeting Severe Tests of Service

THE dominating idea which has sustained those guiding the activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is expressed in a series of products which have met successfully the severe test of sustained service.

The Directors of this Company, realizing that petroleum products are essential to the welfare of the community, are striving constantly to achieve an ideal of practical perfection in every product manufactured and sold by this Company.

The result is, that wherever strains are severest, wherever the need is most intense, there will be found products, devised by the experts of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), to meet the conditions and relieve the situation.

As an example of a product, which bears up under rather spectacular service tests, take Fortnite Long Time Burner Oil for railway signal lamps. Every traveler on the railroad realizes the vital importance of dependable signals. This dependability rests to a large degree upon the quality of oil used in the lamps. It has been found that wherever conditions are particularly severe Fortnite Long Time Burner Oil has delivered highly satisfactory service.

The same ideal of perfection applies to every one of the long list of petroleum products manufactured by this Company, whether the demand for them be large or small. Each of these products has a record of reliability. Each is made to meet the highest standard of quality and this quality is maintained.

This ideal of service to meet severe tests is one basis upon which to estimate the value to the community of the service rendered by this Company.

Public Forum

A Letter and the Reply.

Editor Times: The contents of the two communications sent herewith seem to me to of sufficient public importance at this time to warrant their publication in The Times. The first is a letter received by me while the last is my public answer in reply thereto.

The Letter.

Mr. O. O. Hofdal, Hazel, Minn.

Dear Mr. Hofdal: As we are again nearing the time of an election of county officers, I take the liberty in writing you as to the possibility of receiving your support in the coming election.

You remember, about two years ago, I was offered a position which paid nearly double the amount in salary of the position I am now holding. Before arriving at a hasty conclusion I conferred with several of the school board members, you being one of these, as to what action I should take in the matter. My experience with the county board had not been very pleasant up to this time and the salary which I had received was lower than salaries paid to several of my teachers. After obtaining the assurance of several of these school officers, yourself included, that if I would ever again ask for this position I would receive your united support, I have now decided to remain in the work. So as not to disappoint the school board members and the people in general who gave me such excellent support at the last election, I have now decided to take another term upon the strength of the promises of all of the above mentioned.

Referring to my farm interests, I shall say that I am now in the same position that all of the other farmers of this county are, possibly a little worse off, for the reason that I have had my land rented. Last fall my loan came due and I could not get a complete renewal so that I am now at the mercy of the loan company and I do not know what the outcome will be as I feel I cannot meet my obligations to them. If this property should be foreclosed upon, it will leave me and my family entirely without a home and the only thing I can then depend upon would be the position I am now holding.

Positions of the kind referred to above are not now so numerous as you know and for that reason, being of the same political faith that you are and in the same financial position that you and all other farmers are in, I am for these reasons and others above mentioned depending upon your support at this time as well as in the past.

Please let me hear from you in the near future as this, to a great extent, determines where I shall secure my support for the coming election.

Yours very truly,
GEO. M. GUNDERSON,
Co. Supt. of Schools.

The Answer.

Hazel, Minn., April 10, 1922.

Mr. Geo. M. Gunderson, Co. Supt of Schools, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Dear Mr. Gunderson: I have your letter of April 4, 1922, and have noted the contents very carefully. As these are of a political and therefore of a public nature, I am, with the permission and good will of the Thief River Falls Times, answering it by having them publish your letter to me and giving my answer. Then you yourself and the interested public and voters of the county can be judge and jury in the matter.

First, let me say that I remember very distinctly your telling me you and the county board were not getting along very well, because you wanted a raise in salary and, I believe, some other consideration. I did not blame you for liking to get more pay because you told me the salary you did receive was not sufficient to keep your family. We all like to get enough out of our work to live, if we can get it. On the other hand I did not blame the county commissioners for being a little reluctant in raising your salary, because you of course knew what the office of superintendent paid before you asked the voters so strongly to vote for you. Also because we, the taxpayers, very often condemn the commissioners because of too high taxes and too high salaries for county officials. I am sure you remember that was the case when you were on the farm, as it also is today.

I also remember very well that you told me you were offered a position with the Thief River Falls schools which would pay you more money, if you would resign as superintendent of the county schools. I was told by a reliable party that the position referred to has been discontinued for some time, so you very likely did not lose anything by sticking to what you asked the voters to give you. It is true that I did discourage you from resigning as county superintendent, but I do not remember of ever having promised you my support if you should ever again ask for this position. If you think that because I urged you to stay out your term I mean unqualified support for a second term, then you are mistaken. But I did tell you that I thought it best for you not to resign as you would in a way betray a public trust by quitting in the middle of the term.

But it is true, Mr. Gunderson, that I did in my mind intend to vote for you until late last fall. But as I then had gotten new information about yourself and had become quite well acquainted with our present teacher, Mr. Ola R. Sande, I decided to do my best to induce him to try for the office, because I consider him a real educator and a more generally qualified person for the position. But Mr. Sande is a fine gentleman and does not enjoy going in the way of anyone, and therefore we had to do a good deal of urging before he would agree to become a candidate. I told Mr. Sande that you had a farm to go back to, and you once told me that if it was not for what you got off the farm you could not have made both ends meet.

Also I note from your letter that you think you are possibly worse off than other farmers because you have had your farm rented. In your case that may be so for all I know, and if that is so, I would think it best for you to move back on the farm as soon as your present term expires. It is possible, too, if you do that it will be easier for you to get your loan fixed to your satisfaction.

I have been informed by letter from our former superintendent, Mr. E. A. Mostue, that he intends to enter the race for the position again at this time. I have neglected to inform Mr. Mostue that the other person whom I informed him I would support for superintendent was not an ordinary teacher of common qualifications, but a man of mature development, wide experience, and well founded understanding. He grew up on a farm west of Thief River Falls, where he worked hard at the routine duties of the farm and also at his school subjects under extraordinary handicaps. He worked his way through the eighth grade at Thief River Falls and later through the Moorhead Normal, where he graduated in 1914. He taught his first term of rural school in 1909 and since that time has been continually engaged in school work except during the time he attended the Normal and one year spent in the United States army. He is a vigorous young man, with pleasing personality and clean-cut, forceful expression, a man who I believe will make an excellent superintendent. His record as a veteran of the world war entitles him to special consideration both from yourself and the rest of the public. Mr. Sande served nine months with the American expeditionary forces and held the rank of corporal when discharged. Less than a year after his discharge he had the sad misfortune of losing his wife, leaving him with two infant children.

Really, Mr. Gunderson, I believe we have here a splendid opportunity to practice some of the things most of us preached so vigorously only a short time ago. I do not think it is expecting too much if I ask that you get together with Mr. Mostue on this proposition with a view to eliminating yourself and him from this contest, and to giving unitedly your most earnest support to a man who is most eminently qualified for the office of county superintendent, and one who has full claim to our support from a sentimental standpoint. I feel certain no lady will get into Mr. Sande's way and I think it consistent to expect the same of real gentlemen.

Hoping very sincerely that you and the public in general will appreciate my position on this question, I am,

Yours very truly,
O. O. HOFDAL.

Treat Catarrh new way
Head colds, too, yield to the double action of Vicks VapoRub

Apply Vicks up the nostrils. Snuff it well back. Also melt some Vicks in a spoon or tin cup and inhale the vapors. At night repeat and rub on neck. Vapors will be inhaled all night.

Sufferers from chronic catarrh will get welcome relief and better sleep thru this treatment, and persistency will be well rewarded.

Head colds are checked or completely warded off if thus treated at the onset.

Vicks combines in salve form the old, time-tested remedies—Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Oil of Turpentine. It is the most universal treatment today for all cold troubles as well as cuts, bruises and itching skin troubles.

Just rub it on and breathe in the vapors

A Song of Spring.

While The Times makes it a rule to fight shy of spring poetry on general principles, we are glad to give space to the following lines by Elmer Blomberg of Numedal township. The author has been confined to his bed for more than a year with tuberculosis of the spine but in a note to the editor hopefully remarks that he expects to be out by Christmas. A young man who can find anything to be joyful over under such circumstances is worthy of a place in the Gallery of Irrepressible Optimists and his poem is herewith published for that reason rather than for its value as a literary contribution:

SPRING-TIME

'Twas a lovely April morning
In the year of 'twenty-two,
When I heard a rooster crowing
And the summer winds were due.

When I heard a robin's twitter
And the sparrows' endless song,
Tho the frosts at night were bitter,
Thru the woods the birds did throng.

I could hear the water flowing
As I lay there on my bed;
On the highway cars were going
Right there past the old farmstead.

I could hear the coo-coo calling
From his perch up in the trees,
As the shades of night were falling
I could hear the hum of bees.

I could hear the crows a-cawing
As they gaily northward flew;
In the woods were snow-drifts
As the fragrance daily grew.

I could see out thru my window
How the lawn was growing green,
How the spring made its impression
On most everything I seen.

I could see the pussy willows
I could almost hear them sing
As I lay there on my pillows
Listening to the sounds of spring.

Soon would come the April showers
Which so common are in spring,
Then will sprout the glorious flowers
And the crickets song will ring.

It makes me cheerful, makes me happy
All what I above have said
But still I wish time would be snappy
Until the day I leave my bed.

COUNTY RECEIVED $74,660 LAST YEAR FROM STATE FUNDS

Paid in $33,781 as Taxes; Forty-four Counties Get More Than They Pay.

Minnesota returned to its eighty-six counties over $3.00 for every dollar paid by them as state taxes during the calendar year, 1921.

Figures just compiled by Ray P. Chase, state auditor, show that for the year total state taxes for all purposes paid by the counties into the state treasury amount to $11,481,146.28.

During the same twelve months the state returned to the counties in direct payments the sum of $9,135,489.55. At the same time the state supplemented these direct treasury returns with other payments in the shape of various forms of state aid, totaling $23,091,572.03. These supplemental payments included such items as soldiers' bonus and tuition, $7,233,214.73; trunk highways, roads and bridges, $5,677,243.83; drainage, forest fire relief, etc., $433,694.71; armories, parks and monuments, $411,359; educational, charitable and penal institutions, $9,346,060.76. In all the state returned to the counties directly or indirectly $34,672,718.31.

Pennington county paid to the state as a direct state tax $33,781.23. It received from the state treasury during 1921, $74,660.79 as a direct payment.

The taxes paid by the county direct to the state include the one mill road and bridge tax, the one mill school tax and the soldiers' bonus tax, no part of which is in any way used for the expenses of state government. The amount referred to above as paid directly back to the county does not include any of the supplemental treasury receipts before noted.

Of the eighty-six counties of the state, forty-four receive more from the state treasury than they paid in. They paid state taxes amounting to $2,503,536.70 and received directly $8,890,832.83. The other forty-two counties paid in more than they received as a direct return.

To the average taxpayer taxes are just taxes, an infliction to be patiently borne and subsequently paid and later some central authority indicted as responsible. He does not always realize that the state tax is apart from those levied for local purposes.

The tax rate for state purposes in Minnesota for the present calendar year is the lowest in years and with the statutory inflictions removed is without a parallel in the state's history. It is but a small fraction of the total tax paid by the taxpayers of the state.

Auto Truck Service From Thief River to Crookston

The Rambeck & Stone company of this city will within a short time place a two-ton truck in service for the transferring of freight between Thief River Falls and Crookston. A larger truck will be added at once if the business warrants. Another concern which last year covered the same territory will hereafter confine its operations to points between Crookston and Grand Forks, the business having grown to such an extent during the first year that all their trucks are necessary for that division. The Thief River Falls concern will make regular trips and has already secured contracts from large concerns sufficient to insure the venture being a success.

Red Lake County Jobs to Thief River Contractors

Thief River Falls contracting firms fared well in the allotment of contracts by the commissioners of Red Lake county last week. The Minneapolis Bridge company, represented by Isak Helseth, secured the contract for two bridges on the road between Terrebonne and the Polk county line, while L. R. Johnston, representing the Lyle Culvert company, was awarded all metal culverts. P. W. Roark will have the grading contract on this 21-mile stretch, his bid being 22½ cents per yard.

At the same meeting Red Lake county disposed of $125,000 worth of road bonds at 5½ per cent interest with a bonus payment of $1770.

Business Men to Inspect "Central" Exchange Today

At the close of the Commercial club luncheon this noon those present will make a tour of inspection of the central exchange of the Northwestern Telephone company and be given an opportunity to see for themselves just how their calls are handled. They will find that contrary to the opinion of many and in spite of the gibes of newspaper paragraphers, the girls at the switchboard do not put in the greater part of their time informing irate subscribers that "the line is busy" when such is not the case. Manager G. L. Sterns will pilot the visitors and these are certain to discover many matters of interest connected with this highly important public service.

Army Store Proprietors Pay License and Leave

G. Howard Smith as secretary of the Thief River Falls Merchants association, on Monday filed complaint in the municipal court alleging that O. Milstern and R. Holos, managers of the U. S. Army Store in this city, were conducting their business in violation of Chapter 39, laws of 1911, by wilfully and wrongfully engaging in a transient merchant business without a license and without having paid the tax.

A hearing was set for 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning but the men in the meantime paid $150 into the county treasury as required by law. The stock is being packed up and it is understood the concern will move from the city.

Wylie Well Represented At Court Hearing Here

Mike Herron of Wylie, accused by James Dreeland of stealing a ton of hay, was on Tuesday acquitted, after a hearing before Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant. The complainant produced six witnesses and the defense three while most of the male population of the hamlet were in the court room as interested spectators. The court held that the prosecution failed to make out a case that would warrant holding Herron for the alleged offense and he was discharged. County Attorney Theo. Qualo conducted the prosecution and State Senator O. A. Naplin appeared for the defense.

Windows Attract Attention.

Most of the stores in the city have been togged out in their Easter finery for some time, but none of the windows have made a deeper impression than those at the Oen Mercantile company's store. Roy Prytz, the new manager of the women's ready-to-wear department, is an artist as a window trimmer and he has changed the effect frequently. Next to newspaper advertising good show windows are probably the best business bringers in the world, a fact that most Thief River Falls merchants long ago discovered.

Exhibit by Minnesota Artists.

The Minnesota State Art Society will hold its annual exhibition of painting, sculpture and handicraft by Minnesota Artists from April 17th to May 8th in the Historical Society Building, St. Paul, Minn. After closing in St. Paul, this exhibition will travel to Northfield. Awards will be given in all classes of entries.

AT THE LYCEUM SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Mabel Julienne Scott and Elliott Dexter in a scene from George Melford's Production 'Behold my Wife!' A Paramount Picture

AT THE THEATRES

"BEHOLD MY WIFE" ONE OF FINEST FILMS OF THE YEAR

Hailed by the critics and motion picture public as one of the finest productions of the current season, George Melford's "Behold My Wife!" is coming to the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday. The story was adapted from Sir Gilbert Parker's novel of the Canadian Northwest, "The Translation of a Savage."

The central characters are the aristocratic son of an English family and the simple Indian girl whom he encounters in Canada while he is on business for the Hudson's Bay company. Receiving word from his fiancee back in England that she has broken with him because of his family's objection to their marriage, the youth, in a fit of rage, marries the Indian girl and sends her back to England as his wife to disgrace his blue-blooded sires. Then he proceeds to hit the toboggan in his own way. However, dramatic events work a transformation in both the young Englishman and his bride and the ending is a happy one.

"Behold My Wife!" has been filmed against a back-ground of snow-capped mountain peaks, bleak Canadian trading posts, and luxurious English country homes. The action is interpreted by a distinguished cast including Mabel Julienne Scott, Elliott Dexter, Milton Sills and Ann Forest. Frank Condon adapted the story to the screen. It is a Paramount picture.

DOROTHY DALTON IN FINE NEW YUKON PHOTO PLAY

Dorothy Dalton is back again in the role of a daughter of the great Canadian Northwest, a similar character to that in which she made such a success in "The Flame of the Yukon" several years ago. It was in such a role as she has in "The Idol of the North," J. Clarkson Miller's story, which will be seen at the Lyceum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, that Miss Dalton gained her reputation as a screen star.

Miss Dalton plays Colette Brissac, daughter of a French-Canadian miner, who fled to the wilderness to escape arrest for having killed a man. She is left without father and mother in a mining town built up over night and obtains a position in the Aurora Borealis, a saloon and dance hall of the town. She soon becomes one of the biggest drawing cards of the saloon and plays unmercifully with the miners, "trimming" them for all they are worth, but still remaining the most desired of all the girls.

In the dance hall she meets Martin Bates, a young engineer who has come from New York after a series of financial difficulties, and who fast becomes a worthless drunkard. In order to get even with the way she has treated them the miners force her to marry Bates. After the first shock Colette decides to make the best of it and determines to make a man of him. After many incidents of dramatic interest she succeeds not only in regenerating Bates but also in winning his love.

"SOCIAL VALUE," NEW PLAY WITH KATHERINE M'DONALD

The feature at the Lyceum theatre tomorrow will be "Her Social Value," a First National attraction, in which the "American Beauty," Miss Katherin MacDonald, appears. The engagement will be for Friday and Saturday.

Miss MacDonald in this picture portrays a type of character which has seldom been seen on the screen—that of a shopgirl in a large department store. She presides over the glove counter and in a novel manner makes the acquaintance of a society man.

The salesgirl, Marion Hoyte, has finer instincts than the other members of her family, who are contented with their lowly station in life; so when the society man, James Lodge, proposes marriage, she accepts and they are wed.

But complications ensue and although they love each other, they become divorced. Then one day there is an accident and the girl and her husband find themselves reunited in an extraordinarily original manner in a western mining camp, far from the drawing rooms in which they have moved.

The cast supporting Miss MacDonald is an exceptionally capable one, including such well-known players as Roy Stewart, Bertram Grassby, Betty Ross Clarke, Winter Hall, Joseph Girard, Lillian Rich, Vincent Hamilton, Helen Raymond, Violet Phillips and little one-year-old Arthur Gibson.

ANOTHER 1000-POUND COW ACCREDITED TO HOLSTEINS IN STATE

Eighty-two Animals of Breed Have Reached This Record in Minnesota, Heading List—Only One in 1915.

Minnesota has a new milk and butter wonder in a Holstein cow owned by J. M. Hackney of St. Paul. After 365 days on official test this cow, Molly Veeman Segis Pontiac, is credited by the Holstein-Friesian association of America with a production of 28488.2 lbs. of milk, containing 1019.19 lbs. of fat, equivalent to 1273.98 lbs. of butter. This record gives her the honor of being the 48th cow of the breed to produce over 1,000 lbs. of fat in 365 days.

Molly's best seven days' record is 718.1 lbs. of milk, containing 28.88 lbs. of fat, equivalent to 36.1 lbs. of butter. Fourteen different supervisors were employed in the conduct of the test.

The champion Holstein for Minnesota in the full-aged class for 365 days production is Duchess Skylark Ormsby, whose record of 27761.7 lbs. of milk and 1205.09 lbs. of fat, equivalent to 1506.36 lbs. of butter, surpasses all others, not only in Minnesota but in the United States, according to the records of the Holstein-Friesian association of America. This record production was made at the J. B. Irwin Farm, Minneapolis.

According to W. E. Peterson, superintendent of official testing at the Minnesota University, there are 82 Minnesota Holsteins in the 1,000 lb. class and a few each of the Guernsey and Jersey breed, making the Gopher state the leading state in America for cows that have produced 1,000 lbs. or more of butter in one year. Great interest has been shown in developing efficient cows in the last few years. In 1915 Minnesota had only one 1,000 lb. producer, according to Mr. Peterson. This was Duchess mentioned above. Besides giving Minnesota a flying start on high production she set a mark no other American cow has been able to reach. However, a Canadian Holstein lately has surpassed her.

Divorce may not be an unmixed evil, but we doubt if any woman ought to want to marry at every church in town.

A TALK WITH A THIEF RIVER FALLS MAN

Mr. R. J. Halvorsen, Printer, of 410 Riverside Ave., Tells His Experience.

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Thief River Falls man:

"My kidneys gave me quite a bit of trouble," says Mr. Halvorsen. "They didn't act normally and bothered me quite a bit by this irregularity. I was feeling pretty mean and easily tired. I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and it was only a short time before I noticed a change in my condition. My kidneys again acted normally and I was benefited a great deal."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Halvorsen had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

A farmer actually pays $395 for a stripped Titan—Remember—The Titan is a 3-plow tractor
THE VILLAGE SCHOOLMASTER

The Village Schoolmaster

has worked out for you the problem in subtraction which shows what a stripped Titan really costs. He says—"Remember the Titan is a 3-plow tractor." Don't forget that. It means one man can do 50 per cent more work. How much is it worth to you to be able to turn that extra furrow during the rush of spring plowing? The big draw-bar power of the Titan enables you to pull a wider disk with a drag or culti-packer behind it. In the harvest it handles two binders instead of one. On the belt it has power for practically any machine on the farm.

And talk about quality! Why, the first Titans sold seven years ago are still in active use.

Quality plus 3-plow power is what you get in a Titan.

A Contribution.

Upon opening the contribution box one morning we were surprised to find among the many (?) contributions a lead pencil. Just what does our friend and well-wisher mean? Does he wish to insinuate that it is a shortage of pencils that makes it impossible for the staff to put out a better paper? We realize that a little more use of the editorial pencil is necessary to improve the quality of our sheet; but we feel that as the "Progress" is a school publication, it would be more fitting for the students to turn in some finished newspaper copy than to contribute pencils for the use of the staff. The staff is doing its best, and turns out its full quota every week; but we know, from articles that have come in thru the contribution box, that the students can materially improve the "Progress" if they will continue to fill the contribution box. We appreciate your interest, friend of the pencil, but in the future we would much prefer the finished product.

Vacation Next Week.

The regular spring vacation of one week will be observed next week. The session since the Christmas holidays has been a long hard grind for both pupils and teachers and the little rest offered by the vacation will be heartily appreciated by both. The fifth six weeks period will be brought to a close immediately before vacation and in this way pupils and teachers will be able to forget school work as much as possible and come back refreshed and ready to tackle the final home stretch period with renewed force and energy. This is as it should be, for the last period of the year is necessarily the heaviest of the year.

Easter Vacation.

Four more days till vacation! Three more days! Two more! Last day of school! Thus the week has dwindled away, and Easter vacation is with us once more.

Easter vacation with all its symbols of spring is here! What thoughts of new flower-bedecked bonnets, fluffy chicks and bunnies, lilies and tulips, and eggs—the strictly fresh variety, hard-boiled and fantastically decorated, and the kind that sell for a nickel at the corner grocery store. While these things are all traditional of Easter, the true significance of the day is paramount in our thoughts.

Now, the time-worn question, "What shall we do?" is popped. How are we going to spend this whole week plus one day of glorious springtime? Someone, perchance some poor mid-night-oil-burner, answers, "Rest", another, in all probability a Senior, ambitiously shouts, "Work." Still another answers, "A good time." These answers are all very well, but the wisest is a combination of the three, "Rest, work and play"—let that be our slogan for the coming week.

In rest let us rid ourselves of the weariness that has come with the spring, and rejuvenate ourselves as nature herself is doing. In work, let us keep mind and body busy, and so ward off the laziness that is so apt to take us unawares at this season. Finally, in play, let us lay aside all care, and enjoy in the fullest measure the beautiful springtime of the year.

Parent Teacher Association Has Fine Meeting.

One of the most successful meetings of the Parent-Teacher association for the year was held in the high school assembly room Tuesday evening, April 4. The high school boys' glee club sang a series of five songs and made a decided hit. Those who heard them are now anxiously looking forward to the program which is to be given by the musical forces of the hgh school in the near future and in which the boys will take a prominent part.

The sixth grade department from the Washington school, Mrs. Karwand, teacher, demonstrated socialized recitations in history and geography. To say that the demonstration pleased and surprised the large audience is putting it mildly. The knowledge, interest, and enthusiasm shown by the pupils simply "took the auditors off their feet." Mrs. Karwand has secured very exceptional results with this form of recitation and she is to be congratulated upon her achievement.

Miss Josie Weeks, teacher of eighth grade English, discussed visual education and certainly did herself proud. Miss Weeks has an ease of expression that may almost be envied. She was furthermore well versed in her subject and showed in a very convincing manner the worth of this relatively new departure in pedagogy.

Unfortunately the films that had been secured and that it was planned to have shown at this meeting were so unsatisfactory that this part of the program was omitted. However, the excellence of the other numbers amply made up for this disappointment. So well had the cause of visual education been presented that the audience contributed ten dollars in the form of free will offering toward the purchase of a moving picture machine for the school.

Mr. Simley Speaks in St. Hilaire.

Our superintendent delivered the address of the evening before the Community club of St. Hilaire last week. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the high school which was packed to utmost capacity. Mrs. Fisher, Carl Sundahl, and Mrs. Clarence Erickson furnished music for the occasion. Thief River Falls' people, including the high school, are so well acquainted with their talent that any comment is unnecessary. Suffice it is to say their contributions were heartily appreciated.

Latin Club.

Monday, April the third, a program was given under the auspices of the Latin clubs in the high school auditorium. The main feature of the program was the Latin play given by the members of the Latin clubs under the direction of Miss Stebbins. This play showed how a Roman school was conducted; Roman costumes were worn; and the dialogue was carried on in Latin. Ole Helle, as the teacher had the main part. The play was a success in every way, every character taking his part well, and showing excellent training.

The entire program was as follows and was thoroughly enjoyed by all:

Reading—Mrs. Rapacz.

Piano solo—Mildred Engen.

Paper, "Roman School Days"—An edict written by the aedile Lucille Curtis and read by Pearl Weeks.

Play, "Roman School"—By members of Latin club.

Magister (teacher)—Ole Helle.

Index (judge)—Robert Halvorson.

Orator from Rhodes—Albert Stengelson.

Servi (servants)—Orrin Storholm and Sylvester Wengeler.

Discipuli (pupils)—Margaret Melgaard, Emmett Shanahan, Keith Craik, Orden Ihle, Camille Warner, Faith Warner, Buell Will, Gail Warner, Ruth McGilvery, Lylian Arnold, Thomas Melgaard, Harriet Morgan.

Reading—Miss Chamberlain, accompanied by Miss Halvorson.

Violin solo—Henry Arneson, accompanied by Eileen Arneson.

Inter-Class Basketball Tournament.

According to custom a series of thirteen games of basketball were played between the different classes in high school. The undertaking was a marked success from more than one view point. In the first place, the tournament resulted in some very good practice for about twenty-five men who are expected to be members of the H. S. team during the next three years. In the second place, it stirred up a large amount of class spirit and this is the germ of the larger school spirit. In the third place, about $47.00 was realized by charging ten cents as an admission fee to each of the games. As the association is behind financially, this was badly needed.

All in all the project was well worth while and considered to be the best series of class games ever played at Thief River Falls high school.

East Grand Forks Gets Even For Football Defeat.

To give the debating teams of their respective high schools practice in debate, East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls clashed in debate in the local high school auditorium last Thursday evening.

Our friends from the west defended the affirmative of the question of federal fixation of coal prices with a team consisting of Ransome Marchildon, Fred and Arthur Borchers, while Lloyd Alnes, Ole Helle and Albert Stengelson put up the opposing fight for the locals.

Both sides of this live question were well defended and some real debating was heard. The outcome of the debate was in doubt until the very last, so close was it. The affirmative, however, convinced two of the judges while the negative was able to muster only one convert to their side. The judges were Superintendent A. C. Pederson of Argyle, Superintendent G. Holmquist of Warren and Attorney Eckstrom of Warren.

A word should be spoken of the fine spirit that prevailed throughout the contest. East Grand Forks was represented by a team that it was a pleasure to entertain. Yes, sir, we like you, Forkers, and shall be glad to haev you call again. But, of course, we're planning to beat you next time.

History of Plant Life.

"Plant Life" is a far greater subject than any other subject I might suggest. Looking back into plant history we find in "Miltons Paradise Lost" that in the garden of Eden, Eve was tempted with a fruit which must have been grown on some plant. Then think of the "Ark" that Noah built before the flood. The "Ark" was a frame structure made from large trees.

As time passes we come into the new world of colonial days, when Captain John Smith planted a colony in the "Land of Opportunities." Here Captain Smith showed them how to live off plants, and instructed them in the art of growing corn. He taught them how to put fish in each hill to improve the fertility of the soil. The next step was pounding out the corn and making "Corn Willie" to preserve the colonies, which formed the base upon which our great United States was built.

Juniors Play Firsts.

Mr. Stenhoff announced before the assembly, last Thursday, that the Junior Inter-Class Champs had challenged the First Team to a game of basketball. This was a mistake. It was a challenge of the Firsts, accepted by the Juniors.

The game was played at 4:15 in the gym. The Juniors appeared with a new and weaker line-up, on account of the absence of Ralph Shetler, their stellar forward. The game started with speed, and for a time it looked doubtful as to how it would end. However, after the first quarter, the Firsts took the game out of danger, with a series of field baskets. The final score was 31 to 13 in favor of the Firsts.

Senior Baseball Team.

Did you say the Seniors wouldn't have a baseball team this spring? Say, what are you talking about anyway? Or don't you know? May be you're one of these wise guys that was throwing the same line about our basketball team too. Well, you know how all the other classes looked on our basketball team as a cinch and still we made a "record" that won't be beat for some time. But let's forget about that and come back to spring and talk baseball.

We've got a good line-up and—but say, you want to keep this quiet, cause we don't want it spread around the school. David Evenson was chosen as our man behind the bat for two reasons. The first is that he always has gum with him and the second is that he should be able to stop 'em. I'm going to skip the pitching staff now, and tell you about the best infield that ever was chosen on "merits." The basemen were chosen because of their fine ability to tell stories, jokes, personals, etc. First base will be held down by "Augie" Langseth, second by "Wop" Ralston, and third by "Speed" Alnes. According to science if a man gets on first base he will have to be "deaf" to get further. Of course on a good hit a man might get to second, but he'll stop there because "the Wop" can talk with his mouth and hands at the same time. Rudy Rice was the choice of all for Short-stop, and it is the opinion of everyone that he will take good care of that position. Just consider the word shortstop once or twice and you'll know why Rudy was honored with this position. In the outfield we've got "Bills" that will worry our rivals every day of the month, not only the first day. They are Alexander, DeParq and McGinnity. We proudly boast that our pitching staff is larger than that of any other class. It is composed of J. W. Hendry Jr., B. H. Bischoff, I. M. Larson, L. R. Arnold, H. V. Hanson, E. O. Longren and G. O. Werstlein. Last but not least of our perfect baseball machine are the batters. They were chosen for reasons too numerous to mention here. The members of the Batters Division are Clarence (Babe) Rice, Fred (Swat) Paulson, C. (Hon.) Steenerson and Paul (Bunt) Helseth. If we don't cap a prize, like we did in basketball, it won't be the fault of Mr. Harner, who is our manager. Let's all stand up and give three cheers for the Senior baseball team of 1922.

(Written by a number of "Senior Girls" who are back of this strong Senior baseball team.)

News Bits.

We were pleasantly entertained on Wednesday with a reading by Mrs. Rapacz. The selection brought back vividly the patriotic spirit of war times.

On Friday the Boys' Glee club sang a group of songs. Their program was enthusiastically received. We are really very proud of our Boys' Glee club.

Friday evening in the gymnasium the Sophomores had a party in honor of their basketball boys, who, though finally defeated, were in the lead in the tournament until near the close of the series. In spite of some interruptions from outside, a pleasant evening was enjoyed.

In the spring a student's fancy lightly turns from thoughts of study.

The Progress staff almost had some cookies at their last meeting. Ask Ole for particulars.

Lucille: "Give that article to Lorrayne, she hasn't had one for a month."

Ole: "Yes that's right!"

Augie: "Ya, and since she hasn't had an article the Progress has been good."

Central School Notes

The six week's examinations are taking place in the Central this week.

Alvin LaSalle is out of school because of sickness.

Hazel Swenson has returned to school after several week's absence.

Walter Bugge has withdrawn from the eighth grade.

On Wednesday, April 5th, a program was given at the Central school which consisted of the following:

Piano solo, "Minuet in G," Beethoven—Edward Kiland.

Dialogue, "What is the Cigarette"—Marian Reynolds, Dot Peterson.

Poem, "Anti Cigarette Club"—Alva Anderson.

Song, "Temptation of Cigarettes"—Seventh Grade Girls.

Dialogue, "Harm of Cigarettes"—Herbert Myers, Alfred Cloutier.

Group of Violin Solos, "Serenade by Dryga," "Minuet in G," Beethoven, "Mazurka" by Wieniawski—Mr. Ecklund, accompanied by Mrs. Holmberg.

Central School Song—Seventh and Eighth grades.

Mr. L. A. Lockard, representing the Palmer School of Writing, gave short demonstration lessons and stimulating talks about the value of Penmanship in later life to some of the classes of the Seventh and Eighth grades.

Getting on at School.

That "very reliable paper," the Minneapolis Journal, has a series of sketches entitled, "Getting on at the Office." These little stories have suggested that a similar series might be written concerning school life. Everyone is invited to contribute. Here is a start.

"Come on for a walk, Annie. Don't sit and study this glorious afternoon," said Hazel after school one day.

"But see here," answered Annie, "I've simply got to do some studying. There is a test in ancient history and a theme due in English."

"Why not do those after supper?" Your mind will be clearer after a walk."

"Yes, that's so. All right, which way shall we go?"

After supper Annie sat down to study. Just then a group of girls ran up to the door.

"Annie, Annie, come on with us! We have the best plan ever for a good time. Hurry and go with us."

"Oh, girls, I would just love to, but I must get these lessons," replied Annie regretfully.

"Lessons! So have we lessons to get, but we won't be gone long. Be a sport and come on."

The next morning at ancient history, Annie went to Miss Gormley and asked, "Please could you excuse me from taking that test today? I just know I shall fail."

"Why are you not ready today?" inquired Miss Gormley.

"You see we had physical training yesterday, and I did not have any study periods; and then I had a great long theme for English."

"I can't excuse you on such flimsy excuses," answered Miss Gormley.

Just before English class Annie asked Miss Leavitt, "Please could I have another day on my theme? I had so many things to do I couldn't get it done."

"You have already been given so much time on this, I could not extend it again. You knew it was due today."

As Annie took her seat she murmured, "If I were a teacher, I would not be so hard-hearted."

The Message of Easter.

"There is no Death," is not an empty phrase. Young people who do not think of death and have no inclination to consider anything but the moment's joy, are heedless of the meaning of those heartening words.

Humanity needs some definite belief in order to enjoy life. The fact that we crave a life for our soul after the death of our body is the most certain reason that there is life after death.

The month in which Easter occurs is no longer just a month to us, but a living symbol of eternal life made so by the death and resurrection of Christ.

Wonetia Biddick, 8A.

School supplies at Laird's.

What Easter Really Means

The year's at the spring,
And day's at the morn;
Morning's at seven;
The hillside's dew-pearled;
The lark's on the wing;
The snail's on the thorn;
God's in his heaven;
All's right with the world.
—Robert Browning

When life is slowly bursting forth anew in woods, in parks, in gardens, and when spring dwells with all things fair with her golden suns and silver rains—then comes the holy festival called Easter.

Did you ever notice, if you live far enough south to hear the birds in the trees at Easter, how much more sweetly they sing than at other times? And if you live in the North and go to a church where during the Easter services they sometimes have canary birds in cages hidden among the flowers—have you noticed how loudly and joyously they sing?

The flowers, too, at Easter time are more lovely than at any other time during the year. Not because there are so many of them in all the windows and in the churches; but they hold their heads so high and are so sweet and fresh and lovely in color.

There is a special reason for it, it is because, like the birds, they know and understand the wonderful meaning of Easter.

They know that each year at Easter, Christ gives us another chance.

When Christ rose for us all on Resurrection morning, everything received a fresh start, that meant that each Easter we could start again. And that is what is so very wonderful about it all. Christ gives us another chance.

When Easter is no longer just Easter to us but a living symbol of that wonderful processional which the seasons eternally bring; when an apple-blossom is more than a white star in an orchard—a token of some mystery that the angels have created in the night, then we come to see, whatever our doubts have been, the marvelous meaning of the Resurrection.

American Legion Corner

A Musical Handsaw.

A hand saw does not resemble a violin and its screech is far from melodious, but when Legionaire Fagerstrom of North Branch, Minn., draws a bow across it, sweet strains of music float on the breeze.

She Sho' Am a Great Gang!

If you don't think the Gopher Gang has pep and personality all its own, just attend one of its district, county or state conventions and watch 'em pull together for the Legion and Minnesota. "The Gophers fought together—now let 'em stick together" is the motto. The 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th and 9th districts held conventions during the last month. The Third meets in So. St. Paul on April 26th, the 8th in Hibbing on April 22nd, the 10th in Pine City on April 22nd, the 7th meets in June, and the Big Gopher Legion Rally of District, County and Post Adjutants and Commanders comes to Minneapolis May 6, 7th, at which time a big "Forty and Eight" initiation will also be held.

Texas Salutes the Gophers.

"From all reports the Gopher Gang are a live bunch and I am looking forward to seeing some of them in New Orleans," writes L. E. Bray, Publicity Officer of the Travis, Tex. post, who says that even way down south, Legionaires are familiar with the fame of the Gophers, whose reputation for pep and spirit has gone before them.

Gophers Work as Well as Play.

School children of Isanti, Minn. will know what good Americanism means. Believing that the title "American" is the proudest in the world today, Isanti, Minn. Legionaires have offered two prizes, bronze and silver medals, to the school children who write the two best original essays on Americanism, the winning essays to be published locally.

When Appleton, Minn. Legionaires learned that the home town was paying thousands of dollars each year for foreign entertainers, they arranged with other Appleton organizations to pool all local talent to provide continuous and varied entertainment for the community throut the year, without resorting to outside performers.

From all over Minnesota letters are coming to State Commander Van Dyke approving the plan of holding a convention of commanders and adjutants in Minneapolis May 6-7. "We would come if we had to pay our way" writes Commander Ben Saunders of Wadena, "but our post has voted our expenses. We are strong for the Gopher Legion program and the goal of 60,000 members in 1922. We are alive up here in Wadena and the Sixth District."

"We will be there May 6th-7th" writes Commander Keohen of Montgomery, "as soon as the roads permit we will put on our Legion Service Drive. Most of our boys are in the rural districts and we aim to interview every one of them. Count on Montgomery to co-operate."

In the government hospitals of Minnesota, disabled comrades will not be forgotten on Easter Sunday. Mrs. W. J. Hogan of St. Paul, State Hospital Chairman for the Legion Auxiliary, tells of entertainment and refreshment that will be provided. Then too, Madelia, Pine River and other units are sending in cases of fresh eggs, home-made candy and so on.

"All the ice cream they can eat" will be supplied disabled veterans in the Ashbury Hospital, Minneapolis, by Hellenic Legion Post, every member of which was born in Greece.

Fifty Years of Service.

In St. Cloud the Grand Army of the Republic is disbanding. Before doing so, the few remaining members have asked St. Cloud Legionaires to "carry on." Thus ends more than half a century of steadfast loyalty and service to country and comrades. St. Cloud Legonaires have already arranged for Memorial Day. State Auditor Chase will be the principal speaker.

In Memory of the Dead.

One by one the Legion posts of Minnesota are laying their little tribute on the graves of their dead comrades in foreign lands. Here are the first 22 posts to remit through state headquarters to National Commander MacNider's Overseas Graves Decoration fund: St. Peter, Wabasha, Brooten, So. St. Paul, Crookston, Gilbert, Rochester, Tracy, Argyle, Hammond, LeSueur, Madelia, Brewster, Biwabik, Cambria, Comfrey, Detroit, Luverne, Round Lake, Shevlin, Westport and Wheaton.

ARRIVALS LAST YEAR OUTNUMBERED DEATHS NEARLY THREE TO ONE

County Has Best Baby Record Since 1918 and Lowest Death Rate in Five Years—Highlanding is Banner Township.

So far as strictly natural increase goes, Pennington county made an excellent record last year. According to the report received this week from the state board of health by Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund there were 319 births in the county during 1921 and only 128 deaths. This is the best record made since 1918 when the births numbered 325, while the death roll is the lowest since 1917, when it totalled 122. A comparison for the past five years is interesting and gives another indication of returning normalcy.

Births	327	325	296	293	319
Deaths	122	142	143	155	128

The total for the five years is 1558 births and 568 deaths, which is an unusually good showing when it is remembered that the flu was epidemic throughout the region for two years of the period.

In the city of Thief River Falls there was just about two births for every death recorded last year. The best showing in the county is made by the township of Highlanding where there were 14 arrivals and only one departure. Silverton with 10 births and no deaths and Star with 11 of the former and only one death are about tied for second place. The complete record is as follows:

	Births	Deaths
Black River	3	1
Bray	4	0
Cloverleaf	5	0
Deer Park	10	1
Goodridge tp.	5	1
Goodridge vil.	5	1
Hickory	7	1
Highlanding	14	1
Kratka	7	2
Mayfield	7	1
Norden	4	4
North	14	9
Numedal	2	2
Polk Center	2	3
Reiner	9	2
River Falls	11	4
Rocksbury	12	15
St. Hilaire	11	4
Sanders	10	2
Silverton	10	0
Smiley	11	2
Star	11	1
Wyandotte	8	0
T. R. Falls	138	70

It will be noted that Rocksbury is the only township with a larger number of deaths than births, this resulting from the fact that the Oakland Park sanitorium at which the tubercular patients from four counties are cared for, is located in that township.

Sharpers After Savings Certificates Coming Due

Postmaster John Morgan reports a remarkable increase in the sale of government securities during the past month. These sales dropped off to a very low point during the holiday season but are again picking up in a highly gratifying manner. The department is sending out warnings at this time to watch out for sharpers who are buying up these securities at a little more than their face value as they will be redeemed in full with all accrued interest on the first of January, 1923. The securities are tax-exempt and present a particularly desirable method of saving. The interest rate is 4½ per cent, compounded annually. Mr. Morgan will be pleased to give any further information to those who wish to invest their savings with the government.

FIXES WAGE RATES ON HIGHWAY LABOR

Department Effects 15 Per Cent Cut in New Schedules For Men and Teams.

Reductions of about 15 per cent in labor wage scales in Minnesota trunk highways this year will aggregate more than $250,000, according to an estimate in the current bulletin of the state highway department.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, said the department, which is committed to a business administration, is following the lead of private employers and also of county road authorities in making the cuts. In justice to taxpayers, he said, there must be a drop in maintenance and other operation costs in proportion to those in construction prices. Absence of complaints was regarded by highway officials as evidence that the new schedules are fair and generally satisfactory.

Trunk highway patrolmen, each of whom furnishes a team and equipment, will receive 60 cents an hour this year, against 65 to 75 cents last season, and in several districts the new rate of 55 cents. Men will be paid 25 to 30 cents an hour against 30 to 40 cents, and the team rate will be 25 cents compared to 30 to 40 cents, additional horses pro rata. Truck drivers will get 40 cents instead of 50 cents an hour.

Monthly schedules are cut to $130 to $150 from $150 to $170 in the case of tractor operators; to $110 to $125 from $125 to $180 for grader men and to $150 from $175 for foremen.

The scales are in line with those paid by counties for road work and by other employers in the various sections, according to the bulletin. The lower wage movement throughout the state and the policy of striving to get the biggest value for every road dollar combined to bring the reductions.

LOOKING AFTER BIG TRACT FOR NORSE COLONY

Parties Want Ten to Fifteen Thousand Acres in One Piece Near Thief River.

Data Being Forwarded to Persons Interested and Matter Carefully Investigated.

Settlers Association Assured of Assistance of State Department in Work.

Inquiries for information concerning Pennington county lands continue to pour in to the offices of H. W. Protzeller and J. J. McCann, president and secretary respectively of the Thief River Valley New Settlers association. The nature of the inquiries ranges from requests for data on 40-acre tracts to propositions involving general colonization of large districts. One of the most interesting communications received by the officers reads as follows and the matter is being carefully investigated by association men. For obvious reasons the name of the party making the inquiry is not divulged at this time. The letter was addressed to Mr. Protzeller personally:

"I noticed the article in the Thief River Falls Times of April 6 about the New Settlers association. I believe that the movement which you have started is a good one and I hope that it will be successful.

Has Norwegian Colony.

"I have an offer that I think will probably interest your association. I have a Norwegian colony that wants to get into a good farming district. Knowing the nature of the country around Thief River Falls I feel assured that if they get into such a territory they would be satisfied. These people want from ten to fifteen thousand acres in one piece, if possible.

"I believe this is something which will pay you to look into and if you can supply this amount of land in a short time and at a reasonable price, let me know at your earliest convenience."

Mr. Hay Approves.

A letter has been received from J. H. Hay, formerly of this city and at present assistant state commissioner of agriculture, and he is naturally very much interested in the success of the enterprise. In a letter to Mr. Protzeller he says:

"The pamphlet regarding the New Settlers Association of the Thief River Valley is exceedingly interesting to me and there is not an item of information or a statement found therein which I would attempt to criticise or change. The motives back of the movement are most praiseworthy. The propositions of the organization ought to appeal very strongly to a stranger seeking a new location.

"I would like to be identified with this movement in some manner and shall take steps in a short time to connect myself with it. Your association is the first manifestation of a community in our state undertaking in a broad and business like fashion to acclaim its many attractions to settlers. I hope it will develop into a movement which will compel the settlement of the vacant lands in the Thief River territory.

"I earnestly hope that your association will not permit discouragement of any kind to lessen the force of this drive for settlers in our territory and I hope that every soul up up there will give you the support which the movement deserves.

"Anything which this department or myself can do to stimulate this movement will be cheerfully rendered."

Members of the Settlers association have been invited to be present at a community club meeting to be held at Goodridge Friday evening, and President Protzeller, Secretary McCann and Dr. H. W. Froehlich will be sent as representatives. As many others as possible are invited to make the trip.

Bank at Badger Ordered Closed By State Examiner

The Scandinavian-American bank of Badger voluntarily closed Saturday night, R. B. Rathbun, state superintendent of banks, announced on Monday.

Frozen assets was given as the cause of the closing. The bank has $10,000 capital, $10,000 surplus and $225,000 deposits. A. D. Stephens is president, L. C. Wang is vice president and K. T. Wang is cashier.

Business Men, Club Women Inspect Central Exchange

After the regular luncheon last Thursday members of the Commercial club made a tour of inspection through the central offices of the Northwestern Telephone company. The visitors were in charge of Manager G. L. Sterns and Wire Chief H. L. Ebbighausen. While explanations were all largely of a technical nature, particularly that part pertaining to the wire division, the visitors learned that there is a great deal more to a telephone exchange than a pleasant-voiced "hello" girl.

The most interesting part of the trip through the exchange for most of those present was undoubtedly the switchboard work. It was also the part most easily explained so that those not initiated could gain some idea of the plan of operation. Mr. Sterns and Mr. Ebbighausen were both very patient in the answering of questions, many of which to them must have seemed rather amusing.

Members of the Woman's club were invited by Mr. Sterns to make an inspection of the exchange at the close of their meeting last Monday. They went all over the plant and had matters connected with the work explained, the trip proving very interesting.

Mr. Sterns states that he will be pleased to have people call at any time during the day for the purpose of becomng beter acquanted with the service. It will be the aim to have someone present who will be glad to show visitors over the plant.

STERNS PROMOTED; WILL TAKE CHARGE AT ST. CLOUD MAY 1

Manager of Local Telephone Exchange Since 1908 Given Promotion By Company.

George L. Sterns, local manager of the Northwestern Telephone company, will leave about May 1 to become manager of the exchange at St. Cloud. His successor for the position here has not yet been announced.

Mr. Sterns took charge of the exchange in August, 1908, coming to this city from Albert Lea. There were at that time 260 subscribers to the phone service here, including 16 farmers. Besides the manager, the service required the attention of one man and three operators. Now 13 operators and four men, besides the manager and a secretary, are required to keep 1265 telephones on the switchboard functioning properly during the busy season.

The transferring of Mr. Sterns to St. Cloud must be regarded in the nature of a promotion as there are three times as many phones at that exchange as in Thief River Falls.

The citizens of Thief River Falls will regret the departure of Mr. Sterns. He has always taken an active part in local affairs and last year served as secretary of the commercial club. He has been prominent in church and lodge work and has perhaps as large a number of friends and acquaintances as any man in the city. He has proved himself a highly competent and most obliging manager of the telephone exchange, maintaining the service at a standard second to none in the state.

Mrs. Sterns and daughter will remain in the city until after the close of the school year, when they will join Mr. Sterns at St. Cloud.

Find Plenty Evidence in Raid Made at Crookston

Raids, in which 16 city and county officers and deputized civilians took part, were responsible for the arrest of three residents of Crookston on liquor charges last Friday. Nearly 200 gallons of mash was found, confiscated and destroyed, while a small quantity of moonshine whiskey was also uncovered and taken by the officials. Ten places were raided. Peter Kiewel, Matt Hilde and Christ Ely were placed unded arrest.

The three men arrested were given their freedom on bonds. Each appeared in municipal court Monday at 10 o'clock and pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Stills, kegs, bottles and whiskey taken by the officers have been stored away in the ladies' cell at the city jail, and will be used as evidence.

MORE ACTIVITY IN BUILDING CIRCLES THAN FOR YEARS

Sons of Norway Will Build This Summer and Odd Fellows May Enlarge Quarters.

Contractors are of the opinion that there will be more building work going on in Thief River Falls the coming summer than during the past four years combined. Every contracting firm in the city has a list of prospects on which estimates have been submitted and the parties are only waiting to see just how conditions promise to turn out with the opening of spring. A great deal of building is needed in order to catch up with the demand, particularly in the way of residences. The erection of a six-apartment building near the business section of the city has for some time been rumored, but nothing definite can be promised in this directions as yet.

The local Sons of Norway lodge will shortly ask for bids on a new home to be erected on the lots bought last year at the foot of Third street opposite the Elks' property. The building is to be 36x100 feet and built bungalow style, with full basement in which will be located the heating plant and kitchen. The main floor will be used for lodge purposes and will contain a stage for the presentation of plays or such other entertainments as the organization may decide to sponsor. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Lone Pine lodge of Odd Fellows may decide to make extensive additions to their building during the coming summer. The matter is in the hands of a committee and is being given serious consideration. The present lodge quarters are too small to accommodate this rapidly growing organization and it has for some time been evident that increased space would have to be provided. While no plan has as yet been accepted, that generally favored contemplates the continuation of the present building back to the alley with the possibility considered of securing the rear 50 feet or so of the Hilliard property adjoining and constructing an "L" extending to the Lyceum theatre on the north. This would more than double the present space and give the lodge most conveniently arranged quarters.

Other buildings in course of construction at this time or already contracted for include a residence for Mrs. Joseph Johnson, a farm home for A. E. Anderson south of town, the Christofferson store building on the East side and a number of smaller jobs. Contractors say there will be an unusual number of basements put in during the summer in order to make room for heating plants and there will be more than the usual amount of repair work to be done because of the let-up of the past five years.

POSTPONE HEARING ON RIVER PROJECT AFTER DISCUSSION

Judge Watts Unable to Hear All Testimony on Clearwater Plan in One Day.

The Clearwater river drainage project was taken up at the final hearing held before Judge Wm. Watts at Red Lake Falls on Tuesday. This project involves the deepening and widening of the Clearwater river, and straightening the present channel, which will shorten it from about 143 miles, its present length, to about 47 miles.

At the opening of the hearing C. G. Selvig, president of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board, was called upon by Judge Watts for a statement relating to the organization of the district and federal and state legislation involved in the Clearwater project. He was followed by E. V. Willard, state commissioner of drainage and waters, St. Paul, who spoke of the factors involved in drainage and particularly in outlet projects.

Attorney C. E. Boughton, Sr., Red Lake Falls, announced that the Indian department and the settlers in Clearwater county had requested that an adjourned hearing be held at Gonvick. Under the law there is provision for holding hearings in the different counties. After considerable discussion, lasting throughout the day, dealing principally with assessments, Judge Watts adjourned the hearing to June 1, at Gonvick.

During the intervening period the viewers will meet with the land owners with the idea of explaining assessments and of taking such action regarding them as the facts justify.

The hearing was attended by a large number of farmers principally from two or three townships in Pennington and Red Lake counties where objection to the assessment was the strongest. It was the general sentiment that the project as a whole was desirable and necessary. This was voiced also by the attorneys for the objectors. It was thought that by June 1 the assessment matters will be ironed out, which will result in the establishment of this very important drainage project.

E. H. Oftelie of Wanke told of the great losses suffered by the farmers living in the area frequently flooded by the Clearwater river going over its banks. There were several others ready to give testimony to the same effect, but at that late hour the court adjourned. Supt. Geo. W. Cross, Nat Head and Peter Graves of the Red Lake Indian agency were present at the hearing.

Movies and Vaudeville By Three Link Entertainers

The Three Links Entertainment club, which is only another name for the entertainment committee of the local Odd Fellows lodge, will put on a moving picture and vaudeville show at the Lyceum theatre on Friday and Saturday nights of this week. "Nobody's Girl," a new release in five parts, will be the feature picture, supplemented by a clever comedy, "The Fast Mule."

The vaudeville section of the entertainment will be in three distinct acts. A male quartet of well-known merit will furnish the musical feature, to be followed by a blackface skit entitled: "The Coming Champion." There will also be a Hebrew character impersonation by a prominent artist.

There will be but one show each night, commencing at 8 o'clock, and the admission price has been fixed at 50 cents.

The proceeds will go toward the new building fund of the Odd Fellows lodge.

The hardest time in the world for most people to get up is in the morning.

BANKER OFFERS INTEREST-FREE CASH FOR SILOS

President C. L. Hansen of the First National Makes Unconditional Offer.

Will Furnish Money Necessary For Building Silos Without Interest For Year.

Believes Matter of Providing Proper Feed is First Step Toward Success.

In order to aid in the movement now receiving the attention of the best minds in the county, to-wit, the placing of more and better cattle on the farms of Pennington county, President C. L. Hansen of the First National bank announces that a sum of money has been set aside by that institution to be loaned to farmers for the building of silos.

The bank will be in position to finance the construction of 50 or more such silos for the farmers and will make no interest charge for the money so loaned for the term of one year.

C. L. HANSEN

Mr. Hansen is enthusiastically in accord with the aim of different progressive agencies to assist the farmers of Pennington county in getting a foothold in the dairying business. Being a native of Denmark, a country in which the farmers have grown prosperous through co-operative dairying, he is convinced that the milch cow holds out the surest and safest means of bringing comfort and independence to the husbandmen of northwestern Minnesota. Mr. Hansen made a similar proposition when dairying in this district was yet in its infancy and he proposes to repeat the offer now that the value of the silo has become more generally recognized.

Feed the Problem.

Mr. Hansen says he is glad to see bankers, stockmen and others offering to assist farmers in securing a better quality of cows, but is of the opinion that the question of providing the proper feed is as important as the cow itself, if not more so. For this reason he has selected silo building as the particular feature of the general movement to which he will devote his attention as well as that of the bank of which he is the head. He is particularly anxious to have people understand that there are no strings attached to this offer. Mr. Hansen does not care a rap what kind of a silo a farmer may wish to build nor where he buys the material for its construction. He is not interested in the sale of material in any way, nor has he any specified size, shape or form of silo to recommend. All he asks is that a farmer give proof of his reliability and show a willingness to get ahead. It is not even stipulated that the farm shall be in the immediate neighborhood of Thief River Falls, nor need the material be purchased in this city.

The Way to Profit.

"I do not believe dairying can be successfully carried on unless the farmer produces right on his own farm everything needed in the way of fodder for his cattle," said Mr. Hansen. "Right now a large number of those who are getting a start in dairying are compelled to pay out too big a share of their gross income for feed of different kinds. Ensilage is the solution. The silo will enable the dairyman to store his winter feed with the smallest amount of loss and will provide just the elements necessary to successful milk production. It is the approved scientific method for the dairyman everywhere and he should be encouraged in its adoption in every way possible. The securing of high grade cows before proper provision is made for their care and feeding is getting the cart before the horse. I am glad to see so much effort put forth for the securing of better stock, but I believe the feeding question is fully as important."

Mr. Hansen will be glad to talk the matter over with anyone who is interested in this matter and hopes that many will take advantage of his offer.

Holzknecht Improving.

Alvin Holzknecht, teller at the First and Peoples State bank, is confined to his home with an attack of influenza. His condition during the early part of the week was such as to greatly alarm relatives and friends but reports this morning are to the effect that he is greatly improved. Dr. Dunlap of Crookston was called in consultation by Dr. C. M. Adkins yesterday and the information given out that while recovery would probably be slow the young man is on the up grade and will undoubtedly recover.

ELECTRIC LINE WILL RUN SPECIAL TO GOODRIDGE

In order to enable all who wish to attend the community club meeting at Goodridge on Friday night, the Northwestern Minnesota railroad will run a special car, leaving Thief River Falls at 7:15 p. m.

Matters of importance pertaining to the new settler movement will come up for consideration at this meeting and the officers of the association are desirous of having as many citizens of Thief River Falls present as possible.

ANDY BROWN WILL NOT BE TRIED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE

Young Man Accused of Complicity in Murder of Marie Wick is Released.

Andy Brown was last Thursday released from the Cass county jail and the charge of first degree murder against him dismissed on motion of States Attorney W. C. Green. Mr. Green told the court that the state did not have sufficient evidence to prove Brown's guilt.

Brown was first arrested September 24, last, and held as a material witness in the case of state against William Gummer, charged with the brutal murder of Marie Wick, 18 year old Grygla girl in a room in the Prescott hotel in Fargo on the night of June 7, last. Gummer was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Bismarck.

On the day Gummer was found guilty of the murder, February 25, last, Brown was released as a witness and immediately re-arrested, charged with first degree murder.

"If the defendant were tried at this time," says the prosecutor in his petition, "with no more evidence available than the state can now produce, and were acquitted because of lack of evidence sufficient to convict, such acquittal would be a bar to a further prosecution at a later date if evidence should be found definitely connecting Brown with the commission of the crime, whereas a dismissal at this time will be no bar to a later prosecution if one be justified.

Golf to Be Topic of Lunch Discussion Next Thursday

Next Thursday will be "golf day" at the commercial club luncheon. The matter of forming a club and securing the lease of a piece of ground suitable for links will be taken up and discussed and it is particularly desired that all enthusiasts be present.

At a meeting held today the club was formally organized and the following officers elected: W. A. Barnard, president; Dr. O. F. Mellby, vice president; R. M. Sheldon, secretary; Nels Christianson, treasurer. As additional members of the executive committee were chosen J. S. Arneson and D. P. Gamble.

Department Grants Petition.

Word was received today that the petition of the board of county commissioners of Beltrami county asking for permission to construct a road across the Red Lake-Indian reservation had been granted by the Interior department.

There was an increase of 27 per cent in the amount of butterfat received at the Thief River Co-operative creamery during the month of March as compared with last year. The number in the $50 or better class was increased by seven over the previous month, while there is a gain of $528.71 in the total received by the patrons in this class. MACHINERY SALES INDICATE REVIVAL OF FARM INTEREST

One Thief River Falls Concern Finds Confidence in Agriculture Has Returned.

Reports of machinery sales by Thief River Falls dealers generally would tend to contradict the impression that the farmers in this section are hard up. Taking the spring business of only one concern, C. Gustafson & Son, as an indication of what is being done in this line, it is found that the present season is in many respects ahead of any former year. They report the sale of 10 International tractors to farmers in this vicinity to date, eight of these being of the 10-20 type and two with the 8-16 rating. The purchasers are Henry Jacobson and A. Nyhagen, St. Hilaire; A. Hoverstad, Olaf Ramstad and P. O. Solem, city; Peter Gustafson, P. O. Dovre and J. P. Bennett, Holt; Anfin Torkelson, Route 3. With these tractors a plow was given away free of charge.

Tractors are not the only farm machines for which there is a demand, however. Other equipment sold this spring by the Gustafsons includes two large grain drills, five International field cultivators (the sow thistle killer), five spring tooth harrows with special teeth for weed eradication; four Boss and the same number of wood lever harrows, four Primrose cream separators, one large double tractor disc harrow and one horse disc harrow, five Queen incubators, three Hercules stationery gas engines, six International type M stationery engines, four second-hand stationery engines, one 3-horse International manure spreader, three feed grinders, one corn sheller, one corn planter, one auto trailer, three potato planters, one gang plow, one sulky plow and one potato digger.

One carload of machinery is now enroute to be added to the stock on hand and two additional carloads of tractors have been ordered. They report that every day farmers are showing their confidence in the future by ordering some major piece of machinery, everyone realizing that prices are now at a level below which they are not likely to go. While the company is in a position to offer liberal terms to such as require extensions, the cash discounts are so favorable that a great many prefer to pay cash. For the coming season all repair parts and twine will be handled on a cash basis, but it is announced that the twine will be sold at 10 cents per pound.

The Grygla branch of the house has been sold to Johnson & Viken of that village and members of the firm will hereafter devote all their attention to the business in this city.

New Manager in Charge of Local Penney Store

H. E. Nelson, for some time connected with the Grand Forks store of the J. C. Penney company, has been appointed manager of the concern's business in this city, E. W. Heinrichs, who has been in charge here since the opening of the branch, having been transferred to another city.

The new manager promises to pursue the energetic policy in merchandising inaugurated by his predecessor. He is a man of wide experience in the business and has served for a considerable period with the Penney corporation. C. A. Preiss, manager of the Grand Forks branch, who accompanied Mr. Nelson to this city, says the latter is a wide-awake merchant and a fine citizen who will at once, take his place among the progressive business men of the community.

Mr. Heinrichs will leave Thief River Falls with the good wishes of a large circle of friends, gained during his residence here. He has been largely instrumental in building up the fine business enjoyed by the branch in this city and has contributed his share toward spreading the fame of the Penney organization.

Next Sunday is the one hundred and first anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and members of Young Pine lodge and Lion Rebekah lodge will attend the Methodist church in a body. Members of both lodges are requested to meet at the hall not later than 10:30 o'clock.

FARMER-LABOR MAN IN FIELD FOR CONGRESS

J. S. Barnett of Thief River Falls Endorsed For Place By Central Labor Union.

Ninth District Meeting to Make Nomination to Be Held at Crookston on May 7.

Two Filings For Register of Deeds and One For Commissioner Are Announced.

W. A. Swanson of Rhoda filed today as a candidate for register of deeds, and it is reported that G. Howard Smith will file this week for the office of county attorney.

Thief River Falls will this year have a candidate for congress if the convention to be held at Crookston on May 7 endorses the choice of the Farmer and Labor party men in this city. At a meeting held on Sunday afternoon James S. Barnett was unanimously selected as the choice of the Central Labor union for the place and he will go before the convention with the solid backing of the organization in Pennington county. So far as known here, no other candidate has been mentioned for the place on this ticket and indications are the Thief River Falls man will receive the honor without much in the way of opposition.

It has been expected that the Farmer-Labor people would put a man in the field this year as there is not likely to be a Democratic candidate. At a meeting of party representatives held in St. Paul last month for the purpose of endorsing candidates an attempt was made to secure the official approval of Congressman Steenerson as the party choice, but the plan failed for the reason that a majority favored getting behind a man of their own choosing.

Mr. Barnett is one of the best known railroaders in the section of the state. He has resided here for the past 15 years and is at the present time a conductor on the Soo. While always taking an active interest in public affairs he has never before been a candidate for office. During the campaign of 1918 he was county chairman of the Woodrow Wilson club, supporting the Democratic nominee, as did so many thousands of others, because of his war stand. He showed himself at that time to be a good organizer, a trait that will come in handy now that he is a candidate for an important office himself.

Two File For Register.

Elmer Ohm, a young man well known to practically everybody in the city and particularly active in railroad circles, being at the present time secretary-treasurer for the Trainmen's lodge, on Monday filed as a candidate for register of deeds.

Mr. Ohm was born in Thief River Falls 29 years ago and attended the local schools. Later he took a course in business college and upon his return was employed for four years by the Oen Mercantile company. Then he took up railroading, which he has steadily followed since that time. Mr. Ohm intends getting right into the campaign and making a bid for the votes of his neighbors and as he has a wide acquaintance he will prove a formidable opponent for others who may enter later.

N. J. Anderson, who has served the people of the county as register of deeds uninterruptedly since Jan. 1, 1913, filed for re-election on Monday. He is regarded as one of the strongest campaigners in the county and has always been able to win out easily over any man who tried to supplant him.

Carl F. Olson of Mayfield township has filed as a candidate for county commissioner from the Fifth district. This makes two aspirants for the place thus far, K. K. Austin of Kratka township having filed last week.

Walter Anderson, Badger, Candidate For Governor

Walter Anderson, a farmer living near Badger, has filed with the secretary of state as a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket at the primary election in June.

Anderson was a member of the lower house of the legislature in 1913. At the Republican convention in 1919 he nominated Marion L. Burton, then president of the University of Minnesota, as a candidate of the Republicans for governor. He did not attend the Republican convention this year, however, and in his application said he intended to vote for the Democrats.

Mrs. Akre Improving.

Mrs. A. H. Akre, who suffered a stroke of partial paralysis on Monday, is reported as very much improved this morning. As this was the third attack of a similar nature sustained by Mrs. Akre grave fears of the outcome were for some time entertained. There is now, however, every hope of her ultimate recovery.

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted in his own behalf by N. J. Anderson, Thief River Falls, Minn., candidate for Register of Deeds. Amount to be paid for each insertion, $2.00.)

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I am a candidate for re-election for Register of Deeds of Pennington county. During the years I have served the people of the county as Register of Deeds I have made many friends, but I am not asking support in the present campaign merely by virtue of this friendship. Rather, I would rathtr have the voters consider my candidacy on a purely efficiency basis as the only proper method of electing officials to public office. In regard to my fitness for the office of Register of Deeds, both as to honesty and capability, I prefer to rest my case with the people of Pennington county, whom I served in past years.

Yours respectfully,
N. J. ANDERSON.

WHY SUFFER SO?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? Thief River Falls people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor! Could you ask for stronger proof of merit?

Mrs. Chas. Alexander, 216 Conley Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "I was suddenly taken with a bad attack of kidney complaint. Severe pains across my back kept me from doing my work. My head swam with dizziness, so that I was afraid to walk across the room. My kidneys didn't act as they should and I felt miserable all over. A neighbor suggested that I try Doan's Kidney Pills and I bought a supply at Bottleson's Drug Store. They entirely rid me of the trouble and I have felt well ever since."

The above statement was given Dec. 1, 1917, and on Aug. 8, 1921 Mrs. Alexander added: "I gladly confirm the statement I gave, praising Doan's. I use them occasionally as a preventive and they always give good results."

GETTING STARTED RIGHT.

Most any section of the north temperate zone may properly be designated as a "good dairy" country, we suppose, so that making such claim does not necessarily signify a great deal. Some regions are favored over others in the way of water, fodder and climatic conditions, but so far as concerns the Northwestern states it can truthfully be said that cattle raising and dairying are pursuits for which the country is by nature adapted.

This being the case, and when it is further understood that there is vastly more land capable of sustaining cattle than there are cattle to be sustained, it follows that something in the way of special inducement must be held out by the communities which realize that through the dairy cow lies the road to comfort and independence.

Different agencies in Thief River Falls have taken it upon themselves to prove to the rest of the world that this particular district not only offers unusual opportunities to the dairyman from the standpoint of natural advantages, but that the people here are ready and anxious to help him get a start.

A short time ago one bank in this city set aside $15,000 to be loaned to farmers at a very low rate of interest for the purchase of high grade cattle. Later the Holstein breeders of the county came forward with a proposition to take the scrub bulls out of the county and replace them with registered animals. Now comes the First National bank with an offer to furnish without interest for one year the amount of money necessary to construct silos on 50 or more farms in this neighborhood.

All this is in line with the work now going forward for boosting the dairy industry. It is assistance of the most substantial kind for the beginner and holds out greater encouragement for the man who already has a start in dairying but who wishes to improve the conditions under which he is laboring.

It is a campaign of constructive work and is bound to have far-reaching results. Any man should be willing to build a silo when he can borrow the necessary money on such terms. It would seem as if the owner of a scrub sire should jump at the chance to secure a purebred to head his herd when such animal can be bought under such condtions. Banks still stand ready to buy a carload of Holstein or Guernsey cows and turn them over to the farmers at cost, loaning the money at a low rate of interest for one year. This is encouragement of the right kind and will give the man looking for a place to locate the impression that we have something besides sunshine, grass and water to offer in case he is so situated as to need help of a more personal nature.

Communities have worked for years to get under way a movement such as it has taken only a few weeks to launch in this county. The matter has been gone about in the right way and the result speaks for itself. It has long been generally known that Pennington county is a favored dairy region and now it is proposed that the fact be so thoroughly impressed upon homeseekers that these will naturally turn in this direction when looking for a location.

"A Contented Family on Every Farm."

(Grygla Eagle.)

Is the slogan of the New Settlers association recently organized at Thief River Falls. This organization was formed for the purpose of inducing new settlers to come in the Thief River Falls-Grygla territory, and its main object is to give the new settler a fair deal in buying his land, and also co-operating with him after he moves on his farm. Our whole country is being extensively advertised, and we have reasons to believe that many new settlers will move into our territory this year. In order to interest the other fellow in our lands, we must first get really interested ourselves. We have just as good land here as you find in any place in the United States and Canada. Considerable talk is being made here by one or two of our citizens about the wonderful opportunities that can be found in Canada, and what hardships are to be fought with here. We have a number of farmers here that have lived in Canada, but have moved back to God's country again. The above New Settlers association has printed a number of cards for distribution with the following appropriate slogans on them:

"I make my living in this country—if you knock it you knock me."

"Our country: if you can't boost—beat it."

A Good Example of Judicious Co-operation.

Two Thief River Falls lawyers (it won't do to tell their names) are joshing each other and being joshed quite a bit by their friends over an incident that occurred recently when one of them was asked to sit as a special judge in a "bootlegging" case. The one who was temporarily wearing the judicial ermine was in doubt as to what penalty to fix in the case. He called up his fellow barrister and said, "Say John, I've got a bootlegger here and didn't know what to give him." "Well, about $10 a quart, and say, can you get a couple for me?"

The Last Lap.

This issue of the Progress finds, it is hoped, every high school student getting the most out of a week's freedom from study. May we humbly advance the opinion that this short vacation is necessary? School has kept our studious "nose to the grindstone" since the first part of January, and is becoming monotonous. We have completed the fifth six weeks' period and now find ourselves just at the beginning of the last lap in a long, hard grind. Perhaps the "race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong," but the next six weeks of school, coming as it does after a vacation, certainly offer a wonderful chance for some of our laggards to do some sprinting, and so finish the race still going strong.

Ode to Ye Sundaye Morn.

'Tis Sunday morn and long I've borne
The noise of tramping feet
That round about, inside and out,
Disturbed my dreams so sweet.

'Twas Adam first, was troubled worst
With noise to mar his dreams;
And since that time, in every clime,
It's always been the same.

All week we work, and never shirk
The duties that are ours;
And we're possessed of hopes for rest
On Sunday's early hours.

But sleep? Vain hope! How can we cope
With children's noisome play?
Or dogs and boys, whose boisterous joys
Begin at break of day?

Before I die, I hope I'll lie
Where peace shall reign supreme;
And there I'll sleep—yes, slumber deep;
Impossible here, it seems.

There, birds and beasts can have their feasts
Far from the ken of men;
There, cricket, gnat, and bug and bat
Will ne'er be harmed again.

And there, I hope, the flowers ope
Their buds to smiling sun,
Without a fear for life so dear,
Till life's long work is done.

For silence there shall be my prayer;
'Twill soothe my tired eyes;
And none shall say the time of day
When I needs must arise.

And there I'll sleep—yes, slumber deep,
Far from the haunts of men,
Till Gabriel's horn will sound the morn
When all must rise again.—A. S. '24.

A Senior's Remarks About Freshmen.

Ah me! the while we stop to think
What Freshmen do with pen and ink.
I wonder how this ink is made—
If blue or purple is the shade;
Or is it brains? No ink, I know,
Will really make ideas flow;
Nor can the most ingenious pen
Make wits and poets of dull fourth year men.
So this the miracle explains—
They use their pen and ink with brains.

Track Team.

On Tuesday of last week all boys interested in a track team were asked to stay after school to talk it over. About fifty boys stayed and if they don't lose the pep they showed at that meeting we're going to have some team. Mr. Stenhoff told the "fellows" that there is to be a meet at Warren and we might as well send a team there. He stated that we've got the material, so if we go to Warren we'll go to win. Then Mr. Rapacz got up and said a few words on the "topic of the day." Mr. Rapacz was a distance man on the university track team and he will be of great help to the boys and Mr. Stenhoff in putting out a winning team. He gave a talk on training and warned the boys not to do too many things for the first week because—well he also told them what would happen if they did, such as sprained joints, stiff muscles, "Charley horses." As Mr. Stenhoff stated, there's a lot of good material in the school and we might just as well send a track team to Warren as not. Watch the Progress for further track news.

Sophomore Party.

(Due to an oversight, this report was omitted from last week's issue.)

The Sophomore class of Lincoln high school had an informal party at the gym last Friday. The affair was organized primarily as a tribute to the Sophomore basketball team, which, in the inter-class games, was nosed out of first place by the Juniors. The attendance was rather smaller than was expected, and this, coupled with the "grub raid" by envious upper classmen—which neted them nothing—conspired to dampen the gaiety. Games were played and a lunch served, after which those attending dispersed to their various homes.

Music Program to Be Given.

A joint concert will be given some time in the near future by the high school orchestra and the boys and girls glee clubs. These organizations have been practicing diligently all year under the able direction of Miss Johnson, and we are all anxious to hear them in a joint recital. Each group has appeared in public at various times and met with unanimous favor, but this will be the first time, and perhaps the last, that we will have an opportunity to hear them all at one time. The date of the program has not yet definitely been decided upon, but it will be announced through these columns as soon as arrangements have been made. Watch for it!

"As It Ain't."

The clock was striking nine, but what was the use of getting up? Of course, there was school, but why should that matter? So I just turned over and went to sleep. About half past nine I felt like getting up, so I dressed, went down stairs, and ordered some ice cream, pie and bananas and cream. At ten I strolled up to the school house and Mr. Rapacz met me in the hall.

"Why, Lylian, it isn't necessary for you to come to school," he said. "You know you excel them all in brain power." But I told him that I'd come and help the classes along, anyway. Whereupon he said that he was glad that I'd care to come among the others.

I went to English class without my lesson, but Miss Webster said that it didn't matter, just so the rest had theirs. I soon became tired of staying in there and left.

When Mrs. Korstad asked if anyone had come with his lesson prepared and nobody raised his hand, she said she was glad that we had enough sense to put our time on General Science or some other subject.

All the teachers smiled at me at every opportunity and told jokes during the class periods. The other pupils never spent any time on English, so, of course, I had to teach them that "hain't got" was a little rude but was the language of Webster so it was all right.

I had just recovered from brain fever so I had to be careful and not teach the children as much as usual. Sometimes it was hard to listen to the ignorant ones recite, but I controlled myself and later became used to it.

I became tired of seeing the same things and being in the same place so long, and I finally told Mr. Rapacz that we had better dismiss school, so we did.

My chauffeur was waiting outside the door, so I stepped into the car and drove down to Black's Sweet Shop. In the evening I went to hear Pearl Weeks play the piano in the auditorium, but she made so many mistakes that I couldn't stand it—so I told the rest of the people to go and we all went out.

So ended my usual day!?!

Jimmy's Easter Lily.

"Paper, mister?" asked a thin, boyish voice.

"Get out of here, you little bum," growled Pat MacPooney, owner of the Lucky Dog barroom and still—(though of course nobody but Pat and a few of his friends knew of the still.)

"Well, I guess we better move on, Snooky," sighed little Jimmy Carr, as he picked up the leash which was attached to Snooky's collar. Soon they halted in front of another barroom to sell papers. Every person that went in or out of the place was touched for a paper and at last one was sold. Jimmy left Snooky at the barroom while he darted across the street to a quick lunch counter to buy a sandwich. After finishing three-quarters of it, he put the other quarter in his pocket and proceeded across the street to give it to Snooky. But he never reached the other side of the street, for when he was about in the middle of it, something hit him in the back and the next thing he knew he was lying on a clean white bed in a clean sweet smelling room.

"Wh-where am I?" questioned Jimmy as he viewed his surroundings.

"You are in the children's ward at the John Altemus hospital," said a young man at his side.

"What is the matter with me?" Jimmy then asked.

"Yesterday afternoon as you were crossing the street in front of Kelly's bar, my car struck you in the back. This is the first you have been in your right mind," replied the young man.

"Who are you?" Jimmy then asked.

"I am Henry Altemus. This is my father's hospital."

"Gosh!" said Jimmy quickly, "now what will my mother do?"

"Where is your mother?" asked a kind faced woman by the man's side.

"She is sick in bed at home, and I was the only one she had to help her," sobbed Jimmy.

"There, there, don't cry," said the woman, "Henry, you take the car down there and bring her up here."

This last Jimmy did not hear, but he kept sobbing softly in his pillow until he went to sleep. He soon awoke and looked all about him.

"Where's my papers?" he asked suddenly, turning to the woman.

"What do you want of those?" asked the woman.

"I-I was going to buy mother an Easter lily with the money I would get for selling them and now mother won't have any lily." Again he burst into tears and again he sobbed himself to sleep.

But when he awoke it was in a different room and another bed stood next to his. He turned his head toward it and who should he see but his mother.

"Mother!" he cried, and stretched out his hand.

"So this is your Easter lily, eh, Jimmy?" asked his mother.

"My Easter lily?" cried Jimmy.

"So young Altemus told me," answered his mother.

Boy! Page Hawkshaw!

Consternation reigned supreme among the members of the Latin clubs one day last week when two costumes belonging to two of the most important characters in the Latin play suddenly disappeared.

Those known to have been near the place from which the articles had been taken were thoroughly questioned and cross questioned but to no avail; every nook and cranny was searched in an effort to find the missing costumes; fifty-odd pupils and teachers aspired to outdo Sherlock Holmes, but the culprit had covered his tracks so well that not a clue could be discovered. The theory that someone had removed them as a practical joke gained some popularity among the panic stricken amateur Hawkshaws; if such were the case the joker had most certainly succeeded.

Suddenly someone remembered—and in a minute was at the telephone. Sure enough! The laundry had taken them by mistake! And peace reigned once more.

Musical Program.

On Wednesday the high school enjoyed a musical program. Mrs. Fisher and Carl Sundahl sang several duets with Mrs. Erickson as accompanist. Mrs. Erickson played two solos, and Mrs. Fisher and Mr. Sundahl each sang a solo. Every number was encored, and the audience was hardly willing to close the program. We are all looking forward to their coming again.

Getting On at School.

"Violet, what did you get on your report card in English?" asked Rose.

"A. I got three A's and one B. Pretty good, wasn't it?" answered Violet.

"Oh, yes, it's easy to say that. If I were favored by the teachers the way you are, I would not talk about good marks."

"The teachers do not favor me. I certainly have to work for my marks," Violet said very politely.

"They don't, eh? You work for your marks? Well if that's the case why don't I get good marks. There's not a person in this whole school that works so hard as I do. If the teachers would only give me good marks, I would work even harder. I would quit going to the movies and parties and everything else."

"Yes, but Rose, remember you have to show the teachers what you can do first before you can expect to get good marks."

"Show them," exclaimed Rose, "why I've worked all the time to get good marks, and now I'm going to quit. I'm not going to work my head off for no teacher."

"Nobody asked you to. You are working for your own good, not for the teacher's."

"It surely does me a lot of good to go here and work for nothing. The harder I work the lower my marks are. I am not going to try any more. I surely deserve as good marks as you do."

"Well, but Rose, why aren't you studying now?" asked Violet.

"Oh, I just can't study. I get so sleepy and it's so nice outside that I just simply can't work."

"Why, I'm amazed," said Violet. You say you work harder than any other person in school and then you complain about the weather's being too nice to study. You had better go to a doctor and get him to give you a cure for spring fever. That's my advice to you."—H. K. '24.

Mary's Party Dress.

"Oh, mother, what shall I do? Next week is Donald's party and I haven't a decent dress to wear," said Mary disconsolately.

"Goodness gracious, child, every time there is a party you say that. Why can't you wear your blue silk dress?"

"Oh, dear, that is out of style. Nobody wears those big long sleeves and such a long wide skirt. People would think I came from the country," answered Mary.

"Your blue Georgette dress is becoming to you."

"Mother," almost sobbed Mary, "I tore the overskirt. It is impossible to wear that."

"Hush, I would like to know what is wrong with that darling little pink crepe de chene dress with those tiny roses."

"But, mother, don't you remember that George spilled a cup of chocolate all over it last time?"

"Mary Blaine! It is too bad that your clothes are in such a condition, but we can't afford to get you anything new. If I were feeling better I would make over something."

"Then I can't go to Donald's party!"

Mary, in a fit of tears, ran out of doors to her best friend Patty—Patty, who was so kind and clever.

"Oh, Patty, I am so disappointed! Mother won't let me have a new dress," sobbed Mary.

"You have a great many clothes you don't wear any more, haven't you, dear?"

"Piles of them, a couple of trunks full, but what good will they do now?"

"Dry your tears, Mary, and I will go home with you and look them over," was Patty's answer.

Several busy days followed for the two girls, but Mrs. Blaine was kept in ignorance of their undertaking.

The next week on the night of Donald's party, Mary dressed and came down stairs just as her mother entered the hall.

"Mary Blaine, didn't I tell you, you could not get a new dress. A pretty price you must have paid for it! Take it off and send it right back. I'll teach you to do as you're told." Mrs. Blaine was dreadfully angry.

"Why, mother, this is not new. It's my old blue silk dress and my Georgette made into one. The roses are off my pink crepe de chene."

"Impossible."

"Not at all, mother, dear, Patty did it."

"Patty? Did she do it for you? It is the nicest dress you have ever had."

Mary had a glorious time at the party and saw to it that Patty did also.—Annie Gustin, '24.

PLENTY OF TEACHERS.

Cottonwood County Citizen: One hundred and fifty teachers have applied for positions in the Austin schools. That does not look as though there was a scarcity of teaches in the state, although the department of education would have us believe there was none to be had anywhere. More and more are we of the opinion that the state department needs a house cleaning, and a little of the mightier-than-thou authority taken from it. The average school board stands a poor chance if the state department does not see a thing favorably.

STEADY HAMMERING COUNTS.

Monticello Times: There is only one way to advertise and that is to hammer your name, your location and your business so persistently, so thoroughly into people's heads that if they walk in their sleep they will constantly turn their steps toward your store. The newspaper is your friend in spite of criticism. It helps build up the community that supports you. When the day comes that the newspapers are dead, the people are on the edge of the grave with nobody to write the epitaph.

JUST ANOTHER PROOF.

Wells Mirror: Nothing but the name "Dodge," which the people have learned to know because of a world-wide advertising campaign covering a period of years, is responsible for the sensation created by the recent arrest of John Dodge, youthful son of a millionaire automobile manufacturer. The lad was arrested for speeding, and for driving a car while in an intoxicated condition, and thanks to a square-jawed judge, he had to spend the same time in jail as if he had been the son of the poorest parents in Detroit. But crowds flocked to the court room to hear the trial, and the newspapers all over the land printed long articles about the very same thing that hundreds of others are arrested for, but of which we hear nothing. And why? You know without being told—because his name is Dodge, and Dodge has been advertised the world over. Isn't it just another of the thousands of examples that go to prove that advertising will draw the crowds?

NO IMPROVEMENT.

Little Falls Transcript: A Minnesota judge says "women are disappointing as jurors." And so are men when they decide contrary to our beliefs.

What the Consumer Buys is Service

WHAT you buy from the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is service. This service may be expressed in mileage from gasoline or reduction of frictional wear from a lubricant or a good clear flame from kerosene. Every product made by this Company is designed to render a specific, definite service.

This service to be constant and dependable must be based—first upon highest technical knowledge and second upon permanency of organization. There can be no lasting service in any manufactured article unless there be stamina in the organization that makes it.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has a long and honorable record in producing petroleum products of the highest quality.

This is because its organization is essentially scientific; because through a period of years it has built up a personnel of experts. These men know what the public demands from petroleum and they know how to create products which will supply this need.

Each product conforms to a standard, set to yield maximum service. The series of petroleum products made by this Company round out a cycle of service which supplies every need of the community.

As a specific example, take candles. One might think, that in these days of gas and electricity, the humble candle had been discarded, but it has not. Twenty-two million pounds of candles are consumed yearly in the United States, of which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) last year produced 7,649,000 pounds.

Thus, through the long list of products made by this Company, the needs of small groups of people throughout 11 Middle Western States are recognized and cared for with the same forethought and efficiency, as are the wholesale requirements of motorists and manufacturers. This too, is service.

NEW BAND LEADER SEES PROMISE OF FINE ORGANIZATION

Man of Wide Experience Will Have Charge of Municipal Concerts During Season.

M. J. Sorflaten, a conservatory graduate, arrived in the city this week from Morris, and will have charge of the city band during the summer. Mr. Sorflaten was a teacher of music and director of musical organizations at Austin for 13 years and civic musical director at Alexandria five years. During the past year he has been head of the music department at the West Central school of agriculture, Morris. He has had a wide experience both as a teacher and leader and comes with the very highest recommendations.

M. J. SORFLATEN

In connection with his work as band director during the summer months, Mr. Sorflaten will give private lessons in voice, violin and band instruments.

The new leader has looked over the situation here carefully and says that with the exceptionally capable talent in the ranks of the band the people are justified in looking forward to the most successful concert season in the history of the entire section.

Mrs. Sorflaten, who is now supervisor of music in the Morris public schools, will join her husband here at the close of the school year.

FINE PROGRAM OF ATTRACTIONS FOR THEATRE PATRONS

Manager Brumund Books Best and Latest For Early Production in This City.

H. A. Brumund, manager of the Lyceum and Princess theatres, returned the first of the week from Minneapolis, where he attended a convention of the motion picture exhibitors of the state. A banquet was tendered the visitors at which a number of prominent men were the speakers. Gov. Preus, Mayor Leach, Congressman Schall and other well known persons were in attendance. The address of Gov. Preus was listened to with a great deal of interest and proved that the governor himself is interested in the silent drama. He said he had never, as a member of the state prison board, heard the declaration made by individuals convicted of crime that motion pictures were instrumental in their downfall. On the contrary, the governor was of the opinion that motion pictures are a great influence for good. He also stated that the standard set by the theatre owners in Minnesota was as high as any in the entire country.

Mr. Brumund booked some of the latest and best-known attractions for early production at the theatres in this city. Among these may particularly be mentioned such great scenic features as The Son of Wallingford, Foolish Wives, the great million dollar production; Star Dust, Hail the Woman, a Thos. H. Ince great special; Polly of the Circus, featuring Constance Talmadge; The Rosary, Smiling Thru, a Norma Talmadge special; Penrod, a delight for the kiddies, featuring Wesley Barry; The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, The Sheik's Wife, The Prodigal Judge, and others.

As will be seen by the above list, Mr. Brumund has selected the best to be had for Thief River Falls theatre patrons.

GAS FROM ENGINE CAUSES DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT

Roy McCrystal and Young Woman Found Dead in Back Seat of Car at Mankato.

Roy McCrystal, who with his parents resided in Thief River Falls up to about 1917, the family living at 606 Main avenue north, met death in an unusual manner near Mankato last week. In company with a young woman, Miss Rose Augustine, he occupied the back seat of a closed automobile, his mother, Mrs. Frank McCrystal, and two young ladies occupying the front. When the party reached Mankato the two occupying the back seat were found dead, overcome by monoxide gas from the engine.

Young McCrystal was returning to Mankato after a trip to Minneapolis made for the purpose of asking his parents' consent to his marriage with Miss Myrtle Wilkens of the [illegible] named city.

Miss Augustine and her [illegible] Marie, were on their way [illegible] Springfield, Minn., to spend the Easter vacation with their parents. The two girls asked permission of Mr. McCrystal and his mother to ride with them and this was [illegible] had been making their home with the McCrystals while staying in Minneapolis.

The occupants of the back seat must have died without a struggle of any kind and without being able to raise an alarm as the people in the front seat did not know anything was wrong until the car was stopped at Mankato.

McCrystal was 23 years of age and Miss Augustine 28. The young man will be remembered by many here as he had more than a local reputation as an ice skater.

Gets Early Start.

Spring seeding has not progressed very rapidly during the past week, the weather having taken an unexpected turn for the worse. Quite a number of farmers managed to get a good start before they were held up, however, and the are considering themselves lucky, as every day counts now. Thure Blomberg of Numedal township is one of those who did not allow any fine weather to slip by. On April 7 he had seeded 50 acres of wheat and 20 acres of oats. From other sections come reports of early seeding together with the assurance that the soil seems to be in excellent condition.

CHARLES RAY AT HIS BEST IN NEW COLLEGE PICTURE

While the football game in the latest Charles Ray feature, "Two Minutes to Go," is a wonder and brings the photoplay to a crashing climax, there are other incidents that hold the interest of the audience from first to last. There is no boy or girl, however old, who has been to college, who will not enjoy to the utmost the scenes where the fresh freshmen take advantage of the absence of the seniors at a party on Hallowe'en to collect a mass of junk and put it in the seniors' dormitory corridors. There are gates, barber poles, chicken pens and wooden Indian signs and other choice relics.

GREAT GOLDWYN PICTURE HERE SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Irene Rich and House Peters, who play the leading roles in the new Goldwyn picture, "The Invisible Power," which may be seen at the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday, are a perfect example of fine team work in difficult roles. As the wife of an ex-convict, Miss Rich's performance is a revelation of girlishness, pathos and the self-sacrifice of motherhood. Mr. Peters, one of the most popular leading men on the screen, gives a powerful and sympathetic performance of an ex-convict who is trying to reform.

The story, by Charles Kenyon, was directed by Frank Lloyd, and the production as a whole is marked by many clever and subtle touches not often seen on the screen. Unlike most stories that deal with the underworld, the crime element is entirely lacking. The plot centers about the two characters in their struggle against a past that will not stay past. In the end, however, the strength of character of the reformed crook forces respect from the secret police and freedom from persecution by them.

An excellent cast, including De Witt C. Jennings, Gertrude Clair and Sidney Ainsworth are responsible for a splendidly acted drama.

If you want your [illegible] films to be developed and printed [illegible] do it for [illegible] Studio.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

SPIRITISM:

"The era of spiritualism is dawning and will sweep the world." Thus was Sir Arthur Conan Doyle quoted in a dispatch from New York on April 11. As a writer of fiction Mr. Doyle has become famous; through Sherlock Holmes millions of people have become acquainted with him. His word is not without weight among men. He proclaims the dawn and the forward sweep of Spiritism over the world. He must have reasons for believing that. He is entitled to his belief.

Whether true or not, whether probable or improbable, such a statement will set serious people to thinking; especially the Christian will want to know more about it. He will want to know how this Spiritism squares up with his faith, what attitude he must take toward it. To aid the Christian in his appraisal of Spiritism, we shall submit the following for earnest thought and reflection.

Still quoting from the above dispatch (it is taken from the St. Paul Dispatch, April 11, page 11), we hear: "In simple terms Mr. Doyle described the 'paradise' to which he believes all will travel sooner or later." He believes that ALL will sooner or later get to paradise. Compare this with the words of Christ: "Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels. And these shall go away into everlasting punishment." (Matt. 25:41.46.) Not ALL will go to the paradise of Christ. Says Mr. Doyle: "There may be some mental pain, however." That is, in paradise. The Word of God says: "In the new heaven God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain." (Rev. 21:1.4.)

"The marriage relation will be continued, but no babies will be born. Only the happily married will renew their alliance in the spirit world," says Mr. Doyle. Does he agree with Christ, who saays: "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God. For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in heaven." (Matt. 22:20.30.)

In another dispatch, dated April 13th, Sir Arthur is quoted as saying: "Spirits not only can converse with those on earth, but they can present themselves in material form. He himself had gazed on the faces of his mother, son, and brother, and had talked with them." Place over against his word the following from the Bible: "Though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Israel acknowledge us not: Thou, o Lord, art our Father." (Is. 63:16.) "There shall not be found among you any one that useth divination, or a consulter with familiar spirits. For all that do these things are an abomination unto the Lord." (Deut. 18:10.12.)

Enough has been said to permit anyone to determine the relationship of Spiritism and Christianity. They are diametrically opposed to each other. If you want to be a Spiritist, you must cease to be a Christian. Everyone is at liberty to choose between the two. The question is: Which is the greater authority, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle or Jesus Christ; the messages of spirits, at best questonable and uncertain—for King Saul too thought he gazed on the face of Samuel, the Prophet who had died, (I Sam. 28:7-20)—or the message of the holy and everlasting God?

The choice should not be difficult to make. In the realm of letters Mr. Doyle is a great man; we have read his stories with pleasure, and we still enjoy reading them. But Mr. Doyle as an exponent of the future life is too uncertain, to fanciful. The Bible will serve us better. The Christian will say with the Psalmist: "Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path," (119:105), and for knowledge of the future will look to his Bible.

Card of Thanks.

We hereby wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our kind relatives, friends and neighbors who so willingly assisted us during the illness and after the death of our beloved son and brother, Archie Orlando; also for the beautiful floral offerings. We especially thank Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Newell.—Signed: Mr. and Mrs. Tallack Froisness and son, Gordon. a20p

PROPER FEEDING OF GREATER IMPORTANCE THAN IMPROVING GRADE OF CATTLE JUST NOW

Most Dairymen Know Enough to Breed Toward a Higher Quality, But This is of No Avail Unless Provisions For Supplying the Right Rations Are Made—District Steadily Gaining in Reputation as Great Dairy Center.

By PETER ENGELSTAD
Secretary Thief River Co-Operative Creamery Association.

In an article published some years ago concerning the progress of the dairy industry in this section of Minnesota, I made the statement that dairying was in its infancy and in spite of the strides which have been made since that time, the same statement holds good today. Of course we have to admit there has been a noticeable change during the past few years, as there are many more farmers now who really consider the dairy their main issue and handle same as such, but they are still a small minority.

Traveling through the country in any direction you may choose, it is a sorrowful sight to behold the apparently unsettled country and abandoned farms—good land too—which could just as well be occupied by a family willing to take care of a few cows.

During the war, when grain prices were high the same as everything else, livestock included, dairying received a severe jolt. There were good crops and good prices. Livestock was sold off, herds depleted, and as grain-raising was the easier pursuit, nearly all farmers in this section went into it more or less heavily.

After some years experience in raising small grains, we find the farmers freely admitting the mistake made in selling their cows. The tide has turned again in favor of the old stand-by, and the cow, which at one time was like the German mark and Russian ruble on the exchanges, is again at par and in great demand.

There is one gratifying indication which cannot but be observed, and that is the small amount of stock now being shipped to the slaughtering pens. Another good sign is the attendance at public sales where good cattle are being offered. All such stock offered has been readily picked up by local parties and at fairly good prices, quality considered, and this is a good "omen."

One thing well worth mentioning is the fact that some graded stock has been shipped in and disposed of to parties who are earnestly trying to do the best they know how with the cows. This stock was sold at cost and a low rate of interest, the action being highly commendable on the part of the bank which undertook it.

Coming in contact with so many farmers as I do in my capacity of secretary of the creamery and in handling the checks issued monthly and weekly in payment for milk and cream, I often hear remarks like the following: "If it were not for my cows I do not know what I would have done." "The cows are the only thing—there is no money in anything else." "Butter is the only thing which held up when the bottom fell out of everything else produced on the farm." These and similar expressions are heard as often as "How do you do?" at the creamery office.

But I am getting away from what I intended to touch upon in this article, and that is the feeding and care of cows. We hear so much about "scrub cows" and "scrub stock" that people will be inclined to think this is some special breed. The idea prevailing that the common cows scattered throughout the country are not much good; that they are inferior as individuals, or in other words "scrubs," I will say is all nonsense. Under the conditions in which 75 per cent of our cows are kept, how long do you think it would take to put Conklin's famous "Ciff," Albert Johnson's fine Guernsey herd, Hans Anton's Holsteins and some of the other really great herds in the county in the "scrub" class?

The human being is a coward. When anything goes wrong he generally looks around for something to put the blame on instead of trying to correct his own faults, and the cow becomes the goat when his own poor way of looking after her is the real cause of the trouble. Hence she is a "scrub." There are a lot of good cows among the common stock in the country if they would only be given a chance. There is just as much good stock among the common cows of the country today as there was hundreds of years ago. Quality has been kept up because farmers have been practicing selection in the breeding of the common stock as long as there have been cows in the country. Farmers have always exercised enough common sense to select for the future a sire from one of their best cows, and by "best cow" is meant the animal which puts something in the pail. In this way the milk-producing qualities of the cow have been handed down generation to generation.

But there is another feature that has been very much neglected and that is in providing milk-producing feed for the cow. This must be the farmer's first consideration; it is the real foundation, and when this is attended to it is an easy matter to build farther on—to get a herd.

The outstanding need at this time is not so much a greater number of cows as it is more and better feed and care for the cows there are. I do not doubt but that the production from the number of cows now in the county could be doubled if they were given the right kind of care.

Many years ago I bought a cow from Ole J. Bloom, who then conducted a meat market in Thief River Falls. I paid $22 for the poor, skinny thing. After I had taken good care of that cow for a year she became the leader in a herd of 25 cows and remained so for four years. This is merely one example out of many.

Farmers, hang onto what cows you have. They exactly fit your conditions. Do not call your stock "scrub" unless you are dead certain you know what you are talking about. Give the cow a chance—that is, give her the best care and feed and if she does not respond then it will be time to discharge her.

Many a cow on many a farm has been made a scrub by the scrubby manner in which she has been cared for.

When the feed question is solved the better cow will automatically appear. If a poor one develops it will naturally be weeded out. Make a resolution. Let your slogan be: One acre of corn and one acre of alfalfa for each cow. If you cannot raise alfalfa, raise clover. With this excellent roughage the feed question will be mostly solved. Take the chill out of water in winter and you will do a little dairying the year around instead of a few months during the summer time. If you cannot put up a silo, stack the corn green. It is more waste and more work handling it that way than in the silo, but it is better than shock. Raise some corn anyway, even if you have to leave it in shocks in the field.

Last fall I had considerable corn after the silos were filled. I hauled it from the field, stacked it close to barns in a place away from snow drifts and it proved far more convenient than hauling from the shocks in the field as we needed it. I used very little grain this year on account of having alfalfa and silage as roughage through the whole winter.

When the farmer has the feed question solved it is natural that he set out to improve his herd. A purebred sire of some dairy breed that most suits the farmer's fancy would be an advisable investment. As to what breed, any special dairy strain adapted to the locality will do. There is no super-breed. Just as good success may be attained with a Guernsey herd as with a Holstein, and vice versa. The same applies to other breeds as well.

I always had faith in this section as a great dairy country and as years pass and the more I look into it the more thoroughly convinced I become that the region tributary to Thief River Falls—make the radius as big as you wish—will develop into one of the greatest dairying sections of the state.

Public Forum

(While The Times welcomes communications of general public interest at all times, political discussions, particularly as these pertain to candidates, cannot be permitted to appear in these columns. Two candidates for superintendent of schools have been given space because of the interest attached to their positions but the subject is now closed and hereafter all matters of similar nature will only be inserted as advertising and at regular advertising rates.—Editor.)

Gunderson's Record.

Editor Times:

Since I understand you are donating space thru the Public Forum column of your paper, I thought it only proper and fitting to fill part of the space of this issue commenting upon the good school work and qualities of our County Superintendent of Schools.

He is a man who was not drafted into our Army and of course has no war record, which I believe is of small account in educational work, as I understand all educators of any note discourage the teaching of militarism in our schools. He was, however, four years ago, drafted into the service of our country through a petition to file for the office he now holds, to supervise the training of our future citizens. His record in this respect is very encouraging. He is at the head of an army of teachers, numbering over seventy-six, under whose direction our fifteen hundred pupils are receiving citizenship training.

I myself am an ex-service man and have witnessed actual active service in battle. I shall say I do not feel proud over the fact that I helped to do away with a few of my fellow human beings. It's a topic which men of actual service do not care to discuss; especially thru the public press. Any ex-service man who has been in active engagements should not be proud of such a record and should forget his war deeds to assist in establishing universal peace.

Coming back to the subject I shall mention a few facts relative to our county superintendent of school's record in school work, as related to the life of a soldier.

Good health is one of the essential qualities of a soldier. Several of the boys thru lack of health supervision in our schools were deprived from volunteering to serve. By this I mean they had never had a physical examination in their school days and had thru this neglect developed physical defects which could not be remedied. What has been done in this respect during our past three school years in our county? Health supervision has been introduced largely thru the efforts of our superintendent.

Several of my comrades could not read or write our country's language. Our county superintendent's remedy for this is the Compulsory Education Law, which he has applied in every case brought to his attention. A soldier's letter, written after learning to read and write in an evening school in Army camps may interest my readers:

"I've seen enough to know that the man in the army without an education don't stand much chance for promotion."

"Ain't it a shame that a man like me, that can't even set sight on his rifle, must stand up and face the educated Germans?"

"Some one ought to tell the boys back home the value of an education before they come here. I didn't feel the need of an education until I got into the army, but now I feel it every hour."

"If that compulsory law had been the law when I was a boy, I wouldn't be learning to read and write now."—Ala. Illiteracy Com. Report.

Our county superintendent of schools is living up to the spirit of this law, thereby gaining several enemies, who as yet do not realize the needs of our future citizens—their boys and girls.

Better citizenship is one of the essentials of our future citizens. Citizenship is now a regular subject in all of our county schools. Little Citizens' Leagues have, thru the efforts of our superintendent, been organized in every rural school of the county.

Patriotism consists of providing for the needs of our country, thru the raising of better and larger crops of different commodities. Our school pupils in the past few years have been taught how to do this thru the formation of boys' and girls' clubs. This work has been conducted by our county agricultural agent thru the co-operation of our county superintendent of schools.

The rural teachers of the county have held sectional public meetings under the direction of our superintendent. These meetings have been of an educational nature, educating the rural public to see the necessity of co-operating with the school system.

While our county superintendent of schools has no war record, he with several others contributed heavily to our welfare as soldiers thru the various issues of government bonds. He denied his family of eight children himself and wife, many a necessity in order to contribute to the soldiers' welfare in several other ways.

As a past service man with a war record equaling any soldier's, I earnestly urge Geo. M. Gunderson, County Superintendent of Schools to file for re-election. He abandoned his farm in the interest of rural education, which is and has been his life work. This he did upon the petition of several of the rural people. Shall we forsake him now because he is doing his duty well, thereby displeasing a few of the many? Let me tell you that a man who makes no enemies in a public office is not worthy of the trust. Accept this from an ex-soldier who knows something of the past training of our citizen and who is not a traitor to the cause nor his friends. Our rural school work is progressing. Do not swap horses in the middle of the stream.

THE RISE OF INDREHUS.

Springfield Advance-Press: Thirty years ago Edward Indrehus, a young Norwegian boy just over from Norway, assisted in putting the woodwork on the ceiling of the banquet room of the West hotel in Minneapolis. Last week in the same room he was nominated for governor of Minnesota by the democratic party. This is just one of the many similar examples of the opportunity for advancement in free America. Mr. Indrehus may not be elected; the chances are certainly against; but he has by his own efforts made himself a man of influence in the state.

SMALL GRAIN CROP FACES EXTINCTION

Inroads of Black Rust Force Mills to Seek Sites in Other Sections of Country.

(By Farm Bureau News Service.)

Experts employed by the United States are predicting this spring that unless the ravages of black rust can be checked, the whole north central section of the country, including Minnesota, will be forced out of the grain growing business.

Within 25 years, these experts say, grain crops will be a thing of the past here, unless the common barberry bush, which causes black stem rust, is completely eradicated in the northwest.

The seriousness of the situation was indicated this week, when three Minneapolis milling companies announced that they were expanding into the territory, to protect themselves against the threatened destruction of grain production in the northwest. The Russell-Miller Milling company has purchased a mill site at Buffalo, the Washburn-Crosby company has bought a mill at Kansas City, and the Pillsbury Flour Mills company also is expanding into other territory.

Black stem rust annually destroys more than 50,000,000 bushels of wheat in the northern grain belt. It also destroys millions of bushels of barley, oats and rye. In 1916 it destroyed 300,000,000 bushels of spring wheat in the United States and Canada.

To wipe out the menace an organization known as the Conference for the Prevention of Grain Rust has been formed. It represents the combined agricultural interests of 13 northwest and north central states. It is co-operating with the federal government and the farm bureau in an intensive campaign to eradicate the common barberry for all time.

April 28 Designated as Arbor and Bird Day By Governor Proclamation

Governor Preus last week issued the following proclamation asking the people of the state to properly observe April 28 as Arbor and Bird Day:

"In conformity to custom and in recognition of the importance in our economic life, of trees, and of the feathered songsters which inhabit them, I, J. A. O. Preus, Governor of Minnesota, do hereby designate Friday, April 28, 1922, as Arbor and Bird Day.

"Trees should be planted upon our school grounds, around our homes, along our highways and amongst industrial centers. But Arbor Day should be made something more than merely the occasion for planting a few trees. In the schools there should be discussion of relation of trees to our economic and social life. Pupils should be shown that trees are important not merely that they furnish shelter from the sun and the wind and lumber with which to build houses, but emphasis should be placed upon their part in providing the beautiful surroundings which are so essential to our happiness and contentment.

"Community organizations and public officials should give special thought. First, to preservation of natural timber tracts bordering on our lakes and streams and other places accessible to the public; Second, to careful and comprehensive planning for planting of trees so as to beautify whole communities; Third, to legislation which will encourage reforestation and scientific development and use of our forest areas.

"When we think of trees we think of birds. The trees are the homes of the birds and the birds protect the trees by feeding upon destructive insects. In teaching children the value of trees let us also teach them to appreciate and protect the birds."

Erie School Closed.

Mrs. S. D. Rouze closed a very successful term of school in District 14, on Thursday, April 13. A program, which was a credit to both the pupils and teacher, was rendered and later a picnic lunch, consisting of sandwiches, coffee, cake and ice cream, was served. Mrs. Rouze and two children, who have spent the past year with her mother, Mrs. J. P. Ferdinandsen of Goodridge, will leave Saturday for their home at Austin, Minn.

ROSEWOOD

Baseball Prospects Good.

A movement is under foot headed by several of the village live wires to establish a baseball team in Rosewood this season, and at present the prospects are very bright. Twelve of the community's best ball players have declared their intention to play. A meeting will be called at the John Sagmoen residence in town Saturday evening, April 22, to elect officers and appoint a captain. A five acre tract of fine land suitable for a diamond can be leased from Mr. Sagmoen half a mile east of town. To meet the preliminary financial requirements a basket social is planned to be held at Rosebank the latter part of this month, and other means of raising money are also under consideration. It is a good many years since Rosewood could boast a baseball team and the effort this year should receive unanimous support and encouragement.

Mrs. Siri Nordhagen.

Mrs. Siri Nordhagen was born at Trysil, Norway, July 20, 1842, and was consequently a little over 80 years old. Death was caused directly by an attack of influenza, and occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Anton Gullseth, where she had spent the last months. She passed away peacefully on Monday, April 6. Deceased was married in Norway to John Nordhagen in 1866 and immigrated to America in 1881, locating first near Fargo, where they spent the first three years, later coming to Norden township, Pennington county, where they homesteaded the farm which has been the home of the family ever since. The husband died in 1893. Six children are left to mourn the death of a kind and loving mother. They are Gjermon and Olof Nordhagen and Mrs. Anton Gullseth of Rosewood, Mrs. A. B. Remmem of Thief River Falls, and Mrs. C. Eggen and Mrs. I. Eggen, both residents of Kelliher. Interment took place April 9 at Landstad cemetery, Rev. George Larson of Thief River Falls officiating. All the children were present at the funeral.

A surprise party was tendered Mrs. Carl Bloom at her home Saturday afternoon, and a neat sum of money was left as a remembrance. The party was arranged mainly to show the sympathy and good will of neighbors and friends, following the long illness of Mrs. Bloom and her confinement at the Warren hospital. The party was well attended and a lunch was served to those present.

W. H. Wilde, Will Rodeman and others from this place have been busy hauling hay from Hickory.

We have had the crow, we have had the meadow lark and robin and ducks and wild geese galore with us for some time, but the gentle springtime breezes haven't arrived yet. Something rather unusual for this time of year.

Rev. Lerfallen held religious services in the Oak Park church on Good Friday.

The "dinky" newspaper editors who have been trying to make believe that the farmers will seed in a normal crop of wheat this spring have another guess coming now.

Politics are beginning to warm up down this way. Candidates are beginning to loom up in the Fifth county commissioner district. We notice K. K. Austin of Kratka has filed and we have just been informed that Carl G. Olson of Mayfield has also thrown his hat into the ring, while there are yet two or possibly three other prospective candidates who may later on enter the race. Being a next door neighbor to Mr. Olson, it might not be out of place to state the fact that he is one of the pioneer settlers in Mayfield township and that he has ever since he became a resident served both as a school officer and a member of the town board. Through his effort largely Mayfield township has or will have in the near future the best roads of any township within the county. Mr. Olson has at all times taken an active part in the upbuilding of this part of the country. We will venture to say should he be elected to represent our district, we have reasons to believe that the people of the Fifth county commissioner district will receive due consideration at the hands of Mr. Olson, and the entire county as well.

LONG TERM FOR YOUNG SOLDIER FROM THIS CITY

Francis Midderigh, of Marine Corps, Sentenced to Prison By Military Court.

Protests Innocence in Letter to Father and Asks Help in Securing Investigation.

Was Not Even Present When Three Nicaraguans Met Death in Street Brawl.

Francis Midderigh, son of Deputy Sheriff Paul Midderigh of this city, is in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., sentenced to serve eight years for a crime which he claims he never committed. Young Midderigh enlisted in the Mairnes after being mustered out of the army at the close of the world war, and it has been the general impression that he was getting along well. For this reason the letter from him stating that he had been cast in prison came as a great shock to his father and a surprise to his many friends here. The communication sounds like a straightforward statement of facts and steps are already being taken here to bring the matter before the proper authorities. The young man writes as follows:

"Dear Father: Just a few lines to let you know that I am in the best of health. I am now in Atlanta penitentiary starting to serve a sentence of eight years, accused of being a participant in a street fight at Managua, Nicaragua, which I know absolutely nothing about except by hearsay.

Thirty in Party.

"It may sound funny; a man being in the penitentiary and saying it is for nothing, but I can truthfully say I am innocent of all charges and accusations preferred against me. I am not the only one out of the 30 men who came here with me who is innocent.

"The only evidence against me was that a marine said he saw me at a canteen in town but did not see me at the fight. And still they sentenced me for eight years for manslaughter.

"Twenty-six of us were sentenced on this charge for the killing of three Nicaraguan police and then they tried and sentenced two corporals for the same killing on the charge of murder.

Americans Attacked.

"The situation in Nicaragua that the Americans have to go through is known by very few people in the United States. Marines have gone on liberty and have been hit over the head with clubs by mobs of natives. When this was reported to the major in charge they were confronted by some such remark as this: 'If a marine cannot lick three Nicaraguans, you are no good,' and were shown no signs of protection at all. The natives were also using the American flag for aprons and rugs.

"I have been waiting for a month for my court proceedings, to which I am entitled, but have not received them yet. I did not intend to let you know at present of my whereabouts for I did not everyone to know it until I had proven my innocence. I do not expect to be here very long for nearly all of the boys have someone working on the case.

A Wholesale Trial.

"Twenty-six of us were tried in one grind. I will appreciate your kindness if you will write to your senator and have him look into my case. I just received Mr. (T. P.) Anderson's letter while I was writing this and if he can do anything I will appreciate it very much.

"Hoping you will not think me guilty and also not worry, I remain, as ever, your affectionate son."

Will Be Investigated.

Francis Midderigh was born in this city and lived here practically all his life until he entered the army. All who know him say he is the reverse of quarrelsome and insist that the military authorities have made a mistake. His father has no more details of the occurrence than is contained in the above letter but will at once try and secure a transcript of the evidence. In this he will ask the aid of Senators Nelson and Kellogg and Congressman Steenerson, steps having already been taken to call the matter to their attention.

Serious Charge Against Father Made By Neighbor

On complaint of Peder Ronsla of Deer Park township, Matthias Bakken and his daughter, Amanda, were brought into municipal court here yesterday to answer to the charge of incest, the complaint alleging that the two defendants were father and daughter, respectively.

On motion of County Attorney Theo. Quale the charge against the father was dismissed and that against the daughter transferred to the juvenile court and continued to Wednesday, May 10, it having developed that the girl was only 16 years of age.

The case was ended, so far as the municipal court was concerned, when the state attempted to place Mrs. Bakken on the stand to testify. Attorney H. O. Chommie for the defense objected on the score that the law does not permit a husband or wife to testify against one another in a criminal case, and was sustained by the court. Mr. Quale said it would be useless to proceed against Bakken at this time under the circumstances.

The girl, who recently gave birth to a child, is claimed to be 16 years old but looks even younger.

Attends Company Meeting.

H. E. Nelson, manager of the J. C. Penney store in this city, left last evening for St. Paul, where he will attend the semi-annual meeting of the 312 store managers in the chain of one of the greatest merchandising organizations in this country.

Three floors of the St. Paul hotel have been reserved for the accommodation of the visitors and the conference is expected to extend over a period of two weeks.

BRAKEMAN LOSES ARM AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT TUESDAY

Bones in Limb Crushed to Pulp But No One Knows How Accident Occurred.

Chris. Christenson, a freight brakeman on the Thief River Falls-Federal Dam run on the Soo, had his left arm crushed and sustained other injuries near the station at Plummer on Tuesday evening. He was taken to the Physicians hospital in this city where the arm was amputated at the shoulder yesterday morning and every hope is expressed for the injured man's recovery.

The train was in charge of Conductor B. G. Rounds and the usual crew, but no one is able to tell just how the accident happened. Another brakeman was near by but on the other side of the train and did not know of anything wrong until Christenson was missed some time later. As near as can be learned, the latter's lantern had gone out and he was climbing the side of a car which was to be set out. In some manner he must have lost his footing and fallen, but it is evident the train did not run over him. The accident happened near the coal chute and it is thought he was caught between the car and the chute as the arm was crushed to a pulp.

Christenson has been in the train service for many years and is regarded as both careful and active. It is therefore something of a mystery to the road officials here to understand how the accident could have happened. He is not yet in condition to throw any light on the subject himself. He is a married man and resides at 415 Main avenue north.

Welfare Workers Start Fund For Swimming Pool

The Social Welfare section of the Woman's club netted $30.29 through the food sale held Saturday at Laird's Specialty Shop. The sum will be applied toward defraying the expenses of getting a swimming pool installed for the use of the public during the coming summer. On Sunday members of the park board, under whose jurisdiction this proposition will be handled, inspected a number of sites for the pool and decided that the neighborhood of the Island near Lovers' Lane offered the greatest advantages. To insure purity of the water pipes will be laid for a distance upstream in order that any danger from contamination by sewage may be avoided.

The matter of a swimming pool has engaged the attention of the park board and different civic organizations during the past two years and quite a lot of preliminary work has been done. The plan is to provide this convenience by popular subscription so far as possible, although it is likely the city council might be prevailed upon to make some kind of appropriation to help the matter along.

Voters Petition Bishop To Make Run For Judge

C. Larson of Golden Valley, Marshall county, arrived in the city yesterday with a petition signed by a large number of voters in that neighborhood, urging J. M. Bishop to become a candidate for district judge. Similar petitions are being circulated in many places in the district, it being learned here that Red Lake, Clearwater and Mahnomen county voters are showing a decided preference for the Thief River Falls man.

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS BUSY SESSION; MANY APPLY FOR LICENSES

Polling Place Established in Fourth Ward; Legion Favored in Light Costs and Hall Rental; Ask Bids on Flusher.

The city council had a lengthy session this week, there having accumulated considerable routine business since the last meeting three weeks ago.

A well-signed petition by residents of the Fourth ward asking for the establishment of a polling place within the ward, was given favorable consideration, the location to be determined later.

The Sons of Norway asked for the use of the auditorium on May 17, when a big celebration is planned. The request was granted.

Pool hoom permits for another year were requested by J. E. Cosgrove, William Sheedy and Dahl & Lundgren, and were granted, as was also a plumber's license to Ed Lee and a theatre license to the Thief River Theatre company.

The American Legion was granted free lights until Jan. 1 next for the new club rooms under the First and Peoples bank, and the boys were also given a special rental rate for six nights for the use of the auditorium for dances, which are to be staged to raise money for equipping the rooms.

C. L. Hansen was given a permit to erect a large sign board on East Third street in front of the vacant lots where the Union block formerly was located.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a horse drawn flusher for use on the paved streets, it being the opinion of the council that the streets can be kept cleaner in this way than by and labor and at less cost.

Attending Convention.

J. S. Barnett leaves this evening for Cleveland as a delegate to the national convention of the Order of Railway Conductors, representing the local lodge. Representatives from all over the United States, Canada and Mexico are expected to attend the convention.

BUILDING PERMITS TOTALING $10,000 GRANTED TO DATE

More Construction Work During Last Month Than For Entire Year Just Past.

More building activity is apparent in this city already this spring than for several seasons past, as was evidenced by the requests for building permits at the office of the city clerk this week. The various structures will be well scattered throughout the city and include a store, building, an office, an addition to one of the modern brick buildings in the business section, a dwelling and a garage.

The steadily increasing business of the Minneapolis Bridge company has resulted in additional office space becoming necessary. They are moving their present office across the street from its present location on the east side of Atlantic avenue and Tenth street, and adding thereto a large room on the south side and another at the rear, with basement and heating plant. The new building will be 28x32 feet in size, of one story and basement, and will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000.

The estimated cost of an addition to the Cosgrove building is placed at over $2,000, according to the request for permit.

John Ward has had plans and specifications drawn for a modern dwelling on the East side and expects to have it completed before fall, the cost being estimated at $3,000.

A garage is now being built for Carl Engen at a cost of $200, and work is also under way on the new store building of Carl Christofferson & Co., on the East side, the cost of which will be near the $2,000 mark.

Big Patrolman and Judge Make Speeding Unpopular

Patrolman Ed Johnson and Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant have formed a combination against violators of the traffic ordinances in the city and are doing everything in their power to discourage speeding and the commission of other offenses. V. D. Borry paid a fine of $12.50 Monday morning, although he was inclined to believe that he had kept within the law. Ed Brekken tried running through the business streets with his cut-out open and found this was an unpopular proceeding with the police and court. He paid $12.50. A. Anderson stepped on 'er a little too hard and thereby secured an invitation to explain to the judge. Result, $12.50.

This morning Stanton Efteland, delivery man, paid a fine of $5 for cutting across a corner on the wrong side of the warning sign and stopping his car on the wrong side of the street.

Famous Evangelists Will Hold Series of Meetings

A series of evangelistic meetings will be held in the Presbyterian church beginning May 9 and continuing until May 21. Rev. J. F. McLeod of Duluth will be the principal speaker and the singing will be in charge of his son, Rev. George A. McLeod, of the same city. The senior Rev. McLeod has had notable success in his evangelistic work in many parts of the state, while his son is one of the most famous singers engaged in church work. He was a member of the American Four quartet which toured the country from one end to the other during the war and also sang in 57 government cantonments. Since that time Rev. McLeod has been singing with Mell Trotter, everywhere regarded as one of the greatest evangelistic singers in the United States. He will have charge of the musical programs in this city.

CASH PRIZES OF $100.00 FOR BEST CORN, POTATOES

Citizens State Bank to Stage Exhibition at Which Above Awards Will Be Given.

Any Farmer in Pennington and Part of Marshall County May Enter the Contest.

Show to Be Held at Bank in October—No Strings or Conditions to Proposition.

One of the most encouraging signs for the future of this section is the interest taken by banking institutions in the welfare of farmers. In no other region of Minnesota are the banks getting behind men who till the soil with programs of such real helpfulness and in a manner so calculated to encourage a better system of farming. Business men of all kinds, and bankers in particular, realize that on the prosperity of the farmer depends the welfare of the country in general and are doing their full share toward securing for the man on the land a greater and more certain return on his labor and investment.

As its share in this encouragement movement the Citizens State bank of Thief River Falls proposes to stage a corn and potato show at which substantial prizes will be given. The show will be held at the bank on Oct. 5 to 7, and the simple rules of competition will be found in the announcement printed in anotehr place in The Times this week.

$100 In Cash Prizes.

The bank offers $100 in prizes, half each in the corn and potato divisions. The first prize is $15, second $10, third $7, fourth $5, fifth $3, and $1 each to the next ten best. This applies to both corn and potatoes. The territory included takes in all of Pennington county and the southern tier of townships in Marshall county, contestants thus having equal advantages as regards soil and climatic conditions. Competition will be confined entirely to individual exhibits. Competent judges will later be appointed and awards will be made on points and according to what is considered the recognized standards for this district. Average size, productiveness, breed, type and general appearance will be the governing factors. Assurance is given that the show will be conducted with the utmost fairnes sand impartiality.

Bank officials reserve the right to retain the prize-winning exhibits at this show for entry at any other exhibition and for future display. It is stipulated, however, that in case any additional prizes are won at these other shows, the awards shall go to the original owner.

No special system of planting or cultivation is demanded, every exhibitor being permitted to follow any plan that promises the best results. In fact there are no strings of any kind attached to this prize offer and every farmer in the territory specified has exactly the same chance of winning as his neighbor.

Means Brisk Competition.

In order that the bank officials may get an idea of the number of exhibits for which to make provision, all who contemplate entering the contest are asked to fill out the entry blank at the bottom of the announcement. Failure to do so at this time does not bar anyone from participating as blanks for submission with the exhibit will be furnished later. Unless these are received by Sept. 15, the exhibitor should notify the bank.

With corn and potatoes coming to the front as among the most staple and important crops of the district, this offer should create a good deal of interest. The winning of one of these prizes entails no extra labor or other condition on the farmer and all have an equal chance. The date of the show is sufficiently late to insure full maturity of the products displayed and no limit is set as to the number of competitors.

Farm Meeting at Rocksbury.

There will be a meeting of the Rocksbury Farm club in Valhall hall on Saturday evening. County Agent J. J. McCann will be the principal speaker, his topic being "Boys' and Girls' Club Work." Lunch will be served at the close of the meeting and all who attend are assured of having an enjoyable time.

Loses Fine Automobile; Can Only Watch it Burn

W. H. Frederick, the real estate man, lost a fine Franklin automobile by fire last Saturday. He was out to the former Jorgen Eide place in North township and noticed that the engine gave signs of overheating. He stopped and made an investigation but failed to discover what was wrong. He went into the house, recently purchased by him and which has been vacant since the Eide family moved out. Upon returning he found it necessary to use the crank in order to get started. Happening to look around he noticed that the door had failed to catch and went back to pull it shut. When he again reached the car he found it on fire underneath the footboard, which on a Franklin car is bolted down. There was absolutely nothing he could do and the machine was entirely consumed, the heat being so great that parts of the engine melted. The car was insured for part of its value but the loss is nevertheless considerable.

Elks' Dance Friday.

The first dancing party of the spring season for members of the Elks lodge will be given at the lodge room on Friday night. The best music obtainable will be on hand and a fine lunch will be served. While the matter has not yet been definitely decided it is likely a dancing party will be given once a month during the year unless it is found best to skip the hot weather of mid-summer, when some other form of entertainment may be substituted.

An Appreciated Gift.

Olaf Neset, jeweler and optometrist, last week presented a number of different secret societies with shields or escutcheons bearing the emblem of the respective orders. The emblems are about 9x12 inches in size, in heavy metal relief on a fine polished hardwood background—and make ornaments worthy of a place of honor in any lodge room. Among the lodges already supplied are the Masons, Odd Fellows, Elks and Knights of Columbus. Mr. Neset has signified his intention of treating all the secret organizations in a similar manner as soon as the emblems can be provided.

PETITIONS ASK FOR SIDEWALKS, SEWER AND WATER MAINS

Large Amount of This Kind of Work Likely in City During Coming Summer.

Petitions for public improvements in the way of water mains, sanitary sewers and sidewalks, occupied a considerable portion of the time of the city council at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Residents in the southwestern part of the city are asking for an extension of the water mains and sewer along Riverside avenue from the present terminus to a point about three blocks south.

Another petition from the East side calls for the construction of 3,000 feet of sewer on Crocker and Tindolph avenues between Taft and Mussey streets, it being necessary to run the mains down to Bridge street and then to Kendall avenue, there to connect with the present sewer. The estimated cost of this improvement is not much more than a dollar a foot.

These petitions were approved by the council and the city attorney was instructed to draw the necessary resolution for presentation at the next meeting of the council.

A concrete sidewalk along Eighth street from Arnold avenue to the Soo tracks and another on the east side of the same street as far as the bridge over Thief river were asked for in two separate petitions, signed by 56 and 12 residents respectively, but were opposed by other owners. Sidewalks were also requested on the south side of Sixth street between Main and LaBree avenues, and on Arnold between Seventh and Eighth. Action thereon was deferred for a week to give the council a chance to investigate more thoroughly.

Newspaper at Goodridge Sold to Thief River Man

I. D. Cosgrove, who for about four years has been publisher of the Goodridge Banner, sold the paper to John Nystul, principal at the Goodridge high school.

As soon as the deal was closed Mr. Nystul transferred the property to S. V. Arneson, city editor of the Tribune at Thief River Falls, under whose direction the paper will be issued this week. Mr. Arneson has already ordered a new newspaper press and will make preparations for giving the people of Goodridge the best paper they ever had.

Odd Fellows to Attend Church.

Members of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges and anyone belonging to either order who may be in the city temporarily, are requested to meet at the lodge room next Sunday at 10:30 o'clock for the purpose of attending services at the Methodist church. Rev. J. B. Smith will deliver a sermon appropriate to the occasion and all are earnestly urged to be present.

The occasion will be in commemoration of the 101st anniversary of the founding of the order.

VOLLOM OF ERSKINE ELECTED MANAGER OF STATE N-P LEAGUERS

The Nonpartisan League state executive committee has issued a statement which follows, in par:

"Thomas Vollom of Erskine has been made political manager of the Minnesota Nonpartisan League activities by the state executive board.

"No changes were made in the farmer-labor ticket by the committee at this meeing, but a meeting was arranged for April 29, with the committee of the working people nonpartisan political league and the farmer-labor party to make final arrangements on all ticket questions and plans for the general campaign."

George H. Griffith, who has been state manager for the past four years, resigned recently to take up work with the national executive committee of the league. Members of the state executive committee chosen by the recent state convention are: Ole Langhaug, Evansville, chairman; Mrs. Harold Baker, Renville, secretary-treasurer; A. C. Welch, Glencoe; Henry Arens, Jordan, and Mrs. Otto Brinkman, Glencoe.

Addition to Business Building.

J. E. Cosgrove on Monday awarded a contract for the construction of an addition 40 feet long to his pool and billiard hall on LaBree avenue, L. D. McAdams being the contractor. The building will be of brick, one story high and constructed with the idea in view of providing the finest place of its kind in this section of the state. When this new addition is completed Mr. Cosgrove will have a room 25x110 feet.

HALVORSON FILES FOR JUDGE; SMITH FOR CO. ATTORNEY

Theo. Quale Also Enters Lists to Succeed Himself in Last-Named Position.

G. Howard Smith, announcement of whose expected filing for county attorney was made in The Times last week, entered his name on Thursday. Mr. Smith has resided in the city during the past seven or eight years and enjoys a wide acquaintance. He is a member of the American Legion post and has been active in all matters involving the former soldiers. Mr. Smith is at the present time secretary of the Thief River Falls Merchants association and was formerly secretary of the Commercial club. His opponent will be Theo. Quale, the present incumbent, who has filed for re-election, offering his record during the past four years as his principal campaign document.

It is announced that G. Halvorson has filed with the secretary of state at St. Paul the announcement of his candidacy for judge of the Fourteenth judicial district. J. M. Bishop of this city, who has been prominently mentioned in this connection, has not yet definitely signified his intention.

There was but one other filing during the week. Frank Race of Reiner township entered the field for county commissioner from the First district. He made the announcement that his candidacy is in no manner to be influenced by any action that may be taken by the Nonpartisan league nor does he wish it understood that he is in any way sponsored by that organization.

Stepped on Faulty Plank; Demands $1,000 From City

The city of Thief River Falls is threatened with a suit for $1,000 by Martin Johnson for damages claimed by him as the result of having stepped through a faulty piece of sidewalk in the business section. The amount asked for is to cover doctor bills and temporary inability to attend to his usual duties.

The matter was brought to the attention of the city council and referred to the city attorney for investigation and later report.

Mr. Johnson alleges that the plank in front of the Larson furniture store was of faulty construction and permitted him to partially fall down in such a way as to cause bad bruises and accompanying disability.

Great Booster Meetings At Goodridge and Grygla

Anyone laboring under the impression that the farmers in this territory are not particularly interested in the work of the Thief River Valley New Settlers association should have been present at the meeting held at Goodridge last Friday evening and at another held in Grygla the night following. Fully 300 persons were present at the first-named place while half that number crowded into the hall at Grygla.

The Thief River Falls men present explained the purpose of the new association and were assured that everything possible would be done by the people to the east of this city in helping to secure additional settlers. Grygla people were told that upon the securing of a larger number of people for the farms depended the extension of the railroad to that village, and this was sufficient to insure the hearty co-operation of the residents.

Motor Line to Crookston.

Conrad Vinje will on May 1 inaugurate a daily bus service between this city and Crookston, leaving the Evelyn and Brumund hotels at 7:30 a. m. and arriving at Crookston at 9:45 a. m. every morning except Sunday, and starting on the second trip at 2 o'clock, returning at 7 in the evening. The bus will stop for passengers any place on the road and on regular schedule at St. Hilaire, Red Lake Falls and Gentilly.

The inauguration of this line furnishes motor transportation to the south and a line is already in operation to the north as far as Roseau. A. P. Fox, manager of the latter, states that business thus far has been as good as could be expected.

OUTSIDE WORLD WILL KNOW OF VALLEY'S FAME

Editor of Prominent Farm Publication Here For Personal Tour of Inspection.

George W. Kelley Astonished at Present Development and Future Opportunities.

Makes Trip to Grygla and Erie and Inspects Herds in the City's Neighborhood.

While the Thief River Valley New Settlers association has been in existence only about a month, the fame of its plan and purpose has already spread far and wide. Men interested in development work in this state particularly are watching the new venture with a great deal of interest as it presents the handling of an old question in a new and novel manner.

George W. Kelley, editor of the Northwest Farmstead, Minneapolis, one of the most widely read agricultural journals in this section of the country, believed he saw in the new undertaking something worthy of his personal investigation and on Monday arrived in the city for the purpose of interviewing men at the head of the association, learning something of the methods it is proposed to pursue and taking a look around to see what the Thief River valley had to offer in the way of inducements to settlers. He put in two busy days making investigations, traveled over a considerable section of country and went away even more enthusiastic over the prospects than are the men who are fostering the movement.

Is Tendered Banquet.

After having put in a busy day the visitor and his guides returned to the city in time to join with other citizens in a banquet served at the Hotel Evelyn in his honor. H. W. Protzeller, president of the Thief River Valley New Settlers association, officiated as toastmaster and first called upon Mr. Kelley for a few remarks. The latter stated that he was in the city more for the purpose of seeing and hearing than for talking but that he had certainly discovered a sufficient number of things to talk about. He was astonished to find that the Red River valley extended this far east as it was his impression that Thief River Falls was in a former lumbering region and the country in the neighborhood largely cut-over land. He had covered enough ground during the day to become convinced of his error and promised to lend his aid in setting the rest of the world right on the subject.

Farming Town Best.

Mr. Kelley said while it is doubtless true that farming communities as a general thing are not at the most prosperous points in their careers just at present, their situation is a vast improvement on manufacturing cetners. He had just returned from an eastern trip and was in a position to assure his hearers that when a factory town hits a spell of hard times the condition of its citizens was infinitely worse than could possibly be the case with a farming community.

Referring to farm conditions in this immediate neighborhood, Mr. Kelley stated that there was no question as to the fertility of the soil. "Any land that will grow alfalfa is worth $100 an acre," he said, "and I have been given ample proof to convince me that alfalfa is a sure and abundant crop in the Thief River valley.

"You will build up a wonderful community here if you continue along the lines laid out," he said. "Alfalfa, clover, fodder corn and cattle will in a very short time place the district near the top of the list as a producer. All you need is more people and from the manner you have gone about advertising yo[illegible] vantages, I feel certain you ar[illegible] to get them." He complimented [illegible] bers of the association very highly upon the manner in which they were attending to the work at hand and said others would soon follow the plan, particularly after its success had been more definitely demonstrated.

Many Other Speakers.

Mr. Protzeller called upon a number of those present for short addresses. Olaf Ramstad recalled the first time he had gone over the route followed that day. It was not so many years ago that it took him two days to reach Grygla from Thief River Falls. On Monday the party traveled about 130 miles over good roads and made several stops in about half the time it took to get to Grygla on his first visit to the place.

John Bratrud said that he had sold quite a number of tracts of wild land to settlers and in only one instance had the tract reverted back because the purchaser was unable or unwilling to meet his payments. As a real estate man he admitted the error of trying to sell to any person more land than he could take care of and believed 80 acres was in most cases the proper amount for a beginner to acquire.

Hans Anton told how he came here from the southern part of the state eight years ago, believing this was a great grain country. He saw his error in a very short time and turned to cattle, meeting with good success in the dairy business. A previous speaker had referred to weeds as a drawback to this region, but Mr. Anton stated that this was not the fault of the country but of the farmer himself. He believed that the New Settlers association is destined to accomplish great things for this section and that a wonderful record will be made in a very short time.

Right Spirit Necessary.

Albert Johnson, another successful dairyman, followed Mr. Anton and much along the same line. He said there is nothing the matter with the soil or climate in this valley but maintained that a man coming here to make a living must have the right spirit. Had he known as much when he first came here nine years ago as he does today he would be several thousand dollars ahead, said the speaker. The policy followed on the Johnson farm is to turn everything off as a finished product, as near as possible, practically all grain and roughage being converted into butterfat.

C. L. Hansen stated that the Thief River valley has the far-famed Red River valley backed off the map when it comes to productiveness. All that is needed, he said, is more farmers like those present at the meeting. He predicted that all farms will soon have radio phones so the farmer can get his market reports every morning and his news and entertainment every evening.

Other Good Addresses.

E. O. Mogensen, who spoke for the merchants of the city, said country development has not kept pace with city growth in the Northwest and it is now proposed to do something to get things back onto a more even basis. Supt. I. T. Simley gave some interesting sidelights into the work of the city schools and said that according to the number of children enrolled in the different buildings in Thief River Falls the town should have a population of 8,000. He gave this out as another indication that things will grow here. From his own experience Mr. Simley could testify to the fact that a newcomer would be made welcome here as he had found the people most helpful and agreeable.

Leonard Houske, secretary of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, was one of the party making the trip and said he was surprised at the signs of progress he observed on every hand. He assured his hearers that they need not dread the sow thistle or any other kind of weed if the country became settled. It is on uncultivated or poorly cultivated land that weeds thrive.

J. S. Arneson was the last speaker. He said the people of the neighborhood were themselves largely to blame for the wrong impressions prevailing concerning their country as they had never before made any particular effort to have them corrected. He believed with the others that the New Settlers association would help greatly in correcting these errors.

Yesterday Mr. Kelley made an inspection of some of the more famous herds of cattle in the neighborhood of Thief River Falls. Visits were made to the Peter Engelstad farm, where Mr. Kelley was shown a field of alfalfa which has produced a crop without reseeding during the past 17 years. It is believed this is a record for the entire United States. The visitor was then taken to the following places: Albert Johnson, Fred Beerbower, S. E. Hunt, F. B. Conklin, H. C. Woolson, Jens Letnes, Halvor Fodstad, Waldie Christenson, M. T. McFarland, Hans Anton, A. E. Anderson and Henry Hanson.

Mennonites Plan Return to Canada; Mexico is Too Hot

The Canadian government is making arrangements for the return to Canada of 2,000 Mennonite farmers who left early this spring for northern Mexico. The climate in Mexico is too hot for the Mennonites after 40 years in the north. They stared paying for 2,000,090 acres in Mexico and will lose what they paid and now have to buy back land they left in Canada. The Mennonites left Manitoba and Saskatchewan because the government insisted on the teaching of English in all schools.

Designates Week of May 1-6 For Annual Cleanup

In another column of this issue will be found the proclamation of Mayor John Bratrud, reminding citizens of Thief River Falls that it is time for the annual spring clean-up. The week of May 1 to 6 has been designated as the period when all good citizens should attend to this highly important matter in order that the city may be put in shape for inspection by summer visitors and the public health safeguarded.

It makes no difference how careful a household may be during the winter about allowing refuse of one kind or another to accumulate, spring always discloses a number of unsightly back-yards and alleys. It should be as much a matter of pride with the householder to see that these are improved as keeping the interior of his home in a clean and wholesome condition. Filth of any kind lying outdoors provides the most favored breeding places for flies and these are a menace to public health and a nuisance on general principles. Clean the premises and swat the fly.

Civil Service Examinations.

The Civil Service commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Thief River Falls and other cities throughout the United States for junior engineer, bureau of standards; fish culturist, bureau of fisheries; assistant agricultural economist and junior agricultural economist (marketing) in the bureau of markets and crop estimates, department of agriculture, applicants were not secured in the number desired and that these examinations will be held again. The fish culturist examination will be held on Many 10; the others will be held on Many 24.

Persons interested in these or other examinations should apply to T. S. Brokke, secretary of the U. S. civil service board at the local post office, for detailed information and application blanks.

All Sorts of People.

Some farmers dont' believe in velvet beans, soy beans, burr or crimson clover, or anything else but cotton and corn. But some people still claim that the world is flat.

Social evil is like the old fashioned poll-evil, sort of a cross between a runnin' sore an' certain death.

NO OVERLAP ASSESSMENTS.

A number of land owners affected by assessments in connection with the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy project have the mistaken idea that they are liable to be let in for double costs, or that they will have to pay their share of expense for the work done on both the Clearwater and Red Lake rivers. This impression has gained ground because of the fact that the Clearwater project in certain instances extends to within half a mile of the Red Lake river.

Engineer G. W. Walker is authority for the statement that there will be but one assessment and land owners can rest assured on this score. Those who are included in the Clearwater project will have nothing to pay for any work that may be done on the Red Lake river.

As is always the case in a dry season, the demand for drainage is not as loud as it was last summer. The farmers forget very easily and as long as their farms are high and dry seem to see no necessity for doing anything to protect themselves against a flood. They may realize in a general way that the flood is sure to come unless something is done to prevent it, but so long as they are not immediately threatened quite a number are willing to believe that history will quit repeating itself and that they will in some manner escape loss. A week of heavy rains would again start the clamor for drainage but just at present the roof is not leaking and there is no use in fixing it.

RAISE MORE HOGS.

Every visitor to Pennington county who makes any kind of an investigation of farming conditions is surprised at the small number of hogs on the farms. No one seems able to give any good reason for this dearth of pigs, pork production being generally considered as going hand in hand with dairying. It seems strange that with every inducement in the way of profit and everything needful in the way of feed for the economical fattening of hogs, more attention has not been paid to the matter.

Pasturage such as clover, alfalfa and rape can be produced in Pennington county in such abundance that the roughage question need not even be considered. Corn for finishing off can hardly be regarded as a certainty in this latitude as yet, but there is no limit to the amount of rye, barley and peas that can be raised. It has been said that a hog can be put in marketable condition at a lower cost on a mixture of these grains than on corn alone and if such is the case districts farther south have no advantage over this section.

The hog turns skim milk and buttermilk into profit. He requires some attention in order to insure the best results, it is true, but the same applies to cattle, sheep or any other class of livestock. As a money-maker it is probable that the hen alone has the hog beaten. Pork prices seem to hold up pretty well even when the bottom drops out of beef. At least this has been the experience of the last few years.

Now that the bank have done so much to boost dairying, would it not be a good idea for some other line of business activity to give hog raising a helping hand? Such action would bring big returns within a very short time.

Converse and is getting out the first issue under his editorial leadership this week. Mr. Arneson will add considerable in the way of equipment, including a new press, and the people of the thriving village in the eastern end of the county will be given something they have never had—a high grade newspaper. Mr. Arneson is a young man who has worked in every department of the newspaper business and possesses both the energy and ability to make a go of the venture. The business men of Goodridge have promised to get behind him with all the patronage at their disposal and Mr. Arneson takes charge with everything in his favor. The Times wishes him abundant success.

George E. Erickson of the Spooner News is a candidate for the state senate in the district comprised of Beltrami and Koochiching counties, while W. T. Noonan of the Baudette Region is a candidate for the lower house. Their election would make the representation from that part of the district rather heavy, George weighing about 300 pounds and Noonan far from the lightweight class. If the voters make up their minds to select these two they will have a mighty able team at St. Paul next winter.

The Mahnomen Pioneer last week entered upon its eighteenth year. A week or so previous to the anniversary the Pioneer had absorbed the Free Press, published in the same city, so that now there is ony one paper printed at the Mahnomen county seat—but it is a good one. There is no excuse for two papers in a town the size of Mahnomen—nor in many towns considerably larger, for that matter—and the people down there will be better served by one publication.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

Bemidji is a nice town but they appear to have disagreeable juries down there, judging by the two mistrials in the Melius case.

The Baudette post office is being flooded with oil circulars again, but don't bite. You can trust some of those promoters about as far as you could hear a sturgeon laugh.

A Minneapolis doctor says that moonshine is no more harmful that oldtime liquor. It's an awful slap at oldtime liquor.

With a population of 1500, Warren recorded 105 births last year. As long as Warren insisted on breaking some kind of record it picked out a good one to break.

The greatest musical treat of the year for Baudette and Spooner will occur about May 1st. It will consist of a few yards of harmony from the old mill whistle.

Six young men in a neighboring town have entered a moustache race. It should prove a hair-raising contest.

Now they're equipping autos with wireless phones. It will enable speed fiends to keep in touch with the undertakers.

This is a queer old world. When you visit a friend he shows you that he likes you by giving you a drink of home brew that nearly kills you.

"Even a stopped clock is right twice in twenty-four hours." That is a fact well worth bearing in mind when the stock salesman recites his memorized list of fortunes made by buyers of stocks of new ventures, which in comparison with those who lost would make the percentage of five-legged calves look quite formidable.

Green: "Why, why' I didn't know they took it; I thought they always had it!"

He: "I prefer a white one myself."

"There is both good and bad in jazz," says a former director of music in St. Paul schools. What he means is that there is both good and bad jazz, but you have to have a keen nose to distinguish one from the other.

Let It Go.

She was wearing what's known as a dress,
Though there wasn't enough for a mess.
Two galluses slender—
Naught else to defend 'er
From cold! She could scarcely wear less.
What I've mentioned was north of her waist.
Down below, let us pass it in haste.
For her skirts were so gauzy
The showed you, oh, lawzy!
To be frank, 'twere the grossest of taste.
To her hubby she whispered: "Say, kid!
Some part of my rigging has slid!"
He replied with a scoff:
"Well, let it come off!
Nobody would know if it did."

"Yes, provided it's diggin' 'em out of gravy."

"Shall I go over the top?" asked the talkative barber, posing his shears.

"Yes, as soon as the gas attack is over," answered the weary customer.

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted in his own behalf by N. J. Anderson, Thief River Falls, Minn., candidate for Register of Deeds. Amount to be paid for each insertion, $5.00.)

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I am a candidate for re-election for Register of Deeds of Pennington county. During the years I have served the people of the county as Register of Deeds I have made many friends, but I am not asking support in the present campaign merely by virtue of this friendship. Rather, I would have the voters consider my candidacy on a purely efficiency basis as the only proper method of electing officials to public office. In regard to my fitness for the office of Register of Deeds, both as to honesty and capability, I prefer to rest my case with the people of Pennington county, whom I served in past years.

Yours respectfully,
N. J. ANDERSON.

Signs of Spring.

The 21st of March, the opening day of Spring, is past, and the snow is gone. As you sit in school pondering over your lessons you can hear the birds singing merrily. Having been frozen all winter, the ground is now gradually thawing out and you can see the green shoots pushing their way through the crust of the earth to the sunlight. In every shop window you see the spring suits and hats on display. As the pussy-willows are here, how can anyone help but know that spring has come?
—Liv Vistaunet, '25.

Signs of Spring.

When the snow melts, when the days grow warmer, and when the birds come back from the south, we realize that spring is here at last. Our thoughts repeat the words, "Spring is here," to the cheerful and welcome accompaniment of robin redbreasts' twittering. Looking out of the window we see fresh-looking green grass, summer dresses, and boys playing marbles and baseball. These are only a few of the very many signs of spring. When I notice so many reminders of spring, I think of certain lines from one of Lowell's poems:

"Whether we look, or whether we listen,
We hear life murmur, or see it glisten."—Lucille Roark, '25.

Signs of Spring.

Having swept, scrubbed, hung out rugs and bedding, Mrs. Jones sat on the back porch watching Billie beat the parlor rug. Out on the front porch lay Mr. Jones sprawled in a porch chair with his feet up on the railing watching the children in the street play marbles and hop-scotch. Buster came home from school that night with a "Gosh, I'm hungry, ma," and after eating enough supper for two stated his intentions of "goin' out to play with the fellers." As he left, Mary came in.

"Oh, mother," she said, "there is the darlingest coat in Johnson's window. I was looking at some hats on the way home, too. I tore a hole in my new silk stocking when I fell over that old coaster of Buster's and I've got to have some for the party tomorrow night."

Mrs. Jones smiled happily. "Just signs of spring," she told her husband.—Ruth McGilvrey, '25.

Clean-Up Week.

This week has been appointed by the state as clean-up week. Most of the boys and girls do not realize the ability they have to make their city look neat and attractive. When tourists pass through the residence sections of a city and see paper, stocks, and different articles strewn about the lawns, the go away with a poor impression of the city and its people. You would not like it if you heard some of the remarks that are made by the motorists when they see these things. We ought and we can make our city so attractive that a stranger will say, "If I ever move, I would like to come to Thief River Falls."—E. E. '24.

Editorial.

The person who copies in English will always be found out, because when the teachers start correcting the papers and find out that there are two alike they will know that one of them copied. Now the person who has worked hard to get his or her work will also get a zero because the teacher will not know which one of them copied. So those who worked hard to get their work should not give it to others if they expect to get a good mark on it. But many of the students here in school go right to the other person's desk and take what they want. I think the people who do these things should be punished severely.—M. H. '23.

Are All Equal?

"Whoopee! Only five weeks of school left! I'm going to start my vacation right now. I've got all my credits cinched, so no more hard studying for me," says one of the crowd.

"Wish I had all my credits cinched. I have to make pretty good grades this month to get a passing average. Then I'll have to review for the state exams. It's an awful grind," adds one whose ambition evidently is not to master school text books.

"I look upon the ensuing five weeks as a fitting opportunity to finish up my high school course in a creditable manner," solemnly remarks the only boy on the senior honor roll.

Many and varied are the comments offered by students toward the end of the year, and even more wondrous and awe-inspiring must be the reflections that flit through the minds of Lincoln High's four hundred. This difference in attitude may be viewed in various ways; but to all it must offer convincing proof of the injustice our schools are committing in attempting to follow the great American illusion that all people are born equal—and similar. We agree with Lincoln that all men are born equal in the sense that no man need subordinate his natural rights as a man and as a citizen to that of any fellow mortal; but the misinterpretation of the idiom, seemingly fostered by our educational institutions, that all men are born SIMILAR in mentality, desires and ambitions must not be tolerated by anyone who wishes to see civilization progress to a higher standard.

There is Still Time.

Our annual is in the hands of the printers and will be completed about May 15. That means there is only about three weeks at the most before it will be back. We know there are still some people who want an annual but who have not had a chance to subscribe for one. We are therefore providing for these people by having a few extra copies printed—but it is only a few. You should not delay your subscription until the last minute and then not get this wonderful book. Call up Lloyd Aines or Gregory Werstlein any time during the day and they will be glad to get your subscriptions. Do it today before it is too late.

All Work and No Play.

Many pupils are confronted by their parents with the question, "Don't you think that there are too many activities outside of the regular school studies?" The usual answer is "No." But how can the student prove his statement? Follow my instructions and the rest will come easy. Some evening when your father or mother is reading something light and enjoyable, call them over and quiz them on your history report or allow them to flounder in Latin. In about five minutes their patience will be gone and so will they.

When another party or game comes around, or if you want to go to the show and your parents object, recall to their minds the occasion when they tried to help you study but failed in utter exasperation. Then ask them if a mind that strives to such heights should not be allowed to rest. It will turn the trick.—S. A. '23.

To Skip or Not to Skip.

To skip or not to skip, that is the question.
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The stings and "blue cards" of ungrateful teachers
Or to take our hats and dodge the house of trouble
And thus by fleeing end them? To skip; to study
No more; and, by skipping to say we end
The headaches and the thousand natural shocks
That high school students are heir to, 'tis loaf,
To loaf, perchance to fail; ay, there's the rub;—
For in that study hall what marks await
When we come sneaking back!
Thus red marks doth make cowards of us all,
And thus the native hue of our desires
Is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought,
And expeditions of great excitement.
In this regard their currents turn away
And lose the name of action.
—E. K. and E. L. '22.

A Group of Poems.

(By Bessie Elofson, '22.)

Assembly Clock.

When I'm sitting in Assembly,
And my thoughts are far from work
And from the many duties
That I simply cannot shirk,
The clock on the Assembly wall
Goes slow, as slow can be.
I'm restless, oh, so restless,
The outdoors is calling me.

But when, at last, we are set free
From twelve to one-fifteen,
The moments take on wings and fly.
Now don't you think that's mean?
Then when the school bell rings again
And I must settle down,
The clock on the Assembly wall
Seems the slowest thing in town.

History.

In our history study we turn to the past
And read of the years gone by
And of things that happened so long ago
That to us seem very "dry."

But crowded in among wars and dates
Are romances, thrilling and strong;
And the daring deeds of those knights of the past
Light the ages to which they belong

The Heritage.

There must be a trace of the "gypsy" in me,
For I long to go out where the world is free;
To leave the bustle and roar behind,
Get away from the wearing perpetual grind.

To live as a friend of bird and bee,
To learn to know each flower and tree;
In all of nature to find God's way
Of teaching a new truth every day.

Too Late.

This is her room and here is her chair,
Where she sat waiting day by day,
And the little dent in the cushion there
Is the spot where her dear head lay.

There is her work, as she left it,
With the needle still in the fold;
And the neat little stitches taken before
It grew too heavy to hold.

The sunshine enters the curtains between
And falls on the dusty floor,
And I think of things that might have been
But never can be any more.

Coming! Coming!

The big event of the year. What? The senior class play, of course. When? It will be the first performance after the re-opening of the auditorium, probably in about three weeks. And it's a thriller! Just notice the title: "Stop Thief!" Twenty characters, two of them thieves, two of them think they are, a detective, another supposed detective, police, lots of jewelry, everyone suspects everyone else! But it all comes out beautifully in the end. Oh, boy! The usual movie ending is nothing to this. There are three—but we won't tell how it ends! Come and see! Advertise it! Watch for it! "Stop Thief!"

Freshman Baseball.

The freshman boys are winding up for a good baseball team this spring. They have been practicing every night after school and every Saturday. They have displayed some mighty snappy work already and expect to win over the other classes. A captain will be elected tonight, and it is expected that the first game will be played with the St. Hilaire freshmen team. Games will probably also be played with Red Lake Falls, Goodridge and Mavie before school ends.

Local Boy Wins Honors.

Thief River Falls High School Graduate Beats Minnesota in First Baseball Game.

Thursday, April 20, the University of Minnesota baseball team clashed in its first game of the season with the St. Thomas nine. Both teams played air tight ball until near the end of the game, when a Cadet batsman reached third base on a three-bagger. Dennis McGinn, a graduate of our high school, was next at the bat and by a timely single he drove in the only run of the game.

Why Track Work.

Coach Stenhoff is hard at work with the track men. Every night after school they go out behind the Washington building and try to condition themselves for the meets in the future.

Some people are inclined to look at track work as unworthy of a place in high school athletics. Track is one of the hardest and most exciting sports the high school athlete has to contend with. It takes much training and is very hard work. The weeks of preliminary work a man has to go through in training are very tiresome.

Thief River Falls high school has some very good material. We have men who are very good in all events and we ought to make a very good showing at Warren. But whether we win or lose at Warren, every person in high school ought to boost for the men that go to Warren because of the hard work they will have gone through.—J. H. Jr. '22.

All the students have been required to memorize the Salute to the Flag and the American's Creed, reprinted below:

The American's Creed.

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

Ulysses Simpson Grant.

A noted American general and the 18th president was born at Point Pleasant, Clermont county, Ohio, April 27, 1822, and died at Mount MacGregor, New York, July 23, 1885, after a period of long suffering from cancerous infection of the throat. Up to a few days before his death he was engaged in writing his memoirs.

Grant was employed in his father's store at $800 a year when the Civil war broke out. He immediately recruited and drilled a company of volunteers and accompanied them to Springfield, where he was employed as a mustering officer in the adjutant general's department. He offered his services to the national government but, receiving no reply, accepted on June 17, 1861, the colonelcy of the Twenty-first Illinois Volunteer Infantry. He served with this regiment with General Pope in Missouri until Aug. 7, when he was commissioned as brigadier-general of volunteers.

In the capturing of Forts Henry and Donelson, when the Confederates proposed a commission to settle the terms of capitulation, Grant replied: "No terms other than an unconditional and immediate surrender can be accepted. I propose to move immediately upon your works." From this time onward he became known as Unconditional Surrender Grant.

Grant's career during the Civil war is a very noted one, taking active part in a great many battles. When Grant met with Lee to arrange terms of peace, Grant wished for no reparations only that arms be laid down and that the soldiers return to their homes in peace.—Herschel Hanson, '22.

Yens' Letter to Lena.

Dere Lena:

Vell, how is you and the baby? Has he got any more than one tooth yet? Vell, Lena, I went out for what dey call a "track team." I don't know why dey call it dat, but everybody else calls it dat, and I suppose I will haf to call it dat, too. I went out one night and the coach made us walk and run, with our knees vay up to our chins. Ay tell you, dat vas hard vork. I yust bet ve looked like cangeroos. Den when ve got done with dat, he told us ve could go, yust tink, Lena! Vell, I told him dat I vouldn't go out for his old track team if ve vasn't going to do anyting but prance around like cangeroos. But da next morning I sure vas glad he didn't make us run, cause, oh, my legs. Dey were so stif I could hardly valk. Da next night ve run about tree miles, and I vas so out of vind dat I could hardly talk. But I heard de coach say dat if all da fellers dat come out de time dey had dat meeting vould come out, ve vould haf some track team, and here is hoping dat dey do. As ever I vas, Yens. —"Beany," '25.

Statement to the Public.

Someone went and published the story of our "baseball team" in the Progress. You may think that's all right, but after you hear the "result" you won't, unless you are a Junior, Sophomore or Freshman. Well, when the other classes found out what a strong line-up we had they made up their minds that they would have class track teams this spring instead of class baseball teams. Now, don't you think that's a mean trick? The other classes can't bluff us, though, so we're going to put out a prize winning track team. It's going to hold up the standard set by our basketball team, too, and as you all know, that's saying quite a bit. Of course, the other three classes think they're going to have a walk-away but they'll think differently when they hear of our stars who will give them a run for "points" in the big event. We've made a "change for the better" in the mile run. Instead of having only one man run the mile we're going to have four men run it. The result will be that the run won't be so hard on our men and we ought to set a world's record with a fresh man going in every quarter mile. It seems funny to us that somebody hasn't thought of that idea before, but as you all know, it takes the Seniors to root up the bright ideas that will work out. We've got other ideas that are even better than this one, but we "ain't" going to tell our "enemies." You know they throw a "kind of spear" in the track teams and if we put a bunch of feathers on that spear, it will go straighter. And then some fellows run with a fish pole, and they aren't going fishing, either. There's a piece of wood that's even with the ground and that fellow climbs up the fish pole and jumps over the piece of wood. The honorable members of the Senior track team committee, inc. and ltd., couldn't see any sense in this so we decided to let the stick of wood on the ground and jump without the fish pole. As we've said before, we've got lots of good original ideas that will help us win our second prize in athletics in 1922.

Written and published by the Honorable Senior Track Team Committee on April 21, 1922.

Do Not Dispose of Savings Stamps Now, Says Director

"Keep your war savings stamps," is what Lew Wallace, Jr., director of savings, treasury department, Washington, says to the people who hold government securities.

War savings stamps of the 1918 issue will mature on Jan. 1, 1923, at which time the government will pay $5 for each stamp of that issue. The stamps were issued at prices ranging from $4.12 to $4.23 according to the month in which the purchase was made and have always been redeemable.

Mr. Wallace says that the $5 stamp issued in 1918 is worth $4.63 at the present time. Next January it will be worth $5, a difference of 37 cents. The owner of $100 maturity value in stamps will receive on Jan. 1, $7.40 more than the present redemption price.

As a part of its refunding operations the treasury department is offering a new issue of five year treasury savings certificates in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000, costing $20, $80 and $800 each. Certificates pay 4½ per cent interest compounded semi-annually and are registered at time of issue to protect owner against loss or theft. They may be purchased at any post office.

JAPANESE AGENTS BUY VALLEY STOCK

Three Polk county thoroughbred milking Shorthorns, formerly of the Palmer farm, near Euclid, will soon make the long trip to Japan, where they will be used by the Japanese government for experimental purposes. This was announced by A. E. Palmer, who declared three head of his best yearling stock had been purchased by officials representing the Japanese government. Two heifers and a bull were sold for $1,400.

The yearlings will be shipped to St. Paul by Mr. Palmer, where they will be added to a shipment of Holsteins and Ayreshires and sent to Japan. Although the three Shorthorns are the only cattle from this section it is understood a Holstein from the Schroeder farm as Moorhead has also been purchased by Japan, together with other Holsteins from Wisconsin. Twenty-two head of cattle are being purchased for the Tokio government in an effort to build up milk production among Japanese cows.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"PEACE BE UNTO YOU."
(Jn. 20:19.)

The first word our risen Lord addresses to His little flock of frightened disciples as it cowers behind closed doors for fear of the Jews, is the comforting, reassuring word, PEACE. In that blessed word He pardons their faithlessness, their shameful flight in the Garden of Gethsemane, the denial of Peter in the palace, their failure to believe His prophecy of the Resurrection. In that one word He assures them that He comes back from the battle as their loving and victorious Lord, in whose companionship they have nothing to fear. He has conquered death and hell for them, and is able to protect them.

Wonderful power contained in those few words! What a transformation it wrought in those disciples! How timid and weak they had been, how easily frightened and terrified. The moment they saw their Master bound, they had fled. After His burial they kept behind locked doors, expecting at every moment to be captured and put to death. There was war in their hearts and they imagined war all about them. But now see these same men turned to bold and fearless witnesses of their Lord. They fear neither priests nor elders; they do not hesitate to step before emperors and kings; they are not terrified by flame nor torture; they do not shrink from death either among the wild beasts in the arena or on the cross in Nero's garden. Like mighty conquerors they march to the ends of the earth. And why?

The risen Christ has said: "Peace be unto you." This Easter greeting of the Christ sums up His mission here upon earth. It embraces the results of His life, His death, and His resurrection. With Paul, every sinful mortal may now exult: "Christ is our peace!" He has made peace between them and their God by His Cross and His return from the grave, for "He was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification." (Rom. 4:25). Being justified by faith in Him and His work, we have peace with God. His Gospel is God's proclamation of peace to the whole sin-lost world. He gave the disciples peace that blessed evening of Easter Day. In that peace they were strong and fearless.

That peace He gives to all in His word. There in the Gospel, which His disciples preached so fearlessly and successfully, He gives peace against the accusation of sin and iniquity, for "there is now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus." (Rom. 8:1). He is in Christ Jesus who believes on Him, accepts Him as his Savior.

He gives peace in all the storms and trials of life, even in the shadows and the gloom of death. The believer belongs to Him, and nothing shall pluck him out of Jesus' hand. With David He declares with confident trust: "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadows of death, I will fear no evil: For Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me. (Ps. 23). On the threshold of the grave, the believer will say with Simeon of old: "Lord, now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace." And Jesus will, for His message to all that believe on Him is: "Peace be unto you."

Friend, have you found that peace? Peace with your God, peace in the battle of life, peace in the storm of death? It is there for you in the Gospel of the crucified and the risen Christ. Go and take it.

Break colds with vapors
The favored treatment now is a salve rubbed on, that gives off penetrating, healing fumes.

Try the vaporizing treatment for colds—Vicks VapoRub.
At the first sign of a cold, apply Vicks over throat and chest. Rub well in. Lay on a flannel cloth. Apply again at night and arrange the bedclothes like a funnel, so that the vapors, released by the body heat, will be freely inhaled.
This is the treatment favored today by doctors and nurses for colds, bronchitis, tonsilitis, spasmodic croup, sore throat and, in modified form, for catarrh and asthma.
Vicks contains the old, time-tested remedies—Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, etc.—combined by special process, so that while they penetrate and stimulate the skin, the ingredients are also released as vapors by the body heat and are breathed right into the lungs.
Just rub it on and breathe in the vapors

AT THE THEATRES

NO ARBUCKLE FILMS TO BE SHOWN IN LOCAL THEATRES

Manager H. A. Brumund of the Thief River Theatre company, announces that no Fatty Arbuckle films will be shown at either the Lyceum or the Princess. This decision was reached by the management long before Director Hays issued his verdict and will be adhered to in spite of Arbuckle's acquittal on the charge of having caused the death of Virginia Rappe. While Mr. Brumund realizes that "Fatty" might again prove a wonderful drawing card, he thinks that for the good of the industry generally and in order to disarm adverse criticism it is better that "Fatty" be forgotten as a movie star, and he does not propose to do anything to aid in helping keep the name before the public.

AT THE THEATRES—NEW CHARLIE CHAPLIN FILM IS FUNNIEST THING OF ALL

The Lyceum theatre promises its patrons an attraction Friday and Saturday that can be listed as an event inasmuch as it occurs so rarely these days. It is a new Charlie Chaplin comedy.

"Pay Day" is the title of the latest, described as a galaxy of fun with new gags and novelties to add hilarious mirth to the star's inimitable work. Although it is in two reels, it is said to pack a houseful of laughs from the opening title to the final closeup.

Chaplin appears in one of his inimitable laborer roles, looking forward to pay day with the same enxious face with which an expectant parent waits for the doctor to say: "It's a boy." His comedy carries the story at a swift pace from a huge construction plant where a skyscraper is being erected and finally to the haunts of the tenderloin where the workers hang out on pay day, and finally home to the wife. From each set the star obtains a maximum of fun at a minimum of apparent effort.

A wealth of beautiful tropical scenery, an inspiring character of naive girlishness and a love story as tender as any ever written are the features of "Love's Redemption," the First National attraction starring Norma Talmadge, which is the feature at the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday.

The early part of the story deals with life in Jamaica, and to preserve the realism of the story upon the screen the star and an entire company of screen players spent three weeks in the tropics making the exteriors. Interesting sidelights on affairs in the West Indies, features of club and native life in the islands, and an insight into the management of a huge sugar plantation covering thousands of acres are carried along in a plot of unusual interest.

Miss Talmadge is unusually attractive in the role of a West Indian girl of Spanish-English origin whose daring wit saves the life of a run-down youth of splendid ancestry. Her courage and perseverance later on bring his redemption.

The story teems with thrills and heart interest. It was adapted by Anthony Paul Kelly from Andrew Soutar's novel, "On Principle." Albert Parker directed the picture.

To perform this service our complete refineries are working 24 hours every day.

14,600,000 bbls. of crude oil
7,750,000 bbls. of gasoline
2,190,000 bbls. of refined oil
1,800,000 bbls. of lubricating oil

100,000 tons of asphalt products
14,000 tons of candles
2,500 tons of parowax
24,000 tons of grease
These plants are the visible expression of an ideal. To bring them to their present degree of efficiency required years of time, intensive training, wide experience and almost limitless resources.
The seven men who guide the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are planning constantly new methods and more ways to achieve greater effectiveness in serving the people depending upon the Company for petroleum products.
These men are working to perfect a complete service—first by manufacturing a maximum number of useful petroleum products and second by maintaining a complete system of distribution which shall carry these products to the consumer whenever and wherever he may have need for them.

HICKORY

E. H. Oftelie, H. T. Hanson, Peter Erickson, John Larson, Arne Josefsrud, Ole Bakke, Halvor Halvorson and Henry Halvorson attended the hearing on the Clearwater river drainage project held at Red Lake Falls last week. The farmers of this township are intensely interested in the proposed drainage project and but for the poor conditions of the roads they would have attended the hearing in a body. However, they intend to do all in their power to get the enterprise pushed through at the next hearing, and realize their hope for the last number of years.

The evenings have been unusually illumined lately owing to the burning of the many hay meadows which were not cut last year but show indications of being of considerable value this season. Hundreds of tons of valuable hay could have been realized from these prairies which are left to the mercy of the flames every spring.

The farmers are wondering whether a south wind is a north wind coming back with another snow storm, or if it's an original south breeze going north to get cooled off.

Acting according to the theory that mules are superior to Fords, Bjorn Tveitbakk has invested in a span of the above named beasts of burden.

BRIQUET PLANT FOR COMBINING PEAT, LIGNITE

Parties Interested in New Fuel Product Inspect Peat Beds in This Vicinity.

Plan Erection of Experimental Compressor With Daily Capacity of Thirty Tons.

A new development in the utilization of peat as fuel may result from the visit to this city of parties interested in an improved method of briquetting the product. The idea is to mix lignite coal and peat together in certain specified proportions and then follow the usual method used in the manufacture of briquettes.

The parties interested in this process are W. S. Dickinson and L. Stinson of Grand Forks; F. W. McLain, H. H. Hinshaw and E. W. Kissinger of St. Paul, and their visit to this city was for the purpose of inspecting the peat beds in the eastern end of the county and noting the transportation facilities, both as regards the getting of the raw product into the city and its shipment to other points after manufacture. They were highly pleased with what they found and assured Mayor John Bratrud and H. W. Protzeller, who piloted them on their search for peat beds, that they would make a most favorable report to their conferees and that the outcome would be made known within a very few days.

Would Ship Coal Here.

The projectors of this enterprise were influenced in considering Thief River Falls as a manufacturing point by the fact that the city is the eastern terminus of the Wheat Line division of the Soo railroad, thus connecting the lignite fields of western North Dakota with the peat beds of northern Minnesota. The haul in the case of the peat would be very short while the coal is as conveniently located to this point as to any other railroad center. The matter has been carefully looked into, according to one of the visitors, and it has been demonstrated that a factory can be operated to better advantage here than any other place that could possibly be considered.

Start in Small Way.

That these promoters have hit upon something of value is certain. Dean Babcock of the university of North Dakota, who has carefully analyzed the new fuel product, has given it his unqualified approval. Experiments thus far conducted prove that it will provide a fuel of high quality at a very low cost. The heat units secured will compare very favorably with the better grades of bituminous coal, will be cleaner and more easily handled.

At the outset an experimental plant capable of turning out from 25 to 30 tons of briquettes a day will be installed. This will be sufficient for making such tests as the promoters still believe advisable, even though they are certain their product will meet every expectation. They control large areas of lignite deposits in North Dakota and if the peat in this neighborhood is found to be sufficient in quantity and of the right quality they are prepared to back their convictions in a most substantial manner.

Evangelistic Meetings at the Presbyterian Church

Beginning next Tuesday and continuing until May 21, a series of evangelistic meetings will be held at the Presbyterian church in this city. Rev. J. F. McLeod of Duluth will have charge of the preaching services while the musical program will be under the direction of his son, Rev. George A. McLeod. Both these gentlemen have been very successful in their respective lines of work and are in great demand by church people, particularly in this state. The younger man is particularly noted as a song leader and has appeared in this capacity in many of the largest cities in this country.

The meetings will be free to the public and non-denominational in character.

Base Ball Season to Open May 21; Seven Teams Join

The Red River Valley Base Ball league will be composed of seven teams, the following towns having agreed to join: Crookston, Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls, McIntosh, Ada and Fertile. East Grand Forks, which was also expected to join the league, decided not to play organized ball this summer.

At a meeting held at Red Lake Falls last week, at which all of the above cities were represented, it was decided to play the first game on May 21, but a schedule for the season has not yet been definitely arranged. Officers of the league were elected as follows: Ralph A. Brown, Crookston, president; E. A. Nelson, Red Lake Falls, vice president; Ole Sannes, McIntosh, secretary; J. C. Holten, Fertile, treasurer.

Gonvick and Bagley are considering the forming of a team to represent the two towns, but it is not believed that his plan will materialize. Gary is being considered for the eighth place in the league.

The agreement provides for a season of 28 games, one-half of which will be played on the home grounds of the different teams.

BIDS ON ROAD TO RED LAKES TO BE OPENED ON JUNE 7

Beltrami County Commissioners Decide on Construction of First Section at Once.

At a meeting of the Beltrami county commissioners held yesterday the county auditor was instructed to advertise for bids for the construction of the first section of a road to the Red Lakes. This section comprises the 10½ miles from the lakes to the ridge south of Thorhult and will open up communication between the narrows and the west by way of the last named hamlet and over already established roads to Thief River Falls. The bids are to be opened at Bemidji on June 7.

This new highway will pass through a lightly timbered district which presents no very serious obstacles to rapid road building. The soil is of such nature as to provide good road material and is practically all high land. Men in this city well acquainted with the territory are of the opinion that the job should be complete in 30 to 40 days after the letting of the contract.

Because of their convenient location and the ease with which the necessary road building machinery can be transported to the scene of operations from this city, it is expected that local contractors will be well represented when the bids are opened.

Final Summons Comes to Representative Hemstad

A. J. Hemstad, representative from this district in the legislature at the last session, died at his home near Plummer last Friday. Death was due to rheumatism affecting the heart. Mr. Hemstad had been in poor health for some time but news of his death came as a surprise to people in this city.

Deceased was born in Norway in 1864 and came to the United States in 1885. He worked as a farm hand during the summer and attended school in winter, gaining a fair working education. In 1893 he settled on a farm in Red Lake county, where he remained until the time of his death. He was town clerk for many years and also held the post of secretary of the local creamery association.

Mother's Day, May 14.

Sunday, May 14, is Mother's Day and it is expected that services appropriate to the occasion will be conducted in all the churches. Women's organizations throughout the country suggest that flower remembrances be not confined to carnations, as has been the case in former years, as this has given excuse for gross profiteering on the part of unscrupulous dealers in the large cities. The suggestion is that instead of wearing the flowers in honor of mothers, these be sent direct in time to reach her by Sunday morning. Carnations are not particularly recommended, any flower or potted plant answering the purpose as well.

Highlanding Farmer is Commissioner Candidate

H. I. Finstad, farmer, Highlanding township, this week filed as a candidate in the primaries for county commissioner from the First district. The only other filing for the place to date is that of Frank Race but it is understood that the present incumbent, A. H. Hanson, will be a candidate for re-election.

J. V. Patton of St. Hilaire on Friday filed as a candidate in the primaries for county commissioner from the Third district. This is the first filing for this post but it is understood that Gust Naplin, present commissioner, will be a candidate for re-election.

72 TO GRADUATE IN CLASS OF 1922 AT LINCOLN HIGH

Of This Total 14 Are Boys, Only One of Whom Managed to Reach Honor Roll.

J. H. Hay, Former Superintendent, to Deliver Commencement Address on June 2.

Graduation exercises for pupils in the Thief River Falls high school will begin with the delivering of the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. E. H. Kreidt of St. John's Lutheran church at the auditorium on Sunday evening, May 28. From that time until the close of the seniors' graduating exercises on the Friday evening following, some function connected with the closing of the school year will be held.

The commencement address will be delivered by J. H. Hay, his selection being particularly appropriate. Nearly all the young men and women who will at this time graduate began their education while Mr. Hay was superintendent in this city and he has always, even since severing his connection with the schools here, taken a deep interest in their progress. He is besides one of the best public speakers in the state and his remarks are certain to be of both value and interest.

Seventy-two Graduates.

There are 72 members of the senior class this year, including six girls who have been taking a post graduate course in normal training. The boys are in a decided minority, there being but 14 in the list. This is the smallest percentage of young men graduating with any class in late years. Bertha Hastad of Thief River Falls is the class valedictorian and Johanna Wedul of Hazel the salutatorian. Besides these two the following pupils make up the honor roll: Bertha Anseby, Alice Bredeson, Inga Kjelle, Clara Orzechowski, Gladys Maland, Myrtle Myrin, Mabel Bjorness, Pearl Shetler, Olga Johnson, Bessie Elofson, Boletta Sanden, Clarence Rice, Tillie Johnson, Mildred Loftness, Thea Gutterud, Amanda Skomedal, Helen Langseth, Julia Langaas.

There are 30 students who have taken the general course and who will graduate at this time, as follows:

BOARD UPHELD IN LETTING OF CONTESTED JOB

Application For Injunction to Prevent Board Awarding Contract Dismissed By Court.

Peterson Will Case Settled Out of Court, Heirs at Law Accepting $1,000 as Share.

Judge Grindeland yesterday denied the application of the Minneapolis Bridge company for an injunction preventing the county commissioners from awarding the construction of a bridge and culvert on the state road west of St. Hilaire to the Thief River Construction company.

The contention of the company seeking the injunction was that the board disregarded the lowest bid and awarded the contract at a higher cost than necessary. The board maintained that while on its face the offer of the first-named concern was $135 lower than that of the successful bidder, yet such was not the case in fact as the figures for extras would more than cover the difference. Consideration was also given to the circumstance that the Thief River concern is the owner of a temporary crossing at the point where the new construction work is needed and that this would be removed in case the job were let to another contractor, making it impossible for anyone to travel over one of the most important thoroughfares in the county.

Judge Grindeland held that while there might be a question as to which bid was in fact the lowest, he failed to see where the board had acted in an arbitrary manner in the awarding of the contract, the members having to all appearances proceeded in the manner dictated by their best judgment, and the application for an injunction was dismissed.

Will Case Settled.

The case of the heirs at law of the late C. H. Peterson of Sanders township, against Mrs. Helga Grefsness, wherein it was sought to have the last will of Peterson set aside, was settled out of court. Mrs. Grefsness, to whom personal property to the amount of about $9,000 was left by the will, and who was decedent's housekeeper for many years, agreed to a division of $1,000 among the plaintiffs if the suit were dropped, and this was agreed to. At a previous hearing before Judge of Probate Lars Backe the will was admitted to probate over the objection of the same heirs.

The property involved includes about $7,000 in cash, $600 in Liberty bonds and a small amount in bank stock and notes.

Disorderly Conduct and Transporting Moonshine

The municipal court was a busy place Wednesday, three young men, Ole Aanstad, N. Harrison and Oscar Hoffman being brought before Judge N. W. Tarrant on warrants charging them with disorderly conduct. The last named is a resident of Marshall county, living east of Holt, while the other two are living in this city. They were given fines of $10 in one instance and $7.50 in the other two.

Later Hoffman was arrested on a charge of having in his possession intoxicating liquor and transporting the same, but when arraigned the charge was changed to that of maintaining a nuisance, to which he pleaded guilty. The court imposed a sentence of 60 days in the county bastile, and a fine of $100, one-half of jail term to be suspended if fine is paid.

Wefald is Candidate For Congress Against Halvor

Knud Wefald of Hawley, Clay county, filed Friday as a candidate on the farmer-labor ticket for representative in congress from the Ninth congressional district. Congressman Halvor Steenerson has already filed for re-election.

Knud Wefald is a prominent dirt farmer of Clay county and is expected to poll a good sized vote in that section. Although active in local politics, this is his first entrance in the congressional field.

The filing of Wefald will in all probability mean his endorsement by the Farmer-Labor element in the district when the name is presented at Crookston next Monday, although J. S. Barnett of this city will have the solid support of the delegation from Pennington county at least, and probably a number of others, at the outset.

According to an announcement by Mike Holm, 100 candidates have filed for offices higher than county offices, mostly for the house and senate of the state legislature.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

Last Thursday S. L. Sorenson, a farmer living on Route 1 out of Thief River Falls, advertised for two sheep that had strayed from his farm. On Sunday the sheep were returned to him.

This is but another proof of the value of The Times as an advertising medium. It is read in practically every home in the county and is popularly regarded as the "Pennington County Newspaper."

MERCHANTS' ASSN. MAKING PLANS FOR FIRST OPEN NIGHT

Business Men Will Be Hosts to Visitors From Outside on Wednesday, May 17.

The first Wednesday opening event of the Thief River Falls Merchants association is scheduled for the evening of May 17—Norway's independence day. It is expected there will be a large number of people in the city on that occasion to attend anything in the way of a celebration that may be decided upon by the Sons and Daughters of Norway and it is the intention to make the evening program fit in with whatever may be doing.

A street concert by the band will be a feature of the evening and the committee in charge is considering a number of other attractions. All the stores will be open on this particular night for those who wish to combine business with pleasure.

The committee appointed to look after the entertainment of the visitors on this particular occasion is made up of H. O. Loken, chairman; E. O. Mogensen, Charles Lieberman and Cyril Sapero. Business men who have already signified their intention of getting behind the movement and contributing toward its success are: Charles Lieberman, Thief River Grocery company, H. A. Brumund, Julien Provencher, H. W. DeParcq, Froseth Shoe Store, Northwestern Auto company, F. M. Shanahan, Roy Lambert, Loken Brothers, Christenson & Voelz, O. W. Carlson, Lewis Christenson, E. L. Rolland, E. O. Mogensen, The Sapero company, Hall Bros. company, William Sheedy, Bredeson and company, Williams Hardware company. A large number of others have notified Secretary G. Howard Smith of their willingness to participate and it is expected that practically every business house in the city will be represented on the list before the final arrangements are made.

Down Where It's Wet.

A letter from Dr. C. R. Crandall to friends in this city states that he is at present located a New Orleans but expects soon to leave for Napa, Cal., where he intends to be permanently stationed. He says the Mississippi was on a rampage at the time of writing, levees being broken both above and below the city.

Body of John Steen, Lost Last Fall, Is Recovered

The bodies of Garfield Franzon and John Steen, who were lost in the Lake of the Woods during the hunting season last fall, were found on Tuesday and brought to Warroad on the steamer Reliance.

Franzon was found by Tom Thunder, an Indian, and Steen's body was located later by a searching party. The bodies were about 80 rods apart and both were badly decomposed. The locality in which they were found was searched for two weeks by hundreds of persons when the men disappeared last fall.

The Steen family formerly resided in Thief River Falls and the young man referred to was a graduate of Lincoln high school with the class of 1917.

Northern Minnesota Fairs To Be Held During August

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Pennington County Agricultural association last week it was decided to hold the annual fair during the first week in August, making it the first to be held in the northern counties. The Polk county fair at Crookston will be held during the second week, Beltrami fair at Bemidji the third week, and the Itasca fair at Grand Rapids the fourth week of the month. This will form an important circuit and one for which the very best attractions can be booked at a figure within the reach of the different associations.

PETITIONS FOR PAVING ON TWO STREETS READ

Residents Along Bridge Street and Horace Avenue Present Request to City Council.

Specify No Particular Kind of Surfacing But Insist Price Must Be Reasonable.

Prospects for additional paving in this city the present summer are brighter today than for some time past, two petitions being presented to the council Tuesday night, one for the paving of Horace avenue from Fourth street to Ninth, the other for Bridge street from the Red Lake river to Crocker avenue.

Nearly a mile of hard surfacing in the residential portion is thus possible, and undoubtedly other petitions will follow either at the next regular council meeting on Tuesday night or in the near future. It is stated that petitions for other streets on both sides of the river are being circulated at this time.

To Consider Different Kinds.

In each case over 25 per cent of the property owners in the affected districts signed the petitions as required under the statutes. The council room was well filled with interested citizens who stated they were in favor of paving if the cost was not too high. They asked that the council secure bids on the various kinds of paving, such as concrete, asphalt, bitulithic, or such other material as may be deemed desirable. Then the property owners would like to have the last say as to whether it is to be ordered in or not, of course respecting the rights of the council in the matter. The aldermen likewise stated they did not care to order in any paving if the cost was exorbitant. It is probable steps will at once be taken to have an engineer draw up plans and specifications without further delay so that work may be started as early this summer as possible.

The aldermen asked several of the petitioners present what width of paving they favored and it seemed quite apparent that a 30 foot paving would be sufficient on Horace avenue while 32 or 34 would be preferable on Bridge as it is a main artery. It developed, however, that the residents there had figured only on a 30 foot pavement.

Contracts being awarded in other cities this season lead city officials and property owners to the belief that the cost would be considerable under that of a year ago, but nothing definite can be assumed until the plans and specifications are ready for estimates.

Want Sewer Lift Changed.

Residents on Horace avenue objected to the retention of the sewer lift in the middle of the street at the intersection of Seventh, citing the fact that at times there is a strong odor issuing from this lift, necessitating the closing of windows and doors. The council favored the taking of such steps as might be necessary to comply with the wishes of the residents who have been inconvenienced. Information will undoubtedly be received as to other methods of caring for the sewage from the outlying district in such a way as to overcome the present difficulty.

Drainage Board to Meet At Washkish This Month

Agricultural interests in the vicinity of Red lake are to be protected in the program of the Red lake drainage and conservancy board and a meeting is to be conducted in Washkish some time in May, the date to be decided upon later.

Plans for this meeting were discussed when C. G. Selvig, chairman of the drainage and conservancy board, visited Bemidji and conferred with Judge C. W. Stanton and others last week.

The meeting in Washkish has been urged by Congressman Harold Knutson for some time, it being Mr. Knutson's desire that the settlers of the east side of Red lake be given consideration in the placing of water levels and that their interests should be protected when the drainage and conservancy levels are decided upon.

Rev. C. W. Couper of Duluth, who conducted Episcopal church services here Thursday, April 25, will be here again next Tuesday evening. Services will be at 8 o'clock at the Christian Science church located at the corner of First street and LaBree Avenue south.

AUTO TAX DODGERS TO BE ROUNDED UP IN EVERY COUNTY

Unlicensed Drivers Subject to Heavy Fine and Costs Besides All Arrearages.

Minnesota motor vehicle tax—like others—are as sure as death. Announcement comes this week that owners violating the law against operating unlicensed cars and trucks anywhere in the state will be fined. It follows penalties accruing on tax arrearages.

Inspectors are being sent to every locality in a state-wide drive against auto tax slackers, who are to be taken into court. Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, consented to personally undertake the campaign, upon the advice of Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton that the state highway organization and equipment should be used to that end in the absence of other provisions. "I have sympathy for the owner who is without funds to pay the license," said Commissioner Babcock, "but they are few in comparison to the number that is taking advantage of lax tax enforcement in the past and boasting about it. Justice to more than 300,000 Minnesota car and truck owners demands that all slackers be compelled to pay up without further delays. Every opportunity has been given to procure 1922 licenses. Car owners in the large cities where no part of the funds can be used have been checked up by the police and those in other sections receiving the most direct benefits now must in fairness make up their quotas under the tax law."

Action was taken by the state officials following numerous protests, especially from small towns and rural districts, that disregard of the motor vehicle registration law was increasing.

DRAINAGE IN COUNTY HAS RECLAIMED 13,000 ACRES OF FARM LAND

Census Report Shows That on 15,684 Acres Crops Were Damaged By Reason of Poor Drainage—Three Hundred Seventy Miles of Ditches.

The total land area of Pennington county is approximately 388,480 acres, according to the special drainage section of the census report just made public by the government. Of this amount 349,624 acres are included in the operative drainage districts, this percentage being the largest in the state. The improved land area is given as 186,319 acres and out of this total 95 per cent is in farms. There are 22,173 acres of timber or cut-over lands in the county, a statement that will come as a surprise to a large number of our people who are of the opinion that the county is almost entirely of prairie formation. Outside this last-named class of lands there are also 141,132 acres designated as unimproved. Over 66,000 acres are subject to overflow, says the report, and a loss of crops by reason of defective drainage was suffered on 15,684 acres.

The county has 371.2 miles of open ditches and the maximum of ditching completed in any enterprise is 38.6 per cent. The total area drained is 349,624 acres while only 49 acres of this amount is drained by tile alone. Drainage operations within the county have been responsible for an increase in the amount of improved land from 86,763 acres to 99,556 acres, or 114.7 per cent in 10 years. Drainage has also reduced the amount of wild timber or cut-over land from 33,624 acres to 22,173 acres, or 34.1 per cent. Previous to drainage the area subject to overflow was 132,116 while now it is 66,258 acres. The total amount of capital invested in the different drainage projects within the county at the time of the report was $603,019, or an average cost per acre of $1.72.

Eighth Street Sidewalks Discussed Before Council

The matter of ordering in sidewalks on Eighth street was brought up again at the city council meeting Tuesday night at the request of Carl J. Sjoberg and Roy Morgan, representing the various petitioners for a sidewalk from Arnold avenue to the Soo tracks.

The matter had been laid on the table a week ago by the council in order to give the city fathers an opportunity to make an investigation of the project. Mr. Sjoberg addressed the council at length, stating that in two instances those who object to the sidewalks have gone so far as to fence in the boulevards and plant extensive gardens thereon, thus forcing pedestrians out into the street where they were being jeopardized by the ever-increasing automobile traffic on this main thoroughfare running east and west.

The railroad men, when the weather is wet, often find it impossible, Mr. Sjoberg stated, to use the cut-offs across Fairfax addition and other vacant lots in the north end, at times having to come down to Third street to get good walking to the Soo tracks, along which they can get to work at the shops. They find these boulevard walks impassable and the crossing of the streets almost impossible without getting in the mud over their shoe tops.

The aldermen stated that one of the reasons why the thought it inadvisable at this time to order in the walks was that with the prospects of paving on Horace, LaBree, Main and Knight avenues it would cause an unnecessary expense if cross walks had to be laid and then torn up a short time afterward. They also figured that the present walk on Ninth street ought to be sufficient.

Mr. Morgan and Mr. Sjoberg both stated that when the walk was ordered in on Ninth street the council thought it all right to go ahead with the project, although at that time there were just as many objectors as at present.

The matter was not disposed of at the meeting Tuesday night and undoubtedly will come up again for discussion.

The petitioners state that not only are the shop men vitally interested in the matter but that it is working a great injustice on all residents who have occasion to go to Squaw Point or out on the state road, as they are endangered every time they have to walk in the street and dodge the automobiles.

Fire Totally Destroys Noyes Railroad Station

The railway station at Noyes, owned by the Great Northern but used also by the Soo, was burned to the ground Sunday night. The origin of the fire is a mystery although the operator on duty is of the opinion that it started in he emigrant room. All books and records as well as the express and freight packages were saved. The roads are at present using three box cars for a station.

PARIS NIGHT LIFE SHOWN IN TOM MEIGHAN PICTURE

When "White and Unmarried," of which Thomas Meighan is the star, comes to the Lyceum theatre on Friday and Saturday, film patrons will have an opportunity of seeing how "the other half lives" in the gay French capital. Meighan appears as a crook who reforms when his uncle leaves him half a million dollars and goes to Europe to kill time.

He has a romance and incidentally is involved in some desperate encounters with Apaches in Paris. It is the Paris of the novelists that is shown. The underground Paris—the Paris of the dance halls, the Apaches, the picturesque and hectic. Billy Kane develops into a man of rare prowess and rescues several damsels in distress.

It is a vivid tale with plenty of excitement and red-blooded action. Tom Forman directed and Will M. Ritchey adapted John D. Swain's story. Jacqueline Logan is leading woman and Grace Darmond has an important role. Walter Long is cast as a particularly ferocious Apache. The support is excellent.

SHOWS THRILLING RESCUE FROM LAKE OF BURNING OIL

"The Son of Wallingford," the Vitagraph special production, which will be seen at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday, is the latest of the series of "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingford" units which have been unrivaled in popularity in America.

The character of J. Rufus Wallingford is a household word. It is a name related to anything along that fascinating topic of making money without working for it. The American public may love to be humbugged but it always loves the humbugger. Thus the popularity in fiction form of the great Wallingford.

George Randolph Chester, author and creator of this famous character, personally directed the screen version. Into the new story he has put all the elements required to make a picture successful. It is sparkling with comedy, replete with spectacular sets and filled with that other necessary component of a big feature, well dressed men and women in beautiful surroundings.

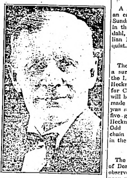
Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted in his own behalf by N. J. Anderson, Thief River Falls, Minn., candidate for Register of Deeds. Amount to be paid for each insertion, $3.00.



To the Voters of Pennington County:

I am a candidate for re-election for Register of Deeds of Pennington county. During the years I have served the people of the county as Register of Deeds I have made many friends, but I am not asking support in the present campaign merely by virtue of this friendship. Rather, I would have the voters consider my candidacy on a purely efficiency basis as the only proper method of electing officials to public office. In regard to my fitness for the office of Register of Deeds, both as to honesty and capability, I prefer to rest my case with the people of Pennington county, whom I served in past years.

Yours respectfully,
N. J. ANDERSON.

A NEEDED CONVENIENCE.

Thief River Falls should have a public swimming pool. These conveniences, installed for the health and pleasure of the peopel as a whole, are among the most popular of all features devised as recreational adjuncts in progressive communities. In this city such a pool can be put in at very small cost and would pay enormous dividends in the amount of pleasure to be derived from it.

Just below the Hanson & Barzen flour mill there is a site almost ready to hand. There is a considerable excavation at the point referred to, caused by the location there of a brick manufacturing plant some years ago. It is sufficiently low so that water could be supplied from above by gravity and no costly apparatus of any kind would need to be installed. Cleaning would be accomplished by the simple expedient of letting the water out.

The park board has undertaken the work of getting the matter under way and should be energetically backed by every person in the city. While the undertaking is strictly of a municipal character and could properly and legally be paid for by public funds, yet the board is of the opinion that the sum necessary can largely be raised by popular subscription. Whether this is a more satisfactory way of getting the money than by means of a direct appropriation in which all taxpayers would pay their share may be a matter of opinion, but it is certain that if voluntary contributions go to make up a part of the amount the council will look with greater favor upon supplying the balance. This is not because the councilmen are in any doubt as to the advisability of the improvement, but they are handling the people's money and find that taxes are sufficiently high even when only absolute necessities are provided. No one will quarrel with them on this score, but the amount needed in this instance is so small and the convenience to be provided of such general public value that there is no question what what their action would be approved even should they decide to install the pool at the city's expense entirely. So far as The Times knows, the subject has never officially been brought to the attention of the councilmen.

Let's get some enthusiasm behind this project. It would be a good subject for a Commercial club luncheon discussion in the near future.

THERE'S MONEY IN HOGS.

No one seems to understand just why the hog is not more popular with Pennington county farmers. It is doubtful if pork can be produced at a lower cost anywhere in the state than right here in this northwestern section and it is always a matter of surprise to visitors to find that so little attention is paid to this branch of livestock husbandry. The idea that corn must be produced in order to make hog raising profitable has been proven to have no very good foundation in fact. But even if such were the case, corn has now become sufficiently certain as a crop to make its production here more a matter of good farming than anything else.

George W. Kelley, who visited different sections of the county last week, was surprised to find so little interest taken in this very important division of farming. In a letter to President Protzeller of the Thief River Valley New Settlers association, in which he gives some of his impressions of the county, this authority on agriculture says:

"I found your county very short of swine, and in spite of the long winters, I believe there are big profits in swine after alfalfa fields have been established. While I did not go into it with farmers with whom I talked, it is a fact that brood sows will go through the winter with practically no other feed but alfalfa hay and will raise pigs on practically nothing in addition to alfalfa pasture. That you can raise the alfalfa is demonstrated. The idea very prevalent among your farmers that hogs must be fattened to sell well is mistaken. I am sure they can market their hogs as feeder pigs and make good money out of them as long as prices remain anywhere near where they are now."

Farmers who have gone into hog raising on a small scale find that it is a paying proposition, particularly when conducted in connection with dairying. Experts maintain that skim milk has a feeding value of 60 cents per hundred pounds when given to young hogs while a much better price can be secured for most of the grain raised if it is converted into pork.

This is a subject worthy of more attention than it has thus far received. There is a lot of good foundation stock to be had right here at home even at the present time, principally Poland Chinas and Durocs. With alfalfa coming to the front as one of the most dependable crops of the region, hog raising should follow as a matter of course. It will prove a tremendous step in the right direction.

Rousing Community Meet Stirs Citizens of Grygla

(Grygla Eagle.)

A very interesting Community club meeting was held here last Saturday evening. A number of business men and farmers from Thief River Falls were here to make us acquainted with the New Settlers movement that has recently been organized to try to place a contented farmer on every farm. This is a movement in the right direction and we feel that if the outside world could become acquainted with our lands and know for sure that they would be protected when coming in here to buy land, that in a short time our country would be all settled up with thrifty farmers. The members making up the Thief River party were: H. W. Protzeller, Olaf Ramstad, Carston Christensen, Dr. Froehlich, J. J. McCann, H. O. Chommie and C. W. Vorachek. A social gathering was held after the meeting and a fine lunch was given to those present. We are glad to welcome our friends from Thief River Falls to our gatherings, and hope that they will visit us often in the future. Our interests are alike and we can accomplish more by co-operation.

A new way to treat croup
Spasmodic croup relieved or warded off by rubbing on a vaporizing salve.

The old method of treating spasmodic croup with nauseating drugs is out of date. So is the vapor-lamp scheme that required the bedroom windows to be kept closed. Now mother rubs the little one's chest and throat with Vicks, arranges the bedding so that the arising vapors will be inhaled all night long, opens the windows to let in the blessed fresh air, and retires—confident of a good sleep.

Vicks has come to be the almost universal treatment for children's cold troubles, because it does away with dosing. Vicks contains the old, time-tested remedies—Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, etc.—combined by special process, so that while they penetrate and stimulate the skin, the ingredients are also released as vapors by the body heat and are breathed right into the lungs.

Just rub it on and breathe in the vapors

THAT DULL ACHING

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and achy backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Ed. Aga, 803 Horace Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I had a spell of kidney trouble that put me in a bad way. My kidneys were weak and caused me all sorts of misery. I got very little rest and mornings I felt all tired out. During the day if I stood for any length of time, my limbs would swell and pain me. I had such a dull, bearing-down feeling, too, and a dull, steady ache across the small of my back. My back gave out before my work was half finished. I had to go to bed finally and not until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills was I rid of the trouble. Two boxes of Doan's completely cured me and I have had no return of it.

You get all the cream with a De Laval

Not every separator is designed so that it will get all the cream. But there is one machine that can always be depended upon to skim clean—the De Laval.

A De Laval user gets more cream from the milk of each cow, gets longer service from his machine, and spends less time turning and washing it. Ask any of them.

Wouldn't you like to know more about the De Laval? Stop in.

De Laval butter has won at every meeting of the National Buttermakers Association, with one exception.

The Service Rendered by Specialized Knowledge

CRUDE petroleum, the raw material employed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), is so varied in character, that to manufacture products of standard quality, requires a profound knowledge of petroleum chemistry and the utmost skill in refining. Long experience has proved that the greater the scientific knowledge employed the more perfect will be the products manufactured.

The responsibility for the manufacturing of Standard Oil products is placed upon the shoulders of men trained to recognize the delicate variance of each complicated operation. This work also is checked carefully by highly trained scientists employed in the laboratories.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) bases its standards of manufacture upon the service which its products shall render the consumer. The maintenance of such standards is dependent upon the technical knowledge of the experts who formulate them.

There is no factor in the activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) which yields greater benefit to the consumer, and which is followed more insistently, than that the men who have charge of each process must have highly specialized knowledge of every step in the process under their jurisdiction.

This fact is so well established that each division of the manufacturing department has come to be a separate enterprise, and because of this extreme specialization every product coming from the refinery is in effect a primary product.

For instance, the department which is responsible for manufacturing Polarine and other greases is in charge of men who have made a profound study of lubricants of this class: men who know intimately every step and every reaction which is necessary if these lubricants are to meet the high standards of quality which the laboratories have set.

And so it is in every department of the organization. The men in charge of the several departments are recognized by the industry generally as masters of the intricate problems of manufacturing and marketing.

It is this fact which has made this Company a leader in its field.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

THE DAMNING SIN.

(Jn. 16:18.9)

There is only one sin that damns. Jesus here mentions it. It is the sin of unbelief; failure to accept Christ as the divinely appointed Savior of lost man. "And when He (the Comforter, the Spirit of Truth) is come, He will convince the world of sin, because they believe not on Me."

The purpose, for which Christ promised to send the Holy Spirit, was to "guide the disciples in all truth." (v. 13). Thus doing He would glorify Christ. The glory of Christ is that of the Savior from sin; to lead the lost into everlasting salvation. Before men will follow his lead, they must be convinced that they need salvation. To do that is the work of the Holy Spirit.

He will convince them of sin; He will argue with and prove to them that they are sinners, lost and subject to eternal rejection. How will he do it? By showing them the sin of unbelief.

"The wages of sin is death." That verdict of the holy and righteous God applies to each and every transgression of the Law. All men have sinned and thereby become subject to the curse of everlasting death. "We are by nature the children of wrath." But Christ came to atone for the sins of the world; He placed himself under the Law to fulfill it in our stead; He suffered the curse of death to release us from death. "The Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all." (Is. 53). Christ became the substitute of sinners and suffered and died for them. The cross on Calvary proclaims this substitutive atonement for and redemption from sin. Before He died He cried: "It is finished." Redemption was complete. Man was freed from the curse of death, for the wage of sin had been paid in full to the Christ. The third day He rose from the grave. Death did not hold him. Thus His resurrection proves His redemptive work to be one hundred per cent complete. Every sin of all the world was punished. God was reconciled to the world. His wrath upon sin was appeased.

The Spirit of Truth gave to the disciples this view of Jesus' work. The death of Christ was to them an unintelligible mystery until the Spirit revealed its deep and blessed purpose to them. Then they saw that in Christ they had redemption through His blood, even the forgiveness of sin.

All sins are forgiven in Christ. He has taken away all the sins of all the world. Now that Christ has died, no sin that we do can plunge us into everlasting death. Our debts are all paid. That is a fact.

Yet men are eternally lost. Why? Because they believe not on the Christ. They do not accept the payment which Christ has made for them. They ridicule and despise the plan of a substitutive redemption. They will not have everlasting life as a gift of the despised and suffering Nazarene. They will not enter heaven by the path he has prepared and the door He has opened. They reject the only way that leads to life and are therefore lost.

Which sin is it that really condemns? It is not murder, adultery, theft, idolatry, cursing, profaning the Sabbath; despising parents and masters, slander, covetousness, and the long list of sins committed in thought, word and deed. There is forgiveness and pardon for them in the Blood of Jesus Christ, the Lamb of God, and the substitute of sinners. He has suffered their punishment, paid their penalty. The damning sin is unbelief, refusal to accept this forgiveness and pardon; denial of Christ as your substitute. To do that closes the door to life, for it turns from the only means of opening it.

Has the Holy Spirit convinced you of this sin? Has He shown you the terrible consequences of unbelief? Blessed are you if He has, for heaven is your certain heritage. If He has not, He longs to do so. He is waiting for you in the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Hear it, read it, and be called to faith in Christ, your Savior. Believe in Him and be saved.

Annual Sale of Guernsey Cattle to Be Held Soon

Gustafson & Son Have New "Red Baby" Service Truck

C. D. Gustafson has just returned from Grand Forks with a brand new "Red Baby." No evening sun was ever half as red, no barn ever grinned with astonishment at the world with anything like as red a coat of paint. Dave says it has come to stay and to serve the people of this community. It is not only a bright looking "Baby" but it is a speedy one and it is going to be on the job every minute of the day. We are informed that in the last 30 days over 200 of these "Red Babies" have gone out to as many McCormick-Deering dealers to serve the farmers in the state of North Dakota alone.

While in Grand Forks Mr. Gustafson was a guest of the International Harvester company and attended a large dealers' meeting and banquet. On Thursday afternoon of last week 77 of these "Red Babies" formed in a parade over some of the principal streets of Grand Forks. This parade, while pleasing in itself, silently impressed everyone as a genuine symbol of a return to prosperity.

Grocery Line Going in With New Meat Market

Walter Corbett of the New Meat Market announces the re-opening of the store within a week or ten days. He was compelled to close the place temporarily a short time ago in order to install a new ice box. This has now been completed and he will resume business at the old stand, 221 East First street.

William Crown has rented a part of the building from Mr. Corbett and will install a full line of fancy groceries about the time the place is again opened to the public. Mr. Crown was formerly in the grocery business at St. Hilaire and has had a lot of experience in that line.

Hear Concert at Denver Through First Radiophone

The first radiophone in the city was on Saturday installed at the home of Dr. H. W. Froehlich. Members of the family and a few invited friends listened to a fine concert given in Denver, Col., on Sunday evening, and on Monday night heard a different organization playing at Minneapolis. While Dr. Froehlich does not claim to be an expert manipulator as yet, he managed the instrument so well that the Sunday night program was very clear. Static interfered with the working of the plant on Monday evening and the entertainment was not quite so successful.

MAN ONCE SENTENCED TO HANG IS APPLYING TO BOARD FOR PARDON

Has Served 15 Years in Stillwater Prison—Saved From Gallows a Few Hours Before Time Set For Execution.

(Baudette Region.)

Merton S. Munn, the only man in Stillwater penitentiary once sentenced to hang, is seeking a pardon after serving 15 years of a commuted sentence for killing a man at Spooner.

A few hours before the time set for his execution Munn was given a commutation to life imprisonment because of his Spanish-American war record.

While in prison Munn invented a shoe sewing machine, but was unable to obtain patents because of his imprisonment. The state prison board obtained patents and is now drawing royalties on his machine. Oldtimers in this district will remember the Munn murder case. He killed a man named Franklin, who worked at the Williams hardware store, Baudette, but who lived at Spooner, where his wife conducted a restaurant. Going home one night he found Munn in his house and a fight followed in which Munn killed Franklin with a shot gun. He was convicted and sentenced to hang, but Governor J. A. Johnson, who didn't believe in capital punishment, saved his life at the last minute. Munn has been a model prisoner during the fifteen years he has been in Stillwater.

The decision of the board of pardon will not be made known for a few days. This is the first time that Munn has made a direct request for a pardon. He was represented before the board by Geo. E. Ericson of Spooner.

DIVERSE SUBJECTS COVERED BY LATE BOOKS AT LIBRARY

Works of Fiction Lead in Numbers—Many Late Books in Norwegian Language.

Mrs. Christena Frissell, city librarian, announces that a large number of late works of fiction as well as other books of interest have lately been added to the collection at the library. The board acknowledges the gift of $25 from the Daughters of Norway lodge, the sum to be used in the purchase of Norwegian books.

The librarian states that the careless manner in which many of the children handle library books is very much to be regretted. Books are often returned badly soiled and in some instances whole pages have been torn out. It is quite evident, says Mrs. Frissell, that the babies of the families have been permitted to use the volumes as playthings. Even older children seem to have little comprehension of the value of books and often return them in a very bad condition. Books are expensive and the board asks the co-operation of parents and teachers in impressing upon the youngsters the importance of keeping them in as good shape as possible.

CREAMERIES SAVE LARGE AMOUNT BY SHIPPING JOINTLY

Twenty-five Carloads of Butter Being isposed of Each Week By Co-Operatives.

Twenty-five carloads of Minnesota co-operative creamery butter are going to eastern markets every week, under the consolidated marketing plan put into operation by the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, Inc.

"Average net savings to the creameries, in freight rates, have amounted to more than 50 cents on every hundred pounds shipped in carlots during the last three months," the association announces. "On 25 carloads a week, that saving means a saving of $3,750 every seven days to the creameries that have been organized for carlot marketing."

After paying all dues to the state association, these creameries would still have a net saving, over all expenses of consolidated marketing, amounting to $1,275 every week, the association pointed out. The saving is brought about by obtaining lower freight rates on carload lots.

"One co-operative creamery," the association announced, "has made a net saving of $305.37 on eight shipments of butter marketed under the association plan. Its dues for that period would amount to only $184.29. In eight weeks the state agency saved that one creamery, above all costs, $120.08. This is only an average saving; many other creameries are showing even better results."

CROP CONDITIONS IN STATE BETTER THAN ON SAME DATE, 1921

Winter Wheat and Rye Show Up About the Same—Large Increase in Number of Brood Sows on Farms—The Labor Outlook.

According to the report of Paul H. Kirk, statistician for the Minnesota co-operative crop reporting service, United States bureau of markets and crop estimates and the Minnesota department of agriculture, the condition of winter wheat and rye in Minnesota is very satisfactory, and the number of brood sows on hand April 1 shows an increase of 8 per cent over one year ago.

The report for Minnesota, as of April 1, is as follows:

Condition of winter wheat 87 per cent of normal compared to 88 per cent one year ago. Last fall wheat in the greater part of the seeded area was planted under favorable conditions, except in the extreme southeastern part of the state, where it was too dry. However, there was plenty of snow covering and conditions this spring, outside of some damage by ice covering, is generally reported as favorable.

The condition of rye on April 1 is estimated at 90 per cent of normal compared to 92.5 last year. Generally, with possibly some which has been smothered by ice covering, and also in the extreme northwestern part of the state where the crop was seeded rather late, the rye, though it has made but little spring growth, is in a very favorable condition.

Practically every county in the state reports an increase in number of brood sows compared to last year. With fairly cheap corn and good prices for pork farmers are going quite heavily into the raising of pigs this year. It is estimated that there are 8 per cent more brood sows on farms than one year ago, of about 443,000 breeding sows on farms April 1, 1922.

The supply of farm labor this April compared to the normal supply is 193 per cent and the need for farm labor compared with normal need is 89 per cent, or the per cent of supply to demand is 119 per cent. In 1921 the per cent of supply to demand was for Minnesota, 105 per cent. The unemployment in this state is not as great as in states with larger and more industrial centers. The demand for hired help is also reduced by the fact that farmers are not in a position to hire help as was the case a few years ago. Many farmers intend to farm only what they can without hiring extra help except at harvest time.

Council to Call Halt on Building Without Permit

The adjourned meeting of the city council on Tuesday night was a busy one. In addition to the paving projects, the extension of sewer and water mains and the building of sidewalks in the north end of the city, as told of elsewhere in this issue, the city fathers found much detail matter to dispose of.

Henry Holt was granted a plumber's license; P. W. Morse was given a pool and billiard room permit; the Minneapolis Bridge company was permitted to move their present office building and build an addition thereto, while A. E. Myrom was allowed to move a barn from one location to another.

In this connection the councilmen wish it understood that they do not intend to be as lax in the future regarding various permits as they have been in the past. A large number of people start the erection of houses, garages and other buildings, or the removal of old structures to new locations, and then when the work is about completed they come in and ask the necessary permission. Others do not make the request until they are practically forced to do so, although there is an ordinance requiring this step. All cities have building ordinances along the lines of the one here and they are strictly enforced.

George L. Sterns appeared before the council asking that the city absolve the Northwestern Telephone company from any responsibility in furnishing the various city firemen with the phone alarms for fires. The matter was referred to the city attorney, with instructions to have a report thereon at the next meeting.

NEMESIS ON THE JOB AND JUDGE TARRANT'S RECKONING IS COMING

Becomes Owner of Automobile and There's Great Joy in the Hearts of Traffic Ordinance Violators Everywhere in the City.

Judge N. W. Tarrant of the municipal court has a new automobile and members of the Order of Peeved and Reckless Speed Demons are rubbing their hands in ghoulish glee. The judge has shown no fear or favor when it came to slapping a fine on violators of the traffic ordinances of the city, speeding being the offense most often charged. Those who have been nicked to the tune of $12.50 have bought stop watches and a man will be placed in every block when the judge is known to be out taking the air. If he ever so far forgets himself as to allow his little bus to go faster than 15 miles an hour he will be ignominiously haled before his own tribunal of justice and a demand made that he assess a fine against himself. It is said the speeders' association will retain a famous prosecutor by the year in order that the enormity of the judge's offense may be properly brought to the attention of the court.

The report that a request has been sent to Minneapolis asking that a consignment of hardened criminals, of which there seems to be a surplus in that city, be sent to Thief River Falls for the purpose of scattering tacks and broken glass in the path of the judge is not generally credited.

Eklund Post Adds 42 New Members and Opens Club

There were great doings at American Legion headquarters last Wednesday night when the new club room was formally opened and 42 new members initiated. A parade, headed by the band, through the business section of the city, gave notice to the inhabitants that there was something of an unusual nature going on.

The club rooms in the basement of the First and Peoples bank are fitted up in good taste and arranged most conveniently as a place of recreation and rest for the ex-soldiers. Elmer J. Eklund post now has 145 members and an earnest attempt will be made to include every eligible man in the roster before the summer is over. Special attention will be given to interesting the boys living in the country and this club room has been provided in the hope that these in particular will make use of it when in the city.

Warren Publisher to Run For Senate in 67th Dist.

C. L. Stevens, publisher of the Warren Register, has filed as a candidate for the senate in the 67th district. He was a member of the house from Marshall county in 1915 and 1917 but was defeated for re-election by H. O. Berve in 1918. It is expected that his opponent will be Louis Enstrom of Roseau county, present representative, who will have the endorsement of the Nonpartisan league.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

FIVE NOW SEEK TWO PLACES ON DISTRICT BENCH

Judge J. M. Bishop and George M. Wilson Enter Judicial Race at Last Minute.

Latter is Lawyer-Farmer Residing in Southwestern Section of Marshall County.

LaBree, Anderson, Guillingsrud, Froehlich to Seek Re-Election to Present Posts.

T. H. Bjerke, of North township this morning filed as a candidate for county auditor.

With the filing of this week of J. M. Bishop, of this city and George M. Wilson, of Marshall county as candidates for district judge in the fourteenth district, a primary contest for this position is made necessary. Judge Wm. Watts and Andrew Grindeland are candidates for reelection and this makes the number of aspirants five with two to be elected. Four of the names will appear on the final ballot, one being eliminated in the June scrimmage. Guy Halverson, of this city, filed some time ago.

The general impression seems to be that there will be practically no opposition to the re-nomination and election of Judge Watts so interest in the outcome of the primaries centers about the seat of Judge Grindeland. The fact of another candidate having entered the field from Marshall county makes the outcome far from certain.

Is Veteran Lawyer.

Judge Bishop is a veteran among the practitioners in the district. He is a graduate of the university of Iowa and later took a classical course at the university of Valparaiso, Indiana. He came to Thief River Falls in 1892 and for 12 years served as judge of the municipal court. He has a wide acquaintance in the district and is highly regarded.

George M. Wilson is a graduate of the law school at Billington, Ill., and the Chicago college of Law. He practiced his profession in Chicago for 25 years, and came to Marshall county in September, 1920, purchasing 1400 acres of land on which he conducts a cattle ranch and carries on general farming. His business requires that he spend considerable time in Thief River Falls and he has made many acquaintances here. He has entered the field at the solication of a large number of farmers of Pennington and Marshall counties.

File For County Offices.

Sheriff W. J. LaBree, County Auditor T. P. Anderson, County Treasurer John Gullingsrud and Corner H. W. Froehlich on Tuesday handed in their filing papers.

Pennington county has never had but one sheriff, Mr. LaBree going into office at the time of its organizaion and holding the post against all comers ever since. He has had opposition at every election but the voters evidently like his way of doing business and have stuck by him so that he has won out handily every time. He is regarded not only at home but throughout the state as a particularly high class official who has deserved re-election on his merits. He is perhaps the best-known man in this section of the state and is just as strong in the farming districts as among his neighbors in the city. Unless there are further filings for the office there will be no primary contest.

An Popular Official.

T. P. Anderson is serving his second term as county auditor, having been first elected six years ago. Not only is Mr. Anderson an ideal official so far as the work pertaining strictly to his office is concerned, but he has a wide personal following because of his activities in other directions. Particularly are the ex-service men strong for Mr. Anderson. During the war and since its close he has given more attention to their problems and difficulties than any other man in the community. By common consent he seems to have been given the post of soldier advisor and friend, this situation extending also to the families of the former service men. While this work was cheerfully undertaken as a patriotic duty and with no thought of reward on his part, Mr. Anderson is now finding that it has not forgotten.

Another For Register.

John Gullingsrud is serving his first term as treasurer of Pennington county, but if "one good term deserves another," this competent and obliging official will also be allowed to remain where he is. His work perhaps brings him into contact with a larger number of voters than that of any other official in the court house and his unfailing courtesy and strict attention to duty have won for him a host of friends.

The only other filing during the week is that of Fred Lorentson for the office of register of deeds. He is a young farmer residing in Black River township, and has served his community as town clerk and in various other capacities. This makes three candidates for this place, the other two being N. J. Anderson, the present incumbent, and Elmer F. Ohm, a young railroad man.

Mr. Anderson, more familiarly known as "N. J.," is another of the old stand-bys. He has had some opposition in every campaign but no one has ever been able to crowd him very hard. He has a record that opponents will find it a hard matter to overcome.

There are now four candidates for county commissioner in District No. 5, J. R. Larson, of Hazel, and O. M. Mandt of Dear Park township, having this week added their names to those of K. K. Austin and Carl J. Olsen, previously filed. Mr. Larson has served before, having filed out an unexpired term.

Two more names were also added in the First, the present incumbent, A. W. Hanson, again signifying his intention of making the race, and Eley Aakre, of Riener township. This makes three for the First district, Frank Race having filed last week.

In the Third district there is but one filing as yet, that of J. V. Patton, of St. Hilaire.

The time for filing on the state ticket expired at 5 o'clock last evening but county candidates have until May 27 to get names on record.

LITTLE DAMAGE IN CITY REPORTED AS RESULT OF STORMS

House Struck By Lightning Only Loss Reported—Rainfall Totaled 2.54 Inches.

This section was visited by two severe storms yesterday and last night. The first downpour came about 5 o'clock in the afternoon and was one of the heaviest ever recorded here for a storm of such short duration. The rain was accompanied by a strong south wind, but no damage was done in the city. In Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire the storm was more severe, outbuildings being overturned and signs blown down. In St. Hilaire the Sandberg livery barn and the Gorgen barn were blown down. The telegraph and telephone wires south of this city were put out of commission and there is considerable damage of a minor nature reported.

A heavy rain set in again at 9:50 o'clock and continued the greater part of the night.

Lightening struck the residence of Ira G. Lane, at 918 State avenue north and did considerable damage. A large chimney was totally demolished and the roof torn up in a number of places. The bolt followed the chimney to the basement, knocking the doors of the furnace and tearing through a lot of window screens stored nearby. Mr. Lane was not at home but Mrs. Lane and four children were in the house at the time. All escaped injury and the building was not set on fire.

According to L. M. Rayson, local weather observer, the total precipitation during the two storms was 2.54 inches, of which 1.03 inches fell within 25 minutes during the afternoon.

Requests For Permits to Build Now Coming Fast

Building permits representing an outlay of over $13,000 were on Tuesday evening granted by the city council. Practically the entire sum will go for the construction of residences.

The largest undertaking is that of M. C. Harlow, who will build a home at the corner of Main avenue and Sixth at an estimated cost of $6,000. Roy Motz will erect a residence to cost $4,000 in block 3 of Meehan's division. M. V. Evenson will soon have a $2,000 building going up on Red Lake boulevard. Roy Morgan is building a garage at a cost of $100 at Ninth and Knight.

At the meeting held a month ago permits aggregated $10,000 were granted, all but a very small amount being for dwellings.

Chapter of Mishaps.

Kenneth Horton, living east of town, was out in his Ford on Sunday and got out to drive a bunch of cows out of his way. While he was thus engaged the car started up and Horton jumped in front of it to check its flight. The car refused to stop and ran over him, quite seriously injuring his hip.

A little daughter of Casper Weiners was swinging on a gate at the farm home of her parents on Sunday afternoon when she fell off and broke her left arm.

Katheline Bakke, 10 year old, fell down the basement steps at the Washington school one day the first of the week and as a result is laid up with a broken wrist.

LUTHERAN MEN TO HEAR NEW ORDER PLANS EXPLAINED

John L. Sundean, Lecturer and Organizer, to Speak Here on Saturday Afternoon.

John L. Sundean, of Minneapolis, secretary of the Lutheran Brotherhood of America, will deliver an address in connection with the holding of the meetings of the Red River Valley conference of the Lutheran Augustana church in this city on Saturday afternoon. If the weather permits there will be a big open air meeting at Squaw Point but in case of rain the auditorium will be used.

The movement in which Mr. Sundean is interested has received a tremendous impetus during the past year. The brotherhood is a law organization having for its purpose the extension of Christianity generally but more especially is it interested in the work of the Lutheran church and the dessimation of a better understanding of its principles among the people of the United States. Branches are being formed in practically every community in the country and the brotherhood will prove a tremendous power for good aiding in the work of the church. Mr. Sundean is said to be a speaker of great force and one of the foremost authorities on Lutheran history and achievement.

Lutheran men of all nationalities are invited to this meeting, as all proceedings of the brotherhood are conducted in English. The organization forms a common meeting ground for all of this particular denomination and men of all ages and pursuits are enrolled in its membership. Men who profess allegiance to no particular church but are interested in the betterment of world conditions generally are urged to be present as the subject under discussion will prove of great interest to them.

On Saturday evening a meeting will be held at Trinity Lutheran church for the purpose of forming a branch of the brotherhood in Thief River Falls.

EARLY REPORT OF CROP CONDITION IS VERY ENCOURAGING

Rye Loss By Winter Killing is Negligible; Big Increase in Corn and Potatoes.

Crop conditions in Pennington county as reported to the farm bureau office, are very favorable at the present time. A large acreage of rye was sown last fall and all lived through the winter in very good condition. The acreage of this cereal was increased 60 per cent during the fall of 1921 and only a very small acreage was effected by the frost. Occasional fields were not very well covered with snow, which accounted for their being winter killed. The fall rye condition, however, is 110 per cent of normal. Some spring rye was planted early and is doing very well at the present time. Also fall wheat which was sown early is making very good growth. A few fields of wheat sown late in September were winter killed but the total which failed to live through will not amount to fifty acres in all.

Farmers are still sowing barley, oats and some spring wheat, although the acreage of this last grain has been reduced approximately 50 per cent as it is believed rust will do too much damage when the wheat is sown into in the season. The flax crop will be increased 10 per cent, buckwheat 15 per cent. Buckwheat makes an excellent smother crop for killing off sow thristle and is also a good hog and chicken ration for winter feeding.

There is a decided increase in the acreage of cultivated crops. 25 per cent more corn will be planted this year than last, and 50 per cent more potatoes. The sugar beet acreage totals 220 in the vicinity of Thief River Falls.

Labor demand is normal at the present time. All calls for labor made through the farm bureau office have been easily filled up to date. Sixty-two men have been placed during the month of April and first ten days of May at the average wage of thirty-five dollars per month.

Fall From Steeple Results in Death of Mayfield Man

The funeral of Oscar Nesland, who died as a result of injuries received in falling from the steeple of Roland church, was held from Mayfield church last Thursday. The accident happened about a week previous to the time of death and the injured man did not regain consciousness before the end.

Nesland was at work at the very tip of the steeple when in some manner he fell from the scaffold, first striking the roof and then rolling to the ground, a total distance of about 60 feet.

Deceased was a man highly regarded in the community, in which he had followed his trade for some years. His is survived by a wife and aged mother, two sisters, Mrs. James Rynestad and Mrs. Knut Olson of Mayfield township, and two brothers, Aslak of Grand Forks, and Ole of Rhoda.

Inheritance Tax of $400 Due on Peterson Estate

Mrs. Helga Greffsness, who is heir to the greatest part of the property of the late C. H. Peterson of this county, will have to pay an inheritance fee of about $400, according to the attorney for the estate, G. Howard Smith. This is the largest sum ever collected by the state as inheritance tax in the history of the county. Mrs. Greffsness' total bequests amount to $7,200.

READY TO PAVE BRIDGE STREET THIS SUMMER

Residents Ask Council to Advertise For Engineer to Look After Preliminary Work.

Owners Will at Once Hold Meeting to Decide on Kind of Surfacing They Prefer.

Horace People Ready Also Soon as Sewer Lift Question is Satisfactorily Settled.

Residents along Bridge street want paving and the city council on Tuesday night took the first steps to meet the demand. An engineer to make estimates and have charge of the work is being advertised for and it is the intention to push the project as rapidly as the legal requirements will permit.

Dr. O. F. Mellby, M. V. Evenson, Olaf Neset and others appeared before the council and stated that practically every resident along the street had signed a petition or otherwise signified a desire to have paving done this summer. The spokesman asked, however, that the matter of selecting the kind of paving material to be used be left to them as well as the final decision as to whether or not they would pave. President Brumund explained that this could hardly be done as the city would be put to a large expense for the preliminary work which would be a waste in case the project did not go through. He was assured that the only object in making the request was a desire to decide on whether they wanted bitulithic pavement or some other kind. They prefer the former, but if the price proves prohibitive they would have to be satisfied with cement. It was suggested that they get together and decide on just exactly what was wanted in order that there be no delay, the season being already pretty far advanced. With the understanding that this would be done at once the city clerk was authorized to advertise for the engineer.

Horace Holding Off.

Property owners along Horace avenue between Fourth and Eight streets also want paving but will make no application until the sewer lift at the intersection of Seventh is changed. Complaint that this lift is a nuisance has been filed and the council has taken steps to see that the difficulty is remedied. When this is done these four blocks will be included in the paved area.

This will make a total of ten blocks to be paved and it is rather to be expected that this will be increased. It is not thought likely that people residing on North LaBree will be able to stand having Horace avenue paved while they are still fighting the mud and there is no question but that a petition would receive the signature of a majority of the taxpayers there. Certain sections of Knight avenue might also be expected to come in and the same thing is possible with cross streets on the East Side.

Miss Knudsen Resigns as Oakland Superintendent

Miss Karen Knudsen, for four years superintendent at Oakland Park sanatorium, has handed in her resignation and will leave about June 1 for the Pacific coast, intending later to continue her travels to Alaska. Dr. M. Geo. Milan, medical director at the sanatorium, will also have general supervision of the institution after Miss Knudsen leaves.

Members of the sanatorium board are unanimous in expressing their regret at Miss Knudsen's leaving. She has made the care of tubercular patients her life study and has brought to her work a degree of efficiency and understanding that the board will find it hard to replace. Outside of a decision to travel, Miss Knudsen professes to have no definite plans for the future.

OVER 2 MILES OF SEWER AND WATER MAINS ORDERED IN

City Clerk Instructed to Advertise Jobs Amounting to Total of Over $30,000.

The city clerk has been authorized to advertise for bids for the laying of about two miles of sewer and nearly as much water mains this summer.

The estimated cost of these projects, according to figures filed by Engineer Irving Quist, will be in the neighborhood of $15,000 for the sewer work and $18,000 for the water mains. This work will give employment to quite a number of men and should prove beneficial in more than one way.

In sewer district No. 2 the present plans call for a district sewer on Mussey street between Kendall and Crocker avenues. There will also be lateral sewers on Kendall avenue between James and Nora streets; on Tindolph avenue between Bridge and Taft streets; on Crocker avenue between Bridge and Taft streets, and on Conely between James and Nora streets.

Only three blocks of sewer are to be laid in district No. 3, two on Red Lake boulevard between Third and Fifth streets and one on Atlantic avenue from Eighth to Ninth street. This will take the sewer up to the new large office building of the Minneapolis Bridge company, but it will not be necessary to lay water mains there at present as the company has a private water supply.

Two separate projects are to be cared for in sewer district No. 4, the larger one being of great benefit to residents on State avenue between First and Sixth streets, the other for residents on State avenue between First and Sixth streets, the other for residents along Riverside avenue south of the present mains. Sewers are to be built on First and Fifth streets between Arnold and State avenues and on State avenue from First to Sixth street.

The Riverside avenue project calls for about three blocks between Emil and Backe streets. This would carry the sewer and water mains to the hill just above Lovers' Lane and the park board will undoubtedly have the water main laid down the hill and into the park.

There are to be 1,420 feet of 12 inch sewer; 5,320 feet of 10 inch; 2,655 feet of 8 inch, and 960 feet of 6 inch sewer mains, a total of 10,355 feet. Plans submitted also call for the building of sufficient man holes, catch basins, inlets, etc.

COMMUNITY GIRLS INVITE PUBLIC TO ATTEND RECEPTION

Will Give Housewarming Party Saturday Evening, May 20, in Their New Quarters.

The formal opening of the new quarters of the Girls' Community club will take place on Saturday evening, May 20. While these rooms have been fitted up by the girls' organization, it is the intention of the members to turn the place into a community center for young people's activities generally. The rooms are located at the corner of Fifth and Horace and comprise what was intended as the basement of the United church before the amalgamation of the Lutheran church bodies. The property is now owned by Trinity congregation and has been turned over to the club rent free.

The Community Girls have invited the Parents'-Theachers' association and other welfare bodies in the city to join with them in providing this community center but at the present the club members must be given credit for everything accomplished toward this end. The opening on May 20 will give the public a chance to see what has been provided in the way of equipment and faculities for meeting the demand for a young peoples' gathering place and the hostesses hope there will be a large turn out. A musical program will be offered and there will be refreshments.

The Girls' Community club is admittedly one of the most valuable and energetic organizations of its kind in the state. Its original purpose was extending aid in any manner possible during the hectic days of war, but so many directions were disclosed in which it could prove useful in other ways that it has been continued as an important factor in general civic developments and improvement. Thus far a large share of the work undertaken has been directed toward assisting other organizations, notably the Red Cross, Welfare Board and Woman's club, but now that suitable quarters have been secured it is likely that the girls will follow a program more strictly of their own devising.

The club has been unable to hold a public reception before because of lack of proper quarters. Now that this drawback has been overcome the members are anxious to have everybody come to their housewarming.

Will Check 'Em Up.

B. F. Umlaud, state highway engineer for Pennington county, has been named automobile license inspector for the current year. Mr. Umland's duties will include seeing that all licenses are paid, that the plate is kept sufficiently clean to be seen at all times and in any other way that may suggest itself that the state law is being complied with.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT CONFERENCE OF AUGUSTANA SYNOD

Successful Session Will Close With Meeting at Auditorium on Sunday Afternoon.

The tenth annual meeting of the Red River Valley conference of the Augustana synod is being held in Thief River Falls this week. A large number of pastors and lay delegates are present and the meetings are being well attended.

The pastoral conference was held on Wednesday, followed by the annual meeting of laymen. The conference proper opened this morning with prayer by Rev. Gottfred, followed by a sermon by Rev. A. G. Ander. This evening there will be a missionary service at which Rev. Constant Larson will be the principal speaker. This will be held at the auditorium.

Friday's program will open with prayer by Rev. M. A. Hendrickson, and Rev. T. B. Nordals will be the principal speaker. In the evening there will be a mission festival at the auditorium.

The address on Saturday morning at the church will be delivered by Rev. S. Bergdahl. In the afternoon all the delegates will take part in the big Lutheran rally at the auditorium when J. S. Sundean, secretary of the Lutheran Brotherhood of America, will deliver an address. There will be prayer meeting in the church in the evening.

Regular services will be held at the auditorium on Sunday forenoon at 10 o'clock. The liturgy will be by Revs. P. E. Ordling and Carl Lund and the service by Revs. Walfred E. Ericksona and A. Mattson. The closing service will be held at the auditorium at 2:30 in the afternoon at which time Rev. Dr. G. A. Andreen, president of Augustana College and Theological Seminary, Rock Island, Ill., will be the principal speaker.

BARNETT ENDORSED FOR CONGRESS BY LABOR-FARM MEN

Knud Wefald Has Also Filed, Making Three Who Must Get Into Primaries.

J. S. Barnett, of this city was on Sunday endorsed as a candidate for congress at the joint meeting of Nonpartisan league and labor delegates at Crookston. Mr. Barnett has filed for the place and will make the race in the primaries, there being now three candidates for the Republican nomination, the other two being Halvor Steenerson, present congressman, and Knud Wefald, of Hawley. Senator O. A. Naplin, of this city, was chairman of the convention.

Attempts on the part of delegates from the southern part of the district to have Mr. Wifald endorsed failed, as did also he efforts of a number of Polk county men to have farm-labor representatives go on record as favoring Mr. Steenerson.

Delegates to this convention were elected at a meeting held in this city Saturday, T. H. Bjerke and J. M. Thiege being chosen, besides Senator Naplin. An attempt to have the labor and farm voters endorse candidates for county office was turned down, much to the evident dissapointment of a number of those present. The league and labor men have heretofore kept "hands off" in strictly local politics so far as concerns their attitude as an organization and this plan will be followed during the present campaign.

J. V. Patton, of St. Hilaire, was elected county chairman and Peter Heddin vice chairman. T. H. Bjerke was again chosen as secretary and Gust Naplin treasurer.

Soldier and Little Son Both Hospital Patients

Little Gerald Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Perkins, who a short time ago was injured by getting his hand caught in a power washing machine, is at the University hospital, Minneapolis, not having yet recovered from the hurt. His father, who is an ex-service man and confined at the Veterans' hospital in the same city, informs The Times that the little boy's thumb was broken and some of the bones pushed out of place. The doctors, however, are of the opinion that they will be able to save the thumb.

Mr. Perkins himself received several wounds while in the service and has been under the care of doctors a large share of the time since the close of the war. He reports himself as improving steadily and hopes soon to be able to take up his work.

Illinois, Nebraska and Iowa Farmers Arriving

In April forty-nine families passed through the Twin Cities to points in Minnesota to make their homes on new farm lands which they recently purchased, Oscar S. Smith, state commissioner of immigration says:

"Of these forty-nine families, eighteen came from Illinois, Nebraska and Iowa," Mr. Smith stated, "and others formerly lived in North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Wisconsin.

"Our records show that Aitkin county, with five families, headed the list in the immigration movement of the land-hungry who sought the low-priced, productive lands of Northern Minnesota, followed by Beltrami, Hubbard, Cass and Morrison counties, with three families each, and one family each for Anoka, Carlton, Itasca, Lake, Mahnomen, Mille Lacs, Otter, Trail, Pennington, Pine, Red Lake and Washington counties.

"This number of immigrants does not include all of the people who were moving to new localities during the month of April, as quite a few coming into the state did not pass through the Twin Cities."

The above report gives but a poor idea of the general settler movement. There were at least four new families settled on Pennington county lands during April, these taking up farms along the line of the Minnesota Northwestern railway.

PAVEMENT HOP WILL FEATURE OPENING NIGHT

One Entire Down-Town Block to Be Given Over to Dancing on Evening of May 17.

Is First Open House Date of Merchants Association For Summer Season of 1921.

Business Houses Offering Unusual Bargains For Shoppers Throughout Day.

On every Wednesday evening, beginning with May 17 and continuing up to and including Oct. 18, the merchants of Thief River Falls will be hosts to their neighbors from far and near at a series of free entertainments. Every Wednesday—all day—during the same period will be Bargain Day in Thief River Falls at which time the same merchants will offer something of an unusual nature or at an unusual price to the visitors. The plan is to make it worth anyone's while to come to the city to trade during the day and then stay for the general amusement or other feature to be presented in the evening.

Pavement Dance First.

The first of these neighborhood entertainments will be given next Wednesday, the intention being to give a brilliant finish to the day for those who have been in the city to assist in celebrating the anniversary of Norway's independence. The big feature will be a pavement dance for which music will be furnished by the Thief River Falls band of 30 pieces under the direction of M. J. Sorflaten. A new band stand has been provided and every other detail carefully looked after.

The block to be given over wholly to the dancers is that between Main and LaBree avenues, on Third street. Teams and automobiles will be barred from this area during the dance and the business houses in the block will keep all available lights at their utmost brilliance in order to add to the festive aspect of the social.

Every precaution will be taken for maintaining order. Extra police matrons will be appointed to see that dancers conduct themselves in a decorous manner and no rowdyism will be permitted. The dancing will begin at 9:15 sharp.

Unusual Attractions.

While the stores will be open during the evening for the accommodation of those who find it impossible to come to the city during the day, the greater part of the business will undoubtedly be transacted during the daylight hours in order to leave the evening for pleasure. The stores will be unusually attractive so far as their general appearance goes, but the most interesting thing about them will undoubtedly be the bargains to be found in the stores. A general list of what is to be found in this line may be gained by carefully reading the advertisements appearing in The Times today. Merchants have taken care to offer only such goods as are seasonable and for which there is a general demand at this time. An attempt on the part of any merchant to utilize this bargain Wednesday in palming something off onto the public concerning which there may be a complaint afterwards will be seriously objected to by the others appearing in this movement. They realize that in order to be a success these Wednesday features must be genuine bargain events and assure the public that everything will be found exactly as advertised.

There will also be a special program at the theatres and there will be plenty of time for dancing after these have been enjoyed.

There's Much at Stake.

The merchants of the city have gone to considerable expense to provide this entertainment for out-of-town visitors and only ask that everyone have as good a time as possible. Upon the success of this first venture will to a large extent depend the plan to be followed on the succeeding Wednesdays. There will be band concerts every Wednesday night but other parts of the entertainment will be changed from time to time.

Large Flax Fibre Plant Goes to Red Lake Falls

The Fibre Products company of Minneapolis has decided to locate its new $130,000 factory at Red Lake Falls and ground for the big building has already been broken. The people of the neighboring city donated outright a tract of ten acres of land for the factory and purchased stock in the company to the amount of $5,000.

The concern will manufacture articles from flax straw and consequently create a market for this product for the entire section. Quite a force of men will be required to keep the factory in operation and the plant will prove a great asset to the entire region.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"THE BLACKEST SPOT."

Lynching—the administration of justice by mob law, or to be more exact, by mob-lawlessness—is the blackest spot on the fair shield of American civic righteousness. The occasion for this observation was given by the tripple lynching of negroes in Texas, as reported in detail by the various papers.

We do not wish to defend those negroes. The self-confessed crime of the one was great indeed. He had committed a brutal murder; he admitted it. Thus his life was forfeited to the state, for "whosoever sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed; for in the image of God made He man." (Gen. 9:6) and "all they that take up the sword shall perish with the sword." (Matt. 26:52). That murderer deserved death. The same cannot be said of the other two. They were implicated by confession, or accusation, of the guilty person. The one, who knew that he would die the next moment, was the only witness. Is such testimony sufficient to execute the death sentence? American sense of justice and "fair play" says "No!" The one was burned on good evidence; the other two may have been innocent.

That fact alone puts the stamp of injustice on the action of that mob. In the case of the two latter negroes those men were and are guilty of murder. Several hundred men united to commit murder on two other men who may, or may not, have been guilty of crime.

Was their action justified in the case of the self-confessed murderer? Were they justified in killing him? We answer with an emphatic "No"! They were not elected or appointed to execute justice. They, too were subjects of the government. The sheriff was the appointed authority to guard the culprit, and the judge was the appointed authority to speak the verdict of guilty and impose the penalty. That mob usurped the power of these authorities. They resisted the government. And here is the verdict of God on such people: "Whosoever, therefore, resisteth the power (that is, "the power ordained of God," which is every regular government) "resisteth the ordinance of God; and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation." (Rom. 13:2). The words of Christ, quoted above, apply with equal force to members of such a lynch-mob: "All they that take the sword shall perish by the sword." Murderers and outlaws are the words which describe perfectly the participants in lynchings.

The government should deal with them as such. There is no excuse for such action. The plea is always raised: The courts are too slow; justice is rarely meeted out to the offender. That plea is founded on truth. But who is to blame for the conditions as they exist? Are not the people themselves? Do not they elect the personnel of their government? If those people in the South would at the polls clearly demand swift and just action from the courts they would get it.

The real motive back of mob-lawlessness is the desire for personal revenge and the thirst for blood. If that were not true, why then the terrible tortures inflicted upon these vicims? Why the barbarous mutilation of their bodies and the savage method of their death? It is not justice they sought, but the satisfying of their cruel hearts and their savage instincts. They were not following the dictates of their better nature but the craving of the wild beast that still lives in the natural man. Lynching is a step backward from civilization to savagery, from constituted law and authority to self-will and lawlessness. And thus it is in truth the blackest spot on out civic righteousness.

The remedy to remove the spot! The guard against receiving it! The only real remedy is to teach and impress upon the lives of all citizens the patriotism of Paul, the apostle of Jesus Christ: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God; the powers that be are ordained of God. Wherefore ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake. For they are God's ministers. Rend therefor to all their dues: Fear to whom fear is due, honor to whom honor." (Rom. 13:1-7).

In other words: Acceptance and practice of the principles of Christianity in all our walks of life, that alone will keep our honor free of the blackest spot—"the murders of the mob."

WHY THIS DELAY.

While the people in this city and section are willing to give the Red Lake Drainage and Conservance board credit for having made an excellent record so far, both as regards things accomplished and the length of time taken in doing them, they are beginning to ask just why it is that the Red Lake project is not going ahead with greater speed. The viewers were appointed some time ago, the money for paying them is available through an appropriation made for this purpose at the last session of the legislature, and it really would seem as if there is no very good excuse for not getting the work under way. It is probable the board will not particularly to blame, but the farmers along the upper stretches of the river naturally are getting anxious.

For years these farmers have sustained losses because of the lack of proper drainage for their lands. They have seen ditching projects of one kind or another undertaken but without furnishing any permanent or adequate relief. Now that a comprehensive plan has been launched which promises to relieve them of this drain they are anxious to see it finished. They figure, and rightly, that it will take plenty long enough to get the actual drainage work done without wasting valuable time in getting the preliminaries under way.

Any reasonable person realizes that an undertaking of this magnitude cannot be rushed through or even begun without a large amount of exacting detail having been properly attended to, but so far as the Red Lake river division of the work is concerned all this seems to have been pretty well covered. Nothing further can be accomplished until the viewers gone over the field. What's holding them back?

A FLAX STRAW MARKET.

The Times is certain of voicing the sentiments of a large majority of the people of this city when extending sincere congratulations to the citizens of Red Lake Falls on having landed the extensive flax products plant, the construction of which has already been begun. To say that Thief River Falls would not have been greatly pleased in being selected as the location for this factory is foolish. We would very much like to have been the point chosen. It can however, be truthfully stated that when for a number of reasons it became evident that the exact requirements of the men at the head of the concern could not be met here, our good wishes and whatever of influence we could exert were thrown to Red Lake Falls. The people of that city have worked hard to land this factory and deserve their good fortune.

While the establishment of a flax straw converting plant is of much importance to the people of the neighboring city, its general value extends over a much greater area. Hundreds of thousands of tons of high grade flax straw which has heretofore been burned in the field or gone to waste in some other manner will now be turned into cash. The factory will create a market for the product of the people of Pennington and other northwestern counties and stimulate the opening of new lands to a degree that could not be hoped for in the general order of things for many years. Flax production will receive an added impetus and encouragement given the efforts of farm colleges to inaugurate a system which will make it possible and profitable to grow flax as a regularly rotated crop. Removing the straw from the list of waste products and making of it valuable and marketable commodity will entirely change the status of flax as a crop in this section. In this development the people of the entire region are as much interested as are those residing in Red Lake Falls.

THE OTHER FELLOW'S JOB.

In the Public Forum today will be found a communication from a Thief River Falls business man, calling attention to a situation that everyone placed as he is must have encountered time and time again. The writer says that when he was on a farm he cussed the butchers roundly for not buying his livestock at a price that would leave him a little something for his work. Now that he has gone into the butcher business he is not so certain. His story is a good example of what generally happens when we get the other fellow's viewpoint.

His suggestion that merchants and farmers get together and put in a small packing plant at Thief River Falls may have some merit. It would seem as if there is a tremendous waste of effort and money in first shipping livestock out of the section, paying heavy freight rates, and then shipping the same stock back as dressed meat, paying a even higher rate for this return shipment. There are, of course so many things enter into the construction and operation of a packing plant that the plan may be impractical, but at that it is an interesting proposition to discuss.

It is the same old question over again: How is the producer to get a larger share of what the consumer pays? We all know that the one is paying too much and the other receiving too little, but none of us seem able to hit upon a plan for fixing things different. A local packing plant might help but it is doubtful if anyone has as yet taken the trouble to find out just what it would cost to build and operate an institution of this kind. Some knowledge along this line might prove useful.

AT THE THEATRES

Not even forgetting "The Right of Way," it is hard to recall a Bert Lytell picture in which the Metro star has been seen to such advantage as in "The Right That Failed," his new Bayard Veiller production, which will be shown at the Princess Theatre Saturday and Sunday. The story, by J. P. Marquand, adapted to the screen by Lenore Coffee, is a smash-bang tale of the prize ring, full of fresh observation and characters that are new to screendom.

Mr. Lytell plays with debonair charm as the "highbrow" prize ring hero; Virginia Valli brings beauty and distinction to the role of the society girl engaged in an unconventional courtship; Otis Harlan, the rotund veteran of the Charles Hoyt farce, is a rollicking tippler of the old school; De Witt Jennings is distinguished and courtly as the heroine's father; Max Davidson is a joyous "lowbrow" champion, and Philo McCullough a decorative and convincing lounge lizard. The photography is by Arthur Martinelli and the art direction by A. E. Mantz. Joseph Strauss is production manager.

An unusual strong cast appears in support of Hope Hampton in her latest starring vehicle, "Stardust," the First National attraction which will open an engagement of two days at the Lyceum on Sunday.

James Rennie, popular in the spoken drama, the husband of Doris Hampton is her leading man in the role of Thomas Clemons, a struggling young composer.

Miss Hampton herself has the role of Lady Becker, a young woman who goes to New York to launch herself on a musical career, encounters distressing obstacles and meets the composer at a time when she is contemplating suicide.

Noel Tearle, who played the leading male part in "Over the Hill," has the role of the heavy in "Stardust," while Vivia Ogden, who came into prominence through her remarkable characterization—in "Way Down East," has an unusual piece of work to do.

No Danger of Getting Wet in This May Day Shower

There is going to be a regular May Day shower of bargains at the Loken store for one week, as will be seen by the page announcement in another part of The Times today. No one will need an umbrella as protection against this shower but all should carry market baskets so as to be able to carry home as large an assortment of bargains as possible.

This spring sale extends to practically every department in the big store and the price cuts are such as to attract wide attention. It is the season of this year when goods of many kinds are required to meet summer needs and this will provide an excellent opportunity for procuring them at an astonishingly low price.

Miss Rebecca Hunt who visited at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hunt, returned to her home at Red Lake Falls last week.

Mr. Farmer, Are You Interested in a Packing Plant in This City?

You are no doubt interested in a place to dispose of stock which you do not wish to keep. When I was on the farm I looked at this much in the same way that you do now. I thought the butchers should buy more of their meat from the farmers. Now I know why they do not—

I am opening the shop again on Tuesday of next week and expect to handle in the neighborhood of $1,000 worth of meat from the farmers each month. Will be getting our beef from the packing companies for a while until we can get good beef here from the farmers.

You will find it much easier to get rid of your cattle and with more profit to you if you will grain them heavy for a month or more so that the meat will be good and tender. We would like to make arrangements with you to buy your cattle, or some of them, in case you are willing to do this. Of course the amount of meat we use will not compare to the quantity of stock there will be for sale in this county.

I farmed near St. Hilaire last year and last fall had a good many cattle that were in good condition for butchering, so I came to Thief River Falls and tried to dispose of them to the butchers. Two of them promised me they would be down to look at my cattle inside of a week. Well, I went home feeling good, thinking I would sure get rid of some of them. But the week passed by and the butchers did not come. I came again and got the same kind of a promise, but I did not see either of these butchers down there. I got a little disgusted at this so decided I would start up and sell them myself. That was the reason I started up here. Had not been going long until I started buying meat from the farmers. One day I ordered two hogs from a farmer, to be delivered on a certain day. When that day came I saw nothing of him, consequently I was out of pork for over a day. I not only lost profit on the meat but also lost customers by not having what they wanted. A little later on I ordered a fat three-year-old steer which was to be delivered on a certain day. He came with it all right, but it was about the size of a ten-months old calf that had been fed on snow balls. I told him I would not take it at all, even if I could get it for two cents a pound, although I was about out of beef. From the tone of his voice I don't think he liked it very well. Now, I wonder who is to blame for the farmer not being able to dispose of his stock to the butchers? When I was on the farm I thought it was the fault of the butchers, but since I am a butcher—well, I don't know, but I think both are to blame to a certain extent. As for myself, when I think it over I have made promises in the last two years which I have not been able to fulfill as yet. I know if the farmers had a market for their stock here instead of shipping it away, not knowing what they will get for it, they would be more apt to feed their stock and get it in shape so they could realize something on it. When the butcher goes out into the country to buy stock he has to have an extra butcher, who costs him from $20 to $30 per week. Consequently he buys most of his meat from the packing companies. So you can see there is no way of solving this problem unless the farmers and butchers co-operate, and the only way you can get them to co-operate is for them both to buy stock in a small packing plant to be established in Thief River Falls.

I have no way of figuring up what this city and surrounding country is out each year just by not having a small packing plant here but I should judge that the railroad companies, packing houses and commission men get over $100,000 that could just as well be kept here if we only had a plant of this kind. I should judge there is considerable over $200,000 worth of meat used in this city alone each year, besides the lard. Nearly every grocery in town sells lard and most of this is shipped in. Naturally the consumer pays freight two ways on this lard as well as on a majority of the meat they use, and the farmers lose the profit made by packing companies besides the commission paid to commission men for selling their stock in the yards. This could all be done away with if we had a plant here.

You might think it better for the farmers to own this plant alone, but you will find if you can not get the butchers to co-operate with you by buying stock in the plant they naturally will not be so apt to buy all their meats here as they would if they had stock in the plant, and this would mean a great deal toward keeping the plant going. A plant of this kind would also mean a great deal to the consumer so you would no doubt get them interested in it too. As to the bankers, I am sure they would much rather see this money stay in the country than go out and never return; therefore they should be interested.

I think there should be a meeting arranged so that the farmers and people of Thief River Falls can get together and appoint someone to look into this and to get the thing started. I am sure if this thing was pushed we could have a packing plant here in the near future.

No doubt I have said nothing except what you already know, but if it will be a benefit to our farmers and to the city of Thief River Falls, then why not boost it along? I would like to see someone follow this up in next week's paper and make some suggestions as to how you would go about getting the thing started.

WALTER CORBET.

Following the Floods

THE excessive rains of the past month have seriously retarded farming operations. As soon as field work is possible farmers will be busy night and day preparing the ground and seeding the land that they may maintain an adequate food supply for the nation. This year, for the farmer, time is an imperative factor.

More than 140,000 tractors are owned in the 11 Middle Western States served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). These tractors are being overhauled, lubricated, and put in condition to perform essential labor, for which horse power would be totally inadequate.

The number of horse hours per day is limited by the strength of the horse, while the number of motor hours per day is limited only by the number of hours.

During this rush the demand for gasoline will be heavy. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is prepared to supply this demand. Its storage tanks and bulk stations located at strategic points throughout the territory are full. Its supply depots, service stations, and tank wagons are prepared to make Red Crown gasoline instantly accessible to the farmer when his need arises.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) may be depended upon to perform this service adequately—first, because it has provided sufficient field storage to take care of even an abnormal demand. Second, because it maintains distributing facilities which form the most perfect system of its kind.

Only a big organization, big in spirit of enterprise and social service and big in resources, can cope adequately with the growing motor needs of the Middle West. In carrying on its business the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) operates 6 large refineries, 3821 bulk stations, 1521 filling stations, and a fleet of 6600 tank delivery trucks.

It is due to the efficiency of this vast organization that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is able to guarantee that the needs of the farmer for petroleum products will be supplied.

Berve Declines to Become Candidate For State Senate

Editor Times: Dear Sir—May I be permitted to say a word to my friends throughout the 67th Legislative district (Marshall, Roseau and Kittson counties) through the columns of your paper. Having been honored with the endorsement as state Senator for this district, and urgently requested to file, and being unable to accept the candidacy, it is perhaps proper that I make some explanation.

In the first place I wish to thank my friends and the members of the convention for the endorsement, and assure them of my appreciation of the same. I should have liked very much to be able to comply with the request and become a candidate for this office. However, circumstances beyond my control make it impossible for me to become a candidate this year. My work on the farm will take up all my time, and it will be impossible for me to find time for the necessary campaign. In the second place it would be very difficult for me to get away for the Legislative sessions, even should I be elected. Not being in a position to either put up a suitable campaign, nor to take care of the office, if elected, the only course for me is to decline the candidacy, and stay out of the race.

Someone else will of course be selected as our senatorial candidate. I shall do everything in my power to further his candidacy, as well as the candidacy of all our candidates generally. I hope you will give them your vote as well as your active support. Let us show them that we still "stick."

Again thanking my friends for the endorsement offered me, and assuring you all of my appreciation of the same, I am

Yours very truly,
H. O. BERVE.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our thanks to all kind friends and neighbors for their sympathy shown during the illness and death of our beloved daughter and sister. And also for the beautiful flower offerings. And we also wish to thank the Trinity Church Ladies Aid for their sympathy and beautiful flower offerings.

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted in his own behalf by N. J. Anderson, Thief River Falls, Minn., candidate for Register of Deeds. Amount to be paid for each insertion, $5.00.

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I am a candidate for re-election for Register of Deeds of Pennington county. During the years I have served the people of the county as Register of Deeds I have made many friends, but I am not asking support in the present campaign merely by virtue of this friendship. Rather, I would have the voters consider my candidacy on a purely efficiency basis as the only proper method of electing officials to public office. In regard to my fitness for the office of Register of Deeds, both as to honesty and capability, I prefer to rest my case with the people of Pennington county, whom I served in past years.

Yours respectfully,
N. J. ANDERSON.

UNSHAKEN TESTIMONY

Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test in Thief River Falls. No Thief River Falls resident who suffers backache, or annoying urinary ills can remain unconvinced by this twice-told testimony.

H. L. Krogstad, railroad brakeman, 523 State Ave., N., Thief River Falls, gave the following statement Nov. 30, 1917: "When I was living up in the Roaring River district, the hard water disordered my kidneys. Every morning I woke up with a terrible pain through my kidneys and my back became weak and lame. It hurt me to stoop or bend in any way and my kidneys acted irregularly. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they fixed me up in such good shape that I haven't been troubled since."

On Aug. 8, 1921, Mr. Krogstad added: "The cure I received by using Doan's Kidney Pills has been a permanent one. I sure think Doan's are a good remedy and I gladly confirm my former statement."

Senior Day.

Senior day, which has come to be regarded as one of the red letter days on the school calendar of Lincoln high and is looked forward to by students of that institution with almost as much anticipation as graduation day, was commemorated by the class of 1922 last Friday, May 5.

The seniors, outfitted in regalia attire, took charge of the assembly the first two periods in the morning, and after announcing that the first period classes would not pass that morning, proceeded to render a program that was as varied, colorful, and awe-aspiring as the costumes of the entertainers.

The Great Alexander Gives Address of Welcome.

After a few blasts of martial music from the senior orchestra, William James Alexander, serving as officer-of-the-day, stated briefly the significance of this memorable day in the following simple but expressive words: "Friends, faculty and lower classmen: We are gathered here this morning in commemoration of an annual day in high school history, Senior Day. This is the day when there should be but one word on the lips of all students loyal to Lincoln high, and that word is Senior! We have been looking forward to this day for four years and after studying the Sears and Roebuck catalog in that length of time so as to appear in the height of fashion we are here. Look us over!

"We could speak long and loud of the heart-breaking parting of ourselves and our teachers. We hate to think of losing our dear friends and advisors as we go out into the world to dig sewers, teach the little heathens, or follow up any other of the various occupations. We go forth filled and crammed with supposed knowledge and bluff. of bluff all are made, all except of course a few such notables as Bertha Hastad, Johanna Weldul, and Clarence Rice.

Before our program is over you will learn of the great future we have prepared for them. This morning and today we settle up all our debts and carry with us, besides our diplomas, receipts of paid in full. We will even up all scores and glory in the revenge that is ours. We know that our seats back there will be filled with an able class next year. Such men and women as Woodrow W. Mellum, Benjamin Lonson, Abraham Stitt and George Halverson and such women as Betsy Ross Curtis, Mme. Curie Dahlen and Lena Volstead Arneson, besides the countless others, cannot be equalled in any other class outside of our lofty group of individuals. We wish to call to your mind the motto of Emmet Shanahan and often he is heard to exclaim: 'Watch me and my freshmen grow.'

"We have imparted our best manners to the other classes by way of example. Conscious of our responsibility, we endeavored at all times to do our best. The good book says 'As ye sow, that shall ye reap'; and as true as the word, Clarence Smith, our worthy junior friend, reports that after visiting his farm on the corner of Bridge and Markley that his crop of wild oats is getting along better than expected.

"Speaking of vanity and egoism: they say it affects us but let me prove to you there are others affected worse than ourselves. A short time ago the juniors had a beauty contest and Guy Oftelie was elected the Wallace Reid of the class. One morning someone caught Guy in the act of drinking a glass of hot water. On seeing his observer, Guy remarked, 'Always drink hot water for your complexion. Look at me. Remember how homely I used to be? Well, look how good-looking I am now.'

"History repeats itself. Think of our class and our King John of Hendry, Benedict Arnold, Alexander the Great, Anne of Boleyn, Antonson and David Evenson, undoubtedly the greatest impersonator of Fatty Arbuckle on the face of the earth. Not to mention Caruso as the junior member of the Boy's glee club.

"But again the sophomores arise to compete with us in our claim on historical characters. But so they will not grieve, we will hereby give honorable mention to Herbert Keene, commander of the Swedish artillery, John Sether, cave man (ask Cammille Warner) the company of Sorenson and Haugen incorporated as Lenine and Trotsky, the Russian plotters.

"We extend to the various classes our heart-felt thanks. To the freshmen for their respect, to the sophomores for the hearty laughs we have gained at the expense of their snobbish actions, and the juniors for their banquet and the beautiful floral offerings. We also thank members of the faculty for the donated credits that were in most cases most necessary for the graduation.

"We are thankful to Mr. Simley for giving us but a general talking to after one of our illicit ravages in the school building during the night.

"We are thankful to Mr. Rapacz for sending letters to our parents to help spur us on to heights sublime—graduation. Not to mention telephone inquiries and other dead 'give aways.'

"We will close without mentioning Toby Holmgren. We leave that article of debate to next year's class."

Deafening applause followed this scholarly oration, until it was announced that the next number on the program would be music by a mixed quartet, whom we recognized in spite of their stage costumes to be Nora Lindquist, David Evenson, Helen Warner, and Herschel Hanson. The costumes were effective, but their singing was not especially praiseworthy.

Musty Dusts the Einstein Stuff.

"Musty" Bischoff gave a brilliant discussed on relativety that showed much preperation and genius, but as we realize that the numerous scientific terms, the extra-ordinary English used, and the inter-mixture of foreign languages might be difficult for the type-setters of the "Progress" we refrain from publishing the text in full. The seniors all joined in songs of praise after Mr. Bischoff's masterly oration.

The Loyal Arnold Pronounces Benediction.

It is customary for the seniors to proclaim their Class Will on this occasion. Loyal Arnold, acting as spokesman for the class, made the following bequests:

"First, but not least, we give all of Clarence Rice's highly developed brains to Ole Helle and it is our earnest wish that he will make use of them so as not to disgrace our only highly honored boy in the class of '22.

"Loyd Alnes, as you know, is a great diplomat. We leave all his ability in that line to Math Barzen who is in need of something of this sort at the present time in his affair with Eileen."

"To the juniors we give our basket-ball ability and we hope that they profit by it.

"We bequeath to Charles Herron, Fred Paulson's most innocent poker face.

"To Steve Arneson we give Milton Larson's experience as an editor. With this help he ought to be able to put out a good paper, namely, the "Goodrich Review."

"To Katherine Barzen we leave Lizzie Johnson's motto which is "Never been late yet."

"John Hendry leaves all his extra credits to Lorraine Crandall and Lydia Dahlen. They can divide them any way they want to as long as they don't fight.

"We bequeath to Clara Eugen all of Lillian Knight's quiet peaceful manner.

"Herschel Hanson leaves his good looks to Milford Leppagord LaBree who no doubt will get the championship now held by Guy Oftelie.

"Terrible 'Wop' Ralson leaves his hard-boiled looks and ways to Clarence Smith.

"We give Paul Helseth's scientific course to anyone that wants it. He did want it himself, but now he don't and he never wants to see it again.

"To all the girls of the high school—the teachers included—William DeParcq modestly leaves his picture in the annual for all love-sick girls to cut out and keep in memory.

"William McGinnity bequeaths to Guy Oftelie his recipe for hair oil. Call at his office, Guy.

"To Oliver Lonson we leave Helen Langseth's place in the Boy's glee club. We hope that Olive succeeds.

"As Nora Lindquist will not be back next year, she leaves her place beside Leland Knight to any good-looking girl in high school as long as she is not in town. Girls, put your applications in to Nora today.

"To Camille Warner we leave Ruby Bennes' seat and we ask as a special favor that Carl St. Onge be given a seat near by.

"To Kermit Anderson we give the re-inforcement iron will of Musty Bischoff, also Musty's motto which is "If you can't vamp the first one, try another one."

"We give to Margaret Melgaard the vamping ways of Lillian Knight because—well, that is just what Margaret wants.

"Edgar Longren leaves his ability to get Mrs. Korstad peeved at him to Howard Doland.

"We bequeath to Esther Bennes all her sister's vamping powers and we hope she continues where Ruby left off when she graduates.

"Otto Saugen has asked special permission to wink at Sybil McGinn. Go ahead, Otto, you have the consent of the seniors, but—be careful.

"To Albert Stengelsen we leave Gregory Werstlein's luxurente red hair which has been his chief asset in vamping all the girls.

"To Adlynne and Steve we leave Sybil's and Musty's ability to fight. We hope for the best.

"Myrtle Myrum leaves all her mental ability to Myrtle Helgeland and she sincerely wishes that Myrtle H. will uphold her honor in the future.

"To "Hank" Mellum we leave August Langseth's ability to make bad breaks with the girls and get away with it.

"Fat" Evenson leaves all his knowledge about talking thru the air without wires to Allison Stitt and Bert Umland.

"William DeParcq leaves his experience at skipping school to a student who has never had that experience, Stanley Sorenson.

"To Kenneth Streeter we leave over his laughter.

"To Carl St. Onge we leave Miss Chamberlain's book entitled "How to act in the dark." Here's hoping you will study it, Carl, and follow its instructions carefully in the future.

"Rudy Rice leaves something to the Irishman at the head of the freshman class. Guess what it is.

Pearl Shetler bequeathes her map of Goodridge to Adlynne LaBree. Take it along, will you, when you go there with the "editor" so you won't get lost in the large city.

"Johanna Wedul was the best president we had this year. She leaves her ability in that line to Craig Halverson.

"To anyone who wants them, we leave Bertha Aaseby's tricks that she plays in school.

"To all who were favored with direct gifts we dedicate a half day vacation. Senior Class of 1922."

Nora Prophesies.

Next on the program was the Class Prophecy, read by Nora Lindquist: "One beautiful afternoon in May, 1922, I was induced very much against my will to skip school by the mischevious coaxing of Sabina Parenteau. We went down to Lover's Lane to spend the time beside the beautiful river. The minutes flew rapidly, as we were quietly enjoying ourselves, trying to study American History at times so as not to waste the whole afternoon.

"But of a sudden a dark cloud loomed on the horizon. We dropped our books in terror as the coal-black locks and fiery eyes of Mr. I. T. Simley advanced furiously upon us. Sabina managed to get away, but I crouched behind a tree to hide when the tree caved in and I fell into a deep pit and fainted. All this happened 30 years ago and all about me I find all the change that time has wrought. Much to my surprise I learned that—

"The prosperous Loyd Alnes is the D. W. Griffith of the movie industry.

"Clarence Rice, as handsome as ever, is still on the honor roll of life as a professor at Oxford.

"David Evenson is president of the Minneapolis Athletic Club, having charge of all classes in reducing.

"Sybil McGinn, the old and gray, is teaching school south of Hazel, while her pal, Helen Langseth, has taken up farming at Warren.

"Gregory Werstlein is editor of the Goodridge Banner.

"Nora Lindquist has started a new matrimonial organization called "Twilight Knights."

"Bertha Hastad was elected school librarian at the 1924 school election.

"Our charming Bessie Elofson has finally secured a position as stenographer for the Thief River Hide and Fur Co. It is rumored that she and Mr. Donald Fiterman, president of the firm, were to be united in wedlock.

"Helen Warner has been promoted to park superintendant at Lover's Lane.

"August Langseth and Loyal Arnold have retired from the stage and are building canoes for the White Star line.

"William Alexander, Paul Helseth, and Lillian Knight have discarded their Fords and are now driving Cadillacs. Seems as though they aren't quite as generous with their car-rides now.

"Ruby Bennes runs a barber shop at Holt with Kermit Anderson as gentleman assistant.

"Pearl Shelter is playing base ball with the New York Giantesses.

"Grace Craik has wielded the rolling pin for the last 19 years for the housekeeping firm of B. H. Bischoff who has lost his former adoration of black-haired girls.

"Herschel Hanson is holding down a job as stump orator for the Salvation Army.

"Rudy Rice, the great saxophonist, is now touring Europe.

"Forrest Ralston is making use of his excellent basket-ball training heaving bricks in the Irish revolution.

"Edgar Longren is still raising eye-brows and speaking of stills that Milton Larson is running big business.

"Louise Besancon is toe-dancing for a living.

"Fred Paulson and Ruby Ness have united for bad or for worse, but things can go worse.

"Emma Johnson is serving 30 days for husband beating. Poor John Hendry!

"Mildred Loftness is proprietor of a beauty shop in connection with Martha Falness' manicure parlors.

"Anna Antonson is running Black's Sweet Shop on Crocker ave. N.

"Handsome William DeParcq is making good use of his extensive education, being secretary to Superintendent M. P. Rapacz.

"I have not mentioned some of the old class-mates, not because I have forgotten them but because I have been unable to reach them for an interview."

The Faculty is Much Gifted.

Next came the presentation. The members of the faculty were presented with the following useful or ornamental tokens of remembrances: Mr. Simley, hair tonic; Mr. Rapacz, pamphlet on "How to be a detective"; Miss Chamberlain, hair-pins; Miss Hellman, sugar lump; Miss Stebbins, hair net; Mr. Powley, can talcum powder; Mr Stenhoff, gaurdianship of Cleon Bottleson; Miss Webster, auto grease; Miss Soule, rolling-pin; Miss Leavitt, pamphlet "How to conduct a library"; Miss Perry, matrimonial magazine; Mrs. Dahl, pamphlet "How to be happy the married"; Mr. Jardine, set miniature carpenter tools; Miss Richter, picture of Gregory Werstlein; Miss Stampleton, notebook; Miss Gormely, sciology book; Miss Stavig, herring, Mrs. Korstad, six blue cards; and Miss Maude Johnson, jews-harp.

High School Faculty Holds Meeting.

A mock rehearsel showing the trials and tribulations the faculty come up against at the teacher's meetings concluded the program at the high school. After parading around town to show themselves and their ingenious costumes, the seniors went to Aubol's grove for a picnic lunch, where they spent the afternoon. Several of them, accompanied by their class advisors, Miss Chamberlain, motored to Red Lake Falls to see the class play given that evening by the senior class of the Red Lake Falls high school.

State Exams.

Three weeks left of school before the dreaded examinations arrive and on every hand we find students and teachers alike preparing for that time. The work of the past eight months is being gone over in review; old geometry propositions are studied; forgotten dates of Ancient History are re-learned; all our work is organized and systematized to be ready when needed.

From all sides comes anxious queries as to what the state tests will cover; every one's thought seems to be centered on that topic. It is quite evident that we are learning simply to know that the State Board of Examiners see fit to ask. Are the credits earned here of such vast value that nine months of time are well spent earning them? Is the final examination the sole end for which we have striven? No! And a thousand times No! They are given just to find out whether any particular student has done enough work in school to entitle him to be graduated.

The state tests are more incidents in our school career; let us treat them as such, and give them no more importance than they deserve.

The Prowler of 1922.

It is not too late yet to subscribe for the annual. This information will be of interest to those who wish to secure copies but failed to subscribe last fall while the subscription campaign was being carried on.

Due to the great expense of printing the "Prowler," very few extra copies were ordered. The class of 1922 do not want to take any chances on having any surplus on their hands which would mean a loss.

Anyone wishing for any one of these extra copies is requested to place an order at once with Lloyd Alnes, business manager.

Ella Johnson Called Home.

On Thursday morning at eleven o'clock occurred the death of Ella Johnson, a member of the Sophomore class. She had been under the doctor's care for four weeks and had undergone three operations. There were great hopes for her recovery until the last two days before her death.

Funeral services were held at the Trinity Lutheran Church Saturday afternoon, Rev. T. E. Sweger officiating. There was a large attendance from the high school, especially from the sophomore class. The students assembled at the high school and went in a body to the church. Six of the sophomore boys were active pall bearers and six sophomore girls were honorary pall bearers. The remains were taken to the Melo Church, near Ella's home, where Sunday afternoon services were held and burial was made. Many beautiful floral offerings testified to the large circle of friends that Ella had made.

Ella was a very ambitious girl both in and out of school. She had been on the honor roll nearly every six weeks which shows her ambition and her ability. She was of a cheerful disposition and will be greatly missed both at school and in her home.

Gladys Kolden '24.

Prospectus and an Appeal.

The end of the school year draws near; soon books and lessons will be off our minds until September comes around again; but, even though it seems unnecessary to some, it behooves us to look beyond today that we may prepare for tomorrw.

the future is given all too scant attention by most of us; ask the average high school student what studies he intends to take next year and he will probably answer indifferently "Whatever is easiest." Is such a person preparing himself for tomorrow? Has he some definite goal in mind or is he just drifting along, trusting to the current to bring him where he would go? Let him beware of the undertow.

For the one who actually is aiming at something, high school offers a choice of studies which help one to achieve success in his or her particular line of work. One thing which is almost invaluable in any activity is the ability to put one's ideas into concrete and logical form for the benefit of others. No man is absolutely independent; he must rely upon others to furnish him employment, or to buy his product. Since communication with others is a necessary part of his work, it would be exceedingly valuable for him to have these as direct and forceful as possible. Learning to make them so, whether oral or written, should be a part of our high school course—and yet the two studies, Journalism and Public Speaking, which, more than any other, teach these very things, have been dropped from Lincoln High. Why? Probably from a necessary spirit of economy. But would it not have been better to have eliminated some of the far less practical studies which are continued in high school?

Various opinions as to the desirability of the different studies may be brought forth; in the writer's opinion, the above named subjects—Journalism and Public Speaking—are worthy of, and ought to have, a place in every high school. May we have them next year?

Free Vacation.

Each summer the United States Government conducts a series of Citizens' Military Training Camps without any expense to those who desire to take the training. For this district the camp will be held at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, during the month of August. All young men, physically fit, between the ages of seventeen and thirty-five years are eligible. Thus far each year there have been many more applicants than could be accommodated, and for that reason all who are interested should apply early.

Application blanks and further information can be secured from me at any time.

M. P. Rapacz, 2nd Lieu. O. R. C.

"Around Lincoln High."

Right under Clarence Rice's picture in the "Hall of Fame" the seniors are hanging their latest member of this organization. He is Loyal Arnold who is on the honor roll and so deserves a place in the "Hall."

And didn't David Evenson make a swell looking girl though?

William and Helen are "just chums" again so there is "peace and quietness" once more in our school.

Mr. Harner asked Carl St. Onge if copper was found in the free state and Carl, who has studied, informed the Chemistry teacher that it was found in the United States. Camille Warner claims that is the best joke of the year.

If the converse of the old saying is true, "Lucky at cards, unlucky at love" we'd sure hate to play a game against Math Barzen, Junior,—'24.

Now is the time of the school year when the young fellows like Albert Stengelson are wondering whether or not they are going to make their credits.

The senior day program was so good that most of the freshmen thought it was a class play.

Nora Lindquist says she thinks it must have been nice to have lived "in days of old when knights were bold," etc. Nora always poetic.

In sociology, the class is learning about conservation of animal life and every Friday afternoon some of the students spend a few hours feeding the fish in the river. The fish will have to wait until a year from now on.

Just because you don't hear much about our next foot-ball team, don't think we aren't going to have one. This is the statement of "Rusty" Anderson, the captain elect. He's right, just watch us next fall.

"Monty" Shanahan asserts that if the baskets weren't so far from the floor, he'd go out for basket-ball next year.

We want to mention it again, so you won't forget it—Loyal Arnold is on the honor roll. First Senior boy for a long time. It's an honor.

Margaret Melgaard is still looking "sideways" at the Senior boys,—just the same as she did the first of the year.

Doesn't it seem funny when you think of things? For example—Senior Day only comes once a year and blue skies come every day.

Coming—The fight of the season between Cliff Sorenson and Carl St. Onge. Get your tickets from "Camille Warner."

"Toby" Holmgren has written another poem with the able, efficient help of Ruth McGilvrey. Look for it in the next issue of the "Progress". Mr. Holmgren and Miss McGilvrey think this poem is even better than the last one, which was called "Spring Time". Remember—The next issue of "The Progress."

We were all pleased to notice that Kermit was not "peeved" at Ruby last Monday after Senior Day. Your'e improving, Kermit.

Some of the boys have got up a new society. The present members are Gregory Werstlein, Russel Anderson, Keith Craig, Allison Stitt and Albert Stengelson. On their secret badges are the letters R. E. D. Wonder what it's all about anyway.

"In conclusion we wish to say" don't forget the Senior Class Play. This isn't poetry—It's "advertising pays."

A. Gust—'22.

Sophomore Play.

A very interesting and entertaining program was given at the high school auditorium by the sophomore class last Monday evening, May 8. The program consisted of piano solos by Herbert Keene, Alice Mulry, and Palma Langseth, and the feature number, a one-act comedy entitled "Local and Long Distance."

This play shows a young man just home from college, with a broken leg. His mother has one of the two private telephones in the village, and the young man, George Davis, is exasperated by frequent visits by neighbors who wish to use the phone. In despair, George orders the telephone company to disconnect his phone at six o'clock. At six o'clock George is talking over the phone to a young lady whose acquaintance he has just formed and wishes to cultivate, when suddenly he finds that his line has been disconnected. The play is full of humorous incidents.

Melvin Engelstad, as George Davis, played the leading role, with Reva Kimbrough, Harriet Morgan, Esther Dunsetter, Annie Gustin, Hazel Krause, Gladys Kolden, and Camille Warner as minor characters. Quite a large audience was in attendance and the ticket receipts were very satisfactory.

The sophomores and their class advisor, Miss Leavitt, are to be congratulated upon the success of their entertainment.

Joint Concert.

Music lovers of the high school and the city are unanimous in voicing their delight over the joint concert given at the high school auditorium on the evening of May 2, by the Boy's and Girls Glee Clubs and the high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Johnson.

These organizations have been having weekly practices all year, and the students were eager to know just what degree of musical ability is possessed by their talented classmates. The manner in which the following program was rendered justifys to the satisfaction of all the work done by Miss Johnson with the high school's musical organizations.

"Roll Away" — Tracy
"When Dawning Spring Time" — Boys' Glee Club
"Melody of Love" — Engelman

FARM BUREAU VOTE ON STOCKYARD LAW

Statewide Referendum Launched on Bill to Prevent Abolition of Public Weighing.

The Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, which last year polled the largest number of farmer votes in the American Farm Bureau's referendum on proposed federal legislation, is taking another referendum.

It has asked the presidents, secretaries and state directors of all county farm bureaus to express their opinion about a bill recently introduced in congress to amend the new federal act regulating packers and stockyards. The bill has been drawn up to prevent the abolition of public weighing of livestock at the South St. Paul market under the supervision of the state railroad and warehouse commission. The federal act supersedes all state regulation.

Under the state law, weighing of livestock has been done by the state commission, and commission companies have been bonded to protect the shippers. An amendment to the federal law now has been introduced in congress to guarantee the continuance of this supervision by the state government, and hearings on the amendment have been scheduled.

The state farm bureau has asked the elected officials of county farm bureaus to ascertain the opinion of their members as quickly as possible and report to their state organization. The result of this referendum will be laid before congress when hearings on the proposed amendment begin.

OUTCOME WITH HENS DEPENDS LARGELY ON SPRING MANAGEMENT

Instructions For Care of Hatching Birds Given Out By Experts at Northwest School of Agriculture.

This is the time when hens and chickens occupy the center of interest with a great many people. The Northwest Experiment Station, at Crookston, has distributed a great many settings of eggs. According to the poultryman there are certain fundamental ideas that must be kept in mind in order to secure successful results.

In the first place poultry houses should be so planned as to give an abundance of fresh air and sunlight, which is required by the breeding birds. It should be kept as sanitary as possible. The roosts should be kerosened twice a month for mites and the hens dusted with sodium fluoride for lice.

Breeding birds should never be crowded, as it will prevent some of them from getting sufficient exercise and sunlight and will increase the tendency to disease and parasites. The feed for the breeding birds must contain an abundance of nutrients such as protein, fat, carbohydrates, mineral matter and water. Any lack of these will increase the egg yield and the chances of fertility. Protein in the form of a high grade beef scrap is invaluable for degree of fertility as well as increasing the egg yields.

Green food is a necessity for increasing fertility and egg production. As soon as the weather is warm, the birds should be given free range, since this will supply them with succulent food and they will be able to pick up part of their ration in the form of insects and waste seeds. Thus, freedom of range will reduce the amount of feed required and will keep the birds in excellent health.

The eggs should be sorted and all odd shapes, sizes and colors disposed of. Extremely dirty or thin shelled eggs should never be used for hatching as eggs of unsuitable type would produce weak chicks. After the hatching eggs are sorted out they should be stored in a room with a temperature of 50 degrees. The embryo in the egg begins to develop at a temperature of 70 degrees, but if this temperature is not maintained it immediately dies. This fact accounts for the high percentage of infertile eggs, when during the cold weather eggs are placed behind the stove or in a warm room.

If the eggs are kept for three days or more before setting, they should be turned once a day. If the egg is left in one position for a considerable time the yolk will come in close contact with the shell and if not turned it may become attached, thus destroying the germ. The air cell will also assume an abnormal position if not turned regularly. As the fluid in an egg has a tendency to settle and the air to rise, this will lower the fertility of the eggs. One should never attempt to keep eggs for hatching over a week as age has a tendency to weaken the germ, thus causing a poor hatch. Eggs set within three days after being laid will yield the highest percentage of chicks; also the strongest.

FARMERS' OWN FIRM WILL MARKET EGGS ALONG WITH BUTTER

State Creameries Association Starts Move Which Will Mean Cheaper Distribution and Better Prices For Producers.

The thousands of Minnesota farm women who raise chickens will be especially interested in a co-operative marketing conference taking place in St. Paul on April 28 and 29.

This conference will make plans for the co-operative marketing of eggs through the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, Inc. The directors of the creamery association and the nine expert field men employed in its various marketing districts, will take part in the meeting, which will be held in the Old Capitol.

Plans will be outlined by a special committee on co-operative egg marketing, made up of William Harpel of Glencoe, John Brandt of Litchfield, Henry Arens of Jordan, and C. L. McNelly of Dodge Center. N. E. Chapman, poultry specialist of the University extension service, will lead discussions.

Large consignments of eggs already are being marketed through the statewide creameries association. They are included in carload lots of butter and shipped through to the eastern markets at carlot rates with a considerable saving. The creameries association will have the co-operation and backing of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation and the county farm bureaus in egg marketing.

U. S. Boys Serving With Allies Shown Preference

Under a ruling of the United States civil service commission, citizens of the United States who served in the forces of the Allies during the World war will be given preference in appointments to civil service positions. Heretofore, the preference has extended only to those who served in the American forces, to their widows and to their wives under certain conditions.

In authorizing this extension of the preference, the civil service commission states that consideration is given to the fact that service in the forces of the Allies was in a common cause, and for a considerable time under a common commander-in-chief; that is, after March 29, 1918, when Marchal Foch was placed in command of all the allied forces.

Put Hand on Girl's Knee; Women Would Acquit Him

The case of the state against Henry Mellus, where the defendant is charged with having put his hand on a girl's knee while riding in an automobile after a dance at Pitt, was continued over at the request of County Attorney Torrance, late Friday afternoon, says the Spooner News.

The case was first tried in February and the jury stood six to six all night, the two women on the jury voting consistently for acquittal.

The second trial last week took all of Wednesday and Thursday, six women serving on the jury, and the vote was the same, two women being for the not guilty verdict along with four men.

As there was no chance to secure an agreement, Judge Wright discharged the jury.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume 12. $2.00 a Year Thief River Falls, Minnesota, Thursday, May 18, 1922 Number 15

ASK THAT 1,000 TONS NEW FUEL BE SOLD HERE

This is Requirement For Location of First Peat Briquetting Plant in City.

Will Supply Product at $12.00 Per Ton or Less to Those Subscribing to Fund.

Money Goes to Pay Cost of Erecting Experimental Plant Here—Ready to Start.

Are the people of Thief River Falls sufficiently interested in the development of peat as a fuel to buy 1,000 tons of the product at a price not to exceed $12 a ton in order to secure the location of a briquetting plant here?

If they are willing to do this, a plant capable of turning out 20 tons of fuel per day will at once be shipped here and operations begun as soon as it is set up.

Above is the gist of a letter received this week by Mayor John Bratrud and H. W. Protzeller. The plant would at once begin producing the fuel, which is a combination of peat and lignite coal, and as soon as a sufficient amount has been turned out by this experimental plant to convince everyone of its value, the company pledges itself to erect, without further investment on the part of the people here, a plant capable of briquetting 200 tons per day.

The matter will be taken up at the noon meeting of the Commercial club today and every detail connected with the offer thoroughly gone over. There is no doubt but that the men at the head of this enterprise have a product that will in a very short time create a sensation in fuel circles. F. W. McLean, exclusive lessee under the original patents, has turned over to Mr. Protzeller copies of the analysis of this fuel made by the Northern States Power company of St. Paul, the Northwestern Railway company at its Chicago laboratory, and by Professor Babcock, dean of the school of mines, university of North Dakota. These analysis agree so closely in all essential details that there is no possibility of doubting the deductions. It is proven that the product produced through a combination of peat and lignite results in a commercial, marketable fuel better than any bituminous coal for all heating purposes and equal to anthracite coal. The manufacturers stand willing to demonstrate that their 10,000 B. T. U. (British Thermal Units) per pound, will equal the 12,000 to 14,000 B. T. U. of anthracite simply because there is no "stack waste" in the new product, while this represents a large loss even in the very best grades of anthracite.

May Mean Big Thing.

Mr. McLean points out that the location of the plant at Thief River Falls will make the city the headquarters of this peat fuel development which is certain to come in the near-future. This fact, according to Mr. McLean, is bound to bring to the city other smaller industries anxious to locate where there is a cheap and reliable fuel supply. It would also mean the utilization of what is now a waste product, and the engagement of a large number of men directly at the converting plants.

Will Control Own Money.

In order that it shall be fully proven that there is no "fake" promotion scheme connected with this offer it is provided that the money raised in Thief River Falls shall remain in the custody of the subscribers and only paid out upon orders signed by Mr. Protzeller and Mr. Bratrud, these gentlemen acting jointly for both parties to the agreement. Mr. McLean and associates will not handle a dollar of this sum, simply stipulating that it be utilized in meeting the expense of erecting the demonstration plant with which to begin turning out the product. That they are ready to go ahead without delay is indicated by the fact that June 1 is set as the date for having he plant in operation. The machinery is now at St. Paul and ready to be shipped to Thief River Falls on short notice.

Personally Favored Fargo.

Mr. McLean admits that he favored Fargo as the place at which to establish the experimental plant, but associates more familiar with the natural advantages of Thief River Falls succeeded in winning him over and he is now satisfied that this city is the logical location.

Mr. McLean was formerly an officer in the Federal Land bank, St. Paul, resigning to give his entire time to this project. Associated with him is H. K. Jennings, secretary of the same bank; Prof. Henry Hinshaw, the patentee of the process, and a number of St. Paul and North Dakota capitalists.

Wins $500 Heifer Offered as Prize at Guernsey Sale

Perry N. Johnson, of Burr Oaks farms, Thief River Falls, becomes the owner of the Guernsey heifer valued at $500, offered by Jean DuLuth farms to the person who guessed the nearest to the figure at which the world's champion cow of this breed, Jean DuLuth Coronet, would sell at the western national Guernsey sale held at Wheaton, Ill., recently. Mr. Johnson's guess was one of several hundred submitted and he figured the animal would bring $8,500. She was sold for $8,375, at which price she was purchased by Mr. St. Amant, of Massachusetts. Four thousand dollars was offered at the sale for a half interest in her first bull calf.

Jean DuLuth Coronet sold for the highest sum paid for a cow of any breed so far this year. The next highest animal was Lone Pine Luxury, which went to Walter Dupee, of California, for $3,500. Sixty-five Gurnseys sold at this sale at an average price of $873. This is $70 per head more than was paid at the Holstein sale held at Brentwood Farms, Philadelphia.

IHLE WILL TRY FOR SHERIFF; PETERSON OUT FOR REGISTER

Nick Bundhund Also Gets Into Game, Going After Office of County Treasurer.

While it is now very evident that there is to be but little excitement over the primary choice for candidates on the state ticket, the same cannot be said of the situation in Pennington county. It begins to look as if there would be plenty of interest previous to the preliminaries in June and some nice, lively battles before the thing is finally settled next November.

Three filings of more than the usual interest were made this week. The first to shy hit hat into the ring was Nick Bundhund of Goodridge, who will contest for the county treasurership with John Gullingsrud. Mr. Bundhund has long been a resident of the county and has a wide acquaintance, particularly in the eastern section. He was until recently cashier of the Goodridge State bank. There are only two filings for this post up to date.

Oscar J. Peterson of Smiley township, chairman of the board of county commissioners, has decided to try for the nomination of register of deeds, making five aspirants for the post, the other four being N. J. Anderson, the present incumbent; Elmer F. Ohm of Thief River Falls, Fred Lorentson of Black River township, and W. A. Swanson of Rhoda.

Mr. Peterson homesteaded his farm in Smiley township in 1904, and served for a time on the town board. He has been a member of the board of county commissioners for eight years and chairman five years. He is also a veteran of the Spanish-American war, having been a member of the 15th Minnesota volunteers.

Ole L. Ihle, for some years a member of the city council and former president of that body, on Tuesday filed as a candidate for sheriff. Mr. Ihle has a considerable following in both city and country and will add interest to a race in which there were two candidates before him—W. J. LaBree, present sheriff, and A. W. Crown, an ex-service man.

While it would seem as if the number of those seeking public preferment is already sufficiently great, it is given out as a certainty that more filings will be presented before the records close on Saturday, May 27.

Buy 750-Gallon Flusher For Cleaning Pavement

The city council on Tuesday evening purchased a Studebaker horse-drawn street flusher through G. C. Streeter of the Peoples Auto Co. The machine has been rebuilt and was secured at a cost of $950. It has a capacity of 750 gallons and operates under a pressure of 60 pounds. Mr. Streeter guarantees the machine to satisfactorily do the work required and agreed to its use for two weeks before payment is made. The representative of a concern manufacturing street sweepers was also present and tried to interest the council in his machine, claiming that flushers were being discarded in many cities, but the councilmen recently made an investigation of the subject and decided that a horse-drawn flusher will provide the most satisfactory service for this city.

Albert Coyle Dead After Short Residence in West

Albert Coyle, who for some years previous to last fall conducted the East Side dairy in this city, died at Longmont, Col., last week after a short illness. Mr. Coyle left for the West immediately after disposing of his property here to Anton Myron, and joined his family in Colorado, to which state they had preceeded him in the hope that Mrs. Coyle's health might be benefitted. According to the reports received here Coyle died after an operation for cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Coyle's condition is also said to be serious.

Elected to High Office.

H. C. Durrin of this city was elected to the office of associate grand patron at the annual convention of the Grand Chapter Order of the Eastern Star, held at Minneapolis last week. This is the second highest office in the order to which a man is eligible and is regarded as a great honor both for the party elected and the chapter represented by him.

Well Known Banker, Father of Mrs. W. A. Barnard, Dead

Norman Hanson, father of Mrs. W. A. Barnard of this city, president of the First State bank of Fertile and one of the best-known business men in this section of the state, died at a Crookston hospital Monday afternoon, death being caused by leakage of the heart. The funeral will be held at Fertile Friday afternoon.

Mr. Hanson was born in Iowa, in 1857 and came to the Red River valley in 1881, settling first at Glyndon. After a short residence in that village he went to Ada where he was engaged as manager of a large mercantile business. In 1887 the family moved to Fertile where Mr. Hanson became a member of the banking firm of W. H. Mathews & Co., this institution being later incorporated as the First State bank with Mr. Hanson as president, a position he held continually for 34 years. He was also interested in banks in North Dakota and Montana.

The dead banker took an active interest in all public affairs, was mayor of Fertile for a number of years and member of the school and fair boards. He is survived by his wife, and two daughters besides Mrs. Barnard; Miss Norma, who is a student at the University of Minnesota, and Miss Lola who attends school at Fertile; three sons, Elmer B., cashier of the First State Bank of Fertile; Lloyd V., of the Scobey, Mont., bank, and Orvis, attending high school.

CITY SURE TO HAVE ONE CANDIDATE ON JUDICIAL BALLOT

Keen Interest in Judgeship Election Indicated Throughout 14th District.

Judging from the present outlook the greatest interest in the coming election in this section will center on the selection of judges in the Fourteenth judical district. The filing of Judge J. M. Bishop of this city made five candidates and of these four will appear on the final ballot for the general election. At least one of the four will be a candidate hailing from Thief River Falls.

All other things being equal, it is freely admitted by people in nearly every part of the district that as a matter of convenience if nothing else it would be an advantage to have one of the judges of the Fourteenth district located at Thief River Falls. This city is easily reached by nine-tenths of the residents of the district. Red Lake, Roseau, Mahnomen and the eastern two-thirds of Marshall and Kittson counties particularly are in direct communication by rail and highway with the Pennington county seat. This is one of the reasons why a great deal of interest is taken in the candidates on a judical ticket from Thief River Falls.

ELECT HUNTINGTON TO PRESIDENCY OF GREAT SOO SYSTEM

Man in Whose Honor This County Was Named, Retires After Long Service.

Resignation of Edmund Pennington from the presidency of the Soo line was accepted Tuesday by the board of directors at its annual meeting, and George R. Huntington, vice president and general manager, a Soo line veteran of 34 years' service, was elected to succeed him. Mr. Pennington was elected chairman of the board of directors, a newly created position. George W. Webster, who has been assistant to the president for two years, was elected to succeed Mr. Huntington as the vice president. The directors made no other change.

The 35 years of Soo service is part of 53 years' active railroad work by Mr. Pennington. For 35 years, with the exception of a week of sickness and trips away from Minneapolis on company business, Mr. Pennington has been at his office every day, including Sunday.

Mr. Pennington entered railroad service in 1869 with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. He came to the Soo line in 1887 as superintendent. In 1898 he became general superintendent and in 1899 general manager. In September, 1901, he became second vice president and general manager; in 1905 vice president and in 1909, following the death of Thomas Lowry, he became president.

Mr. Huntington began his railroad career as messenger boy with the Milwaukee railroad. He became train dispatcher when only a boy and came to the Soo in 1888 as a train dispatcher. He subsequently became chief dispatcher and in 1899 was made superintendent of a division.

Pennington county was named in honor of the retiring president of the Soo, this being the only Minnesota county named after a man still living.

Fined For Speeding.

Ronald Larson is the only offender against the traffic law to get the hard look from Judge Tarrant this week. He was fined the customary $12.50 for stepping too hard on the gas in the city limits.

TAX ABSTRACT SHOWS COST OF RUNNING CITY

Rate Paid in Thief River Falls Compares Favorably With Other Municipalities.

Average For Towns of State is 29.39 Mills, Not Counting Educational Costs.

School Tax Heavy But Others Are Facing Same Situation in Even Greater Degree.

An abstract of the annual report of the Minnesota Tax Commission, showing the valuation, rate and per capital tax for cities and villages has just come to hand and contains matter for some very interesting comparisons. It shows that while the taxes in Thief River Falls are somewhat above the average the people here are not as badly off in this respect as many would have one believe.

The average rate of taxation among the municipalities of the state is 29.39 mills, which does not include school costs, while in Thief River Falls it is 36 mills. In Bemidji the rate is 64.10 mills, in Crookston 29 and in Cloquet 25 miles. The per capita rate of taxation for the four towns is as follows: Thief River Falls, $12.23; Bemidji, $18.56; Crookston, $10.25; Cloquet, $19.76. The per capita taxable valuation in the four cities listed above is: Thief River Falls, $340; Bemidji, $290; Crookston, $353; Cloquet, $772. The levy for this city is also very much lower than in any of the towns mentioned, being $12,500 below that of Crookston and less than half that of Bemidji.

There are nine cities in the state coming within the 4,000-to-5,000 classification in point of population and of this number only one has a heavier per capita tax than Thief River Falls. This is Ely, with a tax of $46.80 for every man, woman and child. Thief River Falls' per capita of $12.23 compares very favorably with that of many older communities of similar population, however, that of Fairmont being $10.65; Two Harbors $10.83, and Northfield $10.58. Among the municipalities in the state having a higher per capita tax rate are found Gilbert, $48.14; Crosby, $16.23; International Falls, $28.60; Alexandria, $15.15; Pipestone, $18.99; Aurora, $24.13; Litchfield, $12.07; Luverne, $12.27, and Staples $60.50.

The taxable valuation of the city averages up about with others of its class in the state. Outside of Ely, where the iron mine properties run the valuation up $6,268,791, the city heading this particular division in this respect is Fairmont where taxes are paid on $2,461,262 worth of property. In Thief River Falls the taxable valuation is $1,592,074 as compared with $2,052,230 in Bemidji, $2,403,614 in Crookston, and $3,958,988 in Cloquet, the lumber and paper mills located in the latter city being responsible for the difference.

NEGRO MISSIONARY TO EXPLAIN WORK FOR HELPING RACE

Well-Known Educator Will Deliver Address at St. John's Church Tuesday Evening.

Rev. M. N. Carter, of Rosebud, Ala., will lecture on Mission Work among the Negroes of the South at St. John's Lutheran church, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Carter is himself a Negro who has spent many years as a missionary among his people. Thus he will be able to give his audience first-hand information regarding the work which the Synodical Conference of Lutheran churches has been conducting in the Black Belt for more than a quarter of a century.

Lutheran mission work among the Negros of the South has won the praise of all who have had an opportunity to see what it has accomplished. Lutheran schools are teaching the children not only the secular branches but also the ethics and morals of Christianity. Non-church people have noted and commended the influence for good which these missionaries have been able to exert.

The extent of this work may be seen from a few figures compiled for the year 1920. At that time there were 46 congregations and 12 stations, numbering 3,400 souls, of which 1900 were communicant members. These places were served by 26 pastors. In 36 schools 2,922 pupils were instructed by 46 teachers and 10 pastors. The colored congregations contributed for their support $13,682.00 These congregations and schools are scattered over eight states, from New York to Louisiana, to Missouri. The Synodical Conference also maintains two junior colleges for colored boys and girls, one in New Orleans, La., and the other in Greensboro, N. C.

Two More Modern Houses To Be Built on West Side

Permits were granted by the city council on Tuesday night for the erection of two more substantial dwelling houses at an aggregate estimated cost of about $7,000. H. A. Moe and H. C. Johnson will build in the same block—Duluth avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets. Mr. Moe figures his house will cost $3,000 while Mr. Johnson's calls for an expenditure of $3,800. The residences are to be modern in both cases.

Mrs. Inga Berg was granted permission to place a new roof on the store building on Third street, occupied by the H. K. Strand grocery.

A plumbing license was granted to the Union Plumbing and Heating company and the matter of providing larger sewer outlets for the northeast section of the city discussed. The councilmen and cemetery board will today make a trip to Greenwood for the purpose of deciding on certain changes in the roads and driveways.

The councilmen voted to increase the salaries of the fire department $200 for the month of June, the understanding being that the money is to be used to defray the expenses of a delegation from the Thief River Falls department to the annual firemen's meeting and college at Rochester.

Building material dealers say that the demand among the farmers is also much better than for some time past.

RAIN SPOILS FIRST OPEN HOUSE NIGHT FESTIVITIES HERE

Pavement Dance Had to Be Abandoned But Band Concert Proved Enjoyable.

Jupeter Pluvius is unpopular in Thief River Falls this morning. The rain god is altogether too energetic and responsible for the spoiling of the first Wednesday night opening celebration in this city.

Yesterday was wet and chilly and conditions did not improve towards evening. Early in the day is was decided to call off the pavement dance arranged by the Merchants association but to hold the band concert as advertised. A good crowd turned out in spite of the weather, many of those present driving in from the country. The state of the roads, however, was such as to discourage most people from making trips of any length and the attendance was nowhere near what was expected.

The band concert under the leadership of M. J. Sorflaten was very much enjoyed, both sides of Third street in the block between Main and LaBree being crowded with people. The band is numerically larger than for some years past and is rapidly becoming a high-class organization from the standpoint of performance. A varied program was presented and every number called for an encore.

Definite plans for the next Wednesday open night, May 31, have not yet been considered, according to Secretary G. Howard Smith. It is not likely that a pavement dance will be part of the program, this being left for some time later in the season.

While the entertainment feature of the evening was a dissapointment, business throughout the city was very good during the day. It was to be noted that stores at which special inducements were offered for this occasion were the ones toward which the people turned. This proved to the satisfaction of the merchants that interest is taken in these fortnightly sales days and they are convinced that when the weather becomes more settled there will be big turnouts.

Townley Resigns as Head of Nonpartisan League

An announcement was made Saturday that the National Nonpartisan league executive committee has accepted the resignation of A. C. Townley as president of the league which he founded. Mr. Townley offered his resignation at the recent state convention of the league in North Dakota and Minnesota.

Mr. Townley will continue with the league as director of organization work, it was announced.

H. L. Samuels, of Samuels, Idaho, was named to fill the vacancy on the executive committee.

A chairman of the committee will be chosen later. The man selected will also be president of the league.

Public Invited to Attend Girls' Club Housewarming

Members of the Girls' Community club are making elaborate preparations for their housewarming, which is to take place on Saturday evening. There will be a musical program in which the best talent in the city and neighborhood will participate, lunch will be served and a general good time had. A complete program cannot at this time be given but it is unnecessary as everyone knows it will be exceptionally good.

The event will usher in the summer activities of the club, which include the providing of a rest room for out-of-town visitors where women and children who may be in the city temporarily will be invited to make their headquarters and where everything possible for their convenience and comfort will be installed. This undertaking is one for which the club is solely to be credited, although it is likely that later on other organizations may offer their assistance in keeping the place going. The plan at present is to keep the rest room open during the summer season at least, and this may be extended so as to include the entire year if sufficient interest is taken in the matter.

This, however, is a subject for future decision. The principal concern of the club at the present moment is to have everyone turn out and assist in properly opening the new club room at the corner of Fifth and Horace. Use of the quarters has been donated by the Trinity church congregation and the place fixed up so as to meet the requirements in excellent shape.

Better get there early as it is certain a large crowd will be on hand.

OPINION IS DIVIDED AS TO CLEARWATER DRAINAGE PROJECT

Demand General That Red Lake River Part of Program Be Carried Out, However.

Reports from the eastern and southern parts of Pennington county would indicate that there is a difference of opinion as to whether or not the Clearwater river project of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservacy board should be carried out. At a meeting of citizens of Deer Park township held last week for the purpose of considering the matter a petition to be presented to the board was signed asking that the program as applied to the Clearwater be postponed for one or two years but requesting at the same time that the Red Lake river part of the undertaking be carried out as originally intended without delay.

On Tuesday a similar meeting was held in the town of Mayfield at which it was decided to go on record as being opposed to having any costs assessed against the farmers in that region at this time.

Farmers in the town of Hickory, on the other hand, are understood to be pretty well united in demanding that the project be carried out as originally planned.

The erroneous impression that they are liable to be assessed for the improvement of the Clearwater river at this time and later hit again when it comes to undertaking the Red Lake river project seems to have gotten abroad among the people in the southern part of Pennington county. Chairman C. G. Selvig, of the drainage board, has given assurance that such is not the case. There will be but the one assessment and those who are included in the Clearwater project will not again be taxed when it comes to improving the Red Lake river. When this is fully understood it is expected that a large part of the objections now voiced will disappear.

GREAT COMEDY TO BE PRESENTED BY LINCOLN SENIORS

"Stop Thief" is Title of Class Play to Be Presented May 28 at Auditorium.

The annual high school play, "Stop, Thief!" will be presented by members of the senior class on Friday evening, May 26, at the auditorium. It is a comedy in three acts and has frequently been presented as a class play with the most pronounced success. It was selected by the Rochester school this year and to judge from reports the people of that city considered it a great hit. The plot revolves around the perplexities resulting from a mixture of thieves, jewelry, kleptomaniacs, wedding licenses, ministers and detectives, and is filled with situations which keep the audience constantly laughing. Everything and everybody get into the wrong place at the wrong time and everyone suspects himself and everyone else.

Thief River Falls high has always presented good plays as part of the closing exercises of the school year and those having charge of this presentation are of the opinion that it will prove the best yet given. Rehearsals are going forward in a very satisfactory manner and every member of the cast is giving the subject at hand the closest attention and study. The cast of characters, in the order of their appearance, is as follows:

Joan Carr	Helen Langseth
Mrs. Carr	Mildred Loftness
Caroline Carr	Pearl Shetler
Madge Carr	Gladys Maland
Nell	Nora Lindquist
Mr. Carr	Loyal Arnold
James Cluny	August Langseth
Mr. Jamison	Lloyd Alnes
Dr. Willoughby	William McGinnity
Rev. Mr. Spelain	Fred Paulson
Jack Doogan	Milton Larson
Joe Thomson	William Alexander
Sergeant of Police	Clarence Rice
Police Officer O'Malley	William DeParcq
Police Officer Casey	David Evenson
Police Officer Officer O'Brien	Bernard Bischoff
Chauffeur	Rudolph Rice

Some interesting sidelights on the play will be found in The Progress section of The Times today.

FIRST GAME OF SEASON SUNDAY; TEAM IS READY

Red Lake Falls to Oppose Locals in Opening Contest of Valley League Here.

Federolf Will Pitch and Thompson Act as Receiver For Thief River Falls.

Particularly Strong Defensive Aggregation Will Face Visitors in First Scrap.

The first baseball game of the 1922 season will be played at the fair grounds in this city on Sunday afternoon with Red Lake Falls opposing the locals. The original schedule named Fertile as the first team to appear here this year but for some reason a change has been made.

President G. A. Penney, of the Thief River Falls Atheletic association, which will be the directing agency of the team, and Manager Peter Morse are convinced that this city will this year have a contender for the valley championship. All but two players on the team are local men and even these may be said to belong to Thief River Falls, having played here last season. Practice work has been going on every day on which the weather permitted the boys to be out and it is likely that no team in the league will go into the opening game better prepared.

A Good Lineup.

Gus Federolf will again be the pitching mainstay of the Thief River Falls team. He made an excellent record last year and looks particularly good now, having spent the winter on his father's farm in Wisconsin. Another pitcher will have to be secured or developed in all likelihood but for the present the probabilities are that Len Schroeder will be used in a pinch. He will again cover the initial sack as his regular job it being doubtful if there is a man in the league better qualified to look after the work at this important position.

Harry Thompson will operate at the receiving end of the line. He has been practicing hard and those who have watched his work are confident that he will meet all requirements.

Bill Halbert will play second, according to present calculations. Last year this player, although a resident of Thief River Falls, played first base for Warren. He is a dependaple performer and will give a good account of himself.

Pete Morse, manager of the team, will not work behind the bat except in a pinch this year. He will play third as his regular station which is a gaurantee that left hand corner of the infield will be well looked after.

R. B. Stenhoff, athletic director at the high school, will remain in the city throughout the summer and play shortstop on the team. He is fast fielder and a sure pegger.

L. H. Lawrence will play center field in Sunday's game although he has not as yet decided whether or not he will remain as a permanent member of the team. In the right garden either Herron or Schutt will perform, depending on whether the visitors use a right or left handed pitcher.

While the above is the probable lineup it is possible that changes will be made. Manager Morse, says that he will have to be guided somewhat by circumstances in this first game, but promises that the fans will see a real contest. The Red Lake Falls team is made up largely of last year's veterans and this means a fast scrappy aggregation.

There should be a record-breaking turnout to see this opening game. It is certain there will be a large delegation of Red Lake Falls rooters on the job to cheer their team along and certainly the enthusiasts at home ought to be shown up in sufficient numbers to hold them even.

First Community Picnic of Summer Next Sunday

Farm bureau officials have decided not to hold the big community picnic near the city this year. While these events have in the past been very successful it is felt that it will serve the purpose better to hold local community outings instead. The first affair of this kind for the season will be that of the Reiner Farm club, which will take place on Sunday at the Torgerson school. Attorney H. O. Chommie and Dr. H. W. Froehlich will be the speakers. People from Thief River Falls and the western end of the county are invited to be present and help the east-enders celebrate. They promise to show everybody a good time.

Mrs. Helen White, 25, a negress, has filed as a candidate for the state senate from the 58th district, opposing E. R. Ribenack and James Mulhorn, of Duluth.

Mrs. White is believed to be the first member of the negro race to file for office in Minnesota.

AT THE THEATRES

INCE MASTERPIECE COMES TO LYCEUM FOR 3 NIGHTS

"Hail the Woman," Thomas H. Ince's intensely dramatic masterpiece, which comes to the Lyceum theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, is a powerful production of universal appeal, built on the theme of modern American womanhood. It is from the master pen of C. Gardner Sullivan and was directed by John Griffith Ray under the personal supervision of Thomas H. Ince.

This memorable play is a classic in motion picture interpretation of human motives, due alike to the universality of its appeal and to vivid characterizations by Florence Vidor, Madge Bellamy, Lloyd Hughes, Theodore Roberts, Tully Marshall and others in a cast of unsurpassed brilliance and genius.

"Hail the Woman" reflects drama from the screen so poignantly real as to enthrall the most critical audience. It is an epic of noble womanhood, sounding the very depths of the drama of life.

The story deals with Oliver Beresford (Theodore Roberts), a grim and bigoted New England farmer, whose uncompromising creed, "Men and their sons first," disposes harshly of woman's destiny. Beresford's son, David (Lloyd Hughes), who is studying for the ministry, secretly marries Nan (Madge Bellamy), stepdaughter of the village odd-jobs man, and their union is about to be blessed with a child. The elder Beresford learns of Nan's condition, and of his son's responsibility. True to her promise to her weak husband, who stands in fear of his father, Nan does not announce that she is David's wife. The elder Beresford buys off the brutal odd-jobs man (Tully Marshall), and Nan is driven from home. She goes to New York, where her child is born and where she falls into a life of shame, through want and poverty. Her husband, David, maintains a cringing silence.

Judith Beresford (Florence Vidor), beautiful daughter of the intolerant Puritan, takes Nan's part, and is likewise driven from home through a combination of circumstances. She meets Nan in New York, and when Nan dies, takes care of the child. Before she dies, Nan tells Judith of her marriage to David. Time passes and Judith decides that her brother shall clear Nan's memory and name, and recognize his child. She and the child arrive in the old New England home on the day that David is to be ordained a missionary to foreign lands. As he stands before the congregation, Judith confronts him with his child. Overcome with remorse, he confesses his sin and recognizes his child.

The play passes from one tense situation to another, and has a heart appeal such as has seldom been equlled. It ranks as the greatest screen classic of the decade.

Poppies.

"So there's where the poppies are coming from: They are fashioned in hospitals where the disabled service men, three and a half years after the armistice, still linger, still drag out the monotonous days of hospital life. They are fashioned by fingers of young men who offered their all to their country, and who are now paying the penalty for sins of those who made the ghastly travesty of the world war." These poppies will be on sale on and before Memorial Day, and if those who see and buy these will give a thought to the wounded lads who made them, they will be worn with more tender thoughts of their great significance." The social hours which followed took the form of a "farewell suprise kitchen shower," honoring Miss Ida Tandberg, retiring president, whose marriage will take place in the fall. She received a variety of useful utensils for her kitchen. The evening was concluded by the serving of a delicious lunch. The table from which the refreshments were served was graced with handsome vases filled with flowers, the three vases being a gift to the club from Olaf Neset, well known jeweler. On Saturday evening, May 20, the Girls Community club will hold their formal opening of the club rooms to which the public is invited. A fine musical program has been arranged and refreshments will be served.

Vapors reach deep colds
When the cold "goes down" get after it by the rubbing and vapor method.

Obstinate colds that go down into the chest can be reached by the combination rubbing and vapor-inhaling method with Vicks VapoRub.

Apply Vicks over throat and chest. Rub well in, spread on thickly and cover with two thicknesses of flannel. At night arrange bedclothes loosely, like a funnel, so the arising vapors will be breathed all night, right into the lungs.

Quick relief should be had from the tightness, soreness and cough with rapid loosening of the phlegm, abating danger of pneumonia or influenza.

Vicks contains the antiseptic, healing vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Oil of Turpentine and is the standby in millions of homes for congestions of nose, throat, and chest; skin hurts and itchings, and various bodily pains.

Once tried, Vicks becomes a stand-by in the medicine cabinet.

Just rub it on and breathe in the vapors

(Official Paper, Pennington County)

CROP INSURANCE.

The prospects are for a comparatively wet season. While this will prove a good thing for most sections of Pennington county and the Thief River valley, there are places which will not stand a great deal of water under the present conditions. There is very little danger of too much moisture for the general run of farmers, their lands being so situated as to drain quickly and thoroughly, but there are those for whom even a moderately wet season means a serious loss.

Drainage means crop insurance. Floods would be unheard of in this region were the outlet arteries sufficient to carry off the surplus whenever anything in the nature of an unusual rainfall occurred. It is not the quantity that causes farmers to foot a heavy loss by reason of floods, but the fact that the water does not run off the fields sufficiently fast. Our ditching system helps a lot but can only function to the point at which the Red Lake Thief and Clearwater rivers are able to get rid of what is discharged into them. That is why these rivers must be looked after first in any comprehensive program of drainage that may be launched.

During dry seasons farmers seem very willing to forget the losses of past years and are inclined to go ahead on the supposition that such things will never happen again. Experience has proven they do happen and when such is the case it means at least the partial loss of a valuable crop. Then there is a clamor for drainage, no matter what the cost may be.

During the dry months of the early spring the demand that work on the conservancy board's project be rushed was not insistent. For a while it looked as if this would be a season of light rainfalls, with the result that farmers become lukewarm on the subject. Now things have changed, at least to the extent of reminding them of the possibilities of crop damage, and they are demanding that the big drainage project be rushed. Even before the last heavy rain farmers in the eastern end of the county were asking why the viewers were not on the job, now that they have been appointed and the money with which to pay them appropriated. Since the heavy rain of the past week the number of those asking for information on this subject has trebled. It is realized as never before that unless this drainage question is taken hold of and settled for once and all there never will come a time when the farmers in these valleys will be safe.

It is to be hoped that the conservancy board is awake to the seriousness of the situation and in position to do something for the protection of these farmers without delay. One extra heavy downpour under present conditions would spell disaster for many and their anxiety is not to be wondered at.

ANOTHER GOOD SIGN.

There is more interest in baseball this season than at any time since the outbreak of the war, particularly amateur baseball. This is an indication that our people are again taking the time necessary to think of something besides getting back to normalcy. During the past few years there have been so many uses for every minute and every dollar that the great national sport has suffered. Scandals in the big leagues also for a time served to put baseball under suspicion and while it is hard to understand just why this should effect the smaller leagues and sand lot enthusiasts, the fact remains that such was the case.

The new season starts out under brighter auspices. The big leagues have been cleaned out and owners and managers seem genuinely bent on seeing that happenings such as have discredited the game with the public during the past two years shall not be possible in the future. A housecleaning was needed and the matter taken hold of in a way that meets with general approval.

Thief River Falls will have one of the eight clubs forming the Red River valley league. Eighty per cent of the players will be home-grown stock and all teams will be on an equal footing in this respect. The aggregations will thus be thoroughly representative of the communities to which they are accredited, which will add to the interest and the public's willingness to help the boys along. The lineup for this city is a good one and it is certain that we are starting ever with the others so far as talent is concerned.

The boys will do their share if the public will get back of them. In the past baseball support has left quite a lot to be desired. This does not so much apply to encouragement in the way of contributions as to attendance at the games. The best team in America cannot perform satisfactorily if the crowd is not there to add interest to the contest and it will have to be admitted that in this respect our citizens have been very lax. We are perhaps no worse than our neighbors, but in that case th ecomplaint applies to all alike.

Let's decide to turn out this year. A couple of hours spent at a ball game once or twice a week will do us all good. It will help the town's reputation for standing by its institutions and organizations, and this is worth while.

Harbingers of Prosperity.

The cow, sow and hen are getting more recognition at this time than they have ever received and they are a trio that will bring prosperity if people will only stay with them long enough.

This is a great business alibi: "I tried to call you by telephone three or four times, but I couldn't get you. I s'pose the girl didn't gimme the right number." Nobody can prove that the feller didn't try to call, and while this is one of the things that makes folks cuss the telephone service, it is such a handy and impregnable lie that the chances are it will remain with us as long as telephones and liars exist.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"REST."

Heb. 4:9, 11.

Rest, calm, peace. How the world longs for it! Those are the treasures for which the world today is sighing and, it seems, in vain. Europe is struggling for rest and peace. It had placed hopes on "Genoa." They are shattered. America sighs for rest and peace after the years of turmoil and unrest. It does not appear on the horizon. How many the soul that longs for rest from the pains of sickness, the worries of failure, the pangs of grief!

"There remaineth a rest to the people of God." It is the rest in the "mansions of the Father" in the "City of God." Let the poet sing of it:

"Yes, there remaineth yet a rest!
Arise sad heart, that darkly pines,
By heavy care and pain opprest,
On whom no sun of gladness shines;
Look to the Lamb! in your bright fields;
Thou'lt know the joy His presence yields;
Cast off thy load and thither haste;
Soon shalt thou fight and bleed no more,
Soon, soon thy weary course be o'er,
And deep the rest thou then shalt taste.

The rest appointed thee by God,
The rest that naught shall break or move,
That ere this earth by man was trod
Was set apart for thee by Love.
Our Savior gave His life towin
This rest for thee; O enter in!
Hear how His voice sounds far and wide,
Ye weary souls, no more delay,
Loiter not faithless by the way,
Here in My peace and rest abide!

Ye heavy-laden, come to Him!
Ye who are bent with many a load,
Come from your prisons drear and dim,
Toil thus not sadly on your road!
Ye've borne the burdens of the day,
And hear ye not the Savior say:
'I am your Refuge and your rest'?
His children ye, of heavenly birth,
Howe'er may rage sin, hell or earth,
Here ye are safe, here calmly rest."

"Let us labor, therefore, to enter into the rest." How? We are told very plainly that the Children of Israel failed to reach the Promised Land with its sweet rest from their weary wanderings because of their UNBELIEF. Let us, therefore, sincerely believe the promises of our God concerning the blessed rest provided for His children in heaven. Let us walk in His paths and follow His guidance in childlike obedience, and we shall come to the everlasting rest of the saints in heaven.

"There is untroubled calm and light,
No gnawing care shall mar our rest;
Ye weary, heed this world aright,
Come, lean upon your Savoir's breast,
Fain would I linger here no more,
Fain to yon happier world upsoar,
And join that bright expectant band.
O raise, my soul, the joyful song
That rings through yon triumphant throng;
Thy perfect rest is nigh at hand."

Here is the cure for sadness and grief, weariness and despondency. Here is the hope that refreshes the drooping spirit, that revives the broken heart, gives courage to the struggling soul. No matter what the odds against us, no matter how dreary and hopeless the outlook: "There remaineth a rest to the people of God." At the end of the road, after the storm, at the close of the battle, there is rest and calm and peace—in Jesus Christ, the Savior.

You Be the Judge

Is the cream you are bringing to your co-operative creamery such as will make butter that will bring the highest price?

Taste your cream before starting to the creamery and then judge if it will?

The highest quality butter is made from cream that you could use in your coffee; cream that would be set on the table when friends come for Sunday dinner.

Do you deliver this kind of cream to the creamery?

You can do so and get a higher price.

1st, BY COOLING CREAM IN COLD WATER immediately after separating. Use a small can for separating the cream into, that can be set in cold water for cooling. Never mix warm and cold cream. Keep cream where air is pure. Use a cream cooling tank. Ask your creamery operator where you can buy one, and the price.

2nd, BY FREQUENT DELIVERY OF CREAM. Co-operate with your neighbors in hauling. Get the cream to the creamery while it is still fresh and sweet.

3rd, BY THOROUGH WASHING AND SCALDING of all milk utensils, pails, strainers, cans and separator. Use washing powder. Unclean flavors generally come from unclean milk utensils or separator.

4th, BY CARE IN MILKING, that dirt does not get in the milk. Barn flavors generally come from this source. Dirt may be strained out, but the bad flavor remains and will show up in the butter.

5th, BY TALKING WITH THE BUTTERMAKER about the quality of your cream. Learn to be a good judge of cream.

There is no work on the farm that pays so well as the work of getting cream to the creamery, PURE AND SWEET.

$6,000—The New Straight-Life Policy of the New York Life Insurance Company

IF YOU LIVE, this policy protects your old age, the $6,000 becoming payable to you as an endowment whenever the cash value plus accumulated dividends equals the face of the policy.

IF YOU BECOME DISABLED (before age 60) it pays you $60 monthly for life ($720 a year) in event of total and permanent disability without any reduction in the amount payable at death.

IF YOU DIE—it pays to your beneficiary $6,000.

IF YOU DIE BY ACCIDENT (within 60 days) it pays $12,000.

IF YOU NEED MONEY—you can borrow the loan value stated in the policy, and if in good health, you can insure the loan.

IF YOU HAVE TO QUIT (after 3 years) even then you have saved money to the extent of the cash value of the policy.

In other words, summing it up in a single sentence, this remarkable policy TAKES THE WORRY OUT OF LIFE.

The full benefits and conditions are clearly stated in the policy itself. Limited to Class "A" risks. Other amounts in proportion.

Are You Helping Keep Prosperity Away?

The man who should be building a house of any kind and holds off because he deems conditions unfavorable is making a mistake. There has been no more opportune time for doing construction work for many years. The prices of materials are down more than 50 per cent from a couple of years ago and the same holds true of labor costs.

The Bottom Has Been Reached

From now on it is safe to look for a steady advance in prices. The demand is reaching a point that will mean an advance before long. Anyone will realize this is so.

Don't Hold Prosperity Back

Build now—but build right. Get the best material for the money you spend. That's the only kind we handle.

Extemporaneous Speaking.

Looking over the Minnesota High School Anthology number of the Gateway, published at Macalaster College, we find much interest, chief of which is the annual review of Minnesota High School Forensics.

The new organizations, the Minnesota High School Discussion League and the Minnesota High School Extemporaneous Speaking League loom as competitors for the State Debating Association. In the Gateway, we read, "Like its sister organization, the Discussion League, the League in Extemporaneous speaking is a new department in high school contests. It was organized to promote a more practical form of public speaking in the forensic competition of the high schools of the State."

"Previous to the contests nothing is known as to the subjects on which the contestants are to talk, except that they will be of a general nature, and upon topics familiar to high school students. An hour before the contest each participant is presented with a list of from ten to twenty topics from which he chooses one and prepares a five minute speech with no out-side assistance."

"Thus there is but very little previous preparation except that which comes from general reading and a training in the art of speaking in public. Because it is this kind of speaking one is constantly called upon to use in every day life, this league offers exceptional opportunities to secure a maximum of beneficial results with a minimum of effort."

This new form of Forensics is especially valuable, as it places all the responsibility on the individual contestant. There can be no weeks of careful planning, no days of rehearsal under the supervision of a coach. In one hour the contestant must choose his topic and prepare his speech, entirely without assistance. Could anything be more fair? Could any other method more surely bring out talent in public speaking?

Although still in its infant stage, the League in Extemporaneous Speaking is growing rapidly, as shown by the fact that last year twenty-six schools took part in the contests. Let us hope that in the very near future Lincoln High also may be represented.

The Neighbors' Hens.

Mr. Jones had been working for a good solid hour in his garden. He had just put the seeds in and covered them up. He was a fat, good natured man, but just now he was extremely hot and tired and stopped to get his breath and cool off. As he lay on the grass and looked at the sky, he could fairly see his garden in maturity. Just then he heard a noise. Turning around, he saw two of his neighbor's hens clucking as if to say, "Look what I've found." Seeing his garden thus raided, Mr. Jones became very angry. He picked up some stones and chased the hens back to their own yard. Then he plodded wearily to the house and when inside said to his wife, "Why can't people keep their property at home? They have ruined my garden. With this he stamped around the room for a while and said; "I'm going over to see Mr. Smith right away and tell him to keep his hens at home."

With this he left the house. About half way over to Smith's he saw Mr. Smith, dragging Mr. Jones' dog by the collar.

Mr. Jones cried angrily, "Let go of my dog, will you?"

Mr. Smith, just as angrily, replied, "Keep your dog away from my chickens; he's just killed one of them."

"Well, then, keep your chickens out of my garden," said Mr. Jones. "I'll kill a few of them myself. All they do is to ruin my garden."

Just then Clifford Jones came running out of the door crying excitedly: "Dad and Mr. Smith, come here. I've hooked up with a concert in Denver with my radio outfit. You can hear it very plain!"

Mr. Jones and Mr. Smith ran into the house and forgetting about their quarrel listened to the concert, joking with each other as they listened as though nothing at all had happened.

A Brave Confession.

All the seniors in the Lincoln high school, at Blakely had cast their ballots and all were patiently waiting to hear the outcome of the election.

"Surely, Bert will get it. He's so honest and reliable and such an athlete, too," said Ruth.

"There's no question about it, he just has to get it if we want to have things going right this year," replied Dolores Fairbanks, a sparkling young girl of seventeen.

Bert Shamsfield, the object of discussion, was eighteen and a dear friend of Dolores.

His rival for the class presidency was Paul Prestrud, a good looking young man, but of rather changeable disposition, being very bright and happy one minute and gloomy and crabby the next.

It was at noon that Dolores noticed that the door to the room in which the ballots were kept was open. Suddenly an impulse came to her to find out for herself how the election had resulted, so not seeing anyone in sight, she tiptoed to the forbidden room.

On reaching the door she heard some one coming up the stairs; so dashing into the mathematic room across the hall, glad of having escaped, she sat on the floor and listened to the approaching footsteps. "How queer," she thought, "both the superintendent and the principal have gone to dinner, and yet someone is going into the forbidden room."

Immediately at nine o'clock the next morning, the superintendent called all the seniors together and told them that someone had deliberately destroyed the ballots.

"Were any of you in room 912 yesterday noon?" he asked.

For a minute only a buzz, buzz was heard; then Bert, beckoning to Dolores, stood up saying, "I was."

"For what reason did you go in there?"

"None whatever," answered Bert.

As everyone but Bert's dearest friends believed him to be guilty of the act, he was expelled from school. Only a few days had passed when the superintendent received a note from Paul Prestrud, confessing that he was the one that had destroyed the ballots because he was jealous of Bert's becoming president instead of himself.

"But why did you make us believe that you were the one that did it?" asked Dolores of Bert as they walked home together one evening.

"Remember election day? Well, at noon I came up the stairs and to my surprise saw you tiptoeing to room 912. I thought maybe you had something to do with it, but oh, I'm so glad you didn't," answered Bert. "But what were you doing?"

"Oh I was practicing a new dancing step," lied Dolores.

"Oh! "exclaimed Bert. "But I'm back in school again and president, too, so I should worry."

An Invitation to Dinner.

Mrs. Jack Brown has fifty hens. She did not have them locked up in any pen, so they roamed around wherever they wished until dark.

One day the hens happened to wander into Mrs. John Jones' yard. She did not like this because they always dug up her garden and flowers. She immediately went over to Mrs. Brown's house and gave her a warning. "If you don't keep those chickens in your own yard, I will see that you do."

"Yes," replied Mrs. Brown nervously, "I will try to."

Mrs. Jones went home satisfied because she thought that the chickens would not be seen in her yard any more. But on the next day, which was Saturday, the hens were back, digging away in the garden.

"John, I have warned Mrs. Brown about those chickens, but they are back again," said Mrs. Jones.

"I'll see to that matter," replied John.

Mr. Jones took his ax and soon he came back with one of the hens.

"Nell," said Mr. Jones, "I want you to invite the Brown's over for dinner tomorrow, and we will have one of their chickens to eat."

Mrs. Jones invited the Brown family for Sunday dinner and they of course came.

At the table the conversation was about the chicken.

"I never tasted such good chicken," said Dick Brown.

"Neither did I," said Jack.

"Well," said Mrs. Jones, "It is one of your own chickens. Next time you can heed my warning."

The Treasure I Didn't Find.

Jack, my best friend, and I had gone on a long camping trip up to the Lake of the Woods. After sailing around the lake for two days, we came upon a low sheltered island that suited our taste. The first day on the island was, of course, spent in pitching our tents, making our beds of pine boughs, lugging in a pile of fire-wood, and getting settled in general.

It being cloudy the next day and looking much like rain, we were forced to dig a deep rain trench around our tent. When the trench was about half completed Jack started and cried out, "Oh, Chuck, come here and see what I have found."

When I arrived at his side, I said, "Say, what's all this noise about, anyway?" It didn't take long to discover, however, for in Jack's hands was a long copper tube. When we shook it, we could hear nothing.

As we were about to throw it away, I noticed a cap on the tube and said, "Jack, get the pliers and let's open this tube, we might use it for something, anyway."

Jack twisted off the cover and pulled out a piece of paper. "It is only paper," I said, "throw it away."

"No," answered Jack, "this looks somewhat like parchment, so let's heat it and see if there is any writing on it."

When I held it over the fire, writing appeared, and I cried out, "Jack, we've found a treasure map!"

"Yes," he answered, "we will soon be rich and have everything we want."

I started to read but soon stopped at what I saw and groaned out, "Aw, Jack, we've been stung again. It says, 'You will find your treasure at the foot of the rainbow.'"

Mrs. Hen and Her Friend.

One day in the spring when everybody was making gardens, Florence exclaimed, "What a nice garden we'll have this year."

The garden indeed promised success, but it was also the time when chickens were allowed to roam about at will, and disaster threatened.

Two hens lived right across from the garden, and the first hen said to the second, "See that nice garden over there? Let's go over."

The second hen replied, "Be careful! Farmer Brown will be angry and he might catch you. That would be the end of you."

"Oh, are you afraid," the first hen replied in scorn. "Well, watch me. You'd wish you'd have gone."

"Well, go if you will and find out for yourself," the second hen replied.

The hen walked over and was soon busy eating. She said to herself, "How glad I am I came over. Who's afraid, anyway."

Farmer Brown was the first to see her and shouted, "There's a hen! Catch her! She's going to spoil my garden!"

The second hen, however, was watching her companion and warned her just in time. She ran back to safety and said to her friend, "Farmer Brown would likely have had a chicken dinner if it hadn't been for you."

Not Exactly What He Meant.

Teacher: "What does the gypsy moth feed on, Allison?"

Allison: "The apple tree."

Teacher: "Ye-es, but not so much as—Ruby Bennes?"

Wednesday morning the Girl's Glee club vied with the robins in an early morning sing. The girls assembled at the school at 7:30 to get their voices in tune for commencement.

Russel Anderson returned from Rosewood, where he spent the week-end visiting his chicken farm.

Lydia says: "If your overweight, just bring a cup and plate and spoon——"

Milton, our chief, says he met himself going to bed Wednesday morning.

The dust was flying on Main street last Friday evening. The natives rushed to their respective windows to behold two callers from our neighboring hamlet, Thief River Falls. They gave their names as Friedolph Gabrielson and Lorrayne Crandall.—St. Hilaire Gazette.

Special Musical Program.

Monday morning the students were not sorry the periods were cut short (as they usually aren't) when they learned Mr. Rapacz had a treat for them. It was an unusual day for chapel, and, indeed, an unusual chapel also.

The entertainment took the form of a musical program by Miss Doris Halvorson and Miss Ausilga Sorenson, both of whom are well known locally. The first number was a piano solo, "Paraphrase From Rigoletto, by Dizst," rendered by Miss Halvorson in a very brilliant and artistic manner.

Miss Sorenson next played two violin solos, the first "Adoration", and a negro spiritual, "Nobody knows The Trouble I've Seen," as an encore. She was welcomed by a loud applause, showing the great appreciation of her talent.

All the high school wishes for more, and would be glad to have a program like this every day.

Enrollment For Next Year.

Enrollment for the school year 1922-1923 was commenced at Lincoln high school last Friday, May 12. Each student was required to fill in certain parts of his enrollment blank for next year. The subjects desired were not indicated at this time, but will be filled in later. The curriculum has been posted on the bulletin board and every student is requested to study it carefully in order that there need be no hesitation or confusion when actual enrollment begins.

The advantages of registering at this time rather than waiting until the opening of school next fall, as has been the custom, are that the program for the year may be more accurately planned, and the students get more time to outline their course. If enrollment is put off until the first day of school many students will enroll without any definite plan in mind, thus losing many of the benefits which might otherwise have been derived from the high school course.

The new courses which have been added to the curriculum for next term are a combined course in Public Speaking and Journalism, Biology and French I. The first-mentioned course will consist of about four periods of Public Speaking and one period of Journalism per week, and will be open to juniors and seniors. French I will be open to juniors only, who can get French II during their senior year. The course in Public Speaking and Journalism will take the place of one section in upper English while the course in Biology will replace half year courses in Botany and Physiology. French is therefore the only additional course. Even this course will eliminate a section of something else, so no new teaching force will be necessary.

All Year Honor Students.

Each six weeks period brings the publication of an honor roll. It is the aim of many students to have this list include their names. If their names appear on the honor roll we may be sure that they have studied and kept up their lessons in their classes.

Now at the end of the year an "all year honor roll" is published. This list includes the names of all the students who have been on the honor roll every six weeks. The following names make up this honor roll: Katherine Barzen, Bernice Erickson, Evangeline Umland, Esther Larson, Clara Oien, Esther Lunsetter, Margaret Melgaard, Albert Stengelson, Bertha Hastad, Clara Oski, Alice Bredeson, Celia Morrissey.

By way of reward these students are exempt from all final examinations except those given by the state.

Norse Program Monday.

A Sigvald Qvale Declamatory contest will be given by the Norse pupils in the high school auditorium Monday evening, May 22, at 8 o'clock. Admission 10 cents. Proceeds will be used for the purchase of Norse books in the school library. The winner of first place will receive a silver medal. In memory of her son, Sigvald, Mrs. Qvale of Eau Claire, Wis., has left a fund to be used for this purpose, the primary object being to promote the best in Norse literature. The following selections will be given:

"To Tomme Haender," Ager.

"Manden som skulde stelle Hjemme," Asbjornson.

Around Lincoln High.

Mr. Holmgren and Miss Gilvery have handed in their poem to be published. We are sure you will all enjoy the work of these two poets. Here is their masterpiece:

When birds are singing in the trees,
Not only birds but quails,
Then is the time when we feel lost,
We feel like we are snails.

In order that the public will interpret the poem in the right light, we wish to explain the meaning of some of its cardinal principles. The authors do not mean that they are as slow as a snail but rather that they are imprisoned like one, the snail by its shell and the authors by the school wall. Let's have more of this type of poetry. It's easy.

We have in our room the original "Kuckoo Kids." Rumitt and Kerby.

Mrs. Korstad is still on the job dishing out blue slips.

Rudy Rice sprained his left hand and he claims he did it in the gym. The general opinion is that Harvey Norby hit him. They were on the outs last week.

Edgar Longren had another lusty laugh over some joke which he refused to make public.

The sophomores are still talking about their wonderful basketball team while the rest of the classes have forgotten about theirs, especially the seniors.

We can at last call Ole Helle an author. He wrote up the biggest event of the year, "Senior Day."

Bert Umland is starting to worry about the chemistry state questions. He is afraid they won't be hard enough so he can show all he knows.

When we watch Miss Crandall make eyes at Mr. Bottelson, we wonder if it is anything serious. "They both have a host of friends, etc."

The fight between Carl St. Onge and Cliff Sorenson was postponed. Camille gave both of these promising young men up for some fellow in Red Lake Falls. Carl and Cliff have signed a secret treaty to get the scalp of the Red Lake Falls he-vamp.

That freshmen now feel like real high school students is the statement made by Thomas Scanlan. He is one of them.

We take great pleasure at this time to announce our special feature in the next issue of the Progress—best of all school papers—The Progress.

"Stop! Thief!"

Some interesting remarks taken from the play:

Carr: "Why will I be so absent-minded!"

Mrs. Carr: "I can't hear a word you're saying."

Joan: "Oh, doctor, this is so sudden!"

Caroline: "Police! Police!"

Madge: "Come, dear, I'm ready to be made Mrs. Cluney."

Nell: "Take it on the run, Jack."

Cluney: "Now, how did that thing get into my pocket?"

Jamison: "I'll send every one of you to the penitentiary."

Dr. Willoughby: "Keep cool; it's no crime, it's a disease."

The Minister: "Dear, dear, now there will be another postponement."

Doogan: "Everyone must be searched."

The Detective: "I think I'll go back to school."

Sergeant of Police: "What's all this shushing about?"

A Two-Act Play.

Characters: Mrs. P. D. Qustail, Teacher; Mr. Q. E. Dapass, Principal; Mr. S. O. Larner, Another Teacher; Numerous Students.

Scene: Assembly room of Lincoln High.

Act I.

Students all studying, Mrs. P. D. Qustad in charge of the room. Windows all open. Loud thunder crash, followed by heavy rainfall. Students stop work to watch rain pouring through open window.

Larner enters and looks at students who are "loafing on the job."

Qustad, crossly, to Larner: "Will you please shut that window?"

Larner pulls up sleeves and starts for window. Tries several times to close window but fails. He is greeted with much laughter by the students. Larner retires to desk. Dapass enters and goes at once to the window and easily closes it. (Great applause from the students.) Dapass throws out chest and walks slowly to desk. Larner sneaks out of the room. Students are still laughing.

Mrs. P. D. Qustad gets "peeved." "You will all remain in the room after four o'clock for forty minutes."

Students shed tears.

Curtain.

Act II.

Students studying hard while Qustad takes roll. Younger students excused. (So they won't get tired.)

Qustad gives long talk to older students, which was appreciated by the audience. "You are now dismissed."

Students go off stage with much rejoicing.

Curtain.

More opera- ns were performed but were un- cessful, and for the last five weeks pains at intervals were excrusiat- and his suffering a terror. ends who visited him during this e were astonished at his bravery d patience. Nelson was born at ail, Norway, on Dec. 10, 1864, igrated to the United States in 4, coming first to Harwood, where spent two years, latter coming to community which has since prac- ally been his home, excepting rtial stays at Viking, where he was gaged in various business enter- ses. He was married twice, the time in 1898, to Miss Thea Mel- m his community, who survives together with five children, Nic Nelson, of Big Timber, Montana, of the first marriage, and Theodore, Myrtle, Carrie and Eleanora, all residents of this place. Mr. Nelson was at his death 57 years, five months and one day old. Undertaker Skalman, of Warren had charge of the arrangements and the body was shipped here for burial at the Rindal cemetery, two miles north of town. Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon from the Mission church, at Rosewood, with Rev. Werner Drotts of Viking officiating. Owing to his sunny view of things Nelson was generally well liked by all his fellowmen, and within his family he was an ideal husband and father. He was by trade a carpenter and many a building and landmark will remain as a reminder of him.

Presents Fine Appearance.

The repainting of the auditorium interior was this week completed by Moseley & Glines and the big hall now presents a very attractive appearance. It is the first time the building has been given an overhauling since its erection and it was badly needed. The walls have been repainted and the woodwork varnished until the interior looks as when it was new. The contractors should be credited with having done a very good job.

WHEN EVERY MOVE HURTS

Lame every morning, achy and stiff all day, worse when it's damp or chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. C. E. Cruzan, 610 Knight Ave. W., Thief River Falls, says: "My kidneys weren't acting properly and caused me a great deal of annoyance. I was also in misery with my back. At times it was so sore and stiff that when I stooped it was about all I could do to straighten again. I easily tired and it seemed my housework was a burden. I became somewhat discouraged because of this condition and not until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills did I begin to feel like myself again. Three boxes of Doan's restored me to good health and strengthened my kidneys."

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of Twenty and no-100 Dollars, which became due on the 10th day of January, 1920, which said sum is now due and payable upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Jacob Hoffberger and Clara Hoffberger, his wife, Mortgagors, to Middle-West Investment Company, a Minnesota corporation, Mortgagee, bearing date the 10th day of January, 1918, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, Minnesota, on the 6th day of April, 1918, at one o'clock P. TAX ABSTRACT SHOWS COST OF RUNNING CITY

It is interesting to compare the amount of money available for municipal purposes in the mining towns with that of the prairie cities. Ely, for instance, with a population only 386 greater than that of Thief River Falls, last year levied $229,437 in taxes as compared with the $57,285 levied in this city. The range town has a per capita valuation of $1,279 as compared with $340 for Thief River Falls and yet the rate is the same—36 miles.

Schools Come High.

There is perhaps more interest shown in the subject of school costs than any other one item. A glance at the table below would indicate that Thief River Falls is no worse off in this respect than are other towns of the same size. Fairmont, Montevideo and Northfield are in a class with Thief River Falls, there being but a few hundred difference in the populations, and it will be noted that these cities, although much older, are paying practically the same per capita rate for education as the taxpayers here. Our rate, however, is exceeded only by that of Bemidji in this section of the state. The highest school tax per capita is paid in the village of Keewatin, Itasca county, where it is $187.97, most of which is footed by the mining companies.

Following is the rate, levy and per capita tax for school purposes of all cities in the 4,000 to 5,000 class in the state, to which has been added Bemidji and Crookston, both of which are larger:

	Rate	Levy	Per. Cap.
T. R. Falls	$51.70	$ 82,310	$17.57
Bemidji	64.61	132,594	18.71
Crookston	34	83,521	12.27
Ely	30.80	193,078	39.39
Fairmont	34.01	82,250	17.32
Hastings	30.30	42,428	9.28
Two Harbors	40.38	45,104	9.92
Montevideo	41.10	76,554	17.32
St. Peter	32.90	42,307	9.76
Anoka	45.78	60,384	18.18
Northfield	38.40	73,124	18.18

The cost per capita of running the schools in a number of the principal cities in this section of the state is given below:

Fergus Falls	$12.18
Cloquet	20.14
Int. Falls	24.97
Detroit	19.10
Alexandria	17.49
Little Falls	14.05
Grand Rapids	12.56

Chemistry Comes to Aid of Good Coffee Lovers

The science of chemistry has been called to the aid of industry in a remarkable manner in the production of Nash's Delicious coffee, an advertisement for which is to be found in another part of The Times today. It is well known that in many sections of the United States the water is generally alkaline in nature. This gives to a brew of coffee a thick, bitter and somewhat stale flavor if the alkali, lime or iron is not neutralized and the water thereby made soft. By applying the discoveries of chemistry to the section, blending and roasting of Nash's Delicious Coffee growths were discovered which contained natural saps and flavors effective in softening or neutralizing hard water so that by using Nash's blend one can now make and enjoy the true, pure rich flavor of coffee as nature intended it to be and it is enjoyed in localities where soft water is a matter of natural supply.

Nash's Delicious coffee, by reason of modern coffee science, is different from all others and will be welcomed by discriminating people as the solution of their coffee problems.

NUMEDAL

Last Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. O. Osness, in town of Viking occurred a wedding which will cause great interest to this community. Those united in marriage were John Valla and Miss Fairdia Osness, Rev. Ole O. Sande officiating, while Miss Effie Joringdal acted as bridesmaid and Casper Osness as bridegroom. The bride was a former resident of Numedal, while the groom is a splendid young gentleman of Roosevelt, Minn. The community extends most hearty congratulations.

Hjalmer Blomberg had the bad luck to smash his car Saturday evening. While on his way to a dance near Radium he drove into a badly washed out bridge and did not notice the washout till it was too late. The car plunged head first into the hole and tho there were four occupants in the car at the time only one was hurt. Those in the car were: Hjalmer Blomberg, Ture Blomberg, Tom Joringdal and Clarence Joringdal.

Conrad Ronning was a Saturday evening guest at the A. Torslund home.

Maynard and Miss Effie Joringdal called at the Ordahl home Saturday evening.

Among the callers at the Elias Joringdal home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Knutson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ordahl and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Joringdal and family, Richard Joringdal, Iver Orstad, Herald Saltvet, Thur Blomberg and Tom Joringdal.

The rain we had last Wednesday, altho rather heavy, did a world of good to the crops in the vicinity and the farmers are planning on having their gold bricks sent by freight next fall

Elmer Blomberg moved out in his tent last Wednesday, where he expects to spend the summer seeking aid of Dr. Sun to help in restoring his health.

HICKORY

Home Team Wins.

The Johnson nine met their Waterloo last Sunday afternoon when they clashed with the Hickory Twirlers on the latter's grounds near the schoolhouse in District No. 9. Altho expecting a victory, the game resulted in a 2 to 8 defeat for the visitors.

The game was called at 4 o'clock and owing to threatening showers only six innings were played. Altho several of the players have had little or no practice in this particular sport this season, both teams showed considerable skill in making the plays. Good occupied the mound and Dreng Bjornaras acted as receiver for the home aggregation; while the pitching and catching for the visitors was done by Norman Englestad and Gilmour Oftelie respectively.

During the first inning Johnson failed to score, while Hickory succeeded in making several hits and secured five points. In the two succeeding innings both teams scored once leaving the score 1 to 6 at the end of the third. During the remaining three innings Johnson added one point and Hickory managed to increase its total by three, making the final result Johnson 2, Hickory 8.

Another game has been scheduled for next Sunday afternoon, game to be called at 1:30 p. m.

Members of the Hickory nine announce that they would like to hear from teams in neighboring townships regarding possible games which could be arranged for during the ensuing season. Baseball fans, let's hear from you! Address communications to Dreng B. Bjornaras or Carl Sannes, both of Wauke, Minn.

The Play Day which was to have been held in Dist. No. 9 last Friday, the 12th, was postponed to a later date, due to the heavy rains making it impossible to hold it on the date first decided upon. Look for future date.

The Farmer's Club met Sunday, the 14th in the Dist. No. 9 schoolhouse. It was not as well attended as usual owing to the fact that several families were away visiting in other parts of the county. The feature of the day was the Johnson—Hickory baseball game.

Bjorn Tveltbakk and family spent Saturday and Sunday visiting with relatives in Reiner township.

Bj. Bjornaraa left Sunday for Fosston, where he delivered an address at a large gathering in honor of Rev. J. Sether, of this city. He was also en route to Grand Forks and is expected to return the latter part of the week.

P. Bjerklie and family visited at the P. Erickson home Sunday.

E. H. Oftelie motored to Fosston Sunday in company with H. Haftuft, of Wanke. They returned the same day.

The heavy rains during the last few days have slowed up the spring work.

G. T. Boe is staying with B. Tveitbakk, assisting him in his spring work.

Halvor Steinlie returned Saturday from Erie, where he has been employed for the past month.

Louis Vetleson and family visited with Bennie Hanson, of Wanke, Sunday.

Margareth Ose, teacher in Dist. No. 9, left last week for her home near Grand Forks.

Several Hickory people spent the 17th at Gully, attending the elaborate celebration arranged by the live Gully villagers.

DEER PARK

F. G. Rouse, Ole and Gureder S. Kreland, left for Hibbing last Thursday to work in the iron ore mines for some time.

The recent heavy rains put a stop to all unfinished spring work for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Torkel Landr, of Rudelle, spent Sunday visiting their son, Edwin and family, of Mayfield.

Mrs. W. L. Rodman, has been on the sick list and is yet confined to her bed.

Mr. Geo. Siuger, the Rhoda merchant, was a business caller at Thief River Falls last week.

The basket social held at Rhoda last Saturday evening was well attended, considering roads, etc. The proceeds of the sales of the baskets amounting to about $50 and private donations amounting to over $100 were secured by Mr. Singer. The entire proceeds were turned over as a gift to Mrs. James Rystad, who has recently been left a widow, who is sickly herself and last week suffered the loss of her little five year old boy. Mr Siuger deserves credit for the active part he took in encouraging the social for the benefit of this unfortunate woman and her family.

O. M. Moudh, of Deer Park, looms up as the fourth candidate for county commissioner in the fifth district, having filed last week. This will mean a three cornered fight for the east half of the district while J. R. Larson is holding down the home goal in the west end—all by himself. Why not be game boys, and draw lots? You are all good fellows and no doubt but the people would be satisfied in the east half if the district to have any one of you give Mr. Larson a rub for the home run at the June primary election.

STEINER

The late rains have delayed the farmers in this neighborhood. All farm work is at a standstill and will be for a week or ten days. All ditches and the river are running bank full.

J. A. Russell has been doing some road work. He says the roads on the east side of the river were getting in good shape before the rain.

R. S. Muzzy brought out a new corn planter last week from Thief River Falls. He will put in quite a large crop of corn this year, and says it is the best and cheapest feed.

Mr. Best is riding in a brand new Ford these days. He says the buggy got too slow for his services.

Mable Rogers visited her sister Jessie, in Thief River Falls the first part of the week.

Ole Berg was a business caller in the power city last Tuesday.

Rene Werner and wife called on friends in Holt last week.

S. R. Rogers and daughter, Jessie, were at the Carl Sterner place on business last week.

John Sande went to Thief River Falls one day last week on business.

Carl Stirgen has been doing some road work cleaning off the brush along the grade east of the school house and south of this place.

Arthur Simmonson took cream to Thief River Falls Saturday.

Willis Warring is fixing his potato ground these days.

Nat Muzzy is busy plowing these days, when it don't rain.

There was a social at the Russell school home Saturday. A good sized crowd was reported and a very pleasant evening spent by the young folks of the neighborhood.

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted in his own behalf by N. J. Anderson, Thief River Falls, Minn., candidate for Register of Deeds. Amount to be paid for each insertion, $5.00.)

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I am a candidate for re-election for Register of Deeds of Pennington county. During the years I have served the people of the county as Register of Deeds I have made many friends, but I am not asking support in the present campaign merely by virtue of this friendship. Rather, I would have the voters consider my candidacy on a purely efficiency basis as the only proper method of electing officials to public office. In regard to my fitness for the office of Register of Deeds, both as to honesty and capability, I prefer to rest my case with the people of Pennington county, whom I served in past years.

Yours respectfully,
N. J. ANDERSON.

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for nomination to the office of register of deeds. I was born in the county; have lived here all my life and all my interests are here. Political Announcement

(Inserted in his own behalf by W. A. Swanson, candidate for register of deeds, Rhoda, Minn. Amount to be paid, $4.10 each insertion.)

To the Voters of Pennington County.

Having filed for the office of Register of Deeds, I want to say that should I be elected I will serve the public and all concerned to the best of my ability in an honest, upright manner.

I am no stranger to the people of Pennington county. My name and what I have stood for is well known to those who have resided here for the past fifteen years or more.

The welfare of any community, city or country rests upon the shoulders of those who have and who are willing at all times to sacrifice time, thought and energy towards the welfare of the public in trying to bring about better laws, better conditions under which to live. Neither our wishes nor demands can be rightly adjusted nor satisfied unless the outside world knows something about our troubles. Do not judge men simply by what they have been able to do for themselves and for their own good, but rather by what they have sacrificed and tried to do for others.

Time and the shortage of funds prevent me from carrying on the customary political campaign. I must rely upon my friends and any past record as a citizen for results, subject to the will of the voters. I am

Yours respectfully,
W. A. SWANSON.

Building for the Future

IN its determination to continue rendering a maximum service to the 28 million people of 11 states, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is mindful of the fact that these people will need gasoline and lubricating oils in continually increasing quantities as the years go by.

During the past two years the number of automobiles registered in this territory shows an increase of over 35%.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) interprets efficient service to the community to mean the production of vast quantities of gasoline and lubricating oils of highest quality, for high quality can be of definite service to the consumer only when he can obtain the products he needs when he wants them.

The comprehensive distribution system maintained by this Company makes this possible, for the Company has brought into play every unit of its enormous manufacturing and distributing organization, from the refinery to the bulk station, to the dark green tank wagon that patrols the highways and byways.

As the need for increased facilities becomes apparent, the Board of Directors of this Company expands its activities, not merely to meet the immediate need but always to keep a step ahead.

It is this anticipatory service which has made this Company a leader in its field.

KNIGHT AVENUE RESIDENTS ASK FOR PAVEMENT

Those Living on That Thoroughfare Between Ninth and Riverside Present Petition.

Property Owners of Riverside Avenue to Be Ready With Request Next Meeting.

Complete Program Would Call For Surfacing of 24 Blocks During Present Summer.

Residents along Knight avenue on Tuesday evening petitioned the city council for the paving of that thoroughfare from Ninth street to Riverside avenue, a distance of 11 blocks. The petition was signed by many more than the required 25 per cent of the property owners and it was announced that several who happened to be out of the city at the time the papers were circulated have since gone on record as favoring the improvement.

Math Barzen and George C. Loken presented the petition and stated there were a number who for various reasons perferred not to sign the application but would interpose no objection to its going through.

Bitulithic Favored.

The spokesmen for the taxpayers stated that they would like to have some say as to what kind of surfacing is used on the job. They prefer bithulitic and asked that this might be given first consideration provided it could be laid down at a price comparing favorably with cement. The paved area will be 30 feet in width if the wishes of the taxpayers are deferred to, this being the same as on Main avenue above Fifth.

As the council already has one petition for paving it was decided to wait until the arrival of the engineer before finally disposing of the matter. Propositions from engineers will be opened by the council next week so that there may be no delay. It is also figured that a better price can be secured if there is a more extensive job than that provided by the Bridge street paving and all will be advertised at once. It was stated that residents along Riversode avenue from the Great Northern tracks to Zeh street will have a similar petition before the council at the next meeting and it is probable that those along Horace avenue between Fourth and Eighth will be ready to act by that time. These latter are known to want the pavement but are holding off to see what is to be done with the sewer lift at the intersection of Seventh. The Bridge street petition is already in.

LaBree May Follow Suit.

Several residents along LaBree avenue north have signified their intention of petitioning for pavement. They do not take kindly to the idea of having Main, Knight and Horace avenues paved while the street on which is located some of the best homes in the city remains in its present condition.

Should this entire program go through it would mean the surfacing of 24 blocks this summer, or a greater stretch than was laid last year. The total yardage would probably not be quite as great, however, as on these residence streets the pavement could be considerably narrower than in the business section.

BIDS ON ROAD TO RED LAKES ASKED; OPENED JUNE 7TH

Calls For Clearing and Grubbing 63.7 Acres and Excavating 8,000 Cubic Yds.

The Beltrami county board of commissioners is advertising for bids for the construction of State Road No. 16 in that county, this being the projected highway extended from the ridge south of Thorhult to the Red lake. The distance is 10½ miles and the work involves practically the following items:

Cleaning and grubbing, 63.7 acres; earth excavation, 9,000 cubic yards; overhaul excavation, 46,620 cubic yards; ditching, 17,530 cubic yards; turnpiking, 265 stations; installing 10 culverts.

Bids will be open at Bemidji at 1:30 o'clock on Saturday, June 7. Local road contractors are very much interested in this letting and will no doubt be found among the bidders. The necessary machinery can be transported from Thief River Falls to the location of the work at less expense than from any other point and contractors are therefore in a particularly favorable position for bidding on the work.

Thirty Silos Being Built Near the City This Spring

Silo building is receiving a tremendous boost in Pennington county, and particularly in the territory around Thief River Falls, this year. At least 30 new silos are going up at this time and a considerably larger number is contemplated. This movement has been greatly stimulated by the action of President C. L. Hansen of the First National bank in offering to loan money for the erection of these necessities without any interest charge for one year.

Silos will not take care of the fodder corn crop raised in the country this year, however, no matter how fast they may be built. Secretary Peter Eglestad of the Thief River Creamery association is authority for the statement that many farmers will stack their fodder in the fields or near the barns where it will be handy for feeding and build silos at a later date. This method of caring for this valuable fodder crop has proven very satisfactory but is not quite so convenient as a silo besides being more wasteful. Present indications are that the corn acerage will be increased 50 per cent over last year in the county.

ONE JUDGE SHOULD HAVE CHAMBERS AT THIEF RIVER FALLS

Roseau County Citizen Says This Would Prove More Convenient for Everybody.

The following communication, received from a reader of The Times in Roseau county, indicates that the people in that part of the state are finding the present location of district judges most inconvenient. As pointed out by this correspondent it is now necessary for the people residing at Roseau or Warroad to come first to Thief River Falls, spend a night here and then proceed to other points whenever they have any business to transact with the court. This is a tedious and costly proceeding and one which they very much wish to see remedied, if the opinion voiced by this citizen prevails to any extent.

While the writer of the communication is a supporter of Judge J. M. Bishop of this city, this is a matter of secondary importance. What he asks is that Thief River Falls be made the seat of chambers for one of the judges and puts forth several good reasons for making the request. His letter follows:

"Editor Times, Thief River Falls. Dear Sir: I have read your article in last week's issue of The Times about your city being in the center of the judicial district and therefore readily accessible from all parts of the district. This is especially true and of great importance to the county of Roseau. In the past when the services of a judge have been required we have found it necessary to go to your city and from there on to other points. Thief River Falls being now the geographical as well as the transportation center and center of population in the district, it is only right and proper that one of the judges in this judicial district should be located there.

"The St. Vincent line of the Great Northern passes through four counties of this district: Kittson, Marshall, Polk and Norman. Both district judges are located on this line and not 40 miles apart.

"The Winnipeg line of the Soo passes through six counties in the district, namely: Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk and Mahnomen. There is no district judge residing on this line. But our county, lying to the east of both these railroads, is placed at even a greater disadvantage than those through which the Soo passes because of the present location of the judges. No part of the district would be inconvenienced by having the office of one judge located at Thief River Falls while for a large number of people such arrangement would prove a distinct advantage. Now that Thief River Falls is presenting J. M. Bishop as a candidate for the judgeship it seems to me that the voters who are placed at a disadvantage because of existing conditions should work and vote for his election."

No Parents-Teachers Meeting.

The executive committee of the Parents-Teachers association announces that the regular May meeting has been called off because of the many activities in connection with the closing of the school year will take up a large share of the time of both teachers and parents during the last week of the month.

The meetings will be resumed with the opening of the new term.

Serious Charge Brought By Father of Minor Girl

At the request of Sheriff W. J. LaBree the authorities at Hallock on Wednesday arrested Peter Moran who was brought to this city to answer to a charge of rape brought against him by Frank Phelps of Smiley township, father of Jessie Phelps, a mentally deficient minor.

At the hearing before Judge N. W. Tarrant yesterday afternoon the court room was cleared of all spectators with the exception of parties having a direct interest in the case. The girl, who is about 20 years of age, was the principal witness and at the close of her testimony Moran was bound over to the grand jury which convenes next month and his bond fixed at $1,000.

County Attorney Theo. Quale conducted the prosecution, and H. O. Chommie appeared for the defense.

ALL TO JOIN IN HONORING DEAD MEMORIAL DAY

Parade, Followed By Appropriate Exercises, Will Mark Anniversary in This City.

Memorial Address to Be Delivered By Rev. T. E. Sweger at Auditorium in Forenoon.

Soldiers and Sailors of All Wars Asked to Appear in Line in Their Uniforms.

Memorial Day will be observed in Thief River Falls with appropriate ceremonies on Tuesday. Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion will have charge of the program, assisted by other organizations and citizens generally.

The parade will form in front of legion headquarters on Third street and march through the principal streets of the city to the auditorium where the procession will disband while the exercises are being held. Oscar Paulson, commander of the post, requests that all service men, whether soldiers, sailors or marines, appear in uniform. The boy scouts and other organizations in the city have signified their intention of joining in the parade to the auditorium and it is likely that most of them will later join the ex-service men in paying tribute to departed comrades at the cemetery.

The auditorium program will be in charge of Mayor John Bratrud and is scheduled to begin at 10:30 o'clock sharp. The Memorial Day address will be delivered by Rev. T. E. Sweger of Trinity Lutheran church and there will be music by the municipal band. Following is the program:

"Star Spangled Banner," Audience.
Invocation, Rev. J. B. Smith.
Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Supt. I. T. Simley.
Vocal Solo, Roy Prytz.
Selection by the band.
Address, Rev. T. E. Sweger.
Octette, "America Triumphant."
"Flanders Fields and America's Answer," Mrs. M. P. Rapacz.
Silent Tribute.
Benediction, Rev. J. B. Smith.
"America," audience.
Selection by the band.

At the close of these ceremonies the parade will again form and march to the cemeteries where the legion members, relatives and friends of departed soldiers will decorate the graves and pay the usual honors to their former comrades. The ceremony at the cemetry will be in charge of Rev. Smith. Firing of the usual salute over the graves and the sounding of taps will close the program.

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion are requested to meet at legion headquarters not later than 9:30 o'clock for the purpose of taking part in the parade and program.

Ex-service men residing in the country or who may be in the city temporarily are invited to join in these observances. This applies not only to veterans of the late war but to those of the civil and Spanish-American wars as well.

Steenerson Would Allow Farm Laborers to Enter

An amendment to the immigration law which would except farm immigration from the three per cent restrictions was proposed on Monday by Representative Halvor Steenerson.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL PRESENT TWO UNUSUAL FEATURES

Cardigan, Great Drama of Revolutionary Times, to Be Followed By Legion Follies.

Thru the efforts of Elmer J. Ecklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion two of the largest entertainment features ever seen here will soon be offered to the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity.

These two shows, "Cardigan" and "The American Legion Follies" will both be seen during the next three weeks. The film version of Robert W. Chambers great novel "Cardigan" is being shown by Legion posts thruout the state to record-breaking crowds. Proceeds from these presentations are all placed in a fund to make possible the Minnesota Memorial Hospital of the American Legion. This hospital will be founded to commemorate by service the soldier and sailor dead of the state of Minnesota. Distinctly an American Legion institution located at Rochester where medical and surgical aid, examinations, operations, dressings and treatment will be rendered free of charge to all former service men and women and their dependents who are without financial meanes.

"Cardigan" is a real education. As romantic story of a youth and a maid drawn by chance into the dramatic a drama it is perfect. As a picture it is The Great American Picture one which will live forever. It depicts the struggle for American independence in which the thrilling ride of Paul Revere is reproduced. This will be shown at the Lyceum and Princess theatres Tuesday and Wednesday, May 29, and 30.

The American Legion Follies will be seen here at the Auditorium on June 13 and 14. This has proven a sensational success at every performance and has been engaged by many of the largest posts in the Northwest for future showings.

The cast of this presentation which will number over fifty young men and women, will be made up entirely of local people. J. C. Kelly of the Modern Art Productions of St. Paul, has arrived and rehearsals are under way. The local committee in charge includes Oscar Paulson, post commander, L. A. Hermanson, post adjutant, and David Robinson.

ALL STORES IN CITY TO CLOSE ON MEMORIAL DAY.

On Tuesday, May 30—Memorial Day—all stores in Thief River Falls will remain closed all day. This action has been taken by the Merchants association in order to enable members and their employes to take part in the observances as well as a mark of respect to the nation's soldiers, living and dead.

NEW SETTLER PLAN MEETING APPROVAL OF HOME SEEKERS

Inquiries Show That Much Interest is Being Taken in Work of Association.

That the New Settlers Association of the Thief River Valley is attracting considerable attention outside of our immediate territory is evidenced by the number of letter inquiries being received by Secretary J. J. McCann. Many of these are from people living long distances from Thief River Falls, and in several cases newspaper clippings from various papers are enclosed showing that a large amount of publicity is being given the movement.

During the past week persons residing in Alberta, Montana, North Dakota, Missouri, Idaho, Iowa and Illinois have written for more complete information, all of them stating that they intend to make Minnesota their home in he near fuure and that the purposes expressed by this association are very attractive to them. Also during the same time two men, one from Iowa and one from South Dakota, visited the city to investigate personally what the association has to offer and to seek out locations for farm homes. One of the most favorable signs is that both wanted 80-acre tracts for dairying and diversified farming. These are the kind of men wanted here and the ones who will make the country prosperous.

While a certain amount of publicity has already been given this movement, in the near future considerably more will get into the hands of the proper parties and then real results may be looked for. Editor George W. Kelley of the Northwest Farmstead has announced that he will run as a special feature of the June 1st issue of that paper a lengthy, illustrated article on the Thief River valley. As this paper reaches more than 100,000 farmers in the Northwest the value of such publicity is beyond estimation, and by the middle of June, when the farmers have more time than at present, a large number of prospective homeseekers may be looked for.

First Community Picnic.

The first community picnic of the season, held last Sunday by members of the Reiner Farmers club at Torgerson, was well attended and a most enjoyable affair. People were present from all over the eastern section of the country and quite a few went out from Thief River. Stuart McLeod of Goodridge, spoke on dairying and short addresses were made by others. Speakers who were to be present from this city were unable to make the trip.

To Accommodate Public.

In order that all those who may wish to secure flowers for Memorial Day but who cannot take the time to procure them on Monday may be able to get them while they are fresh, Mr. Bothun has decided to keep the retail store open on Sunday. This applies to the Flower Shop only and not to the greenhouse.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Cover them over with beautiful flowers;
Deck them with garlands, these brothers of ours;
Lying so silent by night and by day,
Sleeping the years of their manhood away;
Years they had marked for the joys of the brave,
Years they must waste in the sloth of the grave.
All the bright laurels that promised to bloom,
Fell to the earth when they went to the tomb.
So in our minds we will name them once more,
So in our hearts we'll cover them o'er.
Roses and lilies and violets blue,
Bloom in our hearts for the brave and the true.
Cover them over; yes, cover them over.
Parent and husband and brother and lover;
Crown in your hearts these dead heroes of ours,
And cover them over with beautiful flowers.

Departmental Exhibits.

An interesting part of the week's program will be the physical training demonstration at the auditorium on Monday evening under the direction of Miss Clara Baumann and R. B. Stenhoff, and the exhibit of work done in the mechanical training department and home economics department in Locken Brother's show windows. These last-named divisions are under the supervision of A. W. Jardine and Miss Ruth Soule respectively. More detailed information concerning these exhibits will be found on the High School Progress page of today's Times.

Closes Successful Year.

The exercise this week will close one of the most successful school years in the city's history. The enlarging of the Knox building at the opening of the term helped greatly in relieving the crowded condition which to some extent hampered the work before that time and while no surplus space was provided the situation in this respect is greatly improved. Supt. Simley states that he has at all times been fortunate in having the hearty co-operation of parents, faculty and school board in anything advanced for the betterment of the schools, a fact which he credits with being largely responsible for the harmony and good feeling prevailing in all departments. He wishes to express his deep appreciation for this support of the policies inaugurated and believes that the future will attest their value.

The senior class is exactly the same size as last year there being 72 names on the list of graduates. At the close of the season Lincoln high also has 80 Juniors, 88 sophomores and 102 freshmen enrolled.

Butter Makers to Picnic.

A meeting of buttermakers at the co-operative creameries in this section was held at the Hotel Brumund last evening at which matters of importance to the organization were taken up. It was decided to hold a picnic at Squaw Point in this city on June 18 and to conduct another butter scoring contest during the summer. The program for the picnic has been placed in the hands of a committee and will be announced at a later date.

Proceeds to Charity.

There will be an interesting baseball game played at the fair grounds on Sunday afternoon. Bill Sheedy's Progressives have challenged any amateur team in the city for a contest and the gage of battle has been accepted by the Thief River Grocery company team. There will be a small admission charged, whatever is realized being turned over to some worthy charity.

ASK TO BE GIVEN DEMONSTRATION OF NEW FUEL PRODUCT

Business Men Suggest That Small Consignment Be Sent Here For Public Tests.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the commercial club and other representative business men this week the proposition made by the patent owners of the new fuel product derived from a combination of lignite coal and peat was taken under consideration. All those present expressed themselves as being greatly interested in the subject but all wished to know more of its possibilities before committing themselves further.

It was finally decided that before anything is done to meet the terms of the manufacturers and patentees the latter be requested to send 500 or more pounds of fuel to Thief River Falls and give a public demonstration of its posibilities. All who are in any manner interested could then see for themselves just what the combination will do when tested under different conditions of burning and would also get some idea of what chance it stands to survive in competition with coal. The patentees state that it is equal to the best anhracite for heating purposes and can be purchased for one-half the price at the very outside.

Many have realized the posibilities of northern Minnesota's peat beds as sources of a fuel supply, but very little has ever been done to provide a product that would meet the requirements. Peat alone is a messy and unsatisfactory substance to handle and all authorities agree that a binder or some kind will be necessary in order to make it commercially available as fuel. The men behind this new idea claim to have provided just what is lacking through combining the peat with the lignite and that a fuel results that is every bit as easy to handle as ordinary briquettes.

Should the manufacturers agree to the proposition of a demonstration a date will be set and the public notified in order that first hand evidence may be had as to the posibilities of the material.

Stanton is Urged to Make Run For County Attorney

One filing for county office was recorded during the present week but the books will be open until 5 o'clock on Monday afternoon so that there is still plenty of time.

Emil Larson, a well-known resident of the town of Bray, has entered the race as a candidate for county commissioner in the Third district, now represented by Gust Naplin. There is one other candidate, J. V. Patton. Mr. Naplin has not yet filed for re-election but the general impression seems to be that he will do so.

The other presistent rumor regarding a possible entry is that referring to E. M. Stanton as a candidate for county attorney. Mr. Stanton recently returned from the South greatly improved in health and he has been urged by a large number of voters to get into the race. While he does not admit being a candidate, neither does he deny that he is giving the subject serious consideration. His filing would throw the contest into the primaries, there being already two candidates, Theo. Quale and G. Howard Smith.

Golf Club Buys 33-Acre Plot Just Outside of City

At a meeting of the Thief River Falls golf club last Thursday articles of incorporation were signed and the organization started off as a going concern. There is no capital stock and there will be no dividends except such as can be collected through enjoyment of the game and the good health resultant from its practice. About 33 acres of the former Adsero farm about a mile and a half north of the city have been purchased and the work of laying out a course will be begun at once. Mr. Chapin, an expert from Grand Forks, was here last week for the purpose of going over the property and he pronounced the spot ideal. It is doubtful if the full nine-hole course can be put in shape for playing this year, but a start will be made and things will be in readiness for next season. The club now has 60 members.

"Stop, Thief!" Class Play at Auditorium Tomorrow

The advance sale of tickets for "Stop Thief!" the high school class play which is to be presented at the auditorium on Friday evening indicates that there will be an unusual crowd. The play is one of the most amusing ever presented by a senior class and comes highly recommended from places in which it has been seen.

"Stop, Thief!" is a rollicking comedy in three acts. There is not a dull moment in the performance and one intensely funny situation only ends to give place to another even "more funnier." If the doctors have warned you against laughing, do not see this play, but if you are still able to enjoy clean fun it will be a serious mistake to stay away.

As an added attraction there will be musical numbers by the high school orchestra and these alone will be worth the price of admission.

Holt Bank Closed.

The State Bank of Holt was on Tuesday closed on orders of State Bank Examiner Rathbun. Depleted reserves is given as the reason for the suspension of business.

mighty good baseball game was ted all to smithereens in the hth inning on Sunday afternoon en a batting rally on the part of l Lake Falls and a temporary kening in defensive tactics on the t of Thief River Falls permitted visitors to make five runs. Up this time the score stood five to e in favor of the Thief River ls team and the game seemed ely tucked away.

n the distastrous eighth Swoboda Christianson for Red Lake Falls h hit for safeties and managed to ance one base without getting ght. Kruse was sent in as a ch hitter in place of Keifenheim. lerolf teased Kruse into swinging wo ineffectually and then the Red ker fooled the natives by slamg out one for two bags, scoring h his teammates. Captain Yost found his batting eye and landsafely, while Skie, who had not viously been living up to his reation as a slugger, followed suit, ing the catcher. Bray caught the iction and hit safely, scoring both ners.

leither team was able to score in first two innings. Both pitchers e working in good form and while strike out record of the Indian nuch better than that of Federolf, latter's support was air tight and visitors could not put a man ss. In the third Berg and Sten- made clean hits. Halbert aded them when he hit through ond, both scoring on Morse's twoger. Federolf reached first; ns and Thompson struck out.

ost made his second hit for Red e Falls in the Fourth, scoring harme, who made the grade on overthrow. Yost caught stealing l. Swoboda out at first.

n the fourth inning Thief River s made three runs and it looked f all was over but the shouting. m this time on, however, the netto gentleman from Red Lake s pitched as if he was peeved ut something and nothing further pened in the scoring line until the ninth, when Thief River Falls managed to get another across.

Federolf pitched his steady, consistent game and the defeat cannot be laid at his door. Skie is the more sensational performer of the two and there is no denying the fact that he is a good man. His offerings have a short, nasty break, but even at that the experienced Thief River Falls batters touched him up for nine hits. He would prove a terror against a team of weak hitters. Red Lake Falls made twice as many hits as the locals, but outside of the eighth these were seldom placed where any damage resulted.

Thompson, who appeared on the receiving end for Thief River Falls for the first time, made a good showing. He gets everything within reach and has a reliable pegging arm. All the other boys proved that when they get a little more hardened to the grind they will give a decidedly good account of themselves.

A special term of the district court is being held here today with Judge William Watts of Crookston presiding. The particular matter coming up at this time is the case of Clarence Larson vs. John Tapper and involves the rental of certain lands in the neighborhood of Holt. CREAMERY PAYING OUT $500 PER DAY AT PRESENT TIME

Increase of 19½ Per Cent in Receipts of Butterfat Over Same Month Year Ago.

The Thief River Falls co-operative creamery paid out an average of $500 per day for butter fat during the month of April, including Sundays. According to the monthly report of Secretary Peter Englestad, the institution distributed a total of $15,000 during the 30 days, while the amount of butterfat received showed an increase of 19½ per cent over the corresponding month last year. Receipts at the creamery for products sold were $19,141.13.

The big check men—those receiving $50 or more for their product—divided $4,100 among them, leaving $11,000 as the share of the smaller patrons. The Guernsey herd of Mr. Englestad is this week in top position by a wide margin, followed by Hans Anton and Jens Kierk, both of whom are in the $200 division. Florida's Climate Great; People Seem Prosperous

Attorney E. M. Stanton returned last week from a month's visit to Florida points. He reports having had a most enjoyable trip and that his health has been very much benefitted by the change.

Mr. Stanton says that Florida is all right but he would not recommend it as a place for an ambitious young man. As a health resort he believes the state has no equal but conditions down there are not such as otherwise appeals to a Northerner. From Jacksonville south past the center of the state nothing but sand is to be observed but this seems capable of producing crops of high quality when properly irrigated. The common run of people down there—even the Whites—seem to have but few needs and these are easily satisfied. They seem unable to understand how anyone can live in this latitude, according to Mr. Stanton, and refer to Georgia, Carolinas and Varginia as the "North."

There is no talk of hard times down in that section, people in the cities and country alike being seemingly prosperous. Early garden products such as celery, tomatoes and cabbage, form a large share of the farm revenue for that region and thousands of cars have already been shipped to northern markets.

Sufferers, Take Notice!

Why keep on suffering from all sorts of chronic diseases when cures can be gotten if treated rationally. Have cases on record of Rheumatism, Asthma, etc., that have come back from Hot Springs and other health resorts and been cured at Dr. Vistaunet's Treatment Parlors. j23tf

Young Trees Transplanted.

The transplanting of about 400 young pine trees and the setting out of quite a number of black walnuts was this week completed at the Sanatorium grounds. The pine trees have been somewhat roughly handled since their arrival here. They were first set out on the site of the new nurses' home and had to be moved after one year's sojourn there in order to make room for the structure. In spite of this fact they are thriving and attaining a highly satisfactory growth.

Young Pastor Takes Over Presbyterian Pulpit Here

Rev. Charles Gerlinger, who completed his theological course at princeton university last year and was at once called to the pastorate of the Presbyterian church here, arrived last week and on Sunday morning preached his opening sermon. He is a young man possessing rare gifts as a pulpit speaker and one of the most approachable and aggreable persons one could possibly meet. His viewpoint and training are such that he may be expected to take a keen interest in the upbuilding of the community in which his lot has been cast at the outset of his preaching career while his personality assures him a hearty welcome. Members of the presbyterian congregation here consider themselves as particularly fortunate in having secured the services of a man of his standing.

AN UNEXPECTED WALLOP.

Just what Elmer E. Adams of Fergus Falls expects to gain by disparaging the northern part of the Red River valley in general and the cities of Crookston and Thief River Falls in particular is a little hard to understand. It is a very unusual thing for a man of his standing to call attention to the real or fancied shortcomings of communities in which he may temporarily be a guest, even when such action may to some extent be justified by the facts. When, however, he goes out of his way to the extent of making statements that are wholly untrue, the action is all the more remarkable.

Upon his return to Fergus Falls Mr. Adams either wrote or furnished the material for an article appearing in the Journal of that city in which he is credited with saying there is probably great injury to the crops of this region because of the heavy rainfall. Crookston and the surrounding country fared very badly in this storm, according to Mr. Adams, and the farmers were kept off their fields for many days.

It is rather unfortunate that a well-known Minnesota booster should have happened to strike this region at the time of one of the severest rainstorms in its entire history was overdoing things, but he might have been more guarded in referring to it instead of giving out the impression that such occurrences were common. The Crookston territory is given the worst of the deal, but the entire valley comes in for a share. The facts are that the damage done by this rainstorm was very slight in both Polk and Pennington counties.

Mr. Adams next turns his attention to paving and says that it is impossible to drive along the roads after leaving the paved area of this city, the soil consisting of a heavy gumbo. This will be news to farmers and others in this neighborhood who have always understood that the soil was of a loam formation. The public is further informed by Mr. Adams that property owners in Thief River Falls are unable to pay their taxes, due to the heavy paving assessments. The fact that no collections for paving have as yet been attempted seems to have escaped his notice. He further says that while there is some "slight" demand for more paving this year it is not likely any additional contracts will be let.

All of which is pure bunk and should be beneath a man of Mr. Adams' calibre. He is aligned with a crowd opposed to paving in his own town and takes this means of helping along his argument. There is likely to be more paving done in Thief River Falls this year than last, a fact which the Fergus Falls man could very easily have ascertained.

Here at home no attention will be paid to the article but it is poor stuff to have sent broadcast and Mr. Adams has not increased his popularity in this section by his action.

NEWSPAPERS HELP GOOD ROADS.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, pointing to the results from publicity given auto tax enforcement recently, took occasion to commend Minnesota newspapers for giving valuable support, which he has come to regard as essential, to make the good roads program most successful.

The Times, as one of the many newspaper friends of the good roads movement and all other meritorious public undertakings, joins hundreds of contemporaries in answering:

"Support is being accorded the highway program to help the highway department to help us and our neighbors—to speed the time when only good roads will serve our town and section. Then this will be a better and more porsperous community and all will benefit.

"Farm and city neighbors will be brought in closer touch—good roads encourage visitin' 'round. Property values will advance—as always from street and road improvements. Farmers will gain and so will town people.

"This newspaper will grow, reach more subscribers and give advertisers bigger and surer returns; it will become a bigger and better news and advertising medium, thriving with its patrons and friends.

"So, Mr. Babcock, while it is not wholly unselfish, here's a good wish on the big highway program; may it always deserve the confidence and hearty support it now enjoys here and everywhere else in Minnesota."

Columns of this newspaper are open to the frank constructive suggestions of its readers on all things relating to good roads and all other general public work.

C. J. Christopherson of Rock county, at present assistant attorney general, has filed as a candidate for associate justice of the supreme court to succeed Justice Quinn of Fairmont, whose term expires and who may withdraw from the race because of failing health. Mr. Christopherson is one of the best known attorneys in the southwestern section of the state and has made an excellent record as an assistant to Attorney General Hilton. He is a Minnesota product, having been born and reared in the state, and is by education and training amply qualified for the position he seeks.

MANY SEEK OFFICE.

If all those who are seeking office this year in the state of Minnesota were gathered in one place they would make a community larger than Thief River Falls. Vance Chapman, "The County Chairman," has figured it out and says that this is the largest number of candidates ever seen in the history of the state. His statement on its face looks impossible, but he evidently knows what he is talking about. In his weekly letter this observer of things political says:

"To say that between 6,000 and 7,000 persons are seeking office in Minnesota at the present time would seem an exaggeration, but such is the case and if verification is wanted it is found in the largest number of candidate filings ever known in the history of the state. And to add to the voters troubles the open season is still on as far as filing for county offices are concerned. Filings for state offices closed May 10, but those having designs on county jobs have until May 29 to get in under the wire. In nearly all of the 86 counties of the state the number of elective offices in each is 17. This means a total of 1,462 elective county positions and as an average of four persons are contesting for each the answer is easy. It is simply a case of plain arithmetic. Add to this the 198 legislative positions, the district judiciary, ten congressional jobs and the various state offices for each of which there is an average of three contestants and the figure 7,000 is easily within the limit of conservatism. Some are of the opinion that the number of candidate filings which will be passed upon at the coming primaries will be nearer 8,000.

"For the nine places which are strictly state offices four complete tickets have been filed with the secretary of state. They include the ticket endorsed at the recent Republican state convention, an opposition Republican ticket with Ernest Lundeen and Frank Ellsworth as its chief sponsors, a complete Democratic ticket with Thos. J. Meighen and Mrs. Peter Olsen in the role of rival candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States senator and a complete ticket bearing the Farmer-Labor brand. Only two of the tickets mentioned, the Republican and Democratic, will figure in the June primaries. The Farmer-Labor candidates are without opposition and will not be listed. The ticket in opposition the Republican convention nominees is an eleventh hour affair and has the earmarks or radical backing."

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

A friend of ours says that every time he is invited to take a drink of moonshine he feels like a lad who is offered a job in a dynamite factory.

Tell your friends that Noonan is a good man for representative, even if it makes you faint when you see a cherry tree or a hatchet.

If people were as bad as gossips try to make them out to be, heaven has about all the angels it is going to get.

Times may be returning to normaley, but some of the dealers still want too much for what we want.

An exchange in a nearby village grows chesty because the fire department was on the job four minutes after a fire was discovered. That's nothing. We could mention many a fire where we suspect the owner was on the job before the fire was discovered.

Frank Day of the Fairmont Sentinel says that Bess Wilson of the Redwood Falls Gazette would be a better paragrapher than the Region editor if she could devote more time to it. Frank can't get a rise out of us on that question. Bess wins the nomination even if she has to take time off to bake the biscuits and do the dishes.

VAIN HOPES.

Winnebago City Enterprise: Probably the wish to begin life over again, that one might profit by the mistakes of the past, is as old as man.

And it is a vain hope, without even the remotest chance of being granted. We can only learn as we live from day to day.

There is no doubt but that the School of Experience is the best school, even if the rates of tuition do come mighty high.

JUNE IS "MIND'S PLANTING TIME"

Asked why Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., begins its school year in June when all others open in Fall, F. L. Watkins, Pres., said: "By planting the seed of business knowledge in June, our pupils' 'crop' is ready when there's the biggest market for it." He explained that most June pupils graduate in winter, the busiest season.

Even in "dull" months D. B. C. graduates are offered good places. Only recently Elizabeth Stajgr was employed by the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. "Follow the SucceSSful." Write F. L. Watkins, Pres., 806 Front St., Fargo, N. D.

American Legion Corner

Many a buddy who has thus far done nothing to help the Gopher Gang thinks the American Legion has done little for him or his comrades and has no end of complaints to make about how the organization should be run. Buddy, did you ever stop to consider that grumblers seldom are doers? Well, it's never too late to reform. Join the Gopher Gang! Work for Minnesota, your community, your comrades and America. Push and pull for prosperity. Help secure better government. Don't just talk about how Uncle Sam should run things, but put your shoulder to the wheel and actually be a worker for better government. Register as a member of some party, and when election day comes vote for the men who in your judgment will make good officials.

It's unjust for you to always expect help from the government when you do nothing to help it except grumble. This also applies to your attitude toward the American Legion—dig in and make it what you believe it ought to be. And when you've joined yourself, get that other buddy to sign his name on the dotted line. The more of us in the Legion the stronger will we be and the wiser will be our attitude and decisions. Collective effort is one of the greatest agencies for real accomplishment. Therefore, to protect our rights as former veterans, we should identify ourselves with those whose problems are identical with ours, that we may acquire the cumulative force of union. As we fought together, let's stick together!

"Batter up, Gophers!" That is the slogan soon to be heard among Minnesota Legionaires. Four counties will be represented in the Western Minnesota Legion baseball league, composed of teams from Clara City, Clarkfield, Dawson, Madison, Granite Falls, Appleton and Milan. It is patterned after the Southern Minnesota Legion baseball league, which operated successfully in 1921 and will continue to function in 1922. The McLeod county baseball league will also be on the job this year. Fist District Legionaires, too, are busy organizing. On the other hand, the Bandgers and Gophers will bat 'er up in the St. Croix valley Legion baseball league, made up of Minnesota and Wisconsin teams from the posts at Stillwater, New Richmond, Hudson and Ellsworth.

The Stragglers.

All tattered and torn the old Flag waves,
And the old men follow the line,
To garland the graves of their brother braves
Who lie neath the cypress and pine.
How shrunken the strength of the old regiments
That mustered long since in their pride!
The rest of the Army are gone to their tents
In the camp on the green hillside.

From the graves where they lie seems a voice to sigh;
"Come, comrades, make haste on the way,
For the armies have passed from the heat and the blast
To the calm of the bivouac for aye.
Each soldier's at rest on the earth's wide breast,
Forgetting the march and the fray;
And, pacing the sward, the sentinel guard
Keeps watch till the east is gray;
Aye, pacing the sod, the sentries of God
Keep watch till the Judgment Day!

Feed Most Important.
(Warroad Pioneer.)

Why not import some more cows here, asks a correspondent. The fact is this district has all the cattle it can feed at the present time. What is needed is more acreage to raise more feed on. Let the cattle supply increase naturally, but improve the quality as much as possible. Too little feed means to either ship it in at a high price or ship the stock out in poor condition at a low price.

Sigvald Qvale Contest.

A Norse declamation contest, in which eight Norse students vied for the Sigvald Qvale medal for Norse declamation, was held at the high school auditorium Monday evening, May 22.

The program was opened by a Norse song, "Mor's Vuggesang," by eight girls, dressed in Norwegian costume, after which the following Norse readings were given:

"Preston og Klokkereu," Asbojornson—Clara Oien.
"Kaffemarthe," Aanrud—Lily Stenseth.
"Fanten og Kjarringen," N. Rolfson—Theresa Newton.
"Gutten's Drom om Stjernen," Dickens—Martha Fallness.
"Manden Som Skulde Stelle Hjemme," Asbjornson—Mae Ballangrud.
"Himmelsprat," Zwilgmeyer—Anna Nygaard.
"To Tomme Hander," Ager—Naomi Pederson.
"Pigen og Fyrstikkerne," Anderson—Olive Aaland.

A piano solo, "Waves of the Ocean," played by Olive Aaland while the judges were making their decision, concluded the program.

The judges were the Messrs. T. J. Austad, Bernhard Knudsen and Olaf Neset. First prize, the Sigvard Qvale medal, was awarded to Olive Aaland. Second and third prizes, awarded by Miss Stavig, were won by Naomi Pederson and Anna Nygaard, respectively.

School Board Dinner.

Last Thursday evening the freshmen cooking class entertained the members of the school board, their husbands and wives, Mr. and Mrs. Simley, and Mr. and Mrs. Rapacz at an informal dinner, served at the high school. The sewing room was masqueraded as a softly lighted dining room with two long tables, decorated with baskets of bleeding hearts, rose-shaped place cards and flaring candy baskets, holding pink and white mints. The color was repeated in shaded candles.

The following menu was served: Fruit cocktail, breaded veal cutlets, mashed potatoes and gravy, creamed peas in timbales, baked pineapple, rolls, pickles, conserve, combination salad, cheese balls, strawberry ice, lily cake, coffee, mints.

After the dinner had been served, a style show was presented in which forty girls wore the dresses they had made in sewing class. Miss Soule had general charge.

Progress Staff Enjoys Evening Breakfast.

On Wednesday evening of last week the Progress staff enjoyed a supper, cooked and served by themselves at Lincoln high.

From the bacon and eggs—which will be accounted for presently—to the coffee, the repast, as a hunger-dispelling medium, was a huge success. And it may be said that for once at least the old saying, "Too many cooks spoil the broth" was completely disproved.

Originally it had been planned that the members of the staff should assemble at 5:15 a. m. and hike such a distance and in such a direction as would, when they arrived at the destination, make their appetities equal to the task of consuming quantities of bacon and eggs plus the trimmings; but as usual Old Dame Nature put the petty plans of Man to rout with a generous supply of rain. Therefore the postponement until evening—and therefore the bacon and eggs.

Annual Exhibit.

The home economics and manual training departments of the high school are holding their annual exhibit this week at Loken's store. The display occupies two sections of the windows and will remain there until the end of the week.

The articles on display were, with one exception in the manual training section, made by first year classes. Due to lack of space it is impossible to show an article made by each member of the classes, but those shown were chosen with the idea of representing as far as possible the different types of work covered and they give a very good idea of the work done during the past year in these two departments. The selections are not based on the quality of workmanship and do not represent the work of the best students alone but are representative of the work of the classes as a whole.

The exhibit of the home economics department is attracting a great deal of attention and has been the basis of a great many very complimentary remarks. The garments are representative of the work of the classes as a whole. One very interesting feature is the catalogue of time spent and cost of materials of each garment which is attached to it. The work of this department is some of the most practical in the entire high school and those who will examine this exhibit will appreciate its importance.

Badly Twisted.

It was a nice day in October,
Last September in July,
The moon lay thick upon the ground,
The mud shone in the sky.
The flowers were singing sweetly,
The birds were full of bloom,
So I went into the cellar
To sweep an upstairs room.
The time was Tuesday morning,
On Wednesday, just at night,
I saw a thousand miles away,
A house, just out of sight.
The walls projected backwards,
The front was round the back,
It stood alone with others,
The fence was whitewashed black.
It was moonlight on the ocean,
Not a street car was in sight,
The sun was shining brightly,
And it rained all day that night.
It was summer in the winter,
And the rain was falling fast—
A barefoot boy with shoes on
Stood sitting in the grass.
It was evening and the rising sun
Stood setting in the night,
And everything that I could see
Was hidden from my sight.

(This is the last of the series of poems written by Mr. Holmgren and Miss McGilvery.)

Dramatic Club Feed.

For a long time the members of the dramatic club have been wanting to spend that large (?) sum of money in their treasury. First a party was planned, then a breakfast, then a picnic, and finally the date was set for last Tuesday. The efficient Warner company was appointed to collect sufficient edible mater for a group of thirty artistic but hungry elocutionists. They succeeded admirably and by four o'clock room 012 was well stocked with supplies. Cars were promised by the gentlemen of the club, and everything looked promising. But to quote Burns, "The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft aglee."

A dark cloud looms on the horizon. Thunder! Lightning. No picnic!

But good things to eat can be enjoyed any place. Therefore the janitor, the keys, the gymnasium, the big table

And while the storm rages without, the dramatic club is quietly (?) enjoying its repast within.

Sad to say, there wasn't enough to eat! Milton Larson, for example, did not get any ice cream, and Lorrayne Crandall missed out on the olives. But there were plenty of lemons and the girls passed them out after lunch. Cleon Bottelson and Bernard Bischoff both claim to have received the largest number.

The "Stop Thief" cast sneaked down after play practice and cleaned up the crumbs.

On the whole, it was a good picnic.

Can You Afford to Miss It?

Milton Larson makes a fine crook. But this is his last trick. Us for the straight-and-narrow forevermore!

"Stop Thief!"

Poor absent-minded father! Loyal Arnold in "Stop Thief!"

Gladys Maland, Nora Lindquist and Helen Langseth are the three charming brides in "Stop Thief!"

You should see that bewildered look on August Langseth's face as he reaches into his pocket and pull out—"Stop Thief!"

Mildred Loftness and Pearl Shetler, as mother and daughter, are so ashamed of father's failing. "Stop Thief!"

Mr. Jamison—Lloyd Alnes—vows he'll have his money or send them all to the electric chair! "Stop Thief!"

William Alexander is the best detective in the state of Minnesota. But the thieves get his hoat—and some more of his property. "Stop Thief!"

Fred Paulson is a well-mannered minister, but even he forgets his dignity. "In my pocket! Good gracious!" "Stop Thief!"

But William McGinnity is out of luck in his love-making. "These exasperating interruptions!" "Stop Thief!"

The police sergeant—Clarence Rice—comes with his warrant. What becomes of it? "Stop Thief!"

Remember: This play is funny. It will keep you howling with mirth; it will keep you on your toes with suspense. But—it's not cheap comedy, by any means.

Listen!

We are paying twenty-five dollars royalty to put it on! That means it's high class.

Twenty-five dollars out the seniors' treasury! Will they make money on it???

That depends upon you.

Isn't this a bargain: You pay the senior class thirty-five cents (the price of one "movie.") The senor class gives you two hours of the best fun you've ever had, and their htanks besides.

Remember: The high school orchestra has some good stuff to fill in with. That alone is worth the money.

But—

If you're nervous, or if you giggle easily, don't come to this play! It will keep you jumping and giggling every minute.

"Stop Thief!" Whoo-pee!! Whoa!! Stop! Stop! Thief!!!

Listen—

Can you afford to miss it???

The Fats' Picnic.

The "overweights," commonly referred to as the "fats," assembled at Squaw Point last Tuesday evening to enjoy one evening of fun. Each and every one of them can say "Veni, vidi, vici." They did come; they saw all the eats (and indeed it wasn't such a small supply) and the gathering clouds; they conquered, so to speak. At any rate they exhausted the supply of lunch in short order and enjoyed themselves in spite of the rain.

A game of ball was played during the rain shower. The playing was so miraculous that the players were able to run between the drops and thus escape a good soaking.

The affair broke up about 7:30 after the fats had eaten to their hearts' content and each had added a few more pounds to his avoirdupois.

Another Freshman Song.

(Tune: Birds of a Feather.)

Freshmen of Lincoln, that's you and I,
Workin' and diggin' for marks so high (?)
Freshmen of Lincoln can never fail
'Cause they're keepin' on th' right trail.
Who knows—they maybe some day will bring
Banners and badges and everything.
Freshmen of Lincoln can never go wrong,
Helping each other along.—B. E. '25.

Sister Before the Mirror.

I quietly entered my sister's room one day when she was standing before the mirror. Seeing that she was unaware of my presence I sat down on the edge of the bed and waited for her to turn around.

I watched her closely as she turned her head first one way and then another, adding a touch of powder here and rubbing off a little there. She smiled at herself, frowned at herself and whispered to herself. She held her head first on one side, and then on the other side. Picking up a hand mirror, she viewed herself from all sides and then smiled at herself again.

I stood up and went softly out of the room so that she would not find me there when she turned around.

—Evelyn Buringrud, '25.

Father Reads the Newspaper

Father asks, "Where's the newspaper?" when he comes and seats himself in the big rocking chair. John immediately brings the paper and father turns to the funny sheet. His face lights up with amusement as he sees Danny playing his tricks on Olivia. Of course, he laughs; anybody would. Next he turns to the sport page, where he finds that Johnny Buff and Jack Britton are due to have a fight, and he bets that Johnny Buff will win. On the front page he reads where one of his relatives is held up and robbed of fifteen bones. His face works up and down with laughter because the particular relative is very stingy and it would do him more good than harm. Just then father is called for supper and leaves his paper in the chair.—Keith Craik, '25.

My Room.

My room is at the end of a dark hall. When you enter, a flood of sunshine, which gives a deep contrast from the lonely passage behind you, greets you.

It is a large airy room with plenty of light. The walls are covered with green wall paper. On one side of the room is a wide window, in front of which I have a comfortable rocking chair, with usually a book hid in its depths. On another side is a window rather high up, which open from the center to display a box of the choicest little flowers. There are shelves of books beneath this, covered by a curtain. The pretty frilled curtains are the same color as the woodwork, which is cream. In one corner is my bed and opposite this a little fireplace. My dressing table looks artistic near a window where I have a small rocker, which, like the whole bedroom set, is of maple. In a secluded corner is a small divan, piled with cushions, which invites you to cuddle in its depths and forget the world while you look over the Prowler of '25, and think back over the school days in Lincoln high.—Irene Roembililt, '25.

Father Reading the Paper.

Seated comfortably in his big leather chair, smoking his pipe, father reads the evening newspaper.

Looking at him, you can see an expression which says plainly: "By Jingo! If here isn't Andy Gump!" He reads the funny section through and often we hear an amused chuckle from the corner of the room. As he turns over to the sport section he settles himself more comfortably in his chair and for a moment he is so interested that he forgets his pipe.

When he has read the paper all through, he turns to mother and says, "Fine paper! Want to read it?"—Hilda Ness, '25.

Do As You Are Told.

I am a fox and my home is in the ground. I am a small fox, but I will grow to be larger later.

One day in the fall (it is now spring) my mother said excitedly, "The hunters are here! Crawl into the house and be terribly quiet."

As we were outside playing, we ran as fast as we could into our house. When we were inside we could hear the hunters talking and tramping around. Just then I pushed a pan from the table and down it went! The next moment my mother was boxing my ears, but the hunters had gone away. How glad we were! Later we heard the hunters were young men and didn't know how to hunt.

It taught me a lesson, however, this was to do as I was told. Perhaps some of you will profit by this. I at least hope so.

You might hear from me again if we write any more themes in English.—Emmett Shanahan, '25.

Aunt Martha's "Best Room."

Aunt Martha's best room is a large dreary place with a formal uncomfortable atmosphere. The ceiling and walls are covered with a dull brown wall paper. There are two small windows on the north wall with the draperies of the same ugly shade. The walls are all lined with pictures of Aunt Martha's dead relatives. In the very center of the room is a huge table with a Bible, a photograph album, and an old-fashioned lamp—all arranged primly upon it. Seven high backed chairs, always the same distance apart, are standing around the room. The rugs give the room the finishing touch of dreariness. There is a large brown one which covers every square inch of the floor. On either side of the table is one of exactly the same color.—Lucille Roark, '25.

Around Lincoln High.

Tomorrow night at the Auditorium, "Stop Thief."

We'll never forget the normal department as long as Pearl Shelter comes over at noon to chat with Harvey Norby.

Milt Larson is now fitted for a job as section boss. He has been handling the staff orders all year. Only thing he'll have to learn is to smoke.

It's going to be "awful" quiet around here after Lloyd Alines and William DeParcq graduate.

One fellow who always keeps the students moving is Clarence Smith. He always has a new story to tell.

When "Musty" Bischoff gets his new "Big Word Dictionary" published, the world will climb one step higher in its fight for progress. We're proud of (you,) "Musty."

The center of interest last week (with the ladies) was "Musty's" new diamond ring.

We don't see Gregory Werstlein at the library no more. Wonder what's the matter?

In Political Economy we learn that scarcity gives an article value and in the assembly we learn the same thing. For example—Blue Slips and Credits.

Earning My First Dollar.

One warm summer day yas I was walking through the streets, looking in at all the nice things to eat in the store windows, two small boys about my size walked into the store and ordered two great big dishes of ice cream. I watched them eat it, counting the number of times the spoons went to their mouths. Oh! how my mouth watered. I waited outside until they came out, and then I went up to them and stopped them.

"Will you boys lend me fifteen cents because I would like some of that ice cream?"

They gave me an awful look that made me "feel like two cents."

Then one of them said, "I know something that you can get for nothing."

"What may that be?" I asked, becoming interested.

"Work," they replied, and with that they stooped down and, to my astonishment, picked up two fish poles and walked off.

Then Mr. Idea (he is not known in this town) punched me on the head and set me to thinking. Away I ran for home, pulled my father's fish pole out of a pile of boards and went fishing. I baited my hook and threw it in the river. After sitting there for about ten minutes, I felt a heavy pull and I grew frightened and trembled all over. I picked up my pole and ran for home with that heavy thing following me. I did not dare look around for fear of the monster's biting me. I wondered what all the people were laughing at and why they did not help me. Well, I soon reached home and my mother and father hearing my yells, came running out of the house. They also broke out laughing. Then father ran into the house, came out with a camera, and took my picture. Then he gave me a dollar and told me that it was for my picture. I learned later that I had caught a small fish (about three and one half inches long,) but any way that fish cost my father a dollar.

Jokes.

Mr. Rapacz: Who knows what injunction is?

Four hands go up.

Mr. Rapacz: Well, I see all of the boys know—except the one that's asleep.

Tittering and then, "Wake up, Bernard."

That's Easy.

Last Friday August was heard to say as two girls passed, "There go my wife, and friend." Can you guess who they were?

Poor Lorrayne! She's suffering from a nervous breakdown after the writeups given her in last week's issue.

Not Quite, But Almost.

Miss Chamberlain: "And what did Samuel Johnson write, Lucile?"

Lucile: "Why-er-he a-he wrote Boswell's "Life of Dr. Johnson.""

Interesting Facts.

In an investigation by Mr. Rapacz regarding the senior class the following facts came to light. They may be of interest to the school as a whole: Fifteen seniors have earned part of their credits in other schools; one senior boy and thirty-three senior girls have farm homes; six graduates will attend college, while four are intending to pursue education at normal schools.

In a school-wide investigation it was found that nineteen boys and eighty-one girls have farm homes. This makes a total of one hundred which is a fair proportion of the total enrollment, at present near the four hundred mark.

Central School Notes.

Enjoy Musical Program.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades were pleasantly entertained on Monday with a musical program consisting of violin and piano solos by Miss Sorenson and Miss Halvorson. Miss Sorenson played "Sourenin" by Drdla and responded to an encore which was "The Bee" by Shubert. Miss Halverson accompanied Miss Sorenson on the piano. Miss Halverson played "Sparks" by Moszkowski, and also responded to an encore which was "The Chase" by Leitchesky. The school appreciated their music so much that they recalled them again. This time they played "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" by White. The program closed with the singing of the school song.

Essay and Poster Contest.

Some of the students in the English classes of the eighth grade, volunteered to enter a contest conducted by our local W. C. T. U. by preparing posters and writing essays one the given subjects of "How the Cigarette Injures Health" and "What is the Harm of Beer, Wine, and Home Brew?" Mrs. Sether, President of our local W. C. T. U., appointed a committee composed of Attorney Quale, Mrs. Wm. Korstad, and Miss Carrie Trogen to judge the work. They named as winners in the essay contest Elsie Corseth, first, and Leon Johnson, second. In the poster contest Maverette Hillson was awarded first place, Catherine Werstlein second, and Millicent Sweger and Naomi Henrichs were given honorable mention. These posters will be exhibited at Laird's in the near future and the prize winning essays will be printed in our local papers.

Spelling Contest.

On Wednesday morning two spelling contests were held by the best spellers of the seventh and eighth grades. As Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president of our board of education, had offered five dollars in prizes in order to stimulate greater activity in spelling, an unusual interest in this subject had been observed by the teachers for several weeks. The spell-downs resulted in prizes being given to Mable Stearns of the eighth grade and Louise Vevea of the seventh. Doctor Froehlich presented the prizes with an appropriate talk and Supt. Simley also gave a short talk on the importance of spelling in the business world today. Leigh Anderson and Henry Arneson gave a violin duet accompained by Dorothy Shirley, and the students sang the Central school song.

Surprise Miss Tandberg.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades took advantage of the assembly period Thursday to surprise their principal, Miss Tanberg, by presenting her with three beautiful pieces of cut glass as a token of appreciation. In behalf of the two classes Galen Adkins made the presentation speech to which Miss Tandberg responded most charmingly.

Every Standard Oil Product a Primary Product

THE term by-product is susceptible of misinterpretation. In the manufacturing activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there are no by-products. The making of every product is a separate activity. Each is made to conform to a predetermined standard, and is judged strictly on its merits as a primary product.

Lubricating oils made by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) conform to a standard fixed by lubricating engineers to meet the needs of varidus types of machinery. The standard being fixed, it is necessary to obtain crude oil of the particular type best adapted to yield the lubricating units which will conform to this standard.

There are many kinds of crude petroleum, each differing one from the other. Even between the oils delivered by different wells in the same field a considerable variance has been noted. One kind of crude oil will yield a maximum of lubricating oil of fine quality; another may yield little, or none, of these fractions, but will yield a maximum of gasoline.

In selecting crudes for lubricants, for instance, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been careful to choose those which have the physical characteristics necessary to maintain the correct lubricating body under working conditions. These crudes are then carefully processed and refined to produce the long line of lubricants manufactured and sold by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Their manufacture is a business in itself. From the choice of materials which go into them, down to the last operation of refining, they are of primary consideration. This care in the selection of raw materials; every step of the refining process, and the fact that products manufactured by this Company are of superior quality is recognized generally. This is evidenced by the fact that during 1921 nearly 25 million gallons of Polarine, the Perfect Motor Oil, were needed to supply the demand.

So with every product refined by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Each is made to perform a certain service, and each goes to the consumer with the unqualified guarantee of this Company that it is exactly as represented and that it will give a maximum of service, at a price which is fair to all.

Obituary

Margaret Fuller.

Las [illegible] y, May 19, at Colorado Springs, Colo. occurred the death of Miss Margaret Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fuller of this city. The deceased went to the above named city about a year ago to receive treatment for tuberculosis at one of the health resorts near by. She was accompanied by her aunt Miss Clara Brown, who was with her constantly. Mrs. Fuller went to Colorado Springs last week when she was notified of her daughters condition and was at her bedside at the time of her death.

Margaret Fuller was born at Bemidji, June 3, 1904. She was a student in the local high school and would have been graduated with this years class had she been able to continue her studies. She will be greatly missed by classmates and faculty as she was a very likable girl and endeared herself to all.

Fune [illegible] ces were held Tuesday aft [illegible] 2 o'clock from the family [illegible] and at 2:30 from the St. [illegible] Lutheran church with Rev. Ki [illegible] ucting. There was a profus [illegible] oral offerings as a recogniti [illegible] he esteem in which she was [illegible] Interment took place at Green [illegible] Misses Sybil McGinn, H [illegible] angseth, Helen Warner, Margare [illegible] on, Grace Craik and Nora [illegible] st former classmates acted as honorary pallbearers.

AT THE THEATRES

KILTIES PROVING GREAT HIT EVERY PLACE THEY APPEAR.

An attraction of unusual interest will be presented at the Lyceum theatre [illegible] Friday and Saturday nights, with matinee Friday. This is the famous Canadian Kiltie Scotch-Canadian Band, which has toured the world and has everywhere been received with much favor. The following, from the Hibbing News, gives a good idea of the class of entertainment given by this organization:

"The Kilties, including the Campbells, the MacDonalds, the Bruces and all the rest of the clans, each individual member a 'braw' bricht, Hielander" [illegible] a musician from the top of his [illegible] cap to the sole of his brogans, scored a tremendous success at the State theatre last night—a success which undoubtedly will be equalled [illegible] not excelled today.

"Each number of the interesting program was splendidly interperted. Aside from the excellence of the band as a musical orginization of the regular variety, additional interest attaches to the Kilties from the interpolations of genuinely Scotch numbers. The drummers, bass and trap, are artists on those instruments such as are seldom seen here. The vocal soloists [illegible] Scotch numbers, and the lad with the bare pate but the nimble feet, who went through the intricate maze of the Scotch dances, were enough in themselves to make any genuine Scotchman homesick.

"At the afternoon performance, an elderly gentleman, undoubtedly Scotch by birth, found the skirl of the bagpipes, the rattle of the drums and the strains of the Highland love songs and was songs brought back memories of his younger days that brought tears to his eyes. Weeping silently, the old gentleman remained in his seat after the rest of the audience had departed."

Word-Building Contest Attracts Wide Attention

The word-building contest put on by the Nash Coffee company has created a great deal of interest in this part of the country and hundreds are trying for the liberal prizes offered to parties finding the largest number of words in which the letters composing the name "Nash's Delicious Coffee" appear. This is no guessing contest but an absolute test of skill.

The big prize is $500 and the awards scale down from this figure to $2 if [illegible] tables are sent in and $25 if three tables are sent with the answer to the test.

Fi [illegible] ese words provides interesting and exciting amusement and is worth while as a brain stimulator without adding the chance of securing a part of the cash awards. In connection with this contest the retail grocers handling Nash's Delicious have arranged attractive window displays for the purpose of advertising this contest and there are few families in which at least one member is not trying for the prizes. It is not yet too late to start if this opportunity has been overlooked.

PENNINGTON RANKS FOURTH IN VALUE OF BUTTER MADE

Total of Half Million Dollars Exceeded Only By Ottertail, Polk and Becker.

Pennington ranks fourth among northwestern counties in the value of butter produced, according to the latest completed reports, which are for the year 1920. The county's total of half million dollars is only exceeded by Ottertail, Polk and Becker. The output of the four creameries here was greater than that of such well-known dairy districts as Aitkin, Carlton, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Grant, Pope, Chippewa, Yellow Medicine, Redwood, Lincoln, Dakota and Jackson counties. It was nearly twice as great as the output of either Kittson, Roseau or Red Lake counties. The exact value of the butter manufactured in the county was $499,857 which places it just below Dodge with $552,581 and above Pope with $495,157. The total value of the butter produced in the state was $80,000,000 dollars, which is the largest in North America. The output per cow is also the greatest as two states, New York and Wisconsin, are credited with a larger number of dairy cattle than Minnesota.

Twenty-nine counties produced more than $1,000,000 worth of butter in 1920 and 13 more than $2,000,000 worth. Two northwestern counties, Ottertail and Polk, are in this list. In spite of its small size and the comparatively short time during which dairying has been a leading industry in Pennington county it is located about the center of the list in point of production, being in 45th place.

The following table gives the value of the output for counties in this section of the state:

Ottertail	$2,424,159
Polk	1,598,159
Becker	558,416
Pennington	499,857
Marshall	380,297
Norman	296,387
Beltrami	282,779
Kittson	256,693
Red Lake	247,620
Roseau	227,629
Clay	212,789
Mahnomen	89,580

If acreage is compared with output it will be found that Pennington county is next to Ottertail in the northwest and far ahead of counties with a much larger area in the southern and central districts.

As no figures are yet available for the year 1921 the value of the butter produced in the state during the year cannot be given. It is certain, however, that there has been a great increase over the above in every county and in very few will this be found greater than in Pennington.

Attention Farmers!
RAISE MORE HORSES!

Census reports show that there is a great shortage of young horses in the country. Why not be far-sighted enough to raise a few good horses in time to anticipate the big demand that is sure to come when the old horses die off? Horses will always be indispensable on the farm as they furnish the cheapest and most flexible power.

Athletic Exhibition By Schools on Monday Night

At the council meeting on Tuesday evening the schools were given permission to hold an athletic and industrial exhibition at the auditorium on Monday night, May 29. A more extended program of this event will be found on the Progress page of the Times today.

The council also passed a resolution declaring that the Northwestern Telephone company will not be held responsible for errors in giving the location of fires or failure to notify firemen. The company has always been willing to call the firemen whenever there was a fire and this service will no doubt be continued for the present, but it was felt that as there is no compensation for the company involved it should not be held responsible for any error or delay that may occur.

The traffic ordinance was given its third reading as was also an ordinance providing for changing the boundaries of certain sewer districts.

John F. Kramer to Speak On Effects of Prohibition

There should be a big turnout to hear Hon. John F. Kramer deliver an address at the auditorium next Wednesday evening. Mr. Kramer was the first prohibition enforcement officer appointed after the passage of the Volstad act and he is perhaps as well qualified to speak on the effects of that famous measure as any man living. Mr. Kramer is making a tour of the country at a time when it is passing through a period of readjustment and while the prohibition law is receiving a great deal of attention from people in all walks of life. Having been so closely identified with the movement from the outset and being in a position to watch its workings in every section of the land, his remarks should be of particular interest.

Large Class Initiated By Odd Fellows Encampment

Riverside Encampment No. 22, I. O. O. F., conferred all three degrees on a class of 22 candidates last Saturday night. There was a good attendance of local members and several officers high in the councils of the lodge participated in the ceremonies. J. P. Dexter of Detroit, past grand patriarch of the state, Val Chapin of Roseau, Mr. Ridick of Grand Forks, Mr. Olson of Manitoba and Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls, were among the speakers.

The work was exemplified in a particularly effective manner by the degree team and a very pleasant evening spent. At the conclusion of the ceremonies a fine lunch was served and a social time enjoyed.

M.V.Evenson to Build New Duplex on the East Side

A building permit has been issued to M. V. Evenson for the erection of a duplex residence building on the East side. The building will be two stories high with stucco finish and modern throughout. The estimated cost, as stated in the petition, is $5,000 but Mr. Evenson admits it will likely exceed this amount considerably.

Proprietors of the Park hotel were given a permit to make changes in the exterior of the building, the cost being about $275.

Famos Artists Coming.

A change in the date for the appearance of the Skarning Concert company has been made necessary by reason of the auditorium being engaged for the time previously set. Thorsten Skarning and his $700 inlaid accordion, Madame Anna Skarning, Norwegian soprano an dpianist, and Martin Hendrickson champion accordion player of Norway, make up the troup.

As will be seen by the announcement in another column of The Times, an old-time dance will follow the concert.

Octogenerian on Visit.

Nels Akre of Kenyon, Minn., uncle of City Clerk A. H. Akre, arrived in the city last Friday for a short stay with the family of his nephew. He also made short stays with relatives at McIntosh and Badger. Mr. Akre is over 80 years of age and makes a similar pilgrimage annually. Last year he arrived by auto but decided that trains would better serve his purpose on this occasion. The old gentleman is in excellent health and no one would guess to look at him that he had reached the four-score mark.

SUNDEAN TO GIVE GREAT LECTURE ON LUTHER'S HISTORY

Noted Speaker Will Be Heard at Trinity Church on Thursday Evening, June 1.

John L. Sundean, who proved one of the most interesting and forceful speakers at the recent meeting of the Swedish Lutheran conference in this city, will deliver his famous lecture: "Martin Luther, Founder of Modern Civilization," at Trinity church next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. There will be no charge for admission but a collection to defray costs will be taken up at the close of the lecture.

Press and public have been unstinting in their praise of this great lecture, the following being some of the comments noted: "Best if its kind," presented with vividness and and originality that is invigorating, "shows intimate knowledge of history, true grasp of fundamental principles, presented in eloquent and forceful manner," "clear thinking," "eloquent and convincing," "plea presented with courtroom earnestness and fearlessness and with the courtroom motive to win a verdict from the jury and win it then and there."

Gunnar B. Bjornson, prominent politically and former president of the Minnesota State Editorial association, says: "If your son, had heard Mr. Sundean's lecture on Martin Luther for an hour and a quarter, and he went directly to another church to hear the lecture again; if substantial Lutherans who heard the lecture told you it made them better Lutherans; if men you know who are not Lutherans, or even Scandinavians, but who heard Mr. Sundean and drove 20 miles to hear him again declared that it made them feel as if they ought to be Lutherans—then you would begin to realize why I urge Lutherans who have a chance to hear this original and forceful lecture to see that the auditoriums at which Mr. Sundean speaks are packed.

An invitation is extended to the people of all denominations and no denomination to come and hear this lecture.

COLORED MISSIONARY SPEAKS ON PROGRESS MADE BY HIS PEOPLE

Steady Moving Forward in Spite of Handicaps Little Understood by People Residing in North, Says Rev. Carter.

The story is told of a colored fishing party. One of their number succeeded in hooking such a large tarpon that he was pulled overboard. When finally he was brought into the boat again, puffing and splashing, the Negro remarked: "What ah wants to know is, was dis niger a-fishin' or dat fish a-niggerin?" With an application to the present case, Rev. M. N. Carter of Rosebud, Alabama, might be said to have been "a-whitin," when he sought to inform his audience of some two hundred in St. John's Lutheran Church Tuesday evening concerning the Negro mission of the Synodical Conference of Lutheran churches, specifically as regards Alabama.

Amidst the extreme poverty of the Negro, illustrated by the fact that they have but one suit of rags for all days of the week, one unvarying dish of cornbread and sorghum for every meal; amidst terrible ignorance, caused by the premeditated neglect of all that might help to advance the Negro on the part of the authorities; amidst frightful spirituality, fostered by the most unlearned colored "parsons," so called; amidst disadvantages, such as log cabin chaples where the missionary must continually move in order to prevent the rain from dropping into his open Bible; such as schools where the children must ask permission to warm themselves near the stove—amidst such surroundings Lutheran Colored missionary work is carried on. Amidst such difficulties the following success was achieved in less than seven years time: Twelve organized congregations and six preaching stations with a voting membership of 105, a communicant membership of 450; six ordained missionaries; eighteen lady teachers, all of them colored, fifteen parochial schools, where both secular and religious branches are taught nine months of the year, in contrast to the two or three months of the public schools. These schools are attended by about 700 children. While this work is oftentimes seriously discountenanced by the Southern white population for mercenary reasons, the Negros themselves, viewing the benefits in their own personal experience, have repeatedly requested the Lutheran Mission Board for greater and immediate expansion of the work.

Rev. Carter proved an eloquent spokesman for his cause, holding the attention of the packed church for almost an hour. Favorable comment was voiced on all sides. People who had come from Plummer, Grygla and Erie to hear the speaker returned home, feeling that the message they had heard well repaid their long drive.

Rev. Carter left Wednesday morning for McIntosh. He was overjoyed to find such a lively interest in the work being done among his people and leaves with a warm spot in his heart for northern Minnesota in general and Thief River Falls in particular.

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid society will meet in the church basement Friday afternoon, May 26th, entertained by Mrs. H. O. Loken, Mrs. Geo. Williams, Mrs. O. L. Cronstrom and Mrs. Wm. Korstad. Everybody welcome.

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted by O. R. Sande, candidate in the primaries for county superintendent of schools: Address, Thief River Falls, Minn. Amount to be paid, $5.00 for each insertion.)

To the Voters of Pennington County.

I wish to announce that I am a candidate for the office of Superintendent of Schools of Pennington county. I was graduated from the State Teachers' college at Moorehead in 1914. I am 30 years of age and I have had ten years' of actual experience as a teacher in elementary and semi-graded rural schools. I served approximately one year in the United States army, nine months overseas. I have filed as a candidate for this office because I believe that I can give the people of the country real service and an efficient administration. I shall appreciate your vote and support at the primary election to be held June 19.

Very respectfully,
O. R. SANDE,
Town of North.

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted by Oscar J. Peterson, candidate in the primaries for register of deeds. Address, Hazel, Minn. Amount to be paid, $2.20 for each insertion.)

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for nomination to the office of register of deeds at the primary election to be held on Monday, June 19.

I have resided in the county since 1904 and all my interests are here. For eight years I have served as a member of the board of county commissioners and for five years have been honored by my colleagues with the chairmanship.

In case of my nomination and election I promise to give the office my entire attention and will endeavor to serve the people efficiently and impartially.

I respectfully solicit your support.
Yours for service and reliability.
OSCAR J. PETERSON,

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted in his own behalf by N. J. Anderson, Thief River Falls, Minn., candidate for Register of Deeds. Amount to be paid for each insertion, $3.00.)

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I am a candidate for re-election for Register of Deeds of Pennington county. During the years I have served the people of the county as Register of Deeds I have made many friends, but I am not asking support in the present campaign merely by virtue of this friendship. Rather, I would have the voters consider my candidacy on a purely efficiency basis as the only proper method of electing officials to public office. In regard to my fitness for the office of Register of Deeds, both as to honesty and capability, I prefer to rest my case with the people of Pennington county, whom I served in past years.

Yours respectfully,
N. J. ANDERSON.

Political Announcement

(Inserted in his own behalf by W. A. Swanson, candidate for register of deeds, Rhoda, Minn. Amount to be paid, $4.40 each insertion.)

To the Voters of Pennington County.

Having filed for the office of Register of Deeds, I want to say that should I be elected I will serve the public and all concerned to the best of my ability in an honest, upright manner.

I am no stranger to the people of Pennington county. My name and what I have stood for is well known to those who have resided here for the past fifteen years or more.

The welfare of any community, city or country rests upon the shoulders of those who have and who are willing at all times to sacrifice time, thought and energy towards the welfare of the public in trying to bring about better laws, better conditions under which to live. Neither our wishes nor demands can be rightly adjusted nor satisfied unless the outside world knows something about our troubles. Do not judge men simply by what they have been able to do for themselves and for their own good, but rather by what they have sacrificed and tried to do for others.

Time and the shortage of funds prevent me from carrying on the customary political campaign. I must rely upon my friends and any past record as a citizen for results, subject to the will of the voters. I am

Yours respectfully,
W. A. SWANSON.

Firestone
CORD TIRES

The tire section above at the left shows the condition of a Firestone 33x4½ Cord Tire after 20,994 miles on a Yellow Cab in Chicago.

The section at the right was cut from a new Cord of the same size. Careful measurements show that only 1/3 of the tread of the tire on the Yellow Cab has been worn away after this long, gruelling test. The carcass is intact after more than 11,000,000 revolutions.

Firestone Cords have averaged over 10,000 miles on Chicago Yellow Cabs (1,200 cabs all Firestone equipped). In thousands of instances, they have given from 15,000 to 30,000 miles.

Look at the tread—scientifically angled against skid, massive and heavy in the center where the wear comes, tapered at the edges to make steering easy and to protect the carcass against destructive hinging action of high tread edges. The carcass is air bag expanded to insure uniform tension and paralleling of every individual cord. It is double "gum dipped" to make sure that each cord is thoroughly insulated with rubber.

This is the reason why Firestone Cords unfailingly deliver extraordinary mileage. It explains the unanimous demand of thoughtful tire buyers for these values. The local Firestone dealer will continue to provide the personal service that makes Firestone tire comfort and economy complete.

HICKORY

A Sad Story.

We lost! That is to say the other side had the advantage and left us mourning our fate on the field of battle. However, that's a rather sad narrative and why depress the existing high spirits with tragedies? If you will please keep an eye on this column, next time, we assure you that we'll tell a story that has a happy ending and one it will do you good to read.

What's it all about, anyhow? Ah, the baseball game last Sunday of course. As we said though, keep your eye peeled for future developments of the Hickory sluggers.

Bj. Bjornaraa returned Wednesday from Grand Forks where he had made arrangements for the conventions of the "Satesdals Lag" and the "Violinist Forbund," which will be held in that city the 29th and 30th of June. One of the features of the two day program will be the contest between the best players of Norwegian National music in this country. Mr. Bjornaraa, secretary for the violinists organization, states that most of the accomplished players of this particular music have already been secured, including the well-known Smedal brothers.
